CLYDE, BONNIE KILLED BY OFFICERS

FOUR WERE KILLED WHEN A SOUTHLAND GREYHOUND BUS PLUNGED FROM OVERPASS

Mother of Eastland and Olden Women Is One of Victims, Others Are Wife and Daughter of Farmer Living Northwest of Ranger.

Three people were instantly killed, one fatally injured and three others were less seriously injured when an east-bound Greyhound bus plunged over the overpass on Highway 1, three miles west of Cisco a few minutes before noon Saturday.

The dead are: MRS. MARY ANN HILTON of Abilene, mother of Mrs. C. W. Hoffman of Eastland and Mrs. C. W. Young of Olden.

MRS. ETHEL BONEY, 19, wife of M. C. Boney, who lives 10 miles northwest of Ranger.

The most seriously injured were Ernest Golden, 27, of the San Diego Naval Station, who died in a Cisco hospital several hours after the accident; Edward T. Swindell, San Angelo; Mrs. G. W. Peacock of Colorado City and Roy Turner, Fort Worth, driver of the bus.

Golden's injuries consisted of a badly fractured right leg, deep lacerations about the right side of his face and internal injuries. Swindell's injuries are a deep cut about the left side of his face extending to behind his left ear, a cut on the back of the head and moderate concussion. Turnbow received only slight injuries around his face and a bruised shoulder.

According to the story of the accident, as told by the bus driver, he left Big Spring at 7 a. m. Saturday, bound for Fort Worth. Mrs. Peacock entered the bus at Colorado City, bound for Corsicana. At Abilene Golden and Swindell were taken on as passengers, Golden en route to Mena, Ark., on a furlough at his home. Swindell's destination was not known.

At Clyde Mrs. Boney and her 10-month-old daughter boarded the bus, which was due in Cisco at 12:31 and was running on time. As the bus approached the overpass it began to get out of control and the driver slowed down. When he first had trouble, he said, he was making between 30 and 35 miles an hour up the ramp of the overpass. He brought the bus almost to a stop, with the vehicle swerving from side to side and it nosed into the guard rail, hung a moment and then plunged down.

"We seemed to be floating down to the ground 50 feet below," Turnbow said after the accident. "I remember wondering how long it would last and then remembering hearing of people getting hurt when crushed against a steering wheel, so I slipped out from under it. It struck my shoulder, which was bruised slightly."

The first thing after the crash which Turnbow remembered, he said, was seeing Mrs. Peacock, who was pinned by one leg under the side of the bus. Someone on the roadway of the overpass tossed down a jack and he managed to get out. He told the passengers who were not seriously hurt to help with the others and asked them to get word to Cisco for assistance.

The injured were rushed to a Cisco hospital where they were being treated for their wounds.

The bus, a fairly new White, 18-passenger machine, was almost completely demolished in the 50-foot plunge to the railroad tracks below the overpass. The machine struck to the west of the tracks, but clear of the right-of-way.

Shortly after the accident a T. & N. train passed the scene of the accident, clearing the bus, but did not stop, witnesses said, the engineer apparently not seeing the wrecked wreckage of the bus.

I. N. Hart Died Wednesday; Buried Thursday 3 P. M.

Funeral services for I. N. Hart, 74-year-old Eastland county pioneer who died suddenly at noon Wednesday, were conducted from the Corinth church near his long time home a few miles northwest of Eastland, at 3:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Burial was in the Corinth cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. Dick O'Brien and Rev. Nugent Baldersee.

Mr. Hart came to Eastland county from Bell county and had resided on the farm where he died, or in the city of Cisco, for about 40 years. He drove out to the farm from Cisco Wednesday as was his custom, and while seated at the table eating his noon meal complained of feeling badly. He left the table and went to bed. Members of his family called a physician and a neighbor living near by, but Mr. Hart died before either arrived.

A life-long member of the Baptist church, Mr. Hart was active in the affairs of that church and in the civic affairs of his community and the county. He was a good citizen, a good husband and father and a pal to his children.

Survivors are his widow, who has his second wife, and the following children: John S. Hart, Eastland; Sam Hart, Eastland; James A. Hart, Alameda; Newt, Gus and Josh Hart, who reside at the Hart home near Cisco; Mrs. Mary Norris, Mexia; Mrs. Elmer Matthews, Eastland; Miss Rosie Hart, who also resides at the Hart home near Cisco, and another daughter who resides at San Angelo. One son and a daughter are dead.

The court did not make the sentences run concurrently. He was charged with kidnaping and robbing a Fort Worth salesman and robbing Fort Worth stores. He pleaded guilty.

Green last week was sentenced to 20 years for his confessed part in the holdup of a transcontinental bus near Weatherford. This makes him face 320 years in prison.

'Bonnie' Not Kin To the Parkers of Eastland County

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, Bonnie Parker, sweet heart and constant companion of the noted outlaw, Clyde Barrow, is not related in any degree to the E. C. Parker family of Eastland county.

P. L. Parker of Eastland, former tax assessor of Eastland county, says numerous reports have reached him to the effect that Bonnie Parker was related to the family of his deceased brother, E. C. Parker, but that she is not connected with his family.

E. C. Parker, who died at Rising Star May 15, last year, resided in Eastland county for more than 20 years. He has three surviving daughters who live in California and four sons, two of whom reside in New York, one in California and one in Dallas.

Officers Reveal How Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker Were Finally "Put on Spot"

BARROW BEGAN CRIME CAREER 8 YEARS AGO

HOUSTON, May 24.—Eight years ago Clyde Barrow began his career of crime when he became a member of a local gang of hoodlums.

The story of the southwest's most notorious killer was told today by a former member of the gang from behind cell bars in the Harris county jail. The gang was known as the "Root Square Club." It is now extinct.

"Clyde was just a wild-eyed kid when one of the fellows brought him to the hangout one night and said he was 'all right,'" the former companion said.

"The gang was mostly young kids. They stole automobile tires and sold them. The gang got women and had a hot time getting drunk.

"Clyde tired of petty stealing and convinced the gang it should go into the burglary and safe-robbing business. Clyde knew how to use 'soup.' We all learned later how to make the stuff.

"Clyde had a burning hate for policemen and apparently was not afraid of them. I never figured he was a killer or would turn out to be one. Guess we were to blame for his hating coppers. We taught him to.

"Clyde always read newspapers and seemed to get a kick out of reading of the jobs he pulled. He kept a scrapbook for the clippings."

Even when a small boy he was cruel and mean. He took pleasure in hurting animals and birds. He used to break the legs of dogs and cats and torture other animals and break the wings of birds just to watch them try to fly.

Holt has appeared on the Ranger card in recent weeks and proved to be very popular with the fans. The match will be a two-hour limit, best two out of three falls.

The semi-finals will see Bobby Davidson, 180 pound strong boy from Bridgeport matched with Curley Stringer, 170 pounder, both of whom are well known by the Ranger fight fans as they have appeared on the card on several occasions.

Bill Donowho, 140 pound boxer from Ranger will mix blows with Battling Waid, 138 pounds, from Dallas. Both these boys are experienced ringmen and a good boxing bout is anticipated.

Father of Former Barrow Companion Furnished Tip-Off

(Copyright 1934 by United Press) ARCADIA, La., May 24.—Local officers revealed today for the first time how Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were "put on the spot" yesterday for ex-Ranger Captain Frank Hamer and three other Texas officers who joined Sheriff Jordan in ambushing and killing the southwest's No. 1 public enemies.

Down in the piney woods at Ashland, some 30 to 40 miles southwest of here, lives Irwin Methvin, father of Henry Methvin, who escaped when Barrow staged his Eastham prison farm delivery Jan. 16.

Since Feb. 19, when Hamer and Bob Alcorn first tipped Sheriff Jordan to that fact, local officers have watched the Methvin home. They knew Barrow had dashed there several times. Methvin feared to lend officers help because he didn't want the lives of himself and his family jeopardized if Barrow was cornered in his home.

"Lay off my home and I'll help you trap him up the road," was Methvin's ultimatum.

Hamer and his men waited in Shreveport. Two weeks later they sat down and prepared to spring their trap. The long-expected call came. Swiftly they drove the 60 miles to Arcadia and joined Sheriff Jordan and Deputy Oakley.

Seven hours before Barrow and Bonnie sped into their death trap, Hamer and his men concealed themselves along the road. Equipped with powerful field glasses they could see all cars from the north long before they reached the ambush.

Long before Barrow and Bonnie were within range of the posse's guns, the officers knew they were approaching. Hamer had spread his men out so that in case Barrow tried to spray them with automatic rifles or shotguns, he could not possibly get more than one man at a time.

Slowed down by a cleverly planted truck, Barrow clearly heard the order to halt.

Gamer or more fatalistic than other widely advertised bad men, Barrow and Bonnie tried to get guns resting in their laps into action and thereby sealed their fate.

Bodies of Bonnie And Clyde In Dallas

DALLAS, May 24.—Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker came home to Dallas today.

Two ambulances bore their bullet-riddled bodies to the city that was once their home. There was none waiting to receive their bodies. To one funeral home went the ambulance bearing Clyde. To another went the one bearing Bonnie.

The bodies were taken quickly from the ambulances, carried through a drizzling rain. Curious persons soon flocked to the funeral homes.

Against Bonnie's wish they will be buried separately.

Barrow Slain

Clyde Barrow, the southwest's No. 1 bad man, who, with his "gun moll" Bonnie Parker, were slain in a gun battle with officers near Gibsland, La. NOTORIOUS DESPERADOES SHOT FROM AMBUSH AS THEY DROVE ALONG A ROAD IN LOUISIANA

Officers Received Tip Pair Were in Gibsland and Lay in Wait, Opening Fire As They Approached. Both Were Instantly Killed By Withering Fire.

GIBSLAND, La., May 23.—Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, who lived by violence, died by violence today.

The notorious southwest desperado and his attractive companion were shot down from ambush by six officers. Barrow and Bonnie were riding in a gray coupe when the officers, hiding behind a slight rise at the edge of the highway, opened fire. Barrow fell sideways against the automobile door which he had opened at the first volley of bullets. He had no chance to raise a machine gun that lay between his knees.

Bonnie slumped forward over a machine gun in her lap.

Barrow and Bonnie were alone in the car. It was learned that Barrow, posing as a chaismaker, had been living in this vicinity for a week, living in a vacant house about one mile from the death scene.

He visited Gibsland last night, authorities learned. This morning all highways leading from the town were blocked by officers.

Sheriff Henderson Jordan of Arcadia, accompanied by five other officers, hid in the weeds by the side of the highway on a slight rise early today.

They sighted the Barrow automobile approaching when it was about 300 yards away. They opened fire with machine guns and shotguns as the car came into range.

The desperadoes apparently were caught unawares. So badly riddled and damaged by gunfire was the automobile that it had to be moved by a wrecker.

Dr. J. L. Wade, viewed the bodies at the scene of the slaying. He said he would conduct an inquest at Arcadia.

Officers in the party included Sheriff Jordan, his deputy and four officers from Texas, two from Houston and two from Dallas.

From the scene of the slayings, several miles south of here, the bodies were taken to Arcadia. They were left slumped in the seat of the car, which was towed into Arcadia by a wrecker. Undertakers said there were 59 or 60 machine gun bullet wounds in each body. They said embalming would not be completed until early tomorrow, due to the torn and mangled condition of the bodies.

Barrow was shot seven times in the chest. His right shoulder and right ear were horribly mangled. It was found he bore a shotgun wound in his right leg, apparently suffered in a brush with officers. The big toe on his right foot was missing.

His eyes were severely lacerated from bits of glass from dark glasses he wore.

DALLAS, May 23.—Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, his cigar smoking sweetheart, blazed a murderous trail of crime across the southwest during their brief criminal careers. In their forays of bank robberies, petty kidnaping and brushes with officers, 12 men were slain, according to police records. Like most criminals, Barrow had an obscure beginning.

His criminal career began in 1928 in Dallas and San Antonio, where he confessed operation of a small automobile theft ring. He was sentenced to prison and upon his escape began his trail of banditry across the southwest. He eluded the law by outpacing pursuing officers, never lingering at the scenes of his crimes. In his flight, killings were frequent.

The murder of a dozen men have been attributed to him, but his spectacular career forced him to share the blame in crimes he probably did not commit.

DALLAS, May 23.—The elderly mother of Bonnie Parker fainted today when told of her daughter's death. Relatives of the woman as well as those of her companion, Clyde Barrow, had expected the two to meet death at the hands of officers.

DALLAS, May 23.—The death of her sister, Bonnie Parker, and Clyde Barrow, was no surprise to Mrs. Billie Mace, she sobbed here today in her jail cell. "I had been expecting it," she said when the news was given her. She hung her head and then broke into sobs. In a few minutes she gamely dried away her tears.

DALLAS, May 23.—Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were believed en route to a small house buried deep in the Louisiana piney woods when they were shot down today by officers.

Officers here said it was known that Barrow purchased the house near the scene of the slayings, several weeks ago, for the father of Henry Methvin, a comrade.

The desperado was afraid to seek refuge at the house, however, because the only approach was a narrow trail. The house was so situated as to constitute a perfect trap, officers said.

Lee Simmons Was Man Who Hired Former Ranger

(Copyright 1934 by United Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., May 24.—Frank Hamer, former Texas ranger captain, revealed today how he had headed the successful hunt for Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker since Feb. 10, when he was put on their trail exclusively by Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas prison system.

"Thanks to Lee Simmons, who employed me to work for the prison board, I had unlimited authority and resources to devote to finding Barrow and Bonnie," Hamer said.

"Employed Feb. 10, a little less than a month after Barrow freed Hamilton and others at the East-ham prison farm, I began checking up on all possible contacts Clyde might have. Nine days later, aides and I visited Arcadia.

"We visited Sheriff Jordan and outlined to him why Barrow might reasonably be expected eventually to be found in that neighborhood."

"Barrow was hot in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa because of the long trail of murder he and Bonnie or he and his dead brother, Buck, had spread over those states. Louisiana was the one spot near his home state where he wasn't hot."

"I never knew another outlaw like Barrow. He was a wanton killer and steered clear of underworld associates except for Bonnie Parker. His hunches were uncanny."

"Some wild reports about Clyde and Bonnie have gained currency. Barrow drank very little and didn't use dope at all. Bonnie was cleverer and equally as merciless in the matter of taking human life without provocation of any sort. She loved whisky and kept herself stimulated with it.

"Her love for cigars was fact and not fiction, though when she killed she had cigarettes and not cigars in her lap."

A SIX COSTS LESS TO RUN

CHEVROLET Engineering facts prove it. Experience in building nearly ten million cars confirms it. And the record of over 3,000,000 Chevrolet Six owners removes any shadow of doubt about it: The only way to get real economy in a low-priced car is to insist on SIX cylinders and OVERHEAD valves.

SIX cylinders—no more!—because extra cylinders mean extra cost for gas, oil, upkeep and parts. OVERHEAD valves—nothing else!—for the same good reason that airplanes use them. And speedboats. And racing cars. They get the MOST power out of the LEAST gas. That's why overhead valves are the choice of leaders—and champions.

Production Credit Interest Rate Is Now Five Percent

E. R. Maxwell, secretary-treasurer of the Breckenridge Production Credit association, has just received word from Governor W. L. Myers of the farm credit administration in Washington, D. C., that the interest rate on new loans from production credit associations has been reduced from 5 1/2 to 5 per cent.

According to Mr. Maxwell the new 5 per cent interest rate becomes effective immediately on all new loans and advances made by the association and will be applicable until further notice.

"The new interest rate of 5 per cent will not affect loans already advanced in full," Mr. Maxwell said. "Those will continue to bear the rate of interest prevailing at the time the loan was closed. The interest charges on loans from the association are collected when the loans mature. The Breckenridge Production Credit association is now making loans on acceptable crop and chattel security to farmers in Jack, Young, Palo Pinto, Throckmorton, Eastland, Shackelford, and Stephens counties.

"The reduction of the interest to 5 per cent on new loans," Mr. Maxwell continued, "is made possible by a recent sale of federal intermediate credit bank debentures to investors at an unusually low rate of interest. The association gets money to lend farmers from the federal intermediate credit bank of Houston.

"The lowering of the interest rate on new loans to 5 per cent is the second reduction in two months, the rate having been reduced from 6 to 5 1/2 per cent on March 16.

"According to Governor Myers," said Mr. Maxwell, "the federal intermediate credit bank is passing on immediately to farmer-borrowers from production credit associations the savings made possible by lower cost of getting money. The confidence of investors in the security of the intermediate credit banks has been such that the banks are able to get money to lend at the lowest discount rate in their history. Governor Myers says the resulting low rate of interest on production credit association loans is enabling farmer-borrowers to save thousands of dollars on the cost of their farming operations this year. If the associations make sound loans, the loans that are collectible, an adequate supply of low cost money will continue to be available."

John Hunter Yates sat at the keyboard of the huge, smooth piano, his heavy hands vainly trying to produce a passage from Beethoven's Sonata. His fingers moved clumsily over the keys. The music was awkward, halting. The spacious penthouse living room re-echoed the dissonant chords.

In back of him paced tall, thin, good-looking Zukowski. He strode over the thick rug quickly as though trying to escape the attempt of John Hunter Yates. Suddenly, his hands flew to his ears, shutting out the sound.

"Mr. Yates—stop!" Zukowski's voice was a cannon's roar in the room.

Yates looked up in surprise. "What is the matter?"

"Beethoven," said Zukowski, "has been dead a long time. Why do you want to kill him all over again?"

Disappointment was in Yates' eyes. "I thought I was getting it then."

"I'm one of your greatest admirers—but you'll never learn to play that Sonata."

"If I don't, it's your fault. I'll fire you and get the best teacher in the world."

Zukowski almost smiled. "All right—fire me. You'll be doing me a favor. Instead of teaching, I should be composing. I'll go to Paris where I'll be appreciated."

Yates rose to his feet. "I won't let you go till you teach me to play that Sonata."

"In ten million years you won't learn to play that Sonata."

"I'll get it if I have to hire Rachmaninoff!"

"Rachmaninoff—Gabrilowitch—Paderewski—any of them—all of them together couldn't do it!" Zukowski stared at Yates, then suddenly, "Mr. Yates, would you take me the way I am and make me General Manager of your Company?"

"No, I wouldn't give you a job as filing clerk. You're not equipped for it."

"Are you," asked Zukowski, triumphantly, "equipped to play Sonata?"

"That's different."

"Mr. Yates, you've been in business thirty years. So have I. I played the piano when I was two years old. I've been playing ever since. Some day, maybe, I'll learn how. But you—you're rich. You could afford to hire a whole symphony orchestra—the best in the country. You could pay them to play for you in your garden every night. Think of it! A whole orchestra to play for one man!"

Yates was impatient. "Anybody can do that by tuning in on the radio. You don't understand. I'm not satisfied to listen to music. I want to make music."

"But you can't make up your mind all of a sudden like this—"

Yates held up his hand. "I made up my mind before you were born. Every year I planned to begin, but I kept putting it off. I was too busy making money."

"Mr. Yates, there are some things money can't buy."

"What for instance?" Yates smiled.

Zukowski spread wide his ten fingers. "These, for instance. These fingers. You can't buy them—you have to be born with them. And something inside—"

"In here—that goes with them. You haven't got it."

Yates shrugged. "I'll get it. I always get what I want. And if you can't teach me—"

"All right—I'll teach you. I'll teach you till I'm blue in the face. And I'll charge you ten times as much as anybody else. Then I can give lessons free to people who believe in me."

Yates grinned. "You know what I like about you, Zukowski? You speak your mind."

"Go on—"

Zukowski gritted his teeth—"play—torture—that poor dead Beethoven. Make him turn over in his grave!"

Yates turned and started to finger the keyboard again. Down below, in the vast Yates offices, three of the world's greatest bankers waited—waited while John Hunter Yates endeavored to play the Beethoven Sonata.

There was a knock on the door.

"Come in," called Yates.

It was Miss Gower, Yates' efficient secretary. "They're here."

"How long have they been waiting?"

"Half an hour."

County Donates to Abilene Orphanage

Authorization to the county treasurer and clerk for the issuance of a $50 check, as Eastland county's donation to the West Texas Children's Aid and Welfare Association of Abilene for 1934, was made by the commissioners' court May 14.

The donation was made by the commissioners because, as the order stated, the association has rendered Eastland county valuable service to orphans, neglected children and dependent children and found homes for them and that Eastland county had made small donations in the past and desired to continue to do so.

The $50 was charged to the general fund.

Court Reporters To Be Paid Out of The Jury Funds

Official shorthand reporters of the 88th and 91st district courts in Eastland county, in the future will have their salaries charged to the jury fund and not the general fund, as has been the case in the past, by virtue of a county commissioners' order made May 14.

During the 43rd session of the legislature, a house bill which was passed, made it legal for the shorthand reporters to be paid out of either the general or jury fund.

BULLOCK

The Bullock Home Demonstration club met Wednesday, May 16, at the home of Mrs. B. F. Dempsey. There were 14 of the members and two visitors present.

Miss Ruth Ramey gave a cake demonstration. Then ice cream and cake was served.

The program in general was very interesting and everyone reported a nice time.

The next meeting will be on June 6, at the home of Mrs. Harvey Dempsey.

me the way I am and make me General Manager of your Company?"

"No, I wouldn't give you a job as filing clerk. You're not equipped for it."

"Are you," asked Zukowski, triumphantly, "equipped to play Sonata?"

"That's different."

"Mr. Yates, you've been in business thirty years. So have I. I played the piano when I was two years old. I've been playing ever since. Some day, maybe, I'll learn how. But you—you're rich. You could afford to hire a whole symphony orchestra—the best in the country. You could pay them to play for you in your garden every night. Think of it! A whole orchestra to play for one man!"

Yates was impatient. "Anybody can do that by tuning in on the radio. You don't understand. I'm not satisfied to listen to music. I want to make music."

"But you can't make up your mind all of a sudden like this—"

Yates held up his hand. "I made up my mind before you were born. Every year I planned to begin, but I kept putting it off. I was too busy making money."

"Mr. Yates, there are some things money can't buy."

"What for instance?" Yates smiled.

Zukowski spread wide his ten fingers. "These, for instance. These fingers. You can't buy them—you have to be born with them. And something inside—"

"In here—that goes with them. You haven't got it."

Yates shrugged. "I'll get it. I always get what I want. And if you can't teach me—"

"All right—I'll teach you. I'll teach you till I'm blue in the face. And I'll charge you ten times as much as anybody else. Then I can give lessons free to people who believe in me."

Yates grinned. "You know what I like about you, Zukowski? You speak your mind."

"Go on—"

Zukowski gritted his teeth—"play—torture—that poor dead Beethoven. Make him turn over in his grave!"

Yates turned and started to finger the keyboard again. Down below, in the vast Yates offices, three of the world's greatest bankers waited—waited while John Hunter Yates endeavored to play the Beethoven Sonata.

There was a knock on the door.

"Come in," called Yates.

It was Miss Gower, Yates' efficient secretary. "They're here."

"How long have they been waiting?"

"Half an hour."

Yates stood up and donned his coat. "Ought to keep 'em waiting till morning, but I've got a few things to do myself." He turned to Zukowski. "Now, don't go away, Zukowski. Wait for me."

G. N. CLATON DIES

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the Colony community for G. N. Claton 73, who died Saturday morning at 4:30 at the home of Mrs. R. A. Latham, a daughter. Services were held from the Latham residence in Cisco and burial took place in Oakwood cemetery, Cisco.

Mr. Claton, who has several children in Eastland county, had gone to Cisco from the home of a daughter at Throckmorton to live with Mrs. Latham and her husband only two weeks before his death.

Bankhead Act to Be Administered By Old Committee

COLLEGE STATION—The Bankhead Act, controlling cotton production, will be administered by the same machinery employed in the cotton acreage reduction program, the agricultural adjustment administration at Washington has advised C. B. Martin, extension service director at Texas A. & M. College.

Texas may gain and sell 3,691,200 bales tax free under the new act, the AAA points out. All in excess of this must pay a tax of 50 per cent of the average central market spot price for 7-8-inch middling staple.

County control associations set up under the acreage reduction program will have charge of making individual allotments for production the next year beginning June 1, during which the Bankhead Act will operate. As far as possible although these may be raised or lowered according to the county allotments assigned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The allotted bales are to be given tax exemption certificates as soon as bales are received and machinery set up in the individual counties.

Those who did not sign reduction contracts may participate in the new act, but they will not share in rental and parity payments given former co-operators.

Share croppers and tenants are to be protected in making of allotments and issuing of exemption certificates, according to provisions of the act. Contract signers who violate their contracts are to have their exemption certificates revoked.

No allotments are to be made under the Bankhead Act until all producers have applied to their county cotton committees for exemption certificates. Texas allotments are based on the ratio of average production for five years—1928-32—to the average national production for that period.

The first duty of every producer under the law is to apply for bale tags for all cotton produced prior to this season now in possession of the farmer. As soon as forms are available the farmer should apply for production exemption certificates for his allotted cotton for 1934-35. Final date for these applications has not been set.

Every bale of American cotton entering trade channels in the cotton year 1934-35, must have a bale tag which the farmer may obtain either by surrendering his exemption certificate or by paying the tax. The amount of tax is determined by the tax in effect at the time the cotton is ginned regardless of when it is sold. At no time can the tax be less than 5 cents a pound. Bureau of Internal Revenue will have charge of collecting the tax.

Cotton of 1 1/2 inch staple length or longer is exempted from tax but the producer of such cotton must first prove his point before exemption is granted. Experiment station cotton is also exempted from the tax.

Porters at Capitol Have Long Service Records to Credit

AUSTIN, Tex.—Illness of Tom Brown, file custodian in the Adjutant General's office, has interrupted the service of probably the state capitol's longest-time employee. Brown has been in the Adjutant-General's department as porter and file custodian since Spanish-American war days. A beautiful penman, he has for years written the names of National Guard officers in the commissions issued to them. Dave Mitchell has been a porter in the same office for 33 years.

Alex Phillips has almost as long service as porter to the State Supreme Court. Hugh Green has been porter in the Governor's office since he came to Austin after the Galveston flood.

Henry McBride, another of the capitol's famous porters, was their dean when he retired four years ago. He antedates the present state capitol. In fact, he is responsible for it. In burning trash in the old state capitol, equipped with stoves, he made so big a fire that the building was destroyed.

THE LAST JUDGMENT

Text: Matt. 25:31-46
The International Uniform School Lesson for May 25

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance

JUDGMENT is a great word and a great idea in the Old and New Testaments. It is what marks the greatness of both Old Testament religion and New Testament religion, for there can be no greatness of religion where there are not high and exacting standards.

The failure to understand that sometimes has led to slackness, to the promulgation of religions that have not required much from those who believed in them and followed them.

Sometimes the exactions of religion have been so formal and have had so little to do with moral or spiritual reality that there has been a strong reaction, and from being apparently too strict people have come to make a sort of religion of lack of strictness.

The late Dr. George A. Gordon of Old South Church in Boston, once preached a great sermon on judgment, in which he represented judgment as the supreme thing in the life of an earnest and honest man, the one great goal toward which he was moving.

SURELY this is true in every sphere of honest life and labor. The artist does not wish to produce something cheap or worthless. He values judgment upon his work and he is anxious to satisfy the critics who know. The honest workman wants his work to stand the test. He does not resent the discovery of some new, because he wants to make his work perfect.

What was the idea that Jesus had of judgment? He thought it was inevitable for man, and he desired all life as moving toward the great last judgment. We do not know how much the portrayal in our lesson is symbolic, but at any rate it is symbolic of a real fact.

It is not surprising that men should fear judgment, as much as they seek it. They want judgment to be fair and reasonable. They do not want to be in the hands of some arbitrary judge who will be swayed by prejudice or by hate.

JESUS taught that we are to be judged by a God of love, who understands all that enters into the judgment. Yet he indicated that this judgment would be stern if it was also loving.

It would reveal all sham and pretense in life. It was a judgment in which little deeds of kindness and gentle words would outweigh all profession of righteousness where there had been no sincerity of kindness in act or word.

So we have this striking portrayal of some of those who professed the most being turned away in spite of their claims, while those who had given a cup of cold water, in the name of Jesus, to a thirsty woman were approved by Christ, though they felt their own unworthiness.

The teaching of the lesson is so clear and plain that words can add hardly anything to the reality of Christ's great picture. All life moves toward the judgment of an exacting, but a just, righteous, and loving God.

Location of Second Of 3 Wells Made

CISCO, May 19.—Location has been made for the second of the series of three wells to be drilled just north of Cisco by the Lone Star company in contract with group of local operators.

The first well, the Kincaid No. 1, is still cleaning out after a shot Monday.

The second will be drilled on the Phillips 96 acre tract, and will be a quarter-mile southeast of the Lone Star Kincaid. It will be located 660 feet from the north line and 793 feet from the west line of the Phillips.

Cellar and slush pit are being dug and rig materials are being moved in. Drilling will start within a week or ten days. Gallagher and Lawson, who drilled the Kincaid well, will drill this also.

Merchants Would Continue Rodeos

Continuance of rodeo presentations on Trades Day was voted for by merchants who finance the programs at a meeting at the Lyric theatre Wednesday morning.

That the rodeos, which have been presented by the merchants, offer the more attendance interest for the money than any other form of program and are strictly a good-will feature, was cited by H. C. Davis, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, as the reason why the rodeo programs are to be continued.

NEW FORD V-8

Definite reasons for the superior performance and efficiency of the V-type engine

THERE'S no guessing about the superiority of V-type engines. They hold every major record on land, on water and in the air. For years they have been used for the finest motor cars in this country.

We designed a V-type engine for the Ford because it has certain basic, fundamental advantages that cannot be duplicated in any other type. It costs more to build a V-type engine—a great deal more. But we absorb that cost for the sake of getting better performance on the road. Here are just a few of the advantages of Ford V-8 design:

MORE EFFICIENT DESIGN—The Ford V-8 engine is more efficient because the eight cylinders are divided into two short banks of four each and placed opposite each other in a compact V-shape design—instead of being strung out in a long straight line.

SIMPLER COOLING SYSTEM—Ford V-8 design brings all cylinders close together and results in simpler cooling system within the engine. The Ford V-8 has two water pumps.

MORE EFFICIENT LUBRICATION—Oil lines are shorter in the Ford because of V-8 design. Less distance for oil to travel. More efficient lubrication.

GREATER SMOOTHNESS because of inherently correct engine balance resulting from 90° V-8 design with 90° spacing of crank-throw on fully counterbalanced crankshaft. Precision weighing of pistons and connecting-rods assures accurate running balance.

INCREASED BODY ROOM—Ford V-8 engine takes up less space in hood because of shorter, more compact design. That permits more of car's length to be used for the passengers. It is one reason why the Ford V-8 has more interior room than any other low-price car.

BETTER FUEL DISTRIBUTION—Shorter and more direct fuel passages to cylinders increase engine efficiency.

PROVED PERFORMANCE—V-type engines hold every major record on land, on water and in the air. (Seaplane.) In every test, they show their superior efficiency and performance.

Those are the advantages of the V-type design. The foremost engineers in the country acknowledge the superiority of this type of engine and use it in the finest automobiles, speed boats and airplanes. Only the Ford gives you a V-8 cylinder engine for less than $2500.

The Ford V-8 is the most remarkable engine ever built because it combines V-8 performance with economy. It delivers more horsepower per gallon of fuel than any Ford engine ever built. Dynamometer tests prove it in the laboratory. Ford owners by the thousands have proved it on the road. They know, as you will know, that no car costs less to own and run than the New Ford V-8.

Presbyterians Are Facing Problems At Their Assembly

By HENRY B. HENSON
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 CLEVELAND, May 22.—At least three problems were to occupy front pews at session of the 146th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A., which opened here Wednesday.
 More than 2,000 churchmen and laymen were in the city for the gathering, which will continue through May 30.
 One bothersome schism, involving a deep vale of fundamentalism; a heresy case of wide lay interest; and the recurrent issue of church union were expected to enliven this year's meeting.
Three Problems
 These were:
 1. Dealing with a schism centering around the Rev. J. Gresham Machen, rock-ribbed fundamentalist.
 2. Pressing of heresy charges against Pearl S. Buck, missionary turned author.
 3. Consideration of union of United Presbyterians with Presbyterians of the U. S. A.
 Layman and clergy sit together at the assembly, as both a law-making body and the supreme court of the church. It is the second general assembly to meet here since 1875.
Doctrinal Variance
 Breach between the two Presbyterian groups came early in the 17th Century in Scotland. Originally more a political severance than a religious difference, doctrinal variances since have crept in to widen the break.
 Cleveland Presbyterian ministers who were to have voted on the union question in advance of the sessions, decided against such a ballot believing that an opinion of one large group might influence the entire assembly.
 Against Mrs. Buck, author of "The Good Earth," for months of 1932 and 1933 a universal best seller, and its sequels, charges of heresy will be brought.
 A missionary in China, where she absorbed the background for her writings, she later surrendered her credentials as a missionary, under heresy accusations. This has failed to satisfy the fundamentalists, who object to various parts of "The Good Earth." Their demurrers and demands for more severe punishment are expected to provide pyrotechnics.
 Possibility impends that a group of liberals in the church will counter-attack by demanding that the foreign missions board reinstate Mrs. Buck as a missionary.
Fundamentalists Battle
 The Rev. J. Gresham Machen, storm center of the fundamentalist battle, left the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary because of its liberalism and failure to adhere strictly to the fundamentalist code.
 He established a seminary in Philadelphia known as the Westminster Presbyterian Seminary and gathered around him a coterie of students, principally sons of well-to-do fundamentalists. Most of these have been from the South and from denominations less liberal than the average Presbyterian.
 The Rev. Mr. Machen will lead a movement to establish a new Board of Foreign Missions in which only the old principles of fundamentalism will hold.
 As for church union, even should this general assembly vote for merger, the cause would have to run the gauntlet of two more assemblies in as many years before being ratified.
 A general program of Christian progress and advancement will be presented during the course of the assembly.

Thomas L. Blanton For Re-Election

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, in a statement issued in Washington, formally announces his candidacy for re-election.
 As grounds for asking your support Judge Blanton submits his record of service and intimate knowledge of government business. Except as to the return of the saloons, "against which I was unalterably pledged," he declares that he has been one of the leaders in the House in supporting President Roosevelt's Recovery Program.
 His statement follows:
 "To My Constituents:
 "As grounds for asking your vote and support for re-election, I submit my record of service, intimate knowledge of every detail of government business both in the United States and foreign countries, and wide legislative experience.
 "Except as to return of saloons against which I was unalterably pledged, I have been one of the leaders in the House in supporting President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and in fighting for his plans and policies for economic recovery. Regardless of my own views, I have felt that the American people wanted Congress to give the President means to try out and put into effect his recovery program.
 "As a reward for long, active service, my colleagues have assigned me to membership on the important Committee on Appropriations, which gives me an excellent opportunity to eliminate all items not authorized by law, and to save annually large sums of money for tax-payers.
 Wholly at my own expense, and without cost to the Government, I have had reprinted excerpts from the daily Record of Congress, giving you voters a glimpse of the kind of work I perform in Congress. As the railroads are paid by the year for handling mail, and all postal employees receive annual salaries, it has not cost the Government one extra penny to send these excerpts to you through the mail, and I have felt that you were entitled to know about the standing and work of your Representative in Congress, who serves nearly 2,000 miles away from you.
 "I have faithfully kept every pledge I have made to the people. During the past five months that my opponents have been actively campaigning against me, Congress has been in continuous session, and I have been kept busy here in Washington working 16 hours per day. I feel that I should remain at my post of duty here until Congress adjourns, regardless of my political interests, but I have an abiding faith that if I remain on the job and perform well my duties, you good people will take care of me on election day. If Congress should adjourn in time, I will then try to make the best campaign possible of my district.
 "Sincerely, your friend,
 "Thomas L. Blanton."

Eastland Office Winner of $100 Sales Contest

First prize of $100 for making the greatest number of gas refrigerator sales in any city in the country the size of Eastland during April has been awarded the Eastland office of the Community Natural Gas Company by judges of the American Gas Association, national refrigeration contest, F. V. Williams, gas company local manager, was advised by telegram from New York today.
 Winning of the April award by the local gas company puts them in scoring distance of the grand prize for largest number of sales between April 1 and June 30, which is being competed for by gas companies over the entire nation.
 Eastland purchases of the new air cooled gas refrigerators reflect increasing national sales which have already put the factory 5,000 boxes behind production schedule, Mr. Williams said. There were as many Electrolux gas refrigerators sold in Texas in April as were purchased all of last year. Williams' reports show.
 Two other members of the Lone Star Gas System won prizes for April sales in the same contest. The Dallas Gas Company won first in their population class; also the Municipal Gas Company in Hillsboro. The Hillsboro company won first prize in a national gas refrigerator contest last year.

Drouth Program Is Announced By Harry L. Hopkins

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins today announced adoption of a drouth relief program estimated to cost in excess of $50,000,000.

The plan applies particularly to North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin. It was believed that other states would benefit substantially in view of Hopkins observation the drouth relief policy would be extended to other areas as the need is shown.

Bluff Branch Votes To Keep School Taxes

After canvassing returns of the recent school election at Bluff Branch which was held to decide if the school tax would be decreased from $1 to 50 cents per $100 valuation, the commissioners declared that the election was legal and that the decrease failed to carry.

The vote was 11 against and 8 for.

Four Additional Rural School To Get FERA Aid

Recent communications to the county superintendent from the offices of the federal relief administration in Austin advise that four schools in Eastland county, in addition to 10 other schools for which grants were approved recently, will receive grants from the administration.

Schools which will receive the grants are George Hill, Grandview, Okra and Shady Grove. A peculiar outgrowth of the granting of the funds is the fact that the money is for the continuance of school terms whose terms, in most instances, are over.

Confidence on the part of the teachers that the grants would be made prompted their voluntary teaching even though the shadow of uncertainty of pay was in evidence.

Eastland Athletes Enter Track Meet At Milwaukee, Wis.

Voting Strength Of County This Year To Be 6,572

Voting strength in Eastland county for 1934 elections is estimated at 6,722 votes, according to information from the office of Tax Collector T. L. Cooper. The total number of poll tax receipts issued for 1934 is 6,072, an increase of 23 over 1932. Political Races of State Are Changed During Past Week

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Tex.—Readjustment of state political races marked the past week. State School Superintendent L. A. Woods' only opponent withdrew.

Woods and Judge W. C. Morrow, presiding judge of the court of criminal appeals, whose term expires this year, are the only unopposed candidates.

They may still get opposition. Filing time does not expire until June 4. The early start given the political campaign, however, works against late candidates. Many sources of political strength already are pledged.

Withdrawal of A. M. Blackman, school superintendent at McCombs, cleared the field for Woods. Blackman was a division head in the state department of education under former superintendents. He has a large following.

Phil Sanders, Nacogdoches, former chairman of the appropriation committee of the house, heretofore listed as likely to run for state treasurer, will seek no office, state, county or district. State Treasurer Charley Lockhart is still left with an opponent—Edward Rex Waller.

The state railroad commission race seemed most likely to get a late entry. This week several were being urged to run. Among them were Walter Beck, former representative from Fort Worth; Walter Cline, Wichita Falls, and Joe Bailey Morris, Dallas, a popular Young Democrat. A candidate for governor, it also was said, was being importuned to switch to this race. He shows no intent to do so, although it would mightily please at least one of the other candidates for governor.

Without additional entries, Commission Chairman Lon Smith has three opponents, John Pundt, Dallas; H. O. Johnson, Houston, and James L. McNeese, Dallas.

The next legislature likely will transfer oil and gas duties of the railroad commission to a separate body. This prospect deters some from entering the race. Beck, however, is particularly interested in transportation problems.

General reports coming to Austin kept Attorney General Allred in the lead in the race for governor though the Ferguson Forum claimed C. C. McDonald was out in front. Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt's strength was demonstrated in a Central Texas opening at Belton, which became the mecca Friday of many automobile caravans. Car stickers said "Win With Witt." Allred will go into the same territory for a Temple address Monday. McDonald is heading toward the Panhandle and West Texas on a speaking tour. He will work back through San Angelo, Brownwood and Fort Worth to a Saturday afternoon date in Taylor, former home of Dan Moody.

Reports that Moody was "for" various candidates have received no confirmation from him. Close political friends expect him to keep hands off—at least until the run-off primary.

Small and Hunter forces reported substantial gains for the week and seem to be able to back the he claims with facts.

WILL ROGERS IN "DAVID HARUM" OPENS HERE SUNDAY

Fox Film's latest release, "David Harum," starring Will Rogers, will make its appearance on the screen of the Lyric theatre on Monday. Because of the nation's friendly interest in the humorist-philosopher, star, letters pour into his home regularly, suggesting a particular story or theme or character for his next picture. More suggestions urging him to play "David Harum" were received than all others combined. It was virtually in response to the command of the theatre-going public that Fox Film produced this story.

Its typical American theme deals with a shrewd horse trader. Because of the coldness with which he barter, and his uncanny method of outwitting people in business dealings, his reputation is none too good in the small town in which he lives. A young man who has come to work in the bank owned by the horse trader, learns that his employer really has a soft heart, and that his hardness is only for those who deal unfairly. The young man has fallen in love with a wealthy girl, but hesitates to propose marriage because of his poor financial standing. The horse trader, who is interested in the boy, tries to help the romance along, but gets nowhere. When the young girl comes to him and requests him to enter her horse in a forthcoming race, he advises the boy to place all his savings on the horse. The hilarious method by which the horse trader brings the horse home a winner is said to bring the film to a happy and amusing conclusion.

The large cast in support of Will Rogers displays an array of impressive names that include Louise Dresser, Evelyn Venable, Kent Taylor, Stepin Fetchit, Noah Beery, Roger Imhof, Frank Melton, Charles Middleton, Sarah Padden and Lillian Stuart. James Cruze directed from Walter Wood's screen play, which was adapted from the novel by Edward Noyes Westcott.

PAUL MUNI COMING TO LYRIC THEATRE IN HIS FIRST SCREEN COMEDY

"A newspaper story that's different." That is the report preceding the Warner Bros. production, "Hi, Nellie!" starring Paul Muni, which comes to the Lyric theatre next Sunday. One of the "different" features of "Hi, Nellie!" is its star. No previous film with a city room background has featured a player of the theatrical importance, both on stage and screen, of Muni. For Muni himself, "Hi, Nellie!" is a departure, too. Following the powerfully dramatic but sombre characterizations he has contributed to the screen in "I Am a Fugitive," "Scarface," and "The

"Hi, Nellie!" was adapted from the widely read short story of the same name which Roy Chanslor contributed to "Liberty" not many weeks ago. Sidney Sutherland, veteran newspaperman who, by careful count, has worked on 29 dailies, and Abem Finkel, wrote the screen treatment. "Hi, Nellie!" is the third picture in which Mervyn LeRoy has directed Paul Muni. It is expected to set new box office records for the already successful combination.

Unit of National Guard May Be Located Here

The 100 per cent backing from the town is virtually the only requisite for the acquisition of a national guard unit in Eastland, according to H. C. Davis, secretary of the C. of C.

A committee of Eastland men met Wednesday evening in the C. of C. offices and discussed the possibility of the locating on a national guard unit in Eastland with Major E. V. Hardwick of the 142nd Infantry of the Texas National Guard who is making a tour of Eastland, Breckenridge and Cisco, which are being considered as headquarters for a company to be transferred from Wichita Falls.

Local men who attended the meeting were C. J. Rhodes, Guy Parker, H. C. Davis, Joe Cramer, M. J. Pilcher and W. J. Peters.

It is understood that the locating of the company, consisting of 65 men and three officers, would mean the expenditure of between $4,000 and $5,000 a year in Eastland by the government.

Firemen Plan to Decorate Stores Decoration Day

Some time ago Eastland merchants entered into an agreement with the Eastland fire department that the merchants would purchase flags, bunting and other decoration materials for use in decorating the store fronts and streets of Eastland on special occasion if the firemen would put up the decorations without cost to the merchants.

The firemen sent out a committee to collect the funds pledged for this purpose and most of the merchants paid, but some did not and have not yet paid.

Tuesday, May 30 is Decoration Day and Chief Hennessee of the fire department and his boys plan to put up the decorations as per their agreement with the merchants. They will have seven pieces for each store front and plenty of street streamers, etc.,

SOFT BALL RESULTS
The Barbers failed to cage the Lions Wednesday but found themselves the victims of the kings of the jungle to the tune of 11 to 8. Fire Department suffered defeat from the Tesco, 8 to 6; Faculty won their game with the 9-49ers, 5 to 3, and Arabs shamed the Mechanics by winning the game, 15 to 0.

Today Arabs and Truckers get together at the old football field as do Tesco and Mechanics. Lions and Fire Department play at the old high school ground.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep...Vigor...Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes of filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out thru the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter. If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes are washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness. If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fit you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatment of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contains no "drugs" or irritating drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co

Laws of Special Session to Become Effective May 26th

AUTIN, Tex.—Laws of the last special session of the Texas Legislature which failed to receive the two-thirds total vote for immediate effect will become operative on May 29.

Most of the session acts had two-thirds vote and have been in force since the Governor's signature.

Principal ones to take effect on May 29 are the amended boxing law, the anti-walkathon law and the Centennial Act.

A sharp pick-up in enforcement of suspensions and forfeitures of licenses. When the boxing officials decided on either suspension or forfeiture of a fighter's license they encountered a serious practical difficulty. They found that the offending fighter invariably had a lot of dates booked ahead. Strict enforcement of either a forfeiture or immediate suspension order against him, resulted in undesired loss to promoters who had booked him.

Under the new law fines up to $500 may be imposed for violations and the amount of the fine may be taken out of the purse for the match.

Under the new law licenses will be required for referees, match-makers, time-keepers and seconds. Now promoters and fighters are licensed.

Amateur contests are severed from state supervision in the new act, and many of the doubtful points of the old law, clarified.

The anti-walkathon law is believed to close a long-hole in the old law limiting endurance contests. The time limit of the old law was evaded by the simple expedient of providing short rest periods and resuming the contest.

To do this after May 29 it will be necessary to transfer the place of the contest after 168 hours. Participation in a contest for more than 24 hours without a rest also is forbidden.

The Centennial Act, providing for state government participation in a celebration of Texas' 100th anniversary of Independence from Mexico, will go into effect and be followed by a meeting in Austin on June 6 of the Centennial commission authorized in the act. The commission will be assisted by an advisory committee of many hundred. Cullen F. Thomas, Dallas, is general chairman.

General plans for a celebration are expected to be put forward at the June 6 meeting. The act gives the celebration site to the place making the best financial offer.

Four In Family Die of Bullets In Eight Months

BRECKENRIDGE, May 21.—J. R. Salter, of 311 South Miller, has returned from Hico, in Hamilton county, where he attended the funeral of his brother, August Salter, 20, who shot himself to death at that place last week.

Mr. Salter said that his father, M. J. Salter, also shot himself to death on Dec. 2, 1933.

Two of Mr. Salter's brothers, Clayton Salter, 22, and Alton Salter, 23, were shot to death last March 10 by officers at a Stamford dance hall.

Thus in the past eight months all of the male members of Mr. Salter's family have met death by gun-shot wounds.

He has now living, his mother and one sister. He is 31 years old and the eldest of the family.

A nominating committee was appointed by McGlamery to take care of the election of officers, which occurs in June, in W. B. Pickens, chairman; E. H. Jones and F. M. Kenny.

Arrangements were made for the transportation of the Lone Star Band to the Lions club convention in Mineral Wells on June 4th. The band will accompany them and furnish part of the music. A committee on transportation named Hubert Toombs, Joe Coffman and W. O. Butler.

The club voted to fit braces for a small boy who has infantile paralysis.

Cisco Debaters Defeat Eastland

The debate between Cisco and Eastland Church of God young people proved very enthusiastic last Sunday evening.

The program opened with a song, followed by prayer which was led by Bro. Moade of Cisco. An Eastland quartette sang a special song, cacon, anied at the piano by Mrs. Elizabeth Creager. Mrs. Creager also acted as chairman of the debate which followed.

Each of the four speakers gave excellent reasons for believing they were on the right side. After much deliberation by the judges the Cisco debaters were announced as winners. They debated that friends were more profitable than books.

Those acting as judges were Mrs. Tate of Olden; Bro. Moade of Cisco and Miss Lenna Buchanan.

The young people plan to debate Cisco on another subject Sunday, June 3, at Cisco.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer.

Only about 300,000 men have been killed since 1933 in the fighting between Paraguay and Bolivia. Not such a good record for munitions manufacturers to hold up to other nations.

Masked Bandit Held Up Cisco Station Employee

CISCO, May 22.—A lone hijacker, wearing a black hat pulled so low upon his face that his features were indistinguishable, entered the Central Super-Service station at D avenue and Eighth street early Monday, held up Judson Russell, who was alone on duty, and robbed the cash register of an estimated $16.

Only a short while after the robber had entered at the side door, robbed the station and fled, a car bearing two women skidded violently into the driveway. When young Russell went to see what service they wanted, one of the women, in great excitement, thrust a pearl-handled revolver at him.

"Shoot that man across the street," he said she exclaimed, pointing to a figure near Norvell-Miller grocery. "He tried to hold us up."

Investigation showed that the man was Frank Warren, city night-watcher, on routine patrol of the district. Warren, it developed, had been suspicious of the women in the car and had sought to make an investigation when they dashed into the station.

Their fears calmed, young Russell returned the gun to the women.

Earlier, when the robber entered the station, young Russell had been seated at a desk in the office fronting the side door, writing a letter. He heard the door open and looked up into the face of a revolver.

The register was only an arm's length to the left of the bandit as he fronted the youth with the gun. Holding the weapon upon Russell with his right hand, the man reached over depressed the lever that opens the drawer and removed all cash except a few small coins. Then he backed out the door and ran to a car parked 40 to 50 feet down East Eighth street and facing the viaduct, the youth reported.

Hardly 10 minutes after the holdup, an alarm for a residential fire in east Cisco was turned in. The holdup occurred about 3:45 a. m., Russell said.

He described the bandit as dressed in black hat, blue shirt, dark trousers, weighing about 160 pounds, with dark hair and complexion.
