KAY FRANCIS FILM, "HOUSE ON 56TH ST." OPENS AT LYRIC SUN.

Kay Francis comes to the screen of the Lyric Theatre Sunday in her latest starring picture for Warner Bros., "The House on 56th Street," a colorful drama based on the novel by Joseph Santley. Miss Francis plays the part of one of the most beautiful and most popular of Broadway butterfly chorus girls whose beauty and charm get her into trouble. The characterization is said to be the most dramatic role of her career, the romances and tragedies in the life of this show girl giving Miss Francis the opportunity to run the gamut in emotional expression. The story centers about the unusual incidents in a mansion on 56th Street, built by a millionaire New York clubman for his chorus girl bride. At the height of her happiness, the young wife is torn from husband and home and sent to prison on a charge of murdering a former lover though innocent. Later she returns to the same house, now a fashionable gambling house, as mistress of a Blackjack game. Colorful scenes take place in the famous old Casino Theatre, now only a memory, at the time when Floradora was the most popular musical show of the day; at Sherry's and Delmonico's and other rendezvous of the Broadway play boys of the early part of the century. The story then leaps across the years covered by the World War and comes down to modern times, winding up with a spectacular denouement in the 56th Street house. Miss Francis is supported by a sterling cast of notable players including Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond, John Halliday, Margaret Lindsay, Frank McHugh, Shelia Terry and William Boyd. Robert Florey directed the picture.

Judge Carl Hamlin Answers Letter of Sweetwater Man on Compensation

Judge Carl Hamlin of Breckenridge, candidate for Congress to succeed Thomas Blanton in the 17th District, Saturday made public a letter he has written to R. M. Simmons of Sweetwater, who last week wrote Judge Hamlin and asked that jurist to explain to him the full details of the compensation matter referred to. Mr. Simmons wrote the following letter to Judge Hamlin: March 15th, 1934. Dear Sir: It is being circulated in this portion of the 17th Congressional District, that you, as an ex-service man of the World War, are drawing compensation from the Government on the basis of being totally disabled. Being interested in finding out the exact status of this matter, I would appreciate your writing me the true facts in reference to your physical disability, the amount of compensation that you are now drawing, or have ever drawn, the nature of your disability and the rating given you under the law by the Veterans Bureau and such other facts in connection therewith as you might deem necessary. I would very much appreciate this information from you so that I, as a voter, be able to use my ballot intelligently. Assuring you that I will appreciate a prompt response, I am, Yours very truly, R. M. SIMMONS.

Following is Judge Hamlin's reply as mailed to Mr. Simmons at Sweetwater, Texas, March 16, 1934. Mr. R. M. Simmons, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr., Sweetwater Cotton Oil Co., Sweetwater, Texas. Dear Sir: I am just in receipt of your letter of March 15th and thank you for your interest in being able to ascertain the true facts in reference to my physical disability as an ex-service man of the World War, and the amount of compensation I am now drawing, or have drawn, therefore, and I am glad to give you the information requested. So that you may understand the nature and extent of my physical disability, may I say that when I entered the military service at the beginning of the World War I was in splendid health. The medical records in my case, however, show that within sixty days after my honorable discharge (Jan. 30, 1919) from nearly two years active service, I suffered with kidney stones, which, according to medical science, could not have formed in so short a time from date of my discharge. During the journey of six years that I spent in the military service with this affliction, I was compelled to undergo extensive medical treatment and two major operations—the last one being on Nov. 20, 1925, for the removal of my right kidney, which was necessary in order to save my life. Up until Nov. 1, 1925, when I was informed that an operation for the removal of my kidney would be necessary, I had never made application for compensation, although for a period of nine years I had been entitled thereto under the law. As an ex-service man I was also entitled to the necessary medical, surgical, and hospital expenses I was compelled to incur, but I personally paid for all such, although I could ill-afford these expenses for at the time I was discharged from the army I had lost what few dollars I had when entering the service, and my sole claim to wealth consisted of $200, which I had saved while in the military service by purchasing Liberty Bonds. During the next nine years in which I spent so much money seeking to cure my disability, I was also rearing a family, with the result that at the time I entered the hospital for my last major operation I was in debt over $3,000.00, and I had no assurance that I would ever leave the hospital alive, or if I did, that I would ever draw one penny of compensation.

Inebriated Party Cause Excitement

Two men and a woman "in their cups" presented a problem of no small proportions Sunday night, when they entered a store in Eastland and had the proprietor and clerk fearing for all the breakable articles in the place of business. In a mischievous mood the inebriated parties broke glasses and, according to the clerk had him in a nervous strain for fear they would destroy articles of a more valuable nature. After some persuasion the party left. Continuing their adventure the party in question attended a theatre and true to their nature displayed previously, was antagonistic when requested by the manager of the show to curb the disturbance. The manager of the theatre like the clerk at the store where they had previously caused a disturbance had to make a compromise and let one of the party attend the show after the other two left.

Consumption of Cotton Shows Big February Increase

AUSTIN, Tex.—Consumption of cotton in Texas mills during February totaled 6,043 bales, against 5,860 in January and 3,990 in February, 1933, gains of 3 and 52 per cent respectively, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. A seasonal decline from January to February averaging nearly 6 per cent has occurred during the series of years in which records have been kept by the Bureau. Production of cotton cloth amounted to 5,899,000 yards, compared with 5,945,000 in January, a decline of less than 1 per cent, and 4,299,000 in February, 1933, a gain of 37 per cent. The average decline for the past several years has been 4.3 per cent. Sales of cloth at 6,515,000 yards were off 31 per cent from the 9,476,000 yards sold in January but 66 per cent above the 3,931,000 yards of February last year. Normally there is a seasonal decline of 11 per cent between January and February. Unfilled orders dropped nearly 5 per cent from January but with a backlog of 16,653,000 yards were still 89 per cent above that of February, 1933. The number of active spindles and of spindle hours also showed slight recessions from January to February, but were well above those of February last year.

Gas Companies Hold Safety Meet

EASTLAND, Texas, March 27. The Lone Star Gas company, Lone Star Gasoline company and Community Natural Gas company held a joint safety meeting at the Connellee hotel Friday night, March 23. The Lone Star band furnished music as well as concert on the street. Meeting was called to order by J. F. Trott, safety chairman of the Lone Star Gas company. Minutes of last meeting of this company read by H. B. Dempsey, secretary and minutes approved. Mr. Trott then turned the meeting over to F. V. Williams, manager of Eastland division, Community Natural Gas Company who presided. Mr. Owen, safety engineer of the Hartford Accident & Indemnity company reviewed briefly the two accidents of the past week, Ira Wolford having sustained severe burns in a meter house explosion and fire at Eastland Station, Lone Star Gas company, and Mr. Donaldson having sustained a severe eye injury while installing a gauge glass in a boiler at No. 108, Lone Star Gasoline company. The second speaker introduced was Judge Milburn McCarty, Judge McCarty expressed his opinion that great good could come from just such meetings both to the community. He stated that he was glad to see these affiliated companies improving conditions conducive to safety. He stated he would like to see the example of the M. K. & T. emulates who went through the year 1933 without a fatal accident. The next speaker was Safety Director A. W. Breeland, who spoke interestingly of safety work. Mr. Breeland presented Felix McCurdy of the Pueblo Gasoline plant and Frank Williams with honor roll certificates, they not having had a lost time accident during the year 1933. Mr. Breeland then reviewed the educational program soon to start here and stressed the responsibility that rests upon the teachers. He then advocated the licensing of automobile drivers, stating that 20 per cent less fatalities had occurred in states where this had been done. He then stated that the accidents of the previous day must not discourage us but must stimulate us on to greater efforts. His closing remarks, very fittingly applied was Samuel Fess' poem, "Let Me Live in a House By the Side of the Road and Be a Friend to Man." A very interesting paper on the subject of Safety in handling tools was read by Will Tolbol of Brownwood, after humorous remarks fittingly said by Gene Morgan, agent at that place. By way of variety a couple of appliance talks were introduced at this time. The first being by Mr. Cockerell. This paper was splendid and well received. The second was a short talk by Mr. Martin who told of C. L. Trevelt having been made chairman of the National Range committee. He also stated that Star Gas had a 40 per cent in 1933 over 1932 and that he expected 1934 to be the banner year. He then compared the Electrolux with other boxes and stated we should tell facts about our honest product and be thoroughly sold on it ourselves. J. R. Jarvis, superintendent of Lone Star Gasoline company, then spoke briefly, stating that he hoped we would apply safety principles to our educational program which was soon to start. He closed by saying he hoped the excellent safety record of the past would not cause us to feel that we could ignore safety. B. L. Rogers, superintendent of Lone Star Gas company, compressor department, stated that the two accidents of the previous day must be a lesson. He advocated get together meetings in small groups to study safety. He stated that we could thus better analyze accidents of the past. S. M. Gamble, district superintendent of the compressor department, Ranger district, stated that we should watch our every behavior, get the proper rest when off duty, have a satisfied mind and work safely. His remarks were well received. Harry Wheelton then spoke of the accident of the day before saying that a change of gauge glasses at this plant had been recommended. Les Taylor was then introduced as the new assistant to the safety director in West Texas. Les made a brief talk pledging his best to help prevent accidents in any plant or community. R. W. Fullington spoke briefly on loyalty to the organization and made an impressive speech. From the number of speakers introduced one would infer that this program was long drawn out. Such was not the case. The remarks were well chosen and short and the meeting was interesting throughout. Mr. Williams then closed the meeting with a wish for much success for safety work throughout the coming year. A Brazilian legislator is fighting for repeal of woman suffrage there. Proving that women do vote sensibly somewhere.

FARM INCOME IS RAISED BY 40 PER CENT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26.—Income for Texas farmers has increased during the first nine months of the year by 40 and 45 per cent during the first nine months of the year to adapt the American agriculture to the changed conditions, a report of the Agricultural Adjustment Act revealed today.

The report, compiled by Chesley Davis, AAA administrator, says that the approval of the increased income represents practically all of the basic commodities produced in Texas. Particularly was the increase noted in the price of cotton, of which Texas raises, about one-third of the marketable production.

As part of the long-time program the administration has distributed in Texas a total of $44,897,777 in rental and benefit payments to the cotton and wheat farmers.

Cotton alone figured the bulk of the payments with $42,970,465.

School Fund May Not Be Paid Until Next September

AUSTIN, Tex.—The state's debt to school children of Texas, aggregating approximately $9,000,000, may not be paid until the beginning of a new fiscal year next September, State School Superintendent L. A. Woods has indicated.

Public schools received $2 for each of the 1,575,683 pupils on the scholastic rolls in remittances last week, or a total of $3,151,366.

That payment raised the amount of state aid for the current scholastic year to $9,454,098, or $6 per pupil. Approximately $4 more per pupil will be paid before the public schools close in May, making a total of $10 per pupil paid by the state this year.

The state's scholastic apportionment is $16 per scholastic, leaving a debt to school children of approximately $9,000,000.

Saturday Last Day For Paying Auto Licenses

A warning that Saturday is the last day in which 1934 automobile licenses can be bought without penalty was issued today from the office of County Tax Collector T. L. Cooper. It was estimated at the collector's office that there were 750 cars in Eastland county that have not been registered for 1934.

The legislature in the recent special session extended the period for payment, and the attorney general has ruled that April 1 will be the last day for issuing 1934 licenses.

The new law provides that any car operated during April without 1934 license will be subject to a year's license, plus 20 per cent penalty. In addition the driver is subject to arrest.

State Highway Patrolmen Meyers and Daniels, who operate out of Eastland, have issued a warning to motorists that they have instruction to begin this week a drive against improperly lighted vehicles on the highways and that two extra patrolmen are being added in this division to help enforce these laws.

The patrolmen are anxious that car operators see to their lights at once and make sure that they have all the headlights and tail lights required by law, as they have strict orders to accept no excuses from drivers whose car lights are not in keeping with the laws.

Proclamation On Pardon Denounces Girl Debauchers

AUSTIN, March 23.—J. R. Readhimer, convicted in Hale county of murder without malice and sentenced to two years in prison, was pardoned today by Governor Ferguson.

He was convicted of slaying Stokes Campbell of Floyada, who was alleged to have been the father of the illegitimate child of Readhimer's daughter. The governor declared the pardon "will at least be a grave warning to these young debauchers of womanhood who run around the country seeking whom they may ruin with no attempt to keep their passion within due bounds.

"We all believe in the letter of the law, but human nature has its limitations and as long as young men ruin young girls in this country and refuse to protect their name from their passionate disgrace, just as long will the court records be full of unfortunate conditions with which I am here confronted," the pardon proclamation read.

Sunday School Lesson

THE RISEN CHRIST

Text: John 20:1-16
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 1.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist.

The story of the resurrection of Jesus is told by different writers and in different ways. Some have seen in these different narratives conflicting evidence, and they have made the difference a basis of doubt.

Is it not much more reasonable to say that it is these very differences that destroy all idea of collusion, all notion that the disciples were making up "cunningly devised fables," and were agreed about telling the same thing?

What we have in these resurrection stories is the simple narrative as they came out of the experiences of the disciples and as they developed in the early church.

The resurrection of Jesus would be a miracle, if we could explain it, and if we knew all about it. The one great clear fact that does stand out is that, at the very hour of the disciples' deepest gloom, when with great reluctance they were turning back to their homes and to their old lives, the disappointed followers of a sublime hope that they were reluctant to give up, there came to them the clear assurance that Jesus was not dead, but was living.

When she found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre, instead of waiting, she came running to Simon Peter and to the "other disciples whom Jesus loved," probably John himself, making known to them her amazing discovery.

Peter and John immediately ran to the sepulchres, but even zealous Peter was outdistanced by the loving John, who arrived first. John looked in, but did not enter the tomb. Impulsive Peter went all the way, and discovered that the body of Jesus was gone.

The disciples went to their homes. We wonder with what thoughts in their hearts. But Mary, still mystified, still with her love and loyalty, rather than with any clear hope, stood outside of the sepulchre weeping. It was then that she had the vision of the two angels and, turning from the tomb, saw Jesus standing there, though she knew not that it was Jesus.

Why did she not know him? Was it still somewhat dark, and because of the darkness that she did not recognize him? She supposed that he was the gardener, and that perhaps he knew where the body had been taken.

It was then that Jesus spoke her name, and at the sound of his voice she understood, and she said, "Master."

What more can any of us say than that?

With that conviction there was the revival of their faith that quickened them into newness of living and sent them forth with a new power to establish the Christian Church and to build upon the great foundation of Christ himself the power and influences of Christianity.

Who that reads these narratives, and that considers all that these experiences had to do with the founding of the Christian religion, can doubt the reality of the experience? It is not ours to explain, but we are brought face to face with these mystic, spiritual experiences in which the disciples had a clear vision of their risen Lord.

The most beautiful of all the narratives is that concerning Mary Magdalene, coming early in the morning, while it was yet dark, to the sepulchre where Jesus was buried, and finding the stone rolled away. Mary had come, apparently, rather in love and in loyalty than with any clear faith that she would find things changed.

When she found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre, instead of waiting, she came running to Simon Peter and to the "other disciples whom Jesus loved," probably John himself, making known to them her amazing discovery.

Peter and John immediately ran to the sepulchres, but even zealous Peter was outdistanced by the loving John, who arrived first. John looked in, but did not enter the tomb. Impulsive Peter went all the way, and discovered that the body of Jesus was gone.

The disciples went to their homes. We wonder with what thoughts in their hearts. But Mary, still mystified, still with her love and loyalty, rather than with any clear hope, stood outside of the sepulchre weeping. It was then that she had the vision of the two angels and, turning from the tomb, saw Jesus standing there, though she knew not that it was Jesus.

Why did she not know him? Was it still somewhat dark, and because of the darkness that she did not recognize him? She supposed that he was the gardener, and that perhaps he knew where the body had been taken.

It was then that Jesus spoke her name, and at the sound of his voice she understood, and she said, "Master."

What more can any of us say than that?

Gulf Inaugurates 'Test-o-Drop' Oil Testing Campaign

"The forthcoming 'Test-o-Drop' motor oil campaign sponsored by the Gulf Refining company introduces an innovation in motor oil testing which should prove invaluable to motorists who are often in a quandary as to the time when they should change their oil," declared District Sales Manager O. H. Carlisle of the Gulf Refining company, Houston, Texas, today.

"Most experienced motorists who keep their cars in perfect operating condition realize the importance of keeping their oil level high, changing the oil and flushing out accumulated dirt and sludge with a washing oil. But the question often arises, even with experienced motorists, 'How often should I change my oil?' While the mileage which the car has run is a fairly good guide as to when the oil has reached a point of contamination requiring a change, it is really not the mileage but the condition of the oil which determines when the change is needed.

In some cases oil will need changing after only a few hundred miles. In other cases it may be good after 1,000 or even 1,500 miles or more. Even the best oil that money can buy can become contaminated even at an early mileage for a variety of reasons that have nothing to do with the oil itself. Among the most common reasons for oil contamination is neglecting to flush the motor before new oil is put in, filter not working properly, leaky piston rings, fouled spark plugs, faulty ignition and dust breathed in by the air intake.

In an effort to find a practical way for every motorist to judge the condition of his oil, himself, and which would be as accurate as the "electric eye," a machine which directs a beam of light through the oil to show the amount of contamination it contains, the Gulf Refining company has devised the "Test-o-Drop." Simple and inexpensive, yet available for practical use, it represents a great improvement over previous methods.

This new test is extremely simple and easy to make. The "Test-o-Drop" consists simply of a piece of cardboard about four by seven inches in size, into which a hole has been cut. Across the hole there is attached a tightly stretched screen of absorbent cloth. By putting a drop of oil from the bayonet gauge on this cloth screen and holding it up to the light the amount of contamination from dirt and sludge can easily be judged. To give an accurate comparison with clean oil a drop of new oil may also be put on the screen beside the oil taken from the motor.

This test takes only a few seconds to make and enables the motorist to see with his own eyes the actual amount of dirt in his oil, regardless of the mileage, and should be of great help in enabling him to decide for himself when his oil needs changing.

This new "screen test" for dirt in the oil is available at all Gulf stations as part of that organization's free service to motorists. Lubrication engineers have declared that this new "Test-o-Drop" method of testing oil is just as efficient as the "electric eye" in detecting dirt in motor oil and, according to the Gulf Refining company it has created a great deal of comment from motorists who would like to be able to judge for themselves, from the actual condition of their oil, whether it needs changing or not.

Annual Convention of American Legion At Mineral Wells

AUSTIN, Mar. 26.—The annual convention of the state American Legion, will be held at Mineral Wells, Aug. 26, 27 and 28, deputy adjutant George Hughes announced here today.

The dates were chosen because National Commander Edward Hayes, Decatur, Ill., will be able to attend at that time. The time and place was determined at an executive committee session held at Dallas, Sunday.

Reports were received at the session from various committees, including the Legion's Texas Centennial committee, which also met Sunday. This committee planned a campaign to make Texas "Centennial minded."

FERGUSON IS SELECTED AS COMMITTEEMAN

HOUSTON, March 24.—James E. Ferguson, Texas political power for the past 20 years, appealed for "unity in our ranks" as he was given a seat on the national democratic committee here today by the state executive committee.

Loud cheers and prolonged handclapping followed his elevation to the national position to succeed Jed Adams.

Ferguson was the only one nominated and the chairman announced that he was elected by acclamation, but a check showed two votes. They were W. R. Hooks of Itasca and Summers Norman of Jacksonville.

Ed Hession of Houston, secretary of the committee, was elected vice chairman of the committee. Miss Bertha Kunz of Houston was named secretary.

J. K. Brim of Sulphur Springs was elected chairman to succeed Maury Hughes of Dallas.

The Ferguson-controlled state committee named Brim its chairman and by a vote of 19 to 11 tabled a resolution ordering a repeal referendum at the state primary election in July.

From the opening discussion on the resolution to the final election there was never a doubt as to Ferguson's supremacy. His machine clicked perfectly.

Boy Scouts to Camp in July

The annual summer camp for the Comanche Trail council will be in two periods. The first period begins at noon, July 10, and ends with breakfast, July 17. The second period begins at noon, July 18, and ends with breakfast, July 25, according to announcements received from the Boy Scout headquarters today.

Many interesting projects will be carried on at the summer camp such as swimming, life saving, leathercraft, metalcraft, horneraft, beaderaft, archery, Indian costume work, hikes of various kinds, sham battles, field day meets, handball, campfire programs and other features that will be announced later.

According to scout officials, now is the time for scouts to make preparations so that they will be ready and prepared when the time comes for the troop to camp.

Possibly no better camp site can be found in Texas that affords as many natural resources toward making camp ideal for the boy of scout age than that of Camp Gibbons, which is located at the mouth of Brady creek on the San Saba river. Forty-two thousand acres comprise this ranch, which the scouts have the privilege of hiking over every foot of. Beautiful cliffs, and mountain peaks covered with cedars are to be found both on the banks of the San Saba river and Brady creek. Both streams are fed by springs which affords plenty of fresh and wholesome swimming water.

To the scout that wants to try his hand at the finny tribe, he will have the opportunity, and as is the custom, he gets to eat and share with his table what he catches, though it be a crawfish, turtle or whatnot.

Luckies are All-Ways kind to your throat

WHEREVER the finest tobaccos grow — in our own Southland, in Turkey, in Greece—all over the world, we gather the very Cream of the tobacco Crops for Lucky Strike. And that means only the center leaves. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed—not ripe. Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality—they grow close to the ground, are coarse, dirt-covered, sandy.

The center leaves are the mildest leaves—they taste better and farmers are paid higher prices for them. These center leaves are the only ones used in making Luckies. Then "It's toasted"—for throat protection. And every Lucky is fully packed with these choice tobaccos—made round and firm, free from loose ends—that's why Luckies do not dry out. Naturally, Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat.

Garden and Yard Hints From Club Women of County

Orchard Hints; Keep Rabbits from Damaging Fruit Trees

Mrs. D. J. Jobe, farm food supply co-operator of the Bass Lake Home Demonstration club, recommends the following to keep rabbits from damaging fruit trees:
Heat nine parts by volume of raw or boiled linsed oil until it begins to smoke, then stir in one part of sulphur. When cool, apply with a paint brush to the body and lower limbs of the tree. Don't wait until the rabbits have damaged the trees half way up before applying this mixture. Do it now.

Nitroglycerin Tubes Used for Sub-irrigation

Mrs. E. M. Oney, farm food supply co-operator of the Friendship Home Demonstration club, has made a sub-irrigated cutting bed using waste or inferior nitroglycerin tubes. These tubes come in from 10 to 18 feet lengths. The tubes are placed in the ground 10 inches deep. Holes are put through the tubes with nails, and these covered with scrap tin to prevent the sand sifting in and closing the holes. "I plan to use more of this to make an irrigation system for a strawberry patch," states Mrs. Oney. These tubes have not been used for the nitroglycerin, because of some weakness in same. The ends for the feed pipes are bent, the bend staying apart enough for the water to go through. When putting in the sub-irrigation system, be sure the tile, pipe or tubes are on the level. If the ground slopes one way, put the pipes across the other.

New Zealand Spinach

Mrs. J. R. Files, farm food supply co-operator of the Elm Home Demonstration club, gives the following information on New Zealand spinach:
New Zealand spinach is a hot weather plant that will grow successfully when the weather is hot and dry. It is one of the few leafy vegetables that will grow during July and August. The seed should be planted this month or next in rows 30 to 36 inches apart, thinning the plants to 18 inches apart in the drill. New Zealand spinach makes a modified vine-like type growth; hence considerable space must be allowed for each plant. The tender growing shoots are the edible part of the plant. These should be removed often enough to keep the plant stimulated into growth.

Head Lettuce

Mrs. W. A. Justice, farm food supply demonstrator for the Flatwood home demonstration club, gives the following information on growing lettuce in the county to produce good heads:
Lettuce is a cool season vegetable. If warm weather prevails before the plants head, seed producing tissue is developed and later seed stem appears. Such plants never head. If the weather is cool enough during the entire growing season to prevent seed producing tissue developing in the plant, then there is no reason why the plants should not produce heads. Fall planted lettuce is more apt to develop into good heads than spring lettuce, for the reason that I have just given. To make lettuce head, start the plants in a box or plant bed in later September or October, when cool days begin. When the second set of true leaves have developed transplant the plants to the garden rows and allow 8-10 inches for each plant in the row.

Protect Strawberries from Dirt

Mrs. J. E. Holding, farm food supply demonstrator of the North Star home demonstration club, gives the following information on protecting strawberries from getting gritty or lirty:
Mulch the berry rows at blooming time three inches deep with oat, wheat straw or peanut hulls, or cotton gin "holly-burr" refuse may be used. After the berry crop is harvested, gradually work this material into the soil in cultivating.
"Strawberries have to have much moisture in this section and should be sub-irrigated, using either hollow cement tile or iron pipe for this purpose."

Cold Frame for Tomato Plants

When it is yet too cold to plant tomato plants in the garden or field and they are beginning to grow and become spindly, the following method has been suggested by Mrs. Lillian Neal Eastland, farm food supply coordinator of the Ranges Co-Workers Club.
"You can make a temporary cold frame by forking up the soil and boxing in a small area on the south side of one of the buildings in the yard. If some glass window sash is not available, you can dip light muslin into hot linsed oil and use it to cover the top of the frame. The muslin should be tacked on one side of the frame and attached to a pole on the other so that it can be easily rolled up each morning to ventilate the bed. Where there is a limited area to be planted, the plants may be transplanted in tin cans, one plant to each can. These can be moved in and out of the house each day. Cut the cans down the side, then fasten together with wire and when ready to transplant into the garden, the wire is removed and lets the can drop off and the roots of the plant are not disturbed."

Kerrville Wool Clip Will Be Larger

KERRVILLE, Tex.—Total receipts of spring mohair and wool here will reach about 4,000,000 pounds, warehouse officials estimate.

Receipt of 1,000,000 pounds of mohair, nearly one-fifth of the state's expected production, is anticipated, and already more than 200,000 pounds have come in. The clip is somewhat lighter than usual due to dry winter.
Short wool receipts will total approximately 1,000,000 pounds, and long wool around 2,000,000 pounds, according to estimates. The wool clip will begin to come in next month.

Shearing prices being paid are four and five cents per head for mohair, and seven and eight cents is the projected price for wool. Few sheared goats were lost in the hill country section during a recent period of sub-freezing weather, but young spring grass was killed. Ranges have been much in need of rain.

The present lamb crop will be short, probably only 35 to 50 per cent and the kid crop this spring also will be short, perhaps 50 to 60 per cent, according to estimates from ranchers. Higher percentages will be reaped by ranchmen who have been able to put out sufficient feed during dry months. Young lambs, observers said, would begin to suffer unless ample rains were received within two weeks.

Although it was depressed during the past week by the threatened strike among automobile workers, the mohair market here opened strong in the early season. Visits of buyers earlier than usual gave the mohair market a bright outlook.

Awaited rains and settlement of the automobile workers dispute were the only factors that kept the mohair market from being bright and firm, bankers and commission men believed.

Excellent Crowd Hears Special Revival Sermon

An excellent crowd attended the special pre-Easter revival at the Methodist church last night, which was sponsored by the 9:49 Bible class. About 75 men beside the women and children were present.
The singing, led by B. M. Collie, was excellent.
Rev. C. C. Henson, the visiting pastor, spoke with unusual freedom and power on the "Justification of a Good Man." His outline was as follows:
1. God within. Men who have a god within them who is unworthy, cannot be truly good.
2. He must possess a spirit of giving. Not money alone, but he must give of his time; of his talents; and of his means.
3. He must have a missionary zeal or passion to help others. A selfish religion is unbecoming in a good man.
4. He must believe in other men. Much has happened to shake our faith in men, but there are many things to inspire faith also.

5. Every person cannot be great or famous, or a genius, but every person can be a good man if he wants to bad enough. Jesus will aid every individual to be good.
The story of Barnabe, who is described as a good man, was the background of the sermon.

CHICAGO.—The efficiency of commercial air transport was emphasized in figures released today showing that United Air Lines for the past 12 months completed 95 per cent of approximately 15,000,000 miles of scheduled flying. Practically all of this was in multi-engine passenger planes, and half of it was flown at night.

JOBS WILL BE THE BIG ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

AUSTIN, March 26.—Jobs will decide the 1934 Governor's race in Texas unless some "big issue" is found to arouse the people. Jobs get the political worker busy. Without a popular issue the public lets the workers dictate the winner. So far the issue that will overshadow jobs has not come to the fore.

This year the job situation is particularly acute. State boards and commissions have three members. Members have six-year terms, so stopped that one member goes out each two years.

When Governor Ferguson took office in 1933, state boards were made up of members appointed by Governor Dan Moody and by Governor Ross Sterling, both foes of the Fergusons. Having had two terms, Moody had named two members of the boards, Sterling one.

In her term Mrs. Ferguson was able to oust one Moody man and substitute her own. That leaves the boards made up of a Moody, a Sterling and a Ferguson appointee. The Ferguson appointee can be voted down by the other two. If C. C. McDonald, backed by the Fergusons, can win the governorship, the balance will swing. Governor Sterling's appointee will be in a minority to the Ferguson-McDonald members.

The bearing on jobs is apparent. Perhaps two thirds of all those on the state payrolls are in institutions directed by the State Board of Control or on the Highway department staff and forces. Both the Board of Control and Highway Commission are among the three-man appointed boards.

Besides these, the numerous boards of more members have the terms so arranged that a third goes out with each recurring governorship.

State Railroad commissioners are elected. Their large groups of state employes in various divisions are, therefore, not directly affected by the result of the governor's race.

Winners of political battles in Texas for many years back have found issues that arouse the people. O. B. Colquitt stumped the state swinging a bloody "bull bat," used in those days to flog convicts. He aroused a public fury that swept him to victory.

James E. Ferguson won on a farm tenant plank and anti-prohibition. W. P. Hobby who took Ferguson's vacated place, was re-elected on war, woman suffrage and the public swing to prohibition.

Pat M. Neff promised, if elected, to prance around the state capitol like an Indian and use his tomahawk on useless state jobholders.

Mrs. Ferguson won on the novelty of a woman candidate for governor and her opposition to the Ku Klux Klan.

Dan Moody won on his revelation of highway affairs.

Sterling won on a public demand for a "business administration" and went out on the depression.

Attorney General Allred's onslaught on the Austin "lobby" may become such an issue if he follows it up with specific accusations. The outspoken Allred is more than likely to do, and already has intimated that his opening attack is to be followed up later.

Tax Journal Points Out Bad Tax Laws

AUSTIN, Tex.—John T. Smith, editor of the Texas Tax Journal, in its current issue outlines a system by which he says it is possible under existing laws for companies to incorporate with a large capital stock paid in with little outlay. It can be done by buying up property for a trifle at tax sales; having it appraised at its real value and including it in the property on which capital stock can be issued.

He also gives an explanation of why property sold for taxes sells for a fraction of its value. Bidders upon it do not know that all lien holders have been made parties to the tax suit; they do not know how much other taxes may be due, and they do not know if all legal provisions affecting such sales have been met. They can find out but do not do so. The result is lack of competition for the property and it sells for a trifle.

960 DEER KILLED

TULARE, Calif.—If all the buck deer shot in the Sierra National forest this year were stooled nose to tail, they would extend in an unbroken line almost a mile long, forest rangers estimated today. During the season, their records showed, 5,884 hunters from 400 California cities, bagged 960 deer in the forest.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE

EDMUND LOWE
ANN SOTHERN-MIRIAM JORDAN
Socialization by Arrangement with COLUMBIA PICTURES.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED
When Selma Fawcett, temperamental Swedish film actress, quits the Paramount Film studio, she is left with a half-baked picture. The director, who has all the role, and Lowe is desperate for the right actress. Hoppe, the producer, breathes the right words. But his unsuccessful search for actress, Genevieve Marsh, sends Ken for working too hard and to direct him takes him to the cinema.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Ken forgot about his Swedes until they went into a concession where Jean, supposedly the latest importation from Paris, attracted his attention.

"Something tells me you haven't the slightest idea of what I'm talking about," said Ken to her as the girl went on with "Out, Out." But there was a twinkle in her eye, and they both laughed.

"That French dialect had me fooled," said Ken.

Jean commenced kidding. "Oh, sure—I'm French. My mother was Dutch and my father was a plumber. You see, the dialect helps the show."

Ken looked at her with a professional eye. "Not bad at all—as a matter of fact, it's very good."

"Sometimes I do it in German—Italian—depends on my mood," the girl declared.

"Where did you learn it—the dialect, I mean?"

"Oh, I don't know—just picked it up. I lived in one of those neighborhoods you know."

"Say, look—I've got a crazy idea. I want to ask you something. Did you ever think about going into the movies?"

"Oh—I get it!" She smiled knowingly. "The old movie line. If I'm a nice girl and behave myself—you'll make a picture star out of me. Save your breath, mister. I know all the answers. For a minute I thought you were going to spring the other old one on me—that you remember my face from somewhere."

"I don't remember your face, but your manners are familiar," Ken replied.

"That goes for me. And as far as I'm concerned, you can scram."

"Oh, sure—I'm French. My mother was Dutch and my father was a plumber."
(Posted by Ann Sothern and Edmund Lowe)

She started her French dialect speech again, ignoring the director. "Come on, Ken," said Gerry, taking him by the arm. "The parade's started. We don't want to miss anything."

"After the parade Ken returned to the concession and stared at Jean. "Well, if it ain't Dick-Dead-Eye!" exclaimed Jean. "Come back for more practice!"

He looked her right in the eye. "No, I just wanted to see what makes you tick. I've been thinking a lot about you since I left."

"I'm closing up," she replied. "Haven't you got a home?"

"Yes, I just came from there. It was very dull."

"I'm sorry for you."

"I still think you ought to go into the movies," he said seriously. She turned away from him. "My name's Kenneth Lane."

She turned around and came closer to him. "The director?" she inquired.

"Yes, I was on the level when I said that."

The girl interrupted. "I've been reading about you. Have you found your Swede yet?"

"No, Not yet," he said, significantly. "You're not thinking about me for—The idea suddenly hit the girl."

"Why not?" asked Ken.

"Don't be silly."

"Do you realize there are millions of girls in this country who would give their right eye for an opportunity like this?" Ken inquired.

"Yes, I guess there are," said Jean.

"Doesn't the thought of being a star excite you?" Look at Crawford—Connie Bennett—all those girls—the fun they get out of life. Live like queens—"

"Maybe I'm crazy, but it doesn't mean a thing to me," Jean declared.

"You should be in a museum. You're certainly a rare specimen!" Kay looked at him in amusement.

"Why do you insist upon my doing it. Hollywood's full of girls—"

"Because I know you can do it!" Ken was determined. "Because it's the biggest hunch of my life. And when I get a hunch nobody can pry me loose from it. It's the same kind of a hunch I've had about this picture. I know it's going to be big. Will you do it? I know you're going to be great! You can't fail. You've got to believe in me."

"You're so confident. It's tough to turn you down," Jean said with a big smile.

The man grabbed her hand. "I knew you'd come through. I knew you wouldn't let me down."

"Wait a minute," she said. "You're traveling too fast. I never acted in my life."

"You'll act. When I get through with you, you'll act."

"But this girl's supposed to be Swedish."

Houston Shows a Big Improvement Along All Lines

HOUSTON, Tex.—Better times have come to Houston, the South's second largest city.

A survey of the city revealed decided upward trends in real estate, in bank clearings, in shipping and even in the professional men's clubs and country clubs.

More new automobiles have been sold for cash in Houston during the past four months than in the previous five years.

Available rental property has decreased 60 per cent during the past six months and less than six per cent of the residential property is vacant, according to Ralph Henderson, business manager of the Houston Press, whose carrier boys have just completed a survey.

Indications are that residential building will be started within the next few months, Henderson said, because of the scarcity of rental property. Residential rentals of $85 per month and over are practically unattainable, Henderson learned in his survey.

Traffic patrolmen and taxi operators reported a 15 per cent increase in traffic compared with a year ago, Henderson said.

He offers explanation in that many new firms, particularly oil companies, are moving into the city. There are 20 merchandising companies waiting to come to Houston when suitable locations are available, he said. During the past three months 162 businesses have opened here, 43 of which were directly related to the oil industry.

Many business concerns are expanding their quarters. Humble Oil and Refining Company announced it would build an 11-story annex to its main office building here.

Moving of the Shell and Tidewater oil companies offices here more than a year ago is credited with much of the recent development of business.

Oil that a year ago was selling from 10 to 25 cents a barrel now is being marketed at approximately $1.00. This new revenue has had its part in the recovery movement. Families that once lived two or three in a house have moved into separate residences, utility companies' records show.

Prosperity that permits this "undoubling" of families naturally reflects in the merchandising, Henderson observed.

Houston banks have reported their liquid condition never better and unlimited funds are available for loans to those who qualify for a line of credit on which requirements are no more severe than pre-depression days. Debits in the banks are mounting daily, clearing house figures show, revealing increase in transactions throughout the city.

Railroads reported increased car loading and passenger transportation although no exact percentages of comparison are available.

A "substantial profit" was announced by the Houston Electric Company, operators of surface lines, for the past year.

The Houston Club, an exclusive business and professional men's club, has increased its membership 40 per cent during the past 90 days. Country clubs, golf clubs, yacht clubs, polo clubs and other recreational organizations have shown similar gains.

Rural Rehabilitation Director Has Had Varied Experience

His editorial work was with the Southern Agriculturist. Recently he has been secretary of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce.

Meanest Thief Is Reported In Texas

ROSCOE, Tex.—The meanest thief apparently en route west appeared at the West Texas town and crippled the fire department.

A fire alarm came in and Truck Driver Walter Potter couldn't get the fire truck started. He investigated and discovered some one had stolen eight gallons of gasoline from the engine. Fire Chief R. E. Harwell, garage owner, brought his wrecker and hauled the truck to the fire.

The meanest thief, perhaps the same one, recently was reported in Dallas. There he battered in the metal covering of a milk bottle and stole a few pennies intended for the crippled children's benefit fund.

A tramp steamer was just the thing for Samuel Insull. Hasn't this country made a tramp out of him?

Death Chair Haunts Former Governor

By FRANK McNAUGHTON
United Press Staff Correspondent

OKLAHOMA CITY.—The grim shadow of a chair J. C. (Iron Jack) Walton designed 20 years ago frequently rises to haunt him, the former Governor of Oklahoma has revealed.

"I've often wished I'd never designed it," said Walton, who has been locomotive engineer, consulting engineer and holder of several offices in his colorful career.

The chair is in the state penitentiary at McAlester—an electric chair—and some 40-odd men already have gone to death in it. But none went during the designer's term as governor, the office for which he now is staging a "comeback" election campaign.

Walton planned and designed the electric chair in 1914, under Gov. Lee Cruce, though he never had seen one. At that time, the future governor was consulting engineer on state projects, and was called in.

"It was easy," he said. "It is the amperage which kills. One-eighth ampere is enough to kill. The main thing is in figuring out your amperage and designing the control units, arranging the rheostats to provide enough resistance and develop the amperage."

Before Walton was impeached a scant 10 months after taking office as governor, he was forced to intervene to save at least five men from the peice of furniture he had devised.

Walton's use of the power of pardon was criticized bitterly during his short term as governor, some charging he had turned loose dozens and scores of hardened criminals on society.

"I'd like to be shown an executive whose confidence and trust was never violated," he asserted in his defense.

Walton refused to reveal what his attitude would be toward the sinister piece of furniture he devised, should his comeback campaign prove successful, and after 11 years of trying political strife, he is elevated once more to the Oklahoma governorship. "My record speaks on that," he said, indicating he would prefer again to save men from the machine of his own design.

Walton also served as general construction engineer and locomotive engineer and conductor on Mexican trains. He is now a member of the state corporation commission.

A Harvard professor says America's contributions to civilization have been dentists, plumbers, and collar buttons. And what about chewing gum, subway guards, and traffic lights?

No Experiments in the New Ford V-8

THERE are no experiments in a Ford V-8. But there is 30 years of experience. No trivial, temporary gadgets are blown up big to make sales. No fancy coined names. Just solid, tested, substantial value.

That is why we say you buy Proved Performance when you buy a Ford V-8. You know exactly what it will do on the road and how it will stand up under long, hard service.

The reliability and dependability of its V-8 engine, clutch, transmission, torque-tube drive, rear axle, frame, spring suspension and every other vital part have been proved by millions of miles of use by hundreds of thousands of owners. Actual service on the road has also proved that in cost-per-mile and maintenance it is the most economical Ford ever built.

The Ford car reflects the fundamental policy and purpose of the Ford business—to provide transportation of the most dependable quality at the lowest possible cost.

month. Comparison should be made of the fact that through the huge CWA expenditures, work relief in effect was provided which was comparable to current business wages whereas the Relief has only attempted to provide the bare necessities of existence, principally food.

"Relief estimates are hazy," said chief auditor Donnell, and must of necessity be hazy." In the past all attempts to forecast future relief need costs by the foremost economists, business forecasters, and well meaning experts have failed of their purpose. We will have an additional class of unemployed to help now that the CWA is terminating. The many families who have barely been a off of relief rolls up to were offered a temporary spell during the CWA.

Cattle Shipments Show an Increase Over Last Year

AUSTIN.—Combined truck and rail shipments of Texas livestock to Fort Worth and to interstate points totaled 3,496 cars in February, against 2,537 cars in the same month last year, a gain of 38 per cent, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Shipments of all classes of livestock showed an advance," the report said. "Cattle, at 2,189 cars, represents a rise of 42 per cent over February last year; calves, at 541 and 326 cars, respectively, a gain of 40 per cent; hogs, 352 and 343 cars, a gain of 2 per cent; and sheep, 414 and 322 cars, a rise of 29 per cent.

"For January and February combined, shipments compared with the corresponding period last year were: All classes combined, 7,117 and 5,650, a rise of 20 per cent; cattle, 4,286 and 3,252, a gain of 24 per cent; calves, 1,282 and 944 cars, a gain of 37 per cent; hogs, 588 and 633, a decline of 8 per cent, and sheep 961 and 821, up 17 per cent.

"Shipments of Texas cattle and calves to Fort Worth showed a marked increase in comparison with February last year, but there was a smaller number of hogs sent to this market and a marked slump in the number of sheep. The percentage shipped by truck to this market is still increasing.

"Los Angeles received marked increases of cattle, calves, and hogs compared with February last year.

"Increases over last February in the number of Texas cattle, calves and sheep destined to points other than the large markets were especially marked for California, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and Oklahoma. Colorado had a large increase in receipts of Texas sheep.

"Shipments of cattle, calves and sheep from the northern half of the Texas Panhandle showed a marked increase, but hog shipments showed a decline; while in the southern half, shipments of cattle, calves and hogs increased substantially but shipments of sheep declined.

"Shipments of cattle, calves and sheep from the Edwards Plateau and Trans-Pecos country exceeded those of last February by a wide margin.

"Cattle prices continued to advance during February on all the leading markets despite the largest February slaughter of calves in record. Lamb prices also continued to advance through February, and late in the month a top of $10.15 was reached on the Chicago market, the first time since June, 1931, that lambs sold above the $10 mark."

Burden of Relief Will Fall Upon Several Programs

AUSTIN.—The complete termination of CWA activities on April 1 will place the burden of supplying relief to indigent families of Texas on the shoulders of the following programs to be conducted by the Texas Relief Commission; Works Division (Work Relief), Direct Relief, the Subsistence Homesteads and the Rural-Rehabilitation projects.

The many factors which determine relief costs and the fluctuations of business, give evidence of the extreme difficulty incurred in trying to estimate future relief need costs. George R. Donnell, auditor of the Texas Relief Commission stated. Future relief need costs will be determined by the extent that CWA payroll expenditures in the past four and one-half months have increased the turnover of general business and the prospective increase in employment if the uptrend of business continues, the extent the national administration's new NRA policy of shortened hours without a proportionate decrease in wages will affect Texas unemployment, and the agricultural income received this season by Texas farmers.

The termination of CWA work activities on April 1, makes evident the fact that some provision will have to be made for those who will be thrown out of work no that date. It must be remembered that CWA at its peak of $10,900,000 expended in Texas during January, that the number of employees never reached the total taken care of on relief rolls, although relief expenditures never exceeded $1,600,000 in any one
