Any gifts with small babies to be dedicated to God in baptism will be presented at the beginning of the eleven o'clock service. This service will not be too sad, emotional, but helpful, comforting and inspiring. At the evening service the third Better Sunday Night Services, subject will be "All that is in Me." The Martha Dorcas class will supply the choir and furnish special music.

TO THE PUBLIC

The Eastland Daily Telegram and the Weekly Chronicle, having signed the Graphic Arts Code approved by Hugh Johnson under the Federal Recovery Act, is operating under that code and following it to the letter. The Graphic Arts Code authorities have approved a price schedule, and methods for arriving at the cost of commercial printing, which each and every commercial printer is bound under the code to comply with in making prices on commercial printing. The Daily Telegram and Weekly Chronicle, just like the other commercial printers of this county who are under the same code these papers are under, received these price schedules by collect express. The cost of administering this Graphic Arts Code is assessed against the commercial printers coming under it, and these newspapers have paid their assessments. We respectfully ask the cooperation of the people in putting this code into effect and living up to its rules and regulations. Eastland Daily Telegram. Eastland Weekly Chronicle.

Call County-Wide Meeting of Poultry Raisers for May 11

J. R. Boggus, Eastland poultry fancier, announces that a county-wide meeting of poultrymen has been called for Friday night, May 11 at 8 o'clock at the Eastland Chamber of Commerce rooms, for the purpose of perfecting the organization of an Eastland county poultry raisers association and laying plans for a poultry show this fall. Some preliminary work was done along these lines some weeks ago when a meeting was held in Eastland and temporary officers were elected.

Everyone in the county who is interested in promoting the interests of the poultrymen through an association and in having a show is urged to attend the meeting in Eastland Friday night. Those sponsoring the movement are anxious that representatives be present from Ranger, Cisco, Gorman, Carbon, Rising Star, Desdemona, Okra, Romney, Morton Valley and in fact from every town and community in the county.

One of the main purposes of the Friday night meeting is to elect permanent officers and those interested are urged to "come, make this their meeting, boost for the show and their favorite breed of chickens."

Baptist Ladies of District Present Conference $300

At the meeting of the workers conference of the Cisco Baptist Association held at the Central Baptist church of Ranger Tuesday, the ladies of the various churches in the district gave the men a pleasant surprise. The men were meeting upstairs in the church building; the meeting being under the direction of County Judge Clyde L. Garrett, when the ladies, who were meeting in the lower part of the church, invited the men down.

A presentation of $300 in cash was then made, much to the surprise of the male members of the conference. The donation was collected by the ladies and was presented toward the conference fund in order to help eliminate an indebtedness.

Two years ago the conference was approximately $2,500 in debt, a report stated, and now owes only about $200, which is a remarkable showing during the past two years.

H. B. Blair, who has been acting as county missionary, working on half time, was appointed to that position for full time at the business session held Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting, at which more than 200 were registered from all over the district, was declared by all to be one of the best in the history of the association.

PROOF IS SENT ROBLES FAMILY JUNE IS ALIVE

TUCSON, Ariz., May 10.—Tangible proof that June Robles, six-year-old kidnaped heiress, is still alive, was contained in a note delivered to the county attorney's office Monday night, it was learned today.

The note, thrust under the door of the county attorney, contained answers to a set of questions June's father, Fernando Robles, propounded in a direct appeal to the kidnapers more than a week ago.

The note, found in the prosecutor's office, contained satisfactory replies, it was said, to questions June alone could answer.

To Give School Benefit Play At Morton Valley

"An Arizona Cowboy," a four-act drama, will be presented at Morton Valley Tuesday night, May 15. There will be a 10-cent admission charge.

The play is being put on by a group of people in the community. The proceeds will go to the school. The story relates the courtship of a lovely western girl by the cowboy sheriff. The crooked tongue of an Indian girl nearly succeeds in destroying their love. However, in the denouement, their affair reaches a satisfactory climax.

A domineering wife and her obedient spouse add comedy to the play. This poor hen-pecked husband's only romance is derived from his fabulous tales of adventure in '89 in which he was invariably the hero.

Mr. Guy Stoker ably takes the role of the Arizona cowboy. Mrs. Joe Ton gives a delightful impersonation of the charming daughter of the west. They are supported in their roles by Mr. R. Morton, a loyal Chinaman; Mrs. R. Morton, a product of the poorhouse; Mr. Bill Wheat, a garrulous husband; Mrs. Luke Weems, a domineering wife; Mr. Earl Westfall, the cowboy's partner; Mr. Luke Weems and Mr. Elmo Funk, two cattle rustlers; Mr. Elvie Marlow, a Navajo chief, and Miss Pauline Pickett, an Indian girl.

Mrs. Zella Mae Butler is the director, and the proceeds will be used for the benefit of the school.

L. Kleiman, Former Eastland Merchant Was Buried Sunday

L. Kleiman, about 65, a dry goods merchant in Cisco and Eastland for a number of years and the father of Manuel and Morris Kleiman who were located in Cisco until recently, died Friday in Louisiana and was buried Sunday at Wilson Hatch Chapel, near Waco, a message to friends here said.

Mr. Kleiman was born in Kalash, Bessarabia, which was then a part of the Russian empire, and came to Galveston, Texas, in 1914. In 1920 he moved to Eastland county. Besides his two sons a daughter, a Mrs. Green, survives.

Two Orphans to Receive Fortune

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Two boys, who have spent the past four years in the Albuquerque orphan asylum, soon will have a fortune in their own names.

Julian Sanchez, 13, and his brother Alejandro, 10, were not excited when they received the news that the long litigation had ended and that they were entitled to the estate which was at one time between $75,000 and $100,000.

"I'd like to stay until I finish the eighth grade," Julian said. He is now in the fifth grade. Alejandro wanted to stay in the orphanage, but he also wanted to be with his mother, Mrs. Elena Sanchez, who moved to Albuquerque when her two sons were placed in the orphanage.

The money is the estate of Marcario Torres, wealthy Estancia Valley sheepman, who died in 1927. When Torres died he left his estate to his invalid widow, Maria Torres. A suit was filed on behalf of the two boys as heirs to the estate. The claim was made the Sanchez boys were children of Torres.

When the suit was first tried the lower court decided against the boys, and the case was appealed to the state supreme court, where a reversal was gained. Again the case was brought to trial in the district court, and again the boys lost the verdict. An appeal to the supreme court this time brought the order that judgment be entered in favor of Julian and Alejandro.

SENATE VOTES BILL TO ALLOW SMALL CREDITS

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The senate today passed, without debate, the bill to establish a federal credit union system for extension of credits to persons of small means at nominal interest rates. The bill now goes to the house.

The credit union plan was sponsored by Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas. The bill provides for a federal organization to supervise operation of credit unions, described as a co-operative society enabling its members to save money in good times and borrow money at low interest in times of emergency.

Wheat Failure In Mid-West Is Aid To the New Deal

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Grasshoppers, dust storms and drought cooperated with the New Deal today in aiding a glutted wheat market.

Experts receiving reports from 352 counties of 11 states where farmers are threatened with catastrophes, believed that even a crop failure would leave the country with an accumulated wheat surplus.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace believes the mid-west drought condition is the worst since 1894 but is certain also the wheat surplus will be enough for all requirements.

Bank Resources In Texas Show Growth

AUSTIN, Tex.—Resources of 475 state banks in Texas totaled $189,743,436 as reflected in the state bank call of March 5, records recently compiled by the State Banking Department revealed.

The total represented an increase of $4,266,681 over the resources of 489 banks which totaled $185,476,755 on Dec. 30, 1933. Exclusive of savings departments, resources as of March 5 were $182,689,640 compared to $178,006,390 as of Dec. 30.

Cash on hand in state banks totaled $5,297,976, the March 5 call revealed. Cash on hand Dec. 30, 1933, totaled $7,594,986. The decrease of $2,297,010 in the sums on hand was generally believed to indicate a more liberal loan policy, putting the cash held in "hard times" back to work in commercial channels.

However, loans and discounts on personal collateral security as of March 5 totaled $49,953,520, compared with $52,777,857 as of Dec. 30. Comparative statements compiled by the banking department pointed out, however, that 489 banks were reporting Dec. 30, compared with 475 banks reporting March 5. Capital stock for the comparative dates decreased $1,070,700.

Individual deposits shown in the March 5 call totaled $107,392,436, compared with $106,405,250 Dec. 30, an increase of $987,186. A total of 291,240 in restricted deposits was reflected in the March call.

Comparative statements on liabilities also revealed $4,133,000 increase in class A debentures, and an increase of $17,500 in class B debentures, compared with Dec. 30 statistics.

Of the $49,953,520 in loans and discounts on personal or collateral security reflected in the March call, $34,990,146 worth were held by 421 banks of deposit and discount, the remainder of 54 bank and trust companies. Resources for the banks of deposit totaled $111,169,616; for the bank and trust companies, $78,573,819.

Resources of seven Morris plan banks operating in Texas, as shown by the call of March 5, totaled 2,728,747.

Fourteen Leaders Have Been Heads of West Tex C. of C.

SAN ANGELO.—During the fifteen years of the existence of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which end with the sixteenth annual convention in San Angelo, May 14-16, fourteen outstanding business leaders of West Texas have served as its presidents, including the present incumbent, Walter D. Cline, whose term expires at San Angelo.

Of this number four are dead: Col. C. T. Herring, Amarillo; A. B. Spencer, Crosbyton; R. Q. Lee, Cisco, and H. P. Brelsford, Eastland. The others are still active in the affairs of the regional chamber and will be present at the San Angelo convention.

Col. Herring, the first president, was elected in 1919 at the organization convention in Mineral Wells. He served until the convention in Abilene in 1920 when he was succeeded by H. P. Brelsford of Eastland, who died during the past year.

The third president was Clifford B. Jones of Spur who was elected at the Ranger convention in 1921. Jones has been active in the organization since its inception, and at the San Angelo convention, is slated to be chairman of the important group conference on agriculture, and to discuss the Public Works Administration before the Rehabilitation Group Conference.

He is also a member of the Convention Work Committee. Jones served as regional adviser for the PWA for the states of Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico.

A. B. Spencer, Crosbyton, the fourth president, and now deceased, was the only president to serve two terms. He was first elected at the Plainview convention in 1922, and re-elected the following year at the San Angelo convention. Spencer served as manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce following his retirement as president.

C. C. Walsh of San Angelo, now a resident of Dallas, and an official of the Federal Reserve Bank, was the fifth president, and was elected at the Brownwood convention in 1924.

R. Q. Lee, Cisco, succeeded Walsh to become the sixth president. He was elected at the Mineral Wells convention in 1925. After his term of office he served his district in Congress which place he was holding when he died.

Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield, at present a State Senator, and candidate for congress from the newly created nineteenth district, was elected president at the Amarillo convention in 1926.

R. W. Haynie of Abilene, a lawyer, was elected in 1927 at Wichita Falls to succeed Duggan. He is expected to attend the convention in San Angelo.

At the Fort Worth convention in 1928, A. M. Bourland, a dirt farmer from Wilbarger County, was elected president. Bourland served until the El Paso convention, and was elected manager of the organization upon the resignation of Homer D. Wade during the summer of 1929 preceding the El Paso convention held in October, the only convention not held in the spring. As president-manager, Bourland was active in the reorganization of the chamber at the El Paso convention.

In 1929 at the El Paso convention, W. B. Hamilton, oil man of Wichita Falls, was elected the tenth president. Hamilton has been active in the chamber for many years as head of the oil and gas committee and activities. He will be chairman of the Oil and Gas group conference at the San Angelo convention.

Charles E. Coombes, lawyer of Stamford, succeeded Hamilton, being elected at the Abilene Convention in 1930. Coombes is on the program of the sixteenth convention to address the public officials of West Texas at their luncheon, Tuesday, May 15. During the past year he has served as the chamber's legal adviser on public works applications served by the organization for West Texas political subdivisions.

Houston Harte, San Angelo publisher, was elected president at Lubbock in 1931. Harte launched the West Texas Beautification program and has remained chairman of the activity since. At the convention in San Angelo he will discuss Federal relief before the Rehabilitation Group Conference as a member of the Texas Relief Commission. He will also make the award in the second year beautification contest.

Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo, a publisher, was the thirteenth president, and was elected at the Sweetwater convention in 1932. He is heading his city's delegation to the San Angelo convention which is seeking the 1935 convention for Amarillo. Since his election as a director from Amarillo in 1930 he has been active in the organization's affairs.

Expired Cotton Option Now May Be Reinstated

WASHINGTON.—Holders of cotton options which expired May 1 will be given an opportunity to have these options reinstated if application is made within the next 60 days, it was announced today by Oscar Johnston, manager of the cotton producers pool.

Mr. Johnston stated that only 820 option contracts covering 3,506 bales of cotton had not been heard from and, under the terms of the option, these contracts expired May 1. Holders who desire to have them reinstated should make application to the cotton producers pool within the next 60 days, Mr. Johnston stated.

In announcing that reinstatement would be granted on application, Mr. Johnston made public the present status of the cotton options which were offered producers as a part of the compensation in the 1933 emergency cotton campaign.

Of a total of 571,434 options issued covering 2,428,697 bales, 567,198 options covering 2,403,174 bales have been exercised either by sale or delivery to the cotton producers pool. Of this amount, producers holding options covering 457,180 bales have called their options and the cotton sold; and the remainder have been delivered to the cotton producers pool.

Mr. Johnston stated that options outstanding totaled 6,543 contracts covering 42,025 bales. These cases are divided as follows: 3,207 contracts for 21,449 bales have been extended, the holders paying the sum of 40 cents per bale per month carrying charge; 209 contracts covering 568 bales have called and fixed the date for future sale; 2,307 contracts covering 16,502 bales are in suspense and will be issued when adjusted by correspondence or settled (these option holders will then have 30 days after date of issue in which to call for sale or assign to the cotton producers pool); 820 contracts covering 3,506 bales have not been heard from since date of issue and these producers are given the privilege for 60 days from May 1 to apply for reinstatement.

Budget Loans Save Farmers Interest

HOUSTON.—Farmers and livestock men in Texas who are borrowing from production credit associations are saving money on their production costs this season by obtaining their loans on a budget basis, according to figures released here by the production credit division of the farm credit administration.

The figures show that production credit associations in Texas, although only recently organized, closed about 2,040 loans amounting to approximately $440,000 during the month of March. Only 270,000 of this amount was paid out immediately to farmer-borrowers. The remaining $170,000 of this amount was reserved for the budget accounts of individual borrowers who will be paid the proceeds of their loans as they need it for production purposes during the season. Farmers who have arranged to obtain this $170,000 in future advances will not be charged interest on this money until they start using it. Interest on loans made by the production credit associations are payable when the loan is due. Loans now being made by the associations bear 5 1/2 per cent interest.

The farmer-borrower may apply for a loan to finance his production costs for the entire season and receive an approval for the full amount, but as a result of his anticipating the approximate dates of his necessary expenses he is able to arrange for a series of payments to be made by the production credit association to take care of his production expenses as they arise during the season. He pays interest on each advance only for the length of time he actually has the money. Borrowing on a budget basis rather than obtaining all the money at the beginning of the season should ordinarily reduce a farmer's interest charges from one-third to one-half.

POODLE ADOPTED KITTENS

HOUSTON, Texas.—An Irish poodle adopted three kittens when its single-littered puppy died. The dog fights off the mother cat, Mrs. Harriett Donaghey said, and the kittens seem to thrive under the care of their strange foster mother.

L. C. KEEL NOT INDICTED IN RANGER CASE

The 88th district court grand jury late Friday afternoon adjourned for the term after returning 28 true bills, all felonies, to Judge B. W. Patterson.

The grand jury failed to return indictments against either L. C. Keel, Jim Vinson, Jim Fox or Otis Dabbs, charged in complaints in connection with the robbery of the Ranger National Guard armory on the night of March 19, last. In fact no indictments were returned against anyone in connection with the Ranger armory robbery.

Raymond Hamilton, notorious Texas bank robber, who is now in the Dallas county jail, is credited in news dispatches with having made the statement that he robbed the Ranger armory. A portion of the loot from the Ranger armory is also said to have been located in Dallas and one man, said to have had the loot, is alleged to have pleaded guilty to a federal charge of possessing stolen government property.

Among the indictments returned by the grand jury was one against Seaman Garrison for assault with intent to murder. This was in connection with the case in which Milton Day was struck over the head with a billiard cue. Day, who was taken to a Fort Worth hospital for treatment of his eye returned to Eastland Wednesday, and is able to be up and about.

Bullock Church To Have Mothers Day Services

After the Sunday school hour the Mother's Day program at the Bullock Methodist church will commence. In the forenoon Dr. C. C. Smith will bring a Mother's Day message. If time permits, Brother Collins will make a brief talk. Special songs and special musical number will be sung.

After dinner there will be two messages. Bert McGlamery of Eastland has been invited to speak upon the subject, "The Family and the Church." The final talk will be delivered by Mr. D. Joseph, a merchant of Ranger. He will tell about his trip and adventures in the Holy Land. His native home is Beyroust, Syria, located 75 miles from the old city of Damascus and 295 miles from the ancient city of Jerusalem. The remainder of the time will be occupied in singing. All people interested in singing are urged to come and assist.

Unless the Mt. Zion Methodist church folk come to the program at Bullock, the pastor will preach a Mother's Day message, "Motherhood and Calvary," at 3 o'clock at Mt. Zion.

Revival Closes On Sunday Night

"We are taking Thursday and Friday nights off for rest, but will have services Saturday night, Sunday, Sunday afternoon and Sunday night at which time the services will come to a close. Sunday afternoon services will be at 2:00 o'clock," Rev. Wilkins, who is conducting the Pentecostal revival in Eastland, said.

Rev. Mr. Wilkins also stated that a large crowd, including many visitors from surrounding towns and communities, were expected for the closing day and night of the meeting.

Rev. Wilkins and his band go from here to Odessa for a series of meetings, but will be back in this vicinity sometime this summer for another series of meetings, they announced.

Music Week Brings Thoughts of Hymns

The mind naturally reverts to sacred music during the annual National Music Week observance, and especially to the fine art of hymn writing.

Many a man or woman who has grown indifferent to church ways and days, has been called back to their weed grown patch that leads to the church, through hearing some hymn, at one time or familiar, and which poignantly recalls to them their neglected privilege and duty.

One of the most magnificent hymns, stately in rhythm, is "Ancient of Days," based on the text, "Ancient of days, who sittest throned."

This hymn was written by Albert Jeffrey in 1886, for the bicentenary of the city of Albany.

"He Leadeth Me," by William B. Bradbury, was composed for the Baptist tabernacle festivals of the "Forties." Bradbury was the chorister of the church.

The ever dear, "Nearer My God to Thee," was written by Lowell Mason, dean of American church musicians, who organized public school music, and was a prophet of better musical days to come.

That militant hymn, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," was the work of Henry Stephen Cutler, an organist in New York many years.

The Materna, or "Oh Mother Dear Jerusalem," was composed by Samuel Augustus Ward, to the title of "Materna," and the air is used for the metting of "America the Beautiful." Ward was the head of a music store in Newark, N. J., and conducted the Orpheus club for many years.

"Rock of Ages" brings to the fore America's most successful hymn writer, Thomas Hastings, author of 600 hymns, composer of a thousand hymn tunes, and editor of 50 volumes of music.

And last but not least, the great "Coronation," the militant, clarion call to arms, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," the only tune Oliver Holden, a carpenter, ever wrote. This man helped to rebuild Charleston, burned by the British soldiers.

May Day Festival High School Terrace

An enormous crowd that massed the street on high school hill, some in cars and many on foot, witnessed the lovely spectacle, the May Day festival, held Monday evening at 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the South and West Ward schools, under direction of Misses Lillian Smith, Lucille Brogdon, Sallie Bowlin and Misses Lavelle Hendrick and Marjorie Spencer.

To the fanfare of trumpets, the ceremonial of the entrance of the queens was announced, as the maids in waiting, Sarah Meredith, Mary Jo Collier, preceded the queen, followed by the flower girls, Paula Meredith and Betty Pickens, who scattered blossoms in the path of Queen Emma D. Barker of the Spencer school in whose wake came the queen's entertainers, who formed her court, as the queen ascended her throne.

Again the blare of the trumpet was heard, as the herald, Glenn Wood, announced the arrival of the queen of the South Ward school, Catherin Cornelius.

For the third time the clear note of the bugle call came as the herald of West Ward school, Lee Roy Speed, announced the arrival of their queen, Mary Lou McGhee, whose flower girls, Mary Lee Patterson, in yellow fluffy organdie, and Elaine Jones in orchid, with matching baskets of rose petals, strewed the rose leaves in their queen's path, as she passed to her throne through an aisle formed by 16 boys.

The entertainment opened with the tournament dance by four boys of the Spencer school; ribbon dance by eight boys from South Ward school, and a Boy Scout drill by 16 lads from the West Ward school, the three entertainments progressing simultaneously before the queens and their entourages, and terminating in the brilliant act of the three May pole dances.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep...Vigor...Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out through the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, setting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to cure you in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS. They are a reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Measures to combat world unemployment will be given principal consideration on the agenda. The I. L. Supporters of an International 40-hour week will push the final reading of a draft treaty to that effect. The treaty has been considered before, but because of British opposition it is not believed it will pass. Labor experts point out that such a treaty is in harmony with the new American codes. It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hope. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.

Texas Too Large For One Capitol; Now Has Several

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas has become too big to be governed from Austin. Not that the state has actually grown in size but state activities have so multiplied that various sub-capitals have been set up.

The State Highway Department has established 25 division headquarters. A division engineer is in charge of each.

The State Department of Education has set up 22 divisions and has a deputy state school superintendent in charge of each.

The State Railroad Commission has opened a branch office at Kilgore for the East Texas oil fields. It also has supervisors stationed in more than a dozen oil fields.

State Rangers have independent companies operating from Fort Worth, Fairbairn and Fort Stockton, besides the headquarters company at Austin.

Texas' size also has led to establishment of duplicating colleges. Identical courses in many subjects can be had at the University of Texas, Austin; A. & M. College near Bryan; Texas Technological college, Lubbock; College of Industrial Arts, Denton; College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville, and the School of Mines, El Paso. Nine teacher colleges have almost identical courses.

It was not a realization of these administrative difficulties, perhaps, so much as a desire to keep the balance between slave and free states, that prompted early Texans to stipulate that the state might become five, when it joined the Federal union.

Vice-President Garner is one of the present-day advocates of such a division. He views the matter from the greater power a division would give in the United States Senate, over which he presides.

The late Senator Joe Bailey quickly placed his finger on the objection to such a division. "Which state," he asked, "would get the Alamo?"

Unpopularity of any suggestion for division was demonstrated a few years ago. West Texas representatives promptly frowned down a report that if its interests

Simmons Does Not Approve of Pardon Power of Governor

DALLAS, May 8.—Revocation of the power of the governor of Texas to issue pardons at will was advocated here today by Lee Simmons, manager of the State Prison system.

"I'm not talking politics, and I'm not talking against any particular governor, but the Texas parole law as it is today and as it has been for 20 years is a farce," Simmons declared, addressing 300 police chiefs and city marshals here.

FARMER PROFESSOR CARVED WOOD

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Between lectures on agriculture, Dr. Warren Bryan Mack, professor of vegetable gardening at the Pennsylvania State college, studied and practiced wood engraving until he now has an exhibit under way here. Other specimens of his hobby form a permanent display in the New York public library.

PASTOR ILL
Rev. E. W. Barnett, pastor of the local Church of God, was ill and could not fill his appointment last Sunday. Bro. W. E. Hallenbeck Sr., spoke to the congregation Sunday morning and Bro. Clyde Hunter of Olden had charge of the services Sunday night.

Ten Texas Pastors Declare War on War

Ten Texas pastors have taken the position that American churches should refuse to sanction or support any future wars.

Their viewpoint was expressed in answer to a questionnaire sent out by a special national investigating committee headed by Harry Emerson Fosdick and Kirby Page.

Only one of the 11 answering this particular question, Prof. E. W. McDermid of Texas Christian University, replied negatively, a report of the committee said.

"My feeling is that such a decision as this should not be made until the emergency arises," the report quoted Dr. McDermid. "I do not think the church or any institution should say what position should be taken at some distant time."

"It would be foolish for an individual to say what he would do five years from now. Conditions may change."

"I firmly believe that the church should oppose war, but I base my reply to this question on the wisdom of asserting what action is a great emergency would be the best."

The ten pastors taking a stand against support of any future war, according to the report, were: the Rev. Joseph M. Dawson, Waco; Bishop Seaman of Amarillo; the Rev. J. W. Mills, Beaumont; the Rev. John H. Epp, Hillsboro; the Rev. S. L. Bachelor, San Angelo; the Rev. David Lefkowitz, Dallas; the Rev. Walter Anthony, San Antonio; the Rev. C. H. Horner, El Paso; the Rev. Porter M. Bailes, Tyler; and the Rev. Paul C. Stephenson, Dallas.

In the national count, the report said, 12,904 replied in favor of a stand against future wars, 4,338 replied negatively, and 2,152 were in doubt.

The question was one of 15 sent to 100,000 of the nation's ministers.

On the question of military training in public schools and universities, replies from over the nation showed 2,579 favoring military training, 17,023 opposed, and 973 neutral, the report said.

Here's why—Luckies do not dry out why—Luckies are All-Ways kind to your throat

The difference between cigarettes is the difference between what goes into them and how they are put together. Luckies use only the clean, center leaves, for these are the mildest leaves—they taste better. That's why farmers are paid higher prices for them. And Luckies get the benefit of the famous process—"It's toasted"—for your throat protection.

And every Lucky is round, firm and fully packed. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—that's why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker.

Yes, Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

Novel Program

The Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church was charmingly entertained at the home of Mrs. Wayne Jones, hostess, and president of the society and who opened the session in a song service led by Mrs. J. E. Hickman, and prayer by Mrs. Fred L. Drago.

Hymn after hymn of the old-fashioned school was sung as a tribute to National Music Week. A devotional, "Human Bondage," based on John 8:10, and theme, "His truth can make you free," was given by Mrs. B. E. McGlamery.

The program leader, Mrs. W. Fred Davenport, then took charge and presented Mrs. Drago, in a talk on the history of church music, and a sketch of Lowell Mason, the father of church music.

The assigned study for the day, "Women of Rural Asia," was presented by Mrs. Davenport. At close of an interesting afternoon, iced fruited punch with small cakes was served informally from a flower decked table by Mrs. W. A. Keith and Mrs. John Burke to Mmes. T. M. Collie, J. V. ist purchases from his local dealer. All the great racing drivers are familiar with occasions when a driver using another make of tires had to slow up or stop at the pits for a tire change on account of tread separation. The thicker the tread the more heat it holds in the tire—unless the body construction guards against internal friction heat.

"Gum-Dipping the high stretch cords gives the adhesion which welds the tire into one strong unit. This made it possible for Firestone to develop the first successful balloon tire in 1923, and has made possible other developments which have brought leadership based on performance. With the amazing advancement of tire safety and mileage, Firestone has always sought efficient production so that the motorist would pay no premium."

Telephone Head Raps the Rayburn Bill at Hearing WASHINGTON, May 10.—Assailing the Rayburn communications control bill as an attempt to set up a "regime of public management over private property," Walter Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, condemned the measure at hearings before the house interstate commerce committee today.

The bill would take over control of all communications agencies, assuming present regulatory functions of the commerce and federal radio commission.

"Federal control will wreck the telephone industry," Gifford declared. "Present decentralized operation would be transformed into rigid, centralized bureaucratic operation. This would devalue the very principles of management which have been responsible for progress of telephony in this country."

Ripley Wants to Exhibit Old Rip At World's Fair Though the fame of Eastland's horned frog, Old Rip, frequently flares anew, the old boy just can't be forgotten as is evidenced by a letter from J. C. Simpson, secretary to Robert L. Ripley, creator of the syndicated feature, "Believe It or Not," who wants to obtain Rip for exhibition in the Believe It or Not Odditorium at the World's Fair in Chicago.

The letter advises that Rip will be given the best of care and will be protected by insurance if he is allowed to be exhibited in the museum.

The mummy of Old Rip has taken many trips, including a tour of the East at which time it was presented to President Coolidge. On another occasion the frog was taken to Florida.

Coastwise Shipping Strike May End GALVESTON, May 10.—The blockade on coastwise shipping along the gulf coast may be lifted tonight with union longshoremen working the cargoes, President Joseph Ryan of the International Longshoremen's association, said today.

Request of 75 cents an hour for work on coastwise traffic is expected to be met by shippers, it was revealed.

Only two points remained for settlement before work also could be resumed on deep sea cargoes—expiration dates of the new contracts and number of hours men are to work.

Telephone Head Raps the Rayburn Bill at Hearing WASHINGTON, May 10.—Assailing the Rayburn communications control bill as an attempt to set up a "regime of public management over private property," Walter Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, condemned the measure at hearings before the house interstate commerce committee today.

The bill would take over control of all communications agencies, assuming present regulatory functions of the commerce and federal radio commission.

"Federal control will wreck the telephone industry," Gifford declared. "Present decentralized operation would be transformed into rigid, centralized bureaucratic operation. This would devalue the very principles of management which have been responsible for progress of telephony in this country."

Ripley Wants to Exhibit Old Rip At World's Fair Though the fame of Eastland's horned frog, Old Rip, frequently flares anew, the old boy just can't be forgotten as is evidenced by a letter from J. C. Simpson, secretary to Robert L. Ripley, creator of the syndicated feature, "Believe It or Not," who wants to obtain Rip for exhibition in the Believe It or Not Odditorium at the World's Fair in Chicago.

The letter advises that Rip will be given the best of care and will be protected by insurance if he is allowed to be exhibited in the museum.

The mummy of Old Rip has taken many trips, including a tour of the East at which time it was presented to President Coolidge. On another occasion the frog was taken to Florida.

Coastwise Shipping Strike May End GALVESTON, May 10.—The blockade on coastwise shipping along the gulf coast may be lifted tonight with union longshoremen working the cargoes, President Joseph Ryan of the International Longshoremen's association, said today.

Request of 75 cents an hour for work on coastwise traffic is expected to be met by shippers, it was revealed.

Only two points remained for settlement before work also could be resumed on deep sea cargoes—expiration dates of the new contracts and number of hours men are to work.

Roosevelt Signs New Revenue Bill WASHINGTON, May 10.—President Roosevelt today signed the 1934 revenue bill, which eases the burden on small income tax payers and is calculated to raise $417,000,000 yearly.

The President signed the bill in the presence of the chairman of the fiscal committees of the senate and house.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES ARE SHAPING UP

AUSTIN, May 5.—Issues in the governor's race are evolving gradually.

Attorney General James V. Allred will "major" in utilities. A neat sideline will be his attack on lobbies. Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign for governor of New York set the pattern that will be followed.

Maury Hughes, recent state Democratic chairman, centers on prohibition repeal with half the liquor taxes going to schools.

Lt. Gov. Edgar E. Witt, cleverly, begins with the plea to become the "Centennial Governor." His leading issue apparently awaits his rally to be held in Bell county soon.

Tom F. Hunter continues the outspoken attack on things as they are—a campaign that advanced him two years ago from political obscurity to runner-up in the governor's race.

Ferguson policies, minus the sales tax, form the backbone of the C. C. McDonald campaign.

Sen. Clint C. Small angles for the conservative vote. "No new taxes," is an appealing plank. A natural resources commission may be a leading one before the campaign is over.

Edw. K. Russell, Annona candidate, stresses prohibition.

That Allred still leads the pack is indicated by a reported movement of other candidates to head him off. He apparently intends to lose no ground without a fight.

Dick Waters, Texarkana, resigned as an assistant attorney general and will actively direct the Allred campaign. Waters is but one of a score of popular assistants to Allred, whose home towns are scattered from El Paso to Texarkana.

Roy Tennant, former Ferguson supporter, may head the Maury Hughes headquarters to be opened in Austin. Guy Holcomb, another former active supporter, is in the Hunter fold, as he was last campaign.

Meetings of the Young Democrats in Dallas and the county judges and commissioners in Paris attracted candidates this week. Allred followed a Rio Grande valley tour with a visit to Houston where he was entertained by the Womens' Allred Club.

Issues in the departmental races still are difficult to label. H. O. Johnson, campaigning for state railroad commissioner, promised East Texans that if he fails to get into the run-off, he will campaign for whoever runs in it against Commission Chairman Lon Smith.

Walter Woodward unleashed an attack upon the crime wave, annexed a press representative and started rapid campaigning for the attorney general's office. Will McCraw, former Dallas prosecutor, opened Austin headquarters.

Dolph B. Tillison, Athens, and Fred Davis, Austin, were announced as new candidates in the races for State Comptroller and state agricultural commissioner, respectively. Both were announced in the Ferguson Forum. Davis, a former agricultural commissioner, has been a frequent editorial contributor to the Forum. He advocated strict adherence to laws against combinations, apparently aiming at Commissioner J. E. McDonald's approval of milk and cotton ginning agreements.

The movement for a strict prohibition candidate opposed to horse race betting and prize fighting apparently took a turn in the direction of the Attorney General's race. Pressure was brought on State Rep. Harry Graves, Georgetown, to get him to enter that race.

District Workers Conference Met In Ranger Tuesday The Cisco Baptist Workers Conference was conducted at the Central Baptist church of Ranger Tuesday with more than 200 registered from the various towns over the district.

Speakers at the conference were Morris Jefferies, Fay Shearer, Ross A. Smith and H. D. Blair. The principal sermon was delivered by Rev. W. M. Joslin of Albany.

FINANCES OF STATE IN GOOD CONDITION NOW

AUSTIN, May 5.—State finances are in much improved shape. It does not take any bulky balance sheet to show it. Warrant discounters are buying state warrants at a greatly improved rate.

Where once the state employe wanting cash had to knock off 3 per cent or more, he now can get cash for his state warrant at a discount of 1 1/2 per cent.

A call for outstanding warrants issued up to February was made by State Treasurer Charley Lockhart almost simultaneously with the April 30 state pay day. The result was a rush of discounters to purchase employe warrants.

The discounting of warrants at 1 1/2 per cent indicates that the purchasers expect to wait only a month and a half to cash in the warrants at the treasury. Warrants are usually cashed on the basis of 1 per cent a month.

During the depression period, when the state general fund has been in the red, the warrant buying business has become large in Austin. At first stores cashed warrants for their customer. Then it became the custom to cash warrants only when a certain per cent of the warrant total was expended in purchases. Lately the cashing has been almost entirely in the hands of private speculators.

Department heads are forbidden by law to discount pay warrants for employes. It is a legitimate business for others.

Two revenue acts of the last legislature already are under fire in the State Court of Criminal Appeals here. Both are licensed fee measures, with criminal penalties for engaging in the business without the specified license and fee.

The Dallas Retail Grocers' association is attacking one of the measures in a test case. It involves the new license fee levied on retail fish dealers in an amendment to the fish and game laws. Only two licenses have been taken out in Dallas since the act became effective on April 13.

The coin vending machine license is the other one under court attack. The statute is alleged to be discriminatory, charging a fee for some types of coin machines and omitting others.

If State's Attorney Lloyd Davidson can convince the court that it is valid, state revenue will gain an estimated $200,000 to $300,000 a year.

Habeas Corpus Is Denied to Insull

CHICAGO, May 10.—Judge Will M. Sparks of the United States circuit court of appeals today denied a writ of habeas corpus to reduce the $200,000 bond demanded for release of Samuel Insull from the county jail.

Judge Sparks in denying the writ and ordering that the 74-year-old Insull remain in jail until his friends obtain the bail, said: "I do not want to make this court of appeals attractive for such petitions."

Insull's attorneys argued that the one-time multimillionaire's friends could raise bond of only $150,000. Insull, confined to the hospital ward of the county jail, was not in court.

Divorce In General But Not For Actors Is Judge's Policy

JUAREZ, Chih., Mex.—Judge Ignacio Gutierrez Zamora, who thinks nothing of granting 15 to 20 divorces a day in the civil court, favors divorce for people in general, but not for movie actresses.

"Some of them get divorces just for the notoriety," he said. He believes that Chihuahua's easy divorce law is the salvation of unhappy American couples. Since he assumed office 18 months ago he has granted approximately 2,800 decrees to Americans.

Eastland Station Man Says Barrow Was In Eastland

C. T. Lucas, Eastland filling station operator on East Main street, thinks that a man and woman who drove into his station Wednesday afternoon in a car which tallied with the one reported to be driven by Clyde Barrow, was the desperado and his companion, Bonnie Parker.

According to Lucas, the Ford V-8 was driven into the station at about 3 o'clock, both man and woman were smoking, description of the type of smoking material, he did not notice. The couple drove in fast and from his position in the office of the station their actions made it evident they desired to refill their gas tank, but without explaining their actions, quickly shifted into low gear and made a quick getaway. As they dashed from the station, both looked back, giving Lucas a better opportunity to observe them.

The man driving the car had an unusually large head, and dark hair. The woman had auburn hair and an outstanding mark of her physical features was a long, slender face.

Lucas, after the couple had driven away, went to a station further east and queried attendants as to the appearance of the couple, but they had not stopped.

Virge Foster, Eastland county sheriff, after being notified of the incident, asked Lucas as to the description of the drivers of the car in question and it tallied with

BLANTON RAPS HEARST AND HIS PAPERS

Charges in Congress Speech April 20 That Hearst Is Sore Because Can't Use Him. Other Matters Also Discussed.

Thomas L. Blanton, congressman from the 17th Texas district and a candidate for re-election to that position, in a recent speech in congress flayed Washington newspapers owned by William R. Hearst for what he termed their unwarranted, false, and malicious attacks on him.

He also took a few cracks at Hearst and said that Hearst is sore because he cannot use him in his efforts to put things over on the country.

Blanton also calls attention to the fact that he warned the people of his district in a mass meeting at Abilene in regard to Samuel Insull and his operations and reiterates his stand against monopolistic activities.

Mr. Blanton's speech follows:

Mr. BLANTON. Mr. Speaker, on yesterday afternoon the Washington Times, a Hearst paper, falsely and maliciously stated that I was censured by the Speaker of this House, and also yesterday afternoon in the little Washington News there appeared under large headlines the false and malicious statement, "Blanton Is Censured." And in this morning's Washington Herald, another Hearst newspaper, it falsely and maliciously stated that I was reprimanded by the Speaker of the House. And this morning's Washington Post falsely and maliciously stated that the Speaker reprimanded me yesterday. I claim that is a question of personal privilege, and I ask to be recognized.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will say that the Speaker of the House cannot censure or reprimand a Member except on instructions by the House. The statement made in the newspapers is not true. The Speaker did not censure or reprimand the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Blanton).

Mr. BLANTON. I am deeply grateful to the able and distinguished Speaker of this House for correcting this great injustice which these domineering Washington newspapers deliberately and maliciously tried to do me. While under the rules I am entitled to the floor for an hour, I hope to use only a small part of that time. I regret the necessity of using any time today, but I do not intend to continue to allow them to maliciously and deliberately publish baseless lies about me and get away with it.

All of my colleagues here know why the Hearst papers lie about me. I am one of those here who fearlessly opposes William Randolph Hearst when he tries to put anything over on the people of the United States. I tell him and his newspapers where to "head in," and they do not like it. And all of you older Members here know why Eugene Meyer, the great get-rich-quick-on-the-government, and his Washington Post dislike me. And it is hardly worth while to even mention the wasp "little" Washington News.

While Eugene Meyer was amas-

ing his fortune as the head of the Federal Reserve and was putting into effect his unwise policies that broke many of the well-to-do cattlemen of the United States, and eventually closed many good banks all over the United States and impoverished American farmers, I was criticizing his waste and extravagance and his policies that permitted him and others to amass unearned and unmerited private fortunes and was doing my dead level best to have him kicked out of the Federal Reserve System. The Washington Post was the natural heritage of the McLean boys. When, with his unlimited money and his paid hirelings, Eugene Meyer secretly hornswooled these miners out of their family heritage I gave him a good "dressing down" about it. So he and his reporters take their spite out on me by misquoting me, by maliciously attacking me, by unwarranted abuse, and by printing false statements about me.

Hearst's Canada Junket

William Randolph Hearst invited me to go on his junket trip through Canada, sending me a two-page telegram to my home in Abilene during vacation, and offered to pay all of my expenses, but I did not fall for it. As soon as that Congress met, we found him trying to get the Members whom he had entertained on this junket, to put a sales tax over on the people, and overburden the already tax-burdened shoulders of the people. It was one of those here who fought him to a finish. And we licked him. And he has never forgiven us for it.

Hearst Fight to Restore Salaries

Then daily from the time this Congress met William Randolph Hearst browbeat and abused Congress in an attempt to force it to restore all pay cuts in government salaries. He had not restored pay cuts to his employees. I was one who would not let him cajole me. I would not fall for his threats. I fought back when he abused. And we passed a law that continued that part of the cuts which the President did not agree to restore.

Hearst Now Wants His Lost Deposits

Lately Hearst has been browbeating Congress trying to get it to pass his McLeod bill, that will make the taxpayers of the United States pay back to him his millions he has lost in defunct banks.

False A. P. Report To My Home Paper

My splendid home paper, the Abilene Morning News, in its issue of April 17, 1934, in an A. P. report from Washington dated April 17 stated that I attacked newspapers for publishing a list of petitioners, intimating that I was trying to keep congressional proceedings from the public, when the facts were that I had objected to Hearst and the Associated Press stealing incomplete proceedings which the rules of the House forbade them getting. I was demanding that the rules of the House be respected by the A. P. and Hearst. And if the valuable and hitherto dependable Associated Press wants the public to have confidence in its reports, and to give them due credence, it must stop misquoting what happens on this floor. Let it print the truth. This is just a concerted, continued effort on the part of the Washington newspapers to abuse me because I do not obey their orders. The caustic remarks I made yesterday about my friend from Pennsylvania (Mr. Ditter) in the heat of debate were in violation of the rules and should not have remained in the Record, and I do not censure my good friend from New York, the minority leader (Mr. Snell), for protecting one of his Republican Members when somebody is rapping him. That is his duty. I am still his friend. I expect him to do it, just as I would expect the majority leader to defend a Democrat on this side.

We often get without the rules of the House in debate. Rules are violated here every day. The Speaker merely rules according to points of order that are raised. As the Speaker has said, he did not censure me and did not reprimand me. He merely ruled on a point of order. Inasmuch as one of these newspapers states that "Speaker Henry T. Rainey censured and reprimanded Representative Thomas L. Blanton once before," may I ask the Speaker now, has the Speaker ever reprimanded or censured me since he has been Speaker of this House?

The SPEAKER. The Speaker never has done either.

Mr. BLANTON. I thank the Speaker. I see our distinguished and beloved majority leader here, Joe Byrns. When I was making a fight yesterday for the Democratic party, and to preserve and protect our Democratic appropriation bill, I want to ask him if he censured me for anything I did.

Mr. BYRNS. Every member of the House knows that a ruling such as was made yesterday from Texas and certainly the gentleman from Texas is one of the hardest working and most useful Members of this House. He is a man of very positive and emphatic convictions, and he never hesitates to express them. He is usually, and he should be, very vigorous in presenting his opinions and his views upon legislation pending here. There is no more active Member than the gentleman from Texas. I have often said that the gentleman, during his service here, has rendered a splendid and great service to the House and country.

Mr. BLANTON. I deeply appreciate that statement from our Democratic leader. And may I ask the majority leader if it is not a fact that I always faithfully cooperate with him, and sometimes obey his orders?

Mr. BYRNS. I would not say that the gentleman obeys my orders, because I never give any.

Mr. BLANTON. And the gentleman from Tennessee, our Democratic leader, is the only man here whose orders I would obey. (Laughter.)

Mr. BYRNS. I never give any orders. The gentleman is very active and very earnest and very loyal to the organization of the House.

Mr. COCHRAN of Missouri rose.

Mr. BLANTON. And I see my good friend from Missouri here (Mr. Cochran). When he offered his amendment yesterday to add an additional $36,823 to the Utilities Commission item in the bill, I opposed and helped to defeat his amendment. That did not interfere with our friendship. I just did not believe this $36,823 was necessary. Yet simply because I oppose the $36,823 the newspapers played us up as enemies and said my friend gave me a tanning yesterday. (Laughter.) Is there anything between the gentleman from Missouri and myself that would warrant the newspapers in saying that he gave me a tanning?

Mr. COCHRAN of Missouri. If the gentleman from Missouri had given the gentleman a tanning yesterday, he would not look so good today. (Laughter.) Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BLANTON. Yes; for another tanning.

Mr. COCHRAN of Missouri. Will the gentleman tell the gentleman from Missouri how he gets it into his head that he was making a fight yesterday for the Democratic Party?

Mr. BLANTON. I was at least working with the Democratic leadership in protecting that bill against the onslaught of my friend's $36,823 amendment. Appropriation bills have to be protected. The majority in control of Congress has to protect its bills, and the leadership looks to the Members in charge of appropriation bills that the majority places at the table to protect their bill.

I was working with the leadership, and we had enough votes to defeat all amendments. I know there were not many Members remained on the floor, and I know that the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Cochran) made a gallant fight, which is the kind he always makes. And every Member here appreciates the good work he is constantly doing here. He has one of the finest newspapers in the country in his city of St. Louis, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. I think there is no better newspaper in the United States than the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. I read it regularly. I know that it is fighting for their control, and I am fighting with them. I caused to be held at Abilene some years ago a public mass meeting to show how Samuel Insull had control of our power officials in Texas, and at that hearing I predicted what would happen to Samuel Insull. I have been fighting monopolistic public utilities of the country for many years, right along with my good friend and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Mr. COCHRAN of Missouri rose.

Mr. BLANTON. And right with the gentleman from Missouri, I will continue to fight such monopolies.

Mr. COCHRAN of Missouri. While, of course, I cannot concede that the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Blanton) was right yesterday, I will admit he has been one of the leaders in the fight against public utilities and has exerted himself in an effort to secure a fair deal for the public. The fact that he has always fought the battles of the little fellow is what puzzled me yesterday. The country is indebted to the gentleman from Texas for his services here. I have not always agreed with him, as was demonstrated yesterday, and I hope that between now and the time the bill comes back from the Senate he will see his mistake on the question in which I am interested, and being one of the conferees, he will accept the Senate amendment; for I am sure the Senate will restore the amount recommended by the Bureau of the Budget. Such action on his part will demonstrate what he has so often demonstrated here, that he is a real champion of the great masses and not the special interests.

Mr. BLANTON. As a conferee on the bill, I will of course carefully consider all amendments that the Senate may place thereon. But I sincerely hope that the Senate will find this bill such a generous and well-proportioned measure it will not deem it necessary to amend it in any particular.

Before closing, Mr. Speaker, I want to mention one other very unfair statement in a newspaper. In the last issue of the Gorman Progress it erroneously states that I "voted to override the President's veto of the salary grab act." That shows you just how very erroneous impression a newspaper editor in Gorman, Texas, can get from irresponsible newspaper reports sent out from Washington. The bill that we passed over President Roosevelt's veto was not a salary-grab bill, but just the opposite. If we had not passed the bill, there would have been a salary grab. By passing this bill we prevented a salary grab. The editor of the Gorman Progress is a good man, and means well, and would not knowingly mislead his readers, and he thought that he was telling them the truth. But he was not. Here are the facts: All pay cuts in all government salaries expired on June 30, 1934. If no law were passed before July 1 continuing pay cuts, all cuts would be restored and former salaries would be paid in full. Those wanting a "salary grab" did not want any law passed. But to continue on after July 1 that part of the cut which the President wanted continued, it was necessary for us to pass the law that we did pass. I hope that the Gorman Progress will correct its erroneous statement.

Former Governor Wins Two Points In a Civil Suit

DALLAS, May 8.—Former Gov. James E. Ferguson today won both points in a district court hearing here on a suit brought against him and his wife, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, by the Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank.

The action was for foreclosure on the 625-acre Ferguson Bell county farm for failure to meet payment on a $40,000 note made eight years ago.

The judge granted Ferguson's motion to delay the trial until Jan. 1, 1935, and set the amount of rent to be paid on the land at $2 an acre. The bank sought to have the suit tried now, and, failing in this, sought to have the rent fixed at $4 per acre for the year.

1934 Maverick Eleven Includes Five Lettermen

S. J. Petty, football coach of Eastland high school, has for the past five weeks coached the nucleus of what in the football season will be the 1934 Eastland Mavericks. The coach, apparently is of the opinion that a good football team, as a house, must have a sturdy foundation, as he has stressed fundamentals over the other points of the game.

There are five lettermen who will be included in the hold-overs from last year. These are: John Garrison, Clifford Cook, Darrel Tulley, D. C. Frost and Billie Joe Bagley. Squad members who will be holdovers are: John Hart, Ben Mackall, Bob Sikes, A. G. Gary, Billy Jones, Albert Martin, Truman Brown, Bill Shoopman. Andy Taylor, L. A. Dolberry, Aubrey Brawner, Jack Tranthom, Irving Cottingham and Horace Horton.

Newcomers who have been out for spring training are Clyde Garrett, John Frank Williams, Johnny Fehl, Weslie and Bill Lane.

Petty thinks the prospects are good this year for a better team than was had by the school last year. The boys have better spirit and more determination, which make it more evident that they are out for victory, according to Petty.

The season for Eastland is complete except for the date of September 28, which will be played at Eastland.

Firestone LEADERSHIP

"The Ultimate Test of Leadership is Performance"

FIRESTONE maintains its leadership in tire development by producing a new tire for 1934 with a wider tread, flatter contour, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber, which gives greater non-skid safety, more traction, greater blowout protection, and more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

These achievements are made practical by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, providing greater adhesion between the plies of the high stretch cords and between the Gum-Dipped body of the tire and the tough, massive non-skid tread. It also provides greater strength, longer flexing life, and greater protection against blowouts.

Gum-Dipping made it possible for Firestone to design, develop and put on the market the first successful balloon tire in 1923. This tire was the pattern used by all others and completely revolutionized the tire industry and set new standards for the automobile industry.

For fourteen years leading race drivers have driven to victory on Firestone tires, built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords. They have trusted their lives to Firestone Leadership—as they know that the patented Firestone construction features provide them with greater safety—longer mileage—and greater blowout protection.

Drive in today and replace your smooth, thin, dangerous tires with the new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934.

THE ADHESION TEST

Note how the rubber in a Firestone tire clings to high stretch cords. This greater adhesion is made possible by Gum-Dipping which soaks the cords in liquid rubber and saturates and cements the millions of fibers inside cords.

THE ACID TEST

To be positive that rubber penetrates every cord and every fiber, a solution of sulphuric acid which quickly decolors cotton but not rubber, is shown in test tubes with Firestone Gum-Dipped fibers and fibers from any other tire. Firestone Gum-Dipped fibers withstand the acid because they are the only fibers that are insulated with rubber, minimizing friction and heat, the deadly enemy of their life.

ROAD AND TRACK TEST

The extra strength—longer wear—greater traction—more safety—and greater blowout protection of Firestone High Speed Tires—the results of the most severe road and track tests. These have possible the outstanding world records on road and track.

liberal states dispense wines and cordials in parlors and tap rooms and prices which cause anti-prohibitionists to predict that repeal will become a permanent part of the American social life; while in the officially dry states the thirsty find little relief.

Drinking Scene Shifted
Chicago, most observers believe, is the sole difference between the drinking and now is in that a shift has been made from behind the barred speakeasies to the hotels of the Loop district.

Anti-prohibitionists point to the decline of gangs of racketeers who dominated the city during the prohibition days, while the prohibitionists sadly reply that the repeal of legal liquor has placed before thousands of the number of bars and taverns in the Loop district operate in Chicago and 25 per cent of their customers are women.

Conditions in Nation
Conditions vary throughout the country, of all the states of the South, has witnessed the complete change from drink in vogue in the days of prohibition. Without any form of control, bars and old-fashioned saloons are running wide open.

Establishments of New Orleans is one of the most interesting and curious manifestations of the post-repeal era in Louisiana.

Pennsylvania Drinking
Drinking in Pennsylvania has been somewhat "respectable" since the sponsorship of the state control board established by prohibition's most ardent governor, Gov. Gifford Pinchot. The goods in the state are sold through the state stores and are permitted in tap rooms.

Legally Dry States of Dixie
Alabama—conditions are the same as during prohibition. State enforcement acts still are on the statute books and officers continue their normal relationship with customers. The south consists principally of "moonshine" liquor. Throughout the middle west prohibition remains the law of the land.

New Sophistication
Kansas, observers report, have gained a new drinking sophistication previously unknown.

Bootleggers still do a thriving business throughout the dry southwest, although repeal is responsible for slightly lowered prices and improved quality. The drinking habits of a decade, however, are difficult to change, and consequently, gin and "green" whiskey still dominate in Texas, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Despite the newer technique of drinking prevailing in the urban centers of Kansas, the imported and blinded whiskeys have failed to catch the fancy of the bootleg trade and grain alcohol still remains the standard base for "prepared" liquors.

Missouri and St. Louis, which gave prohibition scant heed, have changed little from pre-repeal days. Drinks are fair, reasonably cheap and plentiful.

Oklahoma Not in Parade
Oklahoma, which is so dry that physicians may not even prescribe whiskey, shows no evidence of joining the national wet parade. Prices have dropped about 25 cents a quart on products distilled in the eastern hill counties, and bootleggers still control a profitable business.

Many of the inland towns of Texas are dry, but in the cities liquor and wines are procurable at reasonable prices.

Throughout the New England states anti-prohibitionists are generally satisfied with the working of repeal, except in the matter of prices and quality. In Boston the sale of liquor approximates pre-prohibition conditions, with the difference that saloons have been replaced by taverns.

New England Prices High
Because of the complaint that prices are high, bootleggers are plentiful in New England. In Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire, liquor is handled through package stores which make a specialty of filling mail orders for citizens who certify they need the liquor for "medicinal" purposes.

Synthetic drinks, compounded from raw alcohol, distilled water and "flavoring," still are favorites throughout New England. In Rhode Island and Connecticut, regulations are much stricter than in Massachusetts.

The smallest state in the union, Delaware, has established a one-man control board composed of Pierre dePont. Reports indicate that Delawareans are satisfied with the methods of distribution, prices and the quality of wines and liquors dispensed by the board.

After five months of experimentation—under a multiplicity of regulations and laws—prohibitionists watch the retention of the bootlegger with alarm.

Boston police were all set for a May Day riot, with a large supply of guns and ammunition, but they took an awful chance with Dillinger running loose.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson Christianity and Patriotism

Text: Matt. 22:1-23:39
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 13.
BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance

HUMAN nature does not change through the years. It might be said that it does not change at all except as the grace of God transforms it and makes it better.

Here, in contact with Jesus, in our lesson, were certain people who made high profession of religion. They were Pharisees.

The word has become a sort of term of rebuke today, but the Pharisees were earnest, high-minded, very sincere people in the Jewish religion of that time, people of strict virtues and practices, so that one might almost speak of church members today.

Yet, here were these religious people in contact, if they had but known it, with the greatest teacher and the purest and noblest man of all ages, and all that they were concerned about was to entangle him in his talk.

JESUS was not easily entangled. Men of gentleness and goodness often show remarkable clarity and soundness of judgment. Jesus was a man of supreme wisdom, as he was a man of supreme goodness.

One of the vexed questions in a country subject to a foreign yoke was the attitude toward that yoke which the Pharisees knew that it was an entangling question among Jewish patriots and so they took occasion of it to catch Jesus.

How aptly Jesus replied to them. He called for a coin which bore the image of Caesar and, asking whose image and superscription it was, he received the only answer that they could give, "Caesar's."

It was then that he spoke those memorable words, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's."

HE effectually silenced the Pharisees, but the words have a far deeper significance than either the Pharisees or the world have given them. They have been taken often to imply that Jesus was teaching the separation of Church and State, that we have some duties to Caesar and some duties to God.

That was not his teaching at all. He most certainly would have denied that there was anything that did not belong to God. But he was meeting these Pharisees upon their own ground.

Man's obligation to the state, his duty to his fellow men, are a part of his debt to God. The state might require him to do something that he believed to be wrong, and in that case the sincere Christian would have to reply, as the early disciples replied, "We ought to obey God rather than man."

The second part of our lesson enforces his great truth. When a lawyer asked Jesus concerning the great commandment, also wishing to entangle him, Jesus answered with the great words concerning love to God and love to man as constituting the highest thing in life and the deepest obligation of religion.

The two parts of the lesson must be taken together. The latter gives fullness to the former and offers us the deepest teaching of Jesus concerning the heart of true religion.

How aptly Jesus replied to them. He called for a coin which bore

Food Market Advice

"Heaven Sends Us Good Meat..."
GOOD meat is good meat whether it comes from the forequarter or the hindquarter of an animal. Which you choose depends partly on the length of your purse and partly on how much time you can spend in the kitchen. The so-called tougher cuts, if cut thin, can be cooked in a short time and may be superior in tenderness and flavor to the so-called tender cuts of "lower grade" meat.

Long, slow cooking at low temperatures such as braising or pot roasting or stewing, is the secret of making tough cuts tender. The forequarters of beef and lamb and all cuts of pork and veal require this type of cooking. Since these cuts are the ones best suited to the average food budget at this season, proper cookery must supplement good meat.

Fish is more plentiful each week and its fresh delicacy should be frequently enjoyed. Many people will be glad to hear that the spring lobster season is in full swing and that this sweet-meated seafood is very reasonable.

The Goodly Onion
Fortunately, new crop onions are plentiful, for onions are almost indispensable in the types of meat cookery suggested above. Carrots and celery add their flavor to the rich brown gravies which are characteristic of braised meats.

Peas are of good quality and are available at summer prices. While usually served as an accompaniment to lamb or poultry they are equally at home with veal, pork and beef. Green beans are moderate in price.

Asparagus is plentiful and is reasonably priced. Lettuce is a little high right now but less lettuce is required for fruit and vegetable salads than for green ones. Tomatoes and cucumbers are more abundant and radishes and green onions help out the salad bowl.

New Cherries Here
Big sweet cherries are plentiful and inexpensive. They are good to eat plain and contribute color and flavor to many salads and desserts.

Cantaloupe are plentiful and of good quality. Honeydew melons are generally available. Strawberries are plentiful and cheap and red raspberries from the West have come into market. Apples are still plentiful and new crop apples are expected to be in market sometime in June. It approaches the end of the season for Florida oranges and grapefruit and for navel oranges but California Valencia oranges are expected in the very near future. These oranges are available during the summer and early fall.

This is the peak of the pineapple season. If you enjoy preserves, try a combination of pineapple, rhubarb and strawberries. All are plentiful, seasonable and inexpensive.

Here is a dinner menu using foods which our experts consider especially suitable this week.

Braised Chuck Roast
Mashed Potatoes, Onions, Carrots
Radishes Scallions
Bread and Butter
Rhubarb and Strawberry Pie

Room-Base VERSUS Wheel-Base

WHEEL-BASE
This is the outside distance from hub of front wheel to hub of rear wheel.

ROOM-BASE
The inside body room of the car—the distance from the dash to back of rear seat.

Actual photograph showing roomy rear seat of Ford V-8

The wheel-base of a car is not always an indication of its body room. Cars of similar wheel-base may vary considerably in the amount of interior space available for the comfort of passengers.

That's the difference between wheel-base and room-base. One is the outside distance from the front hub to the rear hub. The other is what you get inside the car—the room from the dash to the back of the rear seat.

Take the New Ford V-8, for instance. Its wheel-base is 112 inches—a good generous dimension.

But the roominess of the body is even greater than you would expect in a car of this size.

The reason is plain and easy to see. But it is not something you usually associate with body room. It's the V-8 engine.

In this design, the eight cylinders are built in two banks of four each and are opposite each other in the shape of a V. This compact construction means that they take up only half as much space in the hood as they would if they were strung out in a long straight line. Less space for the engine naturally means that more of the car's length can be used for body room in front and rear compartments.

There need be no doubt about the roominess of this car. It's something you can check-up definitely and exactly. Your own tape measure will show you how much more leg room, seat room and head room you get in the New Ford V-8.

ROOMY REAR COMPARTMENT—You have 26 inches of leg room between front seat and back seat of the Ford V-8 Tudor Sedan.

GREATER HEAD ROOM—Ford V-8 Tudor Sedan gives you exceptional head room—36 1/2 inches from seat cushion to headlining.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL ITEMS

Junior high school conducted its first popularity contest last week for the benefit of the library. Four boys and four girls were contesting. The boys were James Metcalf, Dickie Martin, Pat Owen, and Neal Samuels. The girls were Ruth Knight, Nora Frances Mahon, Catherine Carter, and Virginia Ray. James Metcalf was voted the most popular boy by a large margin. The girls waged a very hot contest, Ruth Knight finally winning by a small margin.

The contest closed last Friday morning at 11:15. The students all assembled in the study hall and the winners were announced. A beautiful vanity, donated by the Toombs & Richardson drug store, was presented to the winning girl. A handsome belt and pen set, donated by the Men's Shop, was presented to the winning boy. An elaborate box of candy, donated by the Palace of Sweets, was presented to Nora Frances Mahon for all the losing contestants. A fine spirit of good sportsmanship was manifested throughout by all the contestants. The library netted the sum of $63.65 from the contest.

The contest closed with a picnic and half holiday at the city park. The students brought sandwiches, potato chips, and cookies Friday morning. About 9:30 the mothers of the Parent-Teacher association came by the school and gathered up all the food and carried it up to the park. They furnished pickles and all the rest of the trimmings including about 25 gallons of punch. The school dismissed at 12 o'clock and hiked to the park. The picnic lunch was all in readiness when they arrived. After lunch Mr. Patterson and Miss Ruth Ramey came up and directed a number of group games. The faculty and Parent-Teacher association want to express their appreciation for those who helped in any way toward making the contest and the picnic such a glorious success. Especially do they want to thank those who donated gifts to be presented to the winners of the contest, and those who donated articles of food for the picnic.

Disarmament Is Mourned As Dead

LONDON, May 10.—All over Europe today statesmen sadly were proclaiming the end of disarmament efforts, attempting to shift the blame on each other, fixing up old-fashioned war-like alliances and selling munitions to future enemies.

Many times disarmament has been pronounced dead, only to stagger weakly up from the grave. This time agreement seemed general death was a fact and that it could be revived only in a new incarnation.

Great Britain was reported to have reconciled itself finally to failure, last of the great European powers.

Road Relief Is Granted to Texas

Director Marie Dresden announced that an application for $750,000 for an emergency relief road construction program in drought-stricken areas had been approved by Federal Relief Director Harry L. Hopkins.

The sum may be used for purchase of material and supplies, it was declared at relief headquarters here. The amount is over and above the relief sums allotted Texas which must be evenly matched by the state.

Fourteen Day Old Boy Has 7 Teeth

Norman George Watson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Watson of Eastland, born April 12, is apparently a modern and believes in doing things with alacrity, as the child, at the age of 14 days, had seven teeth.

The teeth are perfect, according to doctors in Eastland who are amazed at the unusualness in the development of the molars.

Famous Bird Dog Is Dead at Houston

HOUSTON—Sportsmen of North America who have thrilled at the field work of Groeswen Rock, international champion English setter, will miss the dog at the next field trials. He is dead.

Groeswen Rock died here at the home of his owner, Mrs. Harvey S. Smith. He was imported from Canada, a son of two prize winners in England.

In a finish fight with the law, it's the outlaw who gets finished.

Catching of Bandits Proves Unprofitable

EL PASO, Tex.—Catching bandits proved unprofitable for E. J. Cochran, unemployed, who gave police the tip that resulted in the death of Frank Rebrook, who shot four persons in an attempted clothing store holdup.

Cochran received $52 of a reward fund raised by merchants for the officers who killed Rebrook when he resisted arrest. Cochran was receiving $14 per week from the FERA to support his family of six. Relief officials cut him off, asserting that the $52 "should last you several months."

Garden and Yard Hints From Club Women of County

Plant Hot Weather Vegetables Now

Okra, using the White Velvet variety; bush butter beans, using Fordhook or Henderson's Bush variety, and cream peas are ready for planting now. Cream peas are more prolific than blackeyes and taste just as good. Let's plant this kind. A vegetable known as mustard spinach may be planted now. It is very much like turnips or mustard but grows more rapidly and is more resistant to hot weather, as it does not go to seed quickly. In three or four weeks mustard spinach will supply as much greens as mustard.

"On my return," he said, "I spent a day at Galveston, my first visit to that important city. Here I had one of the surprises of my life when, asking for a glass of fresh milk, I was told that they had only condensed milk from New York—this was the principal hotel of the greatest city of Texas, a state that was the largest cattle producing region in the world. Later, I was told that all their butter and eggs came from St. Louis."

A second planting of bush beans should be made now. The good gardener plants the short lived types of vegetables every two or three weeks until hot weather prevents further planting. This keeps a fresh supply coming along all the while.

Late lettuce may be planted now. Black Seeded Simpson is a good variety of leaf lettuce that will be ready for use in about four weeks after planting. A number of the heading types will do well planted this late.

It is the time to set sweet potato slips. An acre should yield around 100 bushel, ready for harvesting in October. Set the slips 12 to 16 inches apart in rows 3 1/2 to 4 feet apart. Close planting will prevent the potatoes from getting too large. If set apart potatoes grow large and coarse. Slips set now can be trimmed in 3 or 4 weeks, using vine cuttings for increasing the production of potatoes. One-half acre set in early slips will produce enough growth to set an additional one-half acre from vine cuttings a month from time of setting.

Prune Tomatoes Now For Best Results

Mrs. R. N. Hazelwood, farm food supply demonstrator for the Reich home demonstration club gives the following information as result of the pruning of tomatoes on the past. It is best to fork tomato plants that are to produce fruit as late in the season as possible. This is done by allowing one sucker to grow out from the body of the plant. All other suckers should be removed as they appear at the joints of the leaves. Three clusters of tomatoes should be carried in the main stem and two clusters on the sucker. When a total of five clusters of fruit have developed on the plant, pinch off the top bud, leaving two pairs of leaves above the uppermost cluster of tomatoes in both main stem and the sucker. Staking is not advisable for plantings of this type where quantity production is desired.

Kill insects
Advice given by all club members cooperators and demonstrators in order to have the best results with gardens.

Where potato bugs are damaging the plants, dust the plants in the early morning with calcium arsenate. If it is too dry for dusting, mix three pounds of calcium arsenate in 50 gallons of water and spray the plants thoroughly. This will prevent bug damage to potatoes.

Cabbage is damaged by two kinds of pests. One is the regular cabbage worm which eats holes in the leaves rendering the cabbage unfit for use. The other is a red, black and yellow bug, called Harlequin cabbage bug, which sucks the juice from the plants, causing the leaves to wilt. For cabbage worm dust the plants with calcium arsenate or spray as for potatoes. To control the spotted bugs on the plants, mix up a soap solution using 1 pound of laundry soap dissolved in 2 gallons of water and spray the plants once or twice a week. This will not kill the bugs but it keeps them off the plants.

Tomato worms damage the young tomato plants. Dust them in the early morning with calcium arsenate.

For lice on mustard, turnips and cucumbers, spray the plants with Nicatrol or Black Leaf 40. The Black Leaf 40 should be diluted 1 part to 300 and spraying should be done in the middle of the day. It is not effective in cloudy or cool weather.

Aged General Recalls Hardships Of Building Of Telegraph Lines Across Texas Back in Early Days

WASHINGTON—The future of the nation held little place in the thoughts of the men who pushed their way through the Texas wilds 70 years ago to establish communications with frontier settlers. "We had time only to follow instructions," Major General Adolphus Washington Greely, who built hundreds of miles of telegraph lines through to the Texas frontier in 1875, said today.

Greely is 90, and although he spent less than three years of his life in Texas, he recalls vividly conditions and hardships that existed.

"Names and minute details," he said, however, "have been forgotten with the years, and I never kept a diary."

Greely doesn't think much of the new deal and predicted it would fail. He said, also, that the states are bound to break apart within a hundred years time. How, and what will happen when they do, he can't predict. But they will break apart, he contended.

Greely first went to Texas in 1866, with a detachment of soldiers, in charge of a shipment of livestock for the army gathered in the valley of the lower Rio Grande.

"On my return," he said, "I spent a day at Galveston, my first visit to that important city. Here I had one of the surprises of my life when, asking for a glass of fresh milk, I was told that they had only condensed milk from New York—this was the principal hotel of the greatest city of Texas, a state that was the largest cattle producing region in the world. Later, I was told that all their butter and eggs came from St. Louis."

Greely explained that this incident was typical of food conditions in the state at that time. In 1875, frequent incursions of Mexican bandits in the valley of the lower Rio Grande, and occasional raids of hostile Indians on the western plains of Texas, caused Congress to appropriate funds for the construction of such telegraph lines as would enable the army to protect frontier settlers more efficiently, Greely said.

"When months had passed without satisfactory results I was summoned to take over the job and expected to push it to speedy completion," he added.

"On arrival I was warned by my predecessor that it was an endless job; there was no timber for poles; the frontiersmen were intractable; the climate frightfully hot. I scoured the country for timber, and sought advice from the old freighters.

"I built the lines in northern Texas and Indian territory (now Oklahoma) on swamp-oak poles, poor but the only available local material. The central wire from San Antonio was put on pine and other scrub timber, gather with difficulty from the scattered woods of outlying hills. The stretch from Fort Concho to Fort Bliss (El Paso) across the barren 'staked plains', shrubless and waterless, seemed impossible, but it was built on pine timber involving long hauls from the neighborhood of Fort Davis—a post famous as having in its precincts only a single tree, though there was a forest within 50 miles.

"Finally an inspiration came to me. Familiar with the resources of the Dismal Swamp of southeastern Virginia, I decided to obtain therefrom juniper poles. The poles were delivered at Point Isabel, near Brownsville. So, for 200 miles along the Rio Grande, we built a telegraph line on poles which had grown a thousand miles distant.

"Conditions of transportation," Greely continued, "both for persons and freight were radically deficient, and lacking to a degree that would seem incomprehensible in Texas today."

Greely said his most amazing memory of Texas rested around the story of "Sheridan, Hell and Texas."

Here's the story as Greely said Sheridan told it: "When I went to Texas to find out how matters were going, I took along a large staff. I feared trouble here and was anxious to get back soon, and from various points sent state officers to investigate conditions I could not spare time to look into. I left Texas with only one staff officer, which caused talk at places I did not visit. Some paper fellow thought it clever to invent a reason, and so said that my last words on leaving were: 'If I owned Hell and Texas, I would live in Hell and rent out Texas.'"

"But, added Sheridan, did you hear the clever comment of a rebel editor? Quoting the original story he added: 'Bully for Sheridan. Damn a man who went stand up for his own country.'"

A dog is being shipped from Boston to Copenhagen, carrying 476 fleas on its back. By the time the ship arrives, probably the fleas will be carrying the dog.

Sanitary Code of State Needs Changes

AUSTIN — Texas' 20-year-old sanitary code is likely to be supplanted by the 44th State legislature next year with a "bill of health" to hit living conditions of 1935.

State Health Officer Dr. John W. Brown and his first assistant, Dr. H. N. Barnett, have conferred with Assistant Attorney General Scott Gaines here on a new health law for Texas.

Health officers have studied sanitary laws of various states, selecting provisions from each which Gaines will fit code to fit Texas conditions. The new sanitary bill is introduced at the next legislature.
