We are grateful from every standpoint for the patronage given us by the people of Eastland and trade territory. To them we extend a steady invitation to visit us at any time in Ranger and let us serve you. When we announced that we were quitting business in Eastland, the large stock we had on hand was reduced at most unusual low prices in appreciation for your patronage of the past and we were glad of the opportunity to save you money on every purchase that was made. We almost sold out which was proof that our prices and merchand ise were right.

Our Mr. W. E. Brashier, who has been man ager of the Eastland Furniture Exchange will continue to make his home in Eastland looking after collections and at the same time will be glad to visit any home and give estimates on anything in furniture and floor coverings. A telephone call, 552-J, his residence phone, will get in touch with him on any occasion.

Again thanking everybody, and assurang you that our Ranger store will always welcome you whether for business or a social visit, and that we can give you the best in home furnishings at the right price, we solicit a continuance of your valued business.

How Texas Cities Got Their Names

A camp of Texas Rangers, lo cated about two miles from the present townsite gave the town of Ranger its name When the railroad was built through about 1875, the tent city moved to its present location. Lumber and building materials were sent over the railroad, and the first buildings were soon erected.

The town remained unincorpor ated, however, for many years. In 1917 the first oil well in the district was brought in and the town experienced a sudden growth. A charter was granted the town in 1919 and since then Ranger has become a thriving city.
