

Work Is Sought For Students of Junior College

W. W. Jarvis, registrar of the Ranger Junior College, has urged that all in Ranger who have work they can give to junior college students get in touch with him at his office in the high school building and he would send applicants for positions to those having work. The statement by the registrar reads as follows: "Since financial conditions have prevented many worthy boys and girls from attending college, the school board and the teaching personnel of the Ranger Junior College have bent every effort toward helping ambitious boys and girls who are determined to forge ahead.

"It is with pleasure, and with the hope that our efforts will not be in vain, that I ask the continued co-operation of the business men of Ranger in helping the college students defray their expenses by giving them part-time work.

"I have in my office a list of boys and girls who are willing to do any kind of work that is honorable to help pay expenses while attending Ranger Junior College. They have applied through my office for almost every kind of work. Some of these applicants have had practical experience, which will be an asset to any business man. Some of these students are now in Ranger looking for work and if you have extra jobs that need to be done, I shall greatly appreciate your calling my office. These students can work on Saturdays or after school during the school week.

A. L. Stiles Building New Service Station

A. L. Stiles, manager of the Stiles Service Station, corner of Commerce and Pine streets, Ranger, announced today that he would be temporarily located at the Magnolia service station, corner of North Oak and Hunt streets, for the next five or six weeks. This is necessary, Stiles said, because the station on Commerce street is being completely rebuilt from top to bottom and will be one of the most up-to-date and modern service stations in this part of the state.

"We will have hydraulic lift, wash and grease racks, and will be able to service cars better than ever before," Stiles said. "I want to express my appreciation to my friends and customers for their patronage and invite them to visit me in my new temporary location."

W. R. Fleming, contractor, who is erecting the new station for Stiles, is using only local labor and the station will be built from native moss rock and will be finished in five or six different colors. Stiles has been with the Magnolia company for the past 14 years and has been at the Pine street location since 1922.

New Teachers Are Guests at Lions Club Luncheon

The Lions Club had as guests today a group of the new teachers in Ranger High School and Junior College. Those present were W. T. Walton, superintendent of schools; L. S. Riehm, dean of the junior college; J. C. Powell, principal of high school; E. T. Sealey, junior college coach; Hubert Capps, science teacher; B. R. Lammance, music teacher.

Also present was P. O. Hatley, principal of Hodges Oak Park ward school, who has just returned from summer school at the University of Texas.

E. A. Ringold presented as a program today a talk on the public school fund of Texas. Beginning with the founding of the Spanish mission at Nacogdoches, he took his hearers through the secession from and war with Mexico, the establishment of the republic, and later of statehood, to the present day when the school fund has resources from public domain, oil leases, gasoline and other taxes on minerals as well as real estate taxes.

Reports were heard from several committee chairmen and a vote was taken in which Mickey Sloan was unanimously elected to membership.

SCHOOLEY'S BUTTER FLAKE BREAD

"MAKING ITS WAY BY THE WAY IT'S MADE"

These are correct figures of money spent by Schooley's Bakery since October, 1934. It is estimated that 1,200 loaves of bread is sold in Ranger daily. Of this amount we sell a fraction over a third. I have five men working who have families and spend all they make in Ranger to live. At this time we have one large bakery from the east who sell over half the bread in Ranger, and now we have one from the west I understand is to start selling in Ranger in the next few days. If this happens and they sell enough to divide the other half of the business it looks very doubtful if we can stay in business. We have our labor, rents, taxes and utility bills to pay, and all it cost them is the commission they pay the drivers.

Incompetent Officers Make a Weak Navy

No matter how fast the ships or how powerful the guns, a navy is no stronger than the men who command it; and Admiral William S. Sims says bluntly that in that respect our own navy leaves a great deal to be desired. The retired commander of our overseas squadrons during the World War makes this statement in the current issue of The Atlantic Monthly. It is his contention that the system of promotion now in vogue tends to raise incompetent officers to the top and to ruin the morale of officers in the lower brackets. "It is enough to make one's hair stand on end," he writes, "to contemplate the results of an unexpected outbreak of war at a time when the fleet and the Navy Department happened to be in the hands of officers who lacked the essential confidence of the service."

Such a situation, he adds, could very easily develop. The present selection boards charged with making promotions, he says, cannot get enough information about the officers they promote to form a just estimate of them, and injustices are inevitable. The result, as he sees it, is that good men leave the service and stuffed shirts often reach high command. Admiral Sims is not the first to make such charges. During the past summer Dr. F. Russell Bichowsky, former physicist at the Naval Research Laboratory, wrote a book called "Is the Navy Ready?" in which he asserted that naval officers are poorly trained and badly selected and that the fleet as a whole is far from ready for action. The importance of all of this is evident when you reflect on the enormous responsibility that can rest on the shoulders of a naval commander in time of war. It was said after the battle of Jutland that Jellicoe, commander of the British grand fleet, was the only man on either side who could have lost the war in one afternoon. In the heat of that battle, Jellicoe had something like ten minutes to make one of the most fateful decisions of any admiral's career. Had he chosen wrong, Britain might have been out of the war by nightfall. It is different with an army men. There is always a tomorrow for a general. Campaigns last for weeks and months. There is time to take counsel, to repair mistakes, to devise new tactics. But the admiral gets one guess and no more. His entire career can be focused in a tense quarter of an hour in the conning tower—and his country's fate goes with him. We have spent tremendous sums on our navy in the last two decades. The money will have been wasted if we fail to give the navy the best possible commanders. Admiral Cline's charges need a sweeping investigation, and if they are found to be correct a complete overhauling of the system is imperative.

Security Law Reflects Century of 'Progress'
The new social security law is a reflection of the greatest change that has come upon the American people in all their history. To understand the change you need only try to imagine such a bill having been passed a century ago. At that time, this country probably came closer to the kind of social order envisioned by the prophets of the revolutionary period than any other land on earth. It was a country of small proprietors—small farmers, small business men, small manufacturers, small traders. Political independence had been won in the war with Britain; economic independence, or something closely approaching it, had developed hand in hand with it. There was not a large wage-earning class. The average American of those days was a farmer, master of his own acres, and proprietor of a plant which provided him with practically all of his food and most of his clothing, year in and year out. The towns were relatively small, and they were full of small shops, small stores, small businesses. Hardly anyone went out and got a job with the idea that he would be a job-holder all his life; the job was a makeshift, a time-killer until the moment when he could start some undertaking of his own. Under such conditions, a social security bill like the one just signed by President Roosevelt would have been completely useless. It simply was not needed, nor could anyone in the United States of that day have imagined that it ever would be needed. In the long run, under those conditions, a man sank or swam by his own efforts. If we had energy and even a half way decent break in the luck, he need not fear the poor-house or the breadline. It is almost a waste of breath to remark that the America of 1935 is not the least like the America of a century ago; or it would be wasted, if some people did not still cling to the attitude of 1835 in appraising social legislation like the security bill. The individual no longer has his old economic independence. Our great cities contain millions upon millions of people who are and always will be wage-earners. With the best will in the world, they cannot be anything else. And no matter how industrious, frugal and ambitious they may be, a depression can at any time sweep their jobs out from under them, destroy their savings and leave them utterly penniless.

"OUT OUR WAY" - - - - - By Williams Roads of County—

It is that change which the new social security bill reflects; the greatest change, by all odds, which has ever come upon our people. Our greatest problems of today all derive from it. The social security bill is only a first step in the necessary effort to cope with them.

Too Tough For Autos

Everybody knows that the citizens of the United States used to drink some pretty terrible things during prohibition. Just how terrible was not quite clear until the Treasury Department sought to dispose of some bootleg liquor it had seized in the old days. During the past winter, it is disclosed, someone thought of filling the radiators of a number of government trucks with the bootleg booze, with the idea that it ought to make a fine anti-freeze solution. The stunt was tried—and the trucks were ruined. The motors were corroded, holes were burned in water hoses, and this "Scotch" and "bourbon" finally turned to a horrible, sticky mush which stopped the engines altogether. And this was the sort of stuff that people had the nerve to put into their stomachs, a few years ago!

In some countries dodging the tax collector is not considered a crime by those who indulge in it. No chance to dodge taxes in this country. Any way you turn taxes stare you in the face.

Historical Pageant Is Being Planned For Centennial

DALLAS.—A gigantic historical pageant, depicting Texas from its earliest days to its industrial present, will be a feature of the Texas Centennial Central Exposition, Walter D. Cline, director, announced. The historical pageant will be presented on a large scale, with several hundred trained actors taking part, Cline said. The pageant will be re-enacted several times during the exposition. The pageant, probably will begin with the coming of the Spaniards and trace the state's history from the French and Mexican eras, thru the Civil War period, on down to the present day. An historical committee and special staff are now at work preparing details for the pageant, Cline said. How about the government paying butchers not to raise meat prices? An easy way to write that emphatic negative is NO, 000.

Clover, Messner and Ott families well as a number of other early settlers. Tudor is the voting box. Most of the people do their trading in Ranger. They are served by the rural route out of Strawn. Leaving Ranger at 12:45 we traveled north on the Caddo highway to the Wavland road going out by the cemetery—this part of the road was worked last year under George Murphy of Ranger and is standing the traffic well and is really a good piece of road work. Davenport said that he has asked for $24,500 for the Caddo road and hopes to put this road in the best condition. Going on to New Hope community and by the Hank Herman farm on to Colony, we found some new road, found sand beds that had been topped with caliche, new bus route and all in all roads in excellent condition. S. C. Hatton and other in the neighborhood helped construct the roads. Might say here last we forgot, that in all the communities we traveled the commissioner stated the people cooperated in every way possible. Crops in all communities were in excellent condition, farm homes were in lots of places newly painted, fences in fair shape and it seemed the people were taking more interest in the upkeep of their property. Going on to the Markham-Tidal road, then out by Arab plant and States Oil plants on the Morton Valley school grounds. The school will open at Morton Valley soon. Colony, Pleasant Grove and Morton Valley communities are all prosperous communities and the people take an active interest in their schools. Then on toward Eastland to the Yellow Mound community where we saw new roads, new bridges, and other excellent improvements, giving the people good roads and an outlet for their produce. The commissioner stated that when he went into office his one aim was to get the people as good roads as possible and keep them from getting in the mud and to fix it to where the school buses could go and come under all conditions. The John Nix road was topped with caliche and ditches drained. Bedford road was in fine condition. Coming into Eastland, about 3 o'clock we left for Flatwood, on to Kokomo and Pumpkin Center. Davenport stated that Arch Bint of the Cisco precinct had been of much help in cooperating with him in joint projects wherever he had been asked. The roads around Mangum and the bridge across the Leon river, which was partly washed out some time back were in good shape. Several of the roads along the route the commissioner said he was trying to work out a project to widen the highway and move fences back and that he believed the people would all cooperate, especially since the fences would be rebuilt. Coming on back into Eastland we traveled the Desdemona road by the Leon Power plant and come onto the new road through the Olden community then back into the Ranger-Edmore highway, arriving in Ranger at 6 p. m. All in all, the roads of Commissioner Davenport are in excellent shape. He has built in the neighborhood of 35 miles of new roads, opened up old roads and a big portion of the work was done under the CWA set-up, some of the work was cut off before completion and had to be finished with county money. The commissioner stated that he had asked for -145,000 for his part of the PWA money, hoped to get that amount and this would enable him to finish some of the work begun and put every road in his precinct in good shape.

Woolworth Manager Is Optimistic Over Trade at the Store

R. H. Snyder, manager of the F. W. Woolworth Company, Ranger, is very optimistic over the increase in business in his store over the last year and said today that his store handles over 10,000 separate items, more than 800 having been added this year or over the past six months. The big store is headquarters for standard school supplies and has specials in every department for the school opening which is Monday, Sept. 9. Snyder invites parents to come and inspect his stock, not only in school supplies, but the "thousand and one" other necessary items so necessary for the average American home. The store employs a large number of capable and efficient clerks and the merchandise is displayed on convenient counters and tables that is easily examined and viewed by all who care to take advantage of these displays. The windows of the Woolworth store are always seasonably decorated and the public is invited to watch these displays.

"During the week of Sept. 9 to 13, this Friday and Saturday of this week, we are showing the biggest collection of fur coats you will be able to look at this year. The reason is every coat we bought will be shown here first." Hassen also stated that he had made special purchase of silk and woolen goods while in the eastern markets and they will also be ready for inspection by the public. Hassen stated that he bought for his several stores over the state and the entire stock of furs would be shown in Ranger first and the public is invited to view the display.

Letters From Our Readers

Editor Ranger Times, Ranger, Texas. To the Readers of The Times: Responsibility of the care of the mentally ill take this method of expressing to you our appreciation of the overwhelming majority of votes you gave last Saturday to the constitutional amendment providing for temporary commitment without trial.

to think that the citizenship of our state is now awake to the possibilities for curing this type of disease and anxious for any reform that is scientific or logical. Being thus encouraged we are going to come to you again at the next regular session of this legislature or perhaps one of the special sessions and ask you to vote for and support another reform along this line and assure you that it will not be some one person's foolish idea, but a step toward progress that has been in use in other parts of this and other countries for many years for which those of us who understand the problem have been working and fighting for a long time.

CARDUI

Eased Pain Cardui is a medicine for such conditions as described below by a lady who used to take it. "I took Cardui for pain and cramping, also for a run-down condition, and I found it eased the pain and built up my nervous system and helped the weakness," writes Mrs. E. D. Carrell, of Hillsboro, Texas. "I would have nervous spells that would unfit me for my work. I took Cardui and I would get all right. I was never without it when needed."

Again expressing deep appreciation for your vote last Saturday, I am, Yours truly, GILES W. DAY, M. D., Superintendent Galveston State Psychopathic Hospital.

Marriage Rate Gains Throughout Canada

SAINT JOHN, N. B.—New Brunswick led Canada in the rate of marriage growth in 1934, figures just issued by the dominion bureau of statistics reveal. While in every province there was an increase in the marriage rate, the increase was greatest in New Brunswick, where there were 7.1 marriages for every 1,000 of population, as compared with 6 in the previous year. For the whole of Canada the increase in the marriage rate was from 6. to 6.8.

Home Brewers In Canada Are Facing A Legal Dilemma

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Lovers of "home brew" in British Columbia are in a predicament.

A Vancouver police court magistrate has ruled that under existing laws covering manufacture and consumption of liquor it is legal for a person to make "home brew" but not legal for him to keep it. The ruling was made in a case in which Mrs. P. Foster pleaded guilty to having unsealed "home brew."

Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson said that a person could obtain a permit from the excise department of the dominion government to manufacture liquor at home for home use. The provincial government, however, required that all liquor be sealed with a provincial government seal, but the government made no provision for the sealing of such liquor.

Police state that hundreds of "home brewers" in the province, who have made proper application for brewing permits, believing that they were within the law, may find themselves facing prosecution under the government liquor act of British Columbia, which classifies them as law breakers, because they are not sealing their liquor with seals which the government refuses to issue.

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—Texas relief commission employees today were busy figuring county allotments for September under a new $650,000 federal grant promised for the first half of the month. Texas federal aid for the first half of August was $1,000,000 according to a report which lists nine states on a September allotment which will be held up for the last half of the month.

COTTON MAN SHOWS WORK OF HIS CREATION

Longley Cluster Cotton, the result of over five years of experimentation by George Longley of Copeville, Texas, was shown by the breeder in Eastland Saturday. Stalks of the cotton being shown and taken to the Eastland Telegram is being grown on the Geo. T. Thorp place six miles north of Eastland by Douglas and Watson Thorp.

Four acres of Thorp's acreage is being used for the Longley Cluster cotton growth. Three tops taken to the newspaper office were from five foot stalks. The cotton will average one bale to an acre, even after infestation of the boll weevil, Longley said.

CROPS BETTER THAN AVERAGE SURVEY SHOWS

DALLAS, Aug. 31.—Better conditions in the agricultural and livestock industries and an increased demand for merchandise in wholesale and retail channels lent notes of optimism to the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

During the past month favorable weather was beneficial to the crops throughout the 11th reserve district and the outlook is unusually bright. With the exception of wheat increased production of all Texas crops is indicated and increased productions in other states are reported on practically all crops in the states within the 11th Federal Reserve District.

Huey and Hugh In Battle of Words

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The war of words between Senator Huey Long and General Hugh Johnson raged anew today with such epithets as "Honorable High Sitting Bull Johnson" and "Big Breeze of the Bayous."

Hoover May Be Asked Not to Run

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—A plan to obtain from Herbert Hoover public and definite withdrawal of his name from consideration for presidential nomination by the Republican National Committee was announced today. Prediction was made that Hoover would remove himself from consideration during the autumn. Inquiry developed, however, the prediction was not based on any expression of intention by Mr. Hoover.

Slugging Marble Machines Is Illegal

DALLAS, — Marble machines may not be exactly legal in many counties, but use of slugs in them is even more a violation of the law, federal officers ruled here. Secret Service Agent A. H. Rebenish ruled that use of slugs instead of 5-cent pieces is a violation of the federal law even if the coins are used in illegal machines.

The World's Largest Information Bureau At Washington, D. C.

The world's biggest information bureau is at Washington, D. C., headed by the superintendent of documents. Facts about practically every subject on earth have been collected by the United States government. All of this information has been carefully classified by subjects ranging from agriculture to weather. Then it has been further divided and printed in the form of pamphlets.

The government furnishes these pamphlets, at small cost, to the public on request. You can get a pamphlet containing information about almost any subject that may interest you. Some of the subjects most likely to be of interest to our readers, and a brief description of the contents of the pamphlets on those subjects, are given in a new book published by the manufacturers of Cardui and Black-Draught. This booklet, entitled "Information," is being sent free to anyone who writes to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tennessee, requesting a copy.

Probe Is Asked of Oil Price Slashing

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—California's oil industry today awaited action of Attorney General Homer Cummings on a demand for investigation by the department of justice of an oil monopoly here. The demand was made by the Independent Petroleum Association of California as the result of a price war which resulted in slashing prices of crude oil.

Hitch-Hikers Take To 50 Miles Of Water

OTTAWA, Ont.—Canada's first water hitch-hikers have returned home after "bumming" their way across 500 miles of Ontario and Quebec waters. They are William Stringer, 19, and Charles McBride, 18. The two adventurous youths left Ottawa in a canoe July 1 without money or food. They paddled to Kingston, swung through to Granonogue and eventually to Alexandria Bay. From Alexandria Bay they paddled to Brockville, thence to Cardinal, through canals to Montreal, and returned to Ottawa via the Ottawa River.

Mrs. Canant is art supervisor of a grade school at Texas City.

Club Initiates Fish Shooting From Under Water

PARIS.—Shooting fish as they swim overhead is a favorite pastime formed by Jean Painleve, famous submarine photographer and son of the late Premier Paul Painleve. This new sport, made possible by the inventive genius of a French army officer, Lieut. Col. Yves Le Prieur, already has more than 100 enthusiastic followers. Every week they go fish hunting with a portable diving gear and air-pump gun which shoots arrows resembling pointed umbrella ribs. The diving apparatus is extremely light, weighing less than seven pounds. It consists of a rubberized mask. The part over the eyes is made of unbreakable glass and affords an excellent view of the underwater surroundings. Air is supplied by a bottle strapped to the waist and connected by a rubber tube to the mouth-piece of the mask. The entire equipment can be folded up and put into a briefcase. The bottle can be filled with the ordinary compressed air from a tire pump. It contains enough oxygen to allow an amateur diver to remain submerged for 15 minutes.

KNOW YOUR STRAWN BETTER

A MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR:

J. M. TUCKER, Mayor

Strawn was incorporated in 1917 with C. A. Bruner, Mayor, and L. E. Shaw, Secretary. Pride in our town together with the vision of making Strawn a city of beautiful homes, churches, schools and streets existed before the incorporation, which naturally caused and demanded a city government. Under the form of our city government we have a beautiful two-story city hall, with an up-to-date fire department, consisting of a chemical truck, hose truck and a large La France pump with one of the best voluntary fire departments in the state, this department is active and appreciated by the citizens of Strawn.

Strawn's resources consist of coal, oil, gas and cattle with farming interest increasing each year. This is one of the principal shipping points of cattle on the T. & P. Railway and one of the largest gas fields, having around forty gas wells in our city limit.

The financial condition of this community is proven by the large deposits as shown by our two banks. We are proud of our banks from the standpoint they have the confidence of our people and have at all times published good statements.

Our schools are of the best and under the direction of our able superintendent, Prof. C. W. West, we are looking forward to a greater school for the term of 1935-36, character building seems to be one of our superintendent's goals, which causes us to look forward to a better citizenship for the future.

Our city has beautiful church homes where much interest exist, co-operation among our churches speak for itself. When you are in Strawn visit our churches, there you will be welcome. Our progress has been and will continue to be with our church—co-operation for the good of our town as a whole.

The future for Strawn lies in our hope of various programs we have before us, together with the do-or-die spirit that exist among our citizens, our great hope of securing a dam west of our town, still exist and the future as much irrigation is contemplated—with this we can expect a safe future for happiness.

Our pride not only lies in our business buildings, schools churches homes and city hall, but in our two beautiful cemeteries—Mt. Marion and Davidson. This should prove and give confidence to those who doubt the spirit that exists among our citizens for a better Strawn—we do not forget our loved ones who have gone before us. Neither will we forget those who are to take our place in the advancement of a better town to live.

J. M. TUCKER, Mayor.

CHURCH BUILT IN 1920 ONE STRAWN'S BEST

The First Methodist Church of Strawn is one of the most beautiful church buildings in the Weatherford district. It is built of gray brick and has 157 beautiful, especially designed windows. The church was built in 1920 and stands today without a crack in its walls.

The present pastor, Rev. W. E. Anderson, came to the church the first of last June and since that date 13 have been received into the church.

The interior of the church has been polished and the pews and furniture of the Thurber church have been purchased and installed in the Strawn church, which meets a long-time need of completing the furnishings.

The woodwork of the doors and windows is being painted and when completed the church will be in a splendid condition.

The funds for these furnishings and repairs were collected and placed in the bank before the work was begun.

The church stands on Main street, near the business center of the city and silently and gracefully speaks of the generosity and church life of the community.

The church has a well organized church school, with Lon E. Shaw as general superintendent. He has Anyone visiting Strawn on week ends will find a welcome and be greeted with a friendly handshake at this church.

The club now meets weekly, convening each Wednesday at 12:15 and good, snappy programs are always prepared for these meetings. The Strawn club is one which members of Lions clubs throughout this section of the state like to visit.

At present the officers are I. N. Gaither, president; F. C. Hipp, first vice president; J. T. Jolley, secretary-treasurer and R. M. Segars, tail-twister.

The members of the club are W. L. Baker, A. M. Barrett, Ed S. Britton, W. L. Carroway, W. K. Cherry, I. N. Gaither, W. L. Garner, F. C. Hipp, J. T. Jolley, Dr. W. S. Pedigo, F. D. Phillips, R. M. Segars, J. M. Tucker, C. W. West, E. L. Rogers, Rev. W. H. Rucker and R. C. Fuller.

O. M. Hurst Has An Insurance Agency In City of Strawn

handles fire, wind, hail and complete farm coverage insurance policies. Since he started the insurance business he has handled policies for the Gulf States Life Insurance Company of Dallas, the Travelers Fire Insurance Company of Hartford, the Travelers Indemnity Company of Hartford, the Citizens Insurance Company of Hartford, and the American Indemnity Company of Galveston.

SCHOOLS WILL START MONDAY FOR THE YEAR

Strawn schools will open for the 1935-1936 term at 9 o'clock Monday, September 9. There will be in attendance this year one of the largest student bodies we have had for several years. A large number of transfers from Thurber has helped to make this increase.

The Strawn Parent-Teachers Association will have charge of the entertainment for the opening exercises. The P-T. A. had some excellent programs last year, and the public may be assured that a worthwhile program will be rendered at that time. In addition to the entertainment provided by the P-T.A., new teachers will be introduced and an address will be made by Mr. Frank Phillips, president of Strawn school board.

The teachers will be as follows: C. W. West, superintendent and English; E. W. Lewis, principal of the high school, science and math; H. G. Jennings, athletic coach and commercial work; Miss Sammie Taylor, Spanish and English; Miss Hazel Davis, social studies; Mrs. J. A. Milling, principal of ward school and social studies; Miss Marie Bratton, grade English; Miss Charlotte Rucker, arithmetic and physical education; Miss Martina Anderson, fourth grade; Mrs. Kenneth McCorkle, third grade; Miss Frances Huffstutler, second grade, and Miss Bess Donaldson, first grade. The home economics teacher has not been elected yet, but several very competent persons are under consideration, and the election will be held before the opening of school.

Supervised study will be used in both the grades and the high school during the coming year. In order to accomplish this, the periods will be lengthened. Little required studying will be done outside of school. There will be no objection to the students studying at home; in fact, it will be the hope of the teachers to make the work so interesting that the students will want to study at home. It will be necessary to do outside studying to make an A and for a B in many cases. Because of the lack of time, some of the classes will continue with the same time allotment. Along with this change, which will make the school more proficient, we hope to change methods of teaching in accordance with the state curriculum revision program. Strawn teachers have studied the current curriculum revision during the past school year and summer. More than half of them were in various colleges and universities of the Southwest.

Strawn received affiliation in general science and Texas history last year, which makes it one of the high ranking schools in this part of the state.

Strawn Schools to Have a Band For The Coming Year

One of the most important improvements for Strawn High School to be introduced this year is the organization of a band. Mr. E. W. Lewis, principal, has had several years' experience in band work, and he is very interested in organizing a band.

A band can do much to build up school spirit and morale. Strawn has maintained a high degree of school spirit and morale during the last few years without a band, and we feel sure that a band will help us in this regard.

Not only will a band be organized, but a credit in band will be applied for, thus giving students an additional incentive to work. A number have indicated an interest in this new organization, and here's hoping that several more will get on the bandwagon.

STRAWN HAS A WIDE-AWAKE SCOUT TROOP

Strawn Scouts have been busy during the last year. They can look back with pride upon the accomplishments and the goals that have been achieved.

As most of you know, this has been the Silver Anniversary of Scouting in America. As a culmination of the celebration of the anniversary plans were made to have a national jamboree at Washington. Four Strawn Scouts, Robert Hinkson, Pat Hinkson, Watson Frazar and Robert Earl Noland, as well as Scoutmaster C. W. West were to go. Unfortunately, because of the infantile paralysis epidemic in the East, the president called it off. More than thirty thousand Scouts and leaders were sorely disappointed, including five from Strawn. Strawn Scouts, like all others, took the decision with a smile, realizing that such was best. They immediately began planning a substitute trip to Carlsbad Cavern. Again they were sidetracked. One of the boys took the mumps. None of the other boys had had them, and it was hardly advisable to go on the trip. Again, the boys took disappointment with a smile.

During the past year much work had been done on the log cabin being built on Troop Committee man Noland's ranch. We are now ready to begin putting the logs in place. All have enjoyed the work thus far and are looking forward to seeing a finished cabin. Ten boys attended Worth ranch, the council camp. All reported an excellent time. Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Major Ratliff was in charge. Several tests were passed. Strawn Scouts always look forward to the trip to Worth ranch, as it is considered one of the best camps in the United States.

Strawn has one of the most active troop committees that a troop could want. The personnel is as follows: F. D. Phillips, chairman; E. T. Noland and R. M. Segars. Through the efforts of this committee, we have been able to have a fund, donated by the citizens with which to pay the light and gas bill. With such a committee as we have we should have an excellent troop during the coming year. We have already re-registered for the coming year, which is unusual, as we are often several weeks late.

Tests have been passed by the Scouts nicely during the past year. Several notable advancements have been made, most important of which is the award of Eagle to Tommie Ellis. Several boys should qualify for Eagle during the year to come. One of the highlights of next year for Scouting in Strawn will be the visit of Joe Hill, Jr. Joe went to the Antarctic with Admiral Byrd as his personal aide. He was leader of the tractor party which took the Admiral to his outpost and the leader of the successful party which rescued him. He was the youngest member of the expedition. He was a Scout under Scoutmaster West, going from the rank of Tenderfoot to Eagle under him. The Scouts will sponsor Hill's lecture in Strawn.

Strawn to Have A Museum In Centennial Year

Through the efforts of the school, the Scouts and the Lions club Strawn will have a museum to show Centennial visitors.

Strawn and surrounding territory have many objects that are of interest for a museum. A large collection of Indian relics, fossils, and petrified wood has already been gathered. The school and the Scouts have been working on the collection for about three years, and both are glad to have the Lions club to help them.

With the co-operation of these three organizations, Strawn ought to have a collection that will be attractive to Centennial visitors. If the objects of interest are assembled in one place, people of the community as well as visitors can see to a better extent the things of interest.

One unit of the museum will be at Boy Scout headquarters and another unit will be in the high school building across from the office.

Strawn Will Be Active In League Work This Season

During the coming school year Strawn will be unusually active in Interscholastic League work. Practically all of the different activities will be engaged in.

Football has already been started. Coach Jennings began having workouts August 29, ten days before the opening of school. Soon after school opens debate will be started. Music contests will be participated in this year, as we have several competent music teachers. Declamation will be handled by one of the most competent teachers in this part of the country, as will one-act plays. Basketball prospects for both boys and girls are good. The girls, particularly, should have a good team, as several of the excellent team of last year will return. The grades have always made a good showing in junior track, playground ball, spelling, arithmetic, and picture memory. We hope to maintain the same high standards this year.

Strawn Schools Have Historic Past

Ex-students of Strawn schools as well as the teachers were given an opportunity to recall old times last Saturday. Strawn had its first Homecoming for graduates and ex-teachers. It would have done you good to watch old friends renew acquaintances and recall past experiences.

Students and teachers were present who attended Strawn schools as early as 1879. Few years were missing in the representation since that date. Mrs. S. J. Stuart was one of the persons who was a student in 1879. Mrs. John Watson was the oldest teacher from the standpoint of tenure. She taught in 1900. Mr. S. B. Strawn, who lives in Strawn, and taught in 1891 was called out of town on the day of the meeting. Dr. J. D. Sandefer, former superintendent of Strawn Public Schools, now President of Hardin-Simmons University was to be on the program, but was on the Pacific coast and was unable to be here. Superintendent L. T. Cook of Sherman was to be on the program also, but was in Colorado and unable to return. Superintendent M. H. Fly of Odessa was here to fill his part on program. Dean Potts of S. M. U. has likewise taught in Strawn, but he was not available. One ex-teacher came from Hollywood, California, to win the distance prize. Permanent organization was affected to carry on that which was begun this year. J. R. Stuart was elected president; Miss Nell Parmley was elected vice-president and Miss Maggie Cato was elected secretary.
