Business Can't Ignore World In Its Plans

Whenever a business man tries to make plans for the future, he is sooner or later confronted with the necessity of trying to figure out whether the world as a whole is going to the bad place in a high-wheeled hack.

That is to say that he cannot simply look at his own line of trade, judge the future by the past, and lay his plans accordingly. Things may happen away off in Italy, Germany, or Russia that would completely upset such scheming.

Any comprehensive planning must make some sort of prognostication of the state of world civilization as a whole.

A fair sample of this necessity is to be found in the scheme for gigantic new ocean liners recently proposed by Paul W. Chapman, former president of the United States Lines.

Mr. Chapman suggests that the United States government advance the money for construction of two enormous passenger ships. He visualizes vessels of prodigious size—1250 feet in length, 144 feet wide, 100,000 tons in displacement, with accommodations for 10,000 cabin class passengers and a speed of not less than 34 knots.

With these ships, which would dwarf even such giants as the Queen Mary and the Normandie, Mr. Chapman believes that American shippers could capture the bulk of the trans-Atlantic passenger trade.

These ships could make weekly sailings, and could carry passengers for $50 a head; they would be so immensely profitable, he believes, that their operators could pay back Uncle Sam for their construction at the rate of $10,000,000 a year.

Now this is a grand idea, certainly; but the first thing that occurs to one is that it is based on the unspoken belief that people are going to continue to want to travel back and forth across the Atlantic for pleasure or for business for many years to come.

That seems like a sensible expectation, until you stop to think that another European war would knock the Atlantic passenger trade into a complete coma.

Such a war may begin at almost any time and may last until there is nothing left in Europe for people to travel to; and in such a case these giant liners would set a world record for white elephants.

In other words, it is quite impossible to make a plan of this kind without doing some tall figuring on the prospects for continued peace; and the same is true, to a lesser degree perhaps, of all other large-scale business plans.

The world today, in sober truth, is at the mercy of its militarists. Until it can avert the threat of a general war, it simply cannot go ahead with the task of rebuilding its economic structure. It needs many things today, but it needs an assurance of lasting peace most of all.

Nice Modern Warships Too Costly To Fight

If the gentlemen who are inhaling the London fogs at the current naval conference really want to do something for their respective countries, they might try to find some way of making warships less expensive.

A modern warship is just about the most costly contraption, pound for pound, that man has ever invented. Indeed, it is so very costly that admirals don't dare to risk it by doing any actual fighting with it.

For illustrations look at the record in the World War. When this war began, Great Britain had the mightiest fleet ever built. As the war went on she added to it, so that at the end it was ever so much larger and more powerful than at the beginning.

Yet from first to last the guiding thought of her naval strategists seemed to be that these marvellous ships were so extremely costly, and took so long to build, that they must not under any circumstances be risked in actual combat if it could be avoided.

The first example of this timorousness came at the Dardanelles. The British admiral Sir Roger Keyes is authority for the statement that the straits could have been forced by the British fleet if the British admiralty had not been afraid of losses.

An effort was made, only to be abandoned when Turkish mines sank three old battleships; and it is noteworthy that at the moment the fight was given up the Turks had resigned themselves to utter defeat.

The next example came at Jutland. Jellicoe interposed the British fleet between the German fleet and Germany, and could have wiped out the foe vessels in toto; but he held off for fear of torpedoes, the German fleet got away—and the war dragged on for two more bloody years.

A few weeks after Jutland, opportunity knocked once more, and the story was repeated. Again a bit of daring would have brought overwhelming victory, and again a safety first policy prevailed.

Here, as Admiral Keyes points out, were three occasions on which the British fleet could have forced a speedy ending to the war. Each opportunity was missed; not because the British admirals were cowardly or incompetent, but simply because the weight of those hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of cunningly fabricated metal was too much for them.

In the old days of wooden ships admirals were less cautious. A Nelson could lose four or five ships without putting a dent in the national budget; a Jellicoe could not. If the conferees at London want to enable their respective countries to get real value for their naval expenditures, they might find some way of making warships cheaper. As it is now, they are too expensive to be used.

Colleges Are Victims of Their Own Greed

Everybody likes to see the young folks have a good time, and the college football stadium is one of the places where they go to get one. But when having a good time includes tearing down the goal posts, tossing empty whiskey bottles at the referee, and sending boisterous hamburger salesmen onto the field for impromptu appearances, things have gone a little too far.

This seems to be the consensus of college sports leaders, as reported at a meeting in New York. The collegians admitted that a rowdy note is beginning to develop among the cash customers at these autumn Saturday afternoon gatherings, and it was agreed that something must be done to save the game from its best friends.

Such a reform is a long way overdue. No longer are the risks of the game confined to the healthy young bruisers on the playing field.

The ordinary customer stands a fair chance of having some 200-pound souse fall into his lap, or of being beamed by a hastily discarded flask; failing this, he is at least certain to have his sensibilities harrowed by being obliged to look at, and listen to, a number of the less pleasant by-products of intoxication.

College authorities are quick to point out that these excesses are not committed by students or alumni. The red-faced celebrant who makes himself a public nuisance at the football game is usually some gent who never saw a college in his life and who is an alumnus of nothing more noteworthy than the gas house gang down on the other side of the railroad tracks.

But this fact does not leave the colleges in the clear. This "spectator problem" is one that they have brought on themselves, unaided.

It was not the proletariat that turned college football from a sport for students into a great hippodrome; it was the college authorities.

It isn't the unlettered public that hires $10,000-a-year coaches, fancy press agents, 10-second tackles and all the rest of the army that goes to make up big time football; it is the college authorities.

The college goes out into the open market to bid for support of the general, non-collegiate sporting crowd; it solicits and gets their patronage, accepts their dollars at the gate—and, if it doesn't like the way they behave, it can remedy matters by deflating football.

President William Mather Lewis of Lafayette College hit the nail on the head when he remarked that "as long as we in the college admit a portion of the public to our games merely upon the payment of a stipulated admission price, they are in exactly the same relative position as they would be in attendance upon any other paid performance."

That says it. The colleges find John Public's dough good enough; if they don't like his behavior, that is just too bad.

New Life for Reindeer

Success seems to be coming to Canada's interesting experiment with reindeer.

Last spring a herd of more than 2000 reindeer was delivered to Canadian officials at the mouth of the Mackenzie River. The animals had been rounded up in Alaska and driven to Canada overland—a process which took five long, difficult years.

Now it is reported that the herd is increasing satisfactorily and that prospects for its future development as a source of food and clothing for Eskimos and Indians of Canada's far northland are excellent.

The reindeer is a native of the old world. Uncle Sam established reindeer herds in Alaska some years ago for Eskimo and Indian tribes, and the stunt worked so well Canada decided to copy it. Judging by present indications, this "new deal" for the Canadian northland will meet equal success.

Economist Tells Why Townsend Plan Would Fail

By United Press

PASADENA, Cal.—The Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension Plan was pronounced just another panacea by Dr. Graham Laing, economics authority and writer of the California Institute of Technology.

In the first place, asserted Dr. Laing, the country's factories going full blast could not turn out enough goods for America's old folks to spend their $200 a month at present day prices.

The answer is, he said, that prices will soar. This, coupled with high taxes that would be necessary to raise the huge pension payments (he estimates this at equivalent to a 40 to 50 per cent sales tax) would place young and old alike in a worse financial position than today.

"One of the principal faults that accompany the usual panacea for our economic evils is the very fact that they are panaceas," he said. "Our economic system is one of extraordinary complexity, and there is more than one thing wrong with it. To attempt to cure the evils by one solution is to attempt the impossible."

Charger Vital Omissions "Hence the usual reformer solves his problem by leaving out the difficult parts."

"Strangely enough, most of the panaceas seem to be associated with the problems of money, and the reformers seldom take the trouble to understand the money system that we are using."

"The Townsend Plan is a case in point. Dr. Townsend has a plan whereby one simple method of distributing money will be sufficient to solve all our economic ills. As I understand it the plan is as follows. The government will issue to each person over the age of 60 the sum of $200 a month. But the issue has strings to it. The monthly sum must be spent first, within the month of issue, and second, on consumer goods only."

Builds His Thesis "The argument is that this increase in purchasing power, directed solely toward the purchase of consumer goods, will tend to increase production of those goods and increase the amount of labor required to produce them and hence the wage bill, and at the same time increase the profits of capital employed not only in producing consumer goods, but also the capital goods necessary to carry on the production."

Here, according to Dr. Laing, the Townsend Plan meets its first insurmountable hurdle. With the millions of elderly persons rushing to spend their $200 monthly checks, the surplus of goods now piled up would be exhausted at once.

Within two months, he argues, the country's industrial machine would be running behind in an effort to produce enough goods to sell to the pension receivers.

The inevitable result, explains Dr. Laing, would be that prices would be boosted high enough so that all of the pension-receivers' checks would be used up in buying whatever goods were available.

States Economic Law "It may be said at once," he explained, "that there cannot be more goods sold than are produced. The standard of living of any community cannot be higher than its actual production. Hence it follows that the Townsend Plan can only succeed if it secures production to the amount of the increased purchasing power without in the meantime raising prices."

"There seems to be no doubt that there is a possibility of tremendously increasing the total of consumer goods produced in a given year. Harold Loeb and his associates have estimated that the amount possible with existing equipment and knowledge, making all allowances for bottlenecks in the productive process, is something around $4,500 worth of goods per family of five."

"But it must be remembered that this estimate of productive capacity involves a much more carefully planned and co-ordinated productive system than we know of. Hence, without this co-ordination the possible productive capacity is seriously limited. In other words, the Townsend Plan by itself, is sufficient to raise the production level very seriously."

"To put two hundred dollars per aged person into circulation would require approximately twenty-four billion dollars of additional purchasing power.

"With the psychological effect of the promise of two billion more purchasing power each month, the tendency to increase prices would be enhanced. Thus the mere fact of so much purchasing power going to the old people would reduce the purchasing power of the young ones because of the increased prices."

"Dollar purchases would undoubtedly increase but it is very doubtful whether the volume of goods would be increased materially. We should be getting better no faster, but there would be an appearance of prosperity in monetary terms."

Bank to Be Closed Monday January 20

Announcement was made today by Hall Walker, vice president of the Commercial State Bank of Ranger, that the bank would be closed all day Monday, Jan. 20 in commemoration of Robert E. Lee's birthday anniversary.

Duffy, O'Sullivan Win In Wrestling

Jack Duffy beat "Egg-Head" Perry, the pride of Abilene, last night at the Elks arena in the best two out of three falls. Referee Angus gave the third fall to Duffy because of unnecessary roughness on the part of Perry.

Rex O'Sullivan won over Ace Abbott in the finals after Abbott had agreed to give O'Sullivan five minutes more time in the last match.

The card for next Wednesday will be Bill Angus and Perry in the 45-minute match. Angus has trained and says he wants a chance at the Abilene pride. These boys will give the fans a real show. The matchmakers are trying to get Benny Wilson, the drugstore cowboy, and Nick Bozins, the terrible Greek, in the finals. It has been stated at the arena that Wilson does not want to wrestle the Greek. Nick's plenty tough as well as a scientific wrestler and makes it hard on all comers.

Five Persons Burn To Death In Home

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Jan. 14.—Five persons were burned to death and a sixth injured seriously when the home of P. Willard, 36 year old farmer was destroyed by fire today.

The fire started when oil taken from a refuse can exploded as Willard was attempting to start fire. He was critically burned. Five of the dead are members of his family.

MADISON, Wis.—The modern city must be replaced by one which will bring happiness to all classes of people instead of widespread frustration, Charles Edward Jeanneret, (Le Corbusier) French architect, declared here.

close the CCC camps in the United States and will likely pattern Canada's new camps after them.

The new camps will be centers of vocational training and education, and the men will be paid a regular wage, from which they will pay board and lodging and buy their own clothes. Under the present system, youths receive 20 cents a day and food, lodging and clothing.

A number of the proposed camps will be for youths only. Others will take care of older unemployed men. The various departments of education in the provinces will cooperate in providing education for the men.

It is hoped the new camps will check the drifting of youths from province to province—one of the major difficulties encountered under the present system. Men come and go as circumstances change, but under the new plan the unemployed will stay in one place for a definite period.

The whole purpose behind the project is training of the youths' minds and bodies to prepare them for jobs whenever work becomes available.

Canada Tries CCC Type of Camp for Youths of Nation

By United Press

OTTAWA, Ont.—A new and brighter era is about to open for unemployed youths in Canada.

After three years of monotonous existence in the unfriendly atmosphere of relief camps, they are to be sent to training centers patterned along the lines of the conservation camps in the United States.

The present camps where 20,000 youths are earning 20 cents a day and their "keep" with a pick-and-shovel, will be abolished. The camps were established in 1932 to care for unemployed youths from urban centers, but have never been popular, and were the scene of many disturbances, allegedly instigated by communist agitators.

Decision to replace them by training centers was reached at the Inter-Provincial Conference held here last month. The conference unanimously adopted a resolution presented by Hon. David Croll, Ontario's labor-welfare minister, urging the Dominion government to "devise a system for training youths in habits and techniques of work and industry, and for a thorough and well-integrated apprenticeship system."

Adoption of such a system will mark a new departure in treatment of unemployed youths in Canada. The Dominion department of labor has been studying

THESE FACTS ABOUT BRAN HAVE BEEN PROVED BY TESTS

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two tablespoonfuls of bran daily continued to relieve constipation over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system—the right way to correct constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal, with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Beery, Barrymore Score In Feature "Ah Wilderness!"

FILM TO START SUNDAY AT THE LOCAL THEATRE

The delicate tracery of Eugene O'Neill's drama with its poignant humanism, its down-to-earth simplicity, and its dynamic dramatic power is vividly caught on the talking screen in "Ah Wilderness!" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film transcription of the great stage success, starting Sunday at the Arcadia Theatre.

Acclaimed on the stage where it was played both by George M. Cohan and the late Will Rogers, the film version now adds the lavish scope of screen production to the dramatic story. Its location scenes in the quaint, New England town of Grafton, Mass., its charming home sequences, and its camera effects add a sense of reality that only the talking screen could achieve.

Wallace Beery plays one of the greatest roles he has ever given pictures as the ineffective, alcoholic but lovable Uncle Sid, running the gamut from comedy to poignant tragedy with Aline MacMahon, who plays the spinster aunt who loves but cannot marry him.

Lionel Barrymore, in the role played by Cohan and Rogers, gives a performance that rivals his famous delineation in "A Free Soul." In the scene where he tells Eric Linden that which every father must tell his son as the youth stands on the threshold of manhood he has one of the mightiest dramatic moments in his whole career.

Young romance is represented by Eric Linden, playing the son, who gives an amazingly human and skillful performance, and Cecelia Parker, charming as the high school sweetheart. Miss MacMahon as Aunt Lily, and Spring Byington as the mother are ideally cast and Mickey Rooney adds childish comedy. Charles Grapevin, Frank Albertson, Edward Nugent, Bonita Granville and Helen Flint are excellent in supporting roles.

Clarence Brown, who has given the world many great picture successes, uses his deft human touch to the best advantage, and through out the picture his handling of the charming high school graduation sequences, Beery's comedy, the town Fourth of July celebration, the love sequences and childish quarrel are all apparent.

O'Neill's story deals with an American family of 1906, with the young son in the throes of his first love affair with its transports and despair. This is compared with the mature romance of the spinster aunt and shiftless uncle, and the steadfast love of the parents.

The boy's ineffectual urge to do something important, which involves him with a sinister character; the coming to the rescue by the father, and the varied human angles that parallel the main theme make it a living, vital chronicle of American life.

Charming photography by Clyde De Vinna adds greatly to the charm of the unique story of loves of yesterday and today which O'Neill, the author, terms his "comedy of recollection."

Boulder Dam Is Great Engineering Feat of Past Year

WASHINGTON.—The premier engineering event of 1935, according to the National Geographic Society, was completion of Boulder Dam.

Other projects of major importance cited were: The bridging of the Mississippi River near New Orleans. The "Little Belt," bridge in Denmark.

Electricification of the Pennsylvania Railroad between New York and Washington.

Changing to standard gauge of 150 miles of the Chinese Eastern Railway between Harbin and Hsinking.

Inauguration of a great ship canal in Russia connecting the Baltic and White seas.

Completion of a highway between the Texas border and Mexico, D. F.

Opening of the Moscow subway system.

Placing in service of the world's largest steamship, Normandie.

Boulder Dam, which bars the Colorado River, contains 4,500,000 cubic yards of reinforced concrete. It rises 726 feet. Water was permitted to gather above the dam four months before the last concrete was poured on May 29.

Britain Is Warned Of Birth Slump

LONDON.—A prophecy has been made by experts that Britain's population may fall to one-tenth of its present size in the next hundred years.

This is foreshadowed in a report just issued by the Royal Economic Society. The inquiry on which the report is based has been conducted by Dr. Enid Charles, of the Department of Social Biology in the University of London.

The present low birth rate will begin to cause social dislocation long before a hundred years has past, says Dr. Charles, if no new social agencies intervene to raise it. Britain will become largely a nation of old-age pensioners. Schools will be empty, and the number of men and women of marriageable age will fall drastically.

While at the end of the hundred years the population will have fallen from around about 40,000,000 to 4,000,000, by the end of 50 years it will already have fallen to about 25,000,000.

Taking the next 20 years, Dr. Charles says that although no considerable decline in total numbers need be expected, "a marked fall in the total numbers of the school age population and a marked rise in the total numbers of persons of 60 years of age and over will occur."

In the next 20 years the school population will fall by nearly one-half. In the same period the number of pensioners (60 years of age and over) will increase by nearly one-half.

As an increasing section of the population consists of people over the age at which they may have children, the birth rate will suffer. Dr. Charles estimates that in 25 years from now the birth rate will fall six per 1,000 of the population, with the death rate at 14 per 1,000.

Bone Reveals a Health Secret

ST. LOUIS.—Recent studies of the shoulder blade have resulted in startling disclosures, according to Dr. William W. Graves, professor of neuro-psychiatry at St. Louis University.

Speaking before the St. Louis Academy of Science, Graves said that his studies of shoulder blades show that by their shape they indicate:

1. Probable length of life.
 2. Chances of good health.
 3. Degree of intelligence.
 4. Capacity to learn.
- Dr. Graves has classified shoulder blades into two types:
1. Convex types.
 2. Types other than convex.
- Persons having the convex type of shoulder blades live longer than others. Dr. Graves declared, and recent studies have shown them possessed of a greater capacity for learning. In the course of his studies he found one and one-half more convex blades among school children from 6 to 14 years of age than among children of the same age in a colony for feeble-minded.

By a progressive study of grades

AT ARCADIA FRIDAY

Barton MacLane, the he-man of the screen, and lovely Mary Astor of "Man of Iron", which is showing Friday only at the Arcadia Theatre.

in school, Graves has found a higher percentage of convex blades in each succeeding grade than in the one just below. This, he says, indicates a proportionate increase in intelligence, reflecting the selective process of education and the rule, "The higher the grade, the fewer the dullards."

The one exception to this was the first year of high school, and Dr. Graves explained this by saying that many children of high intelligence are forced to drop out of school at the end of eighth grade for financial reasons.

Dr. Graves pointed out that the studies he has just completed on the physical variations of shoulder blades shows quality and not quantity. He indicated that another survey will show the relation between degree of intelligence and refinements in shape of shoulder blades.

Whoever said an army marches on its stomach must have been studying Italian progress in Ethiopia.

He was lathering his face, preparatory to shaving, when the fire alarm was sounded. He ran to the fire station, stepped onto a truck and started off.

Vergelli happened to glance down and to his dismay found himself clad only in his underwear, shoes and bathrobe.

Texas Will Have Illustrated Map

AUSTIN.—For 1936, Texas will have an illustrated automobile road map. It will be issued by the state highway department as a Centennial aid.

Road maps are issued several times a year by the department, but the new addition will be much more elaborate than those of the past. It will show not only the types of roads, but will portray some of the state's most attractive scenes.

There will be shown also the state's big group of roadside parks and many things that will be interesting and valuable to Centennial tourists.

Pasko entered the prison several years ago with his arms and hands useless as the result of a fire. He had other physical disabilities.

"But look at me now," said Nick. "I'm well again and ready to work. Prison did that for me." "It's up to you, gentlemen," he told the parole board. "I don't mind staying here. I'm treated fine and I have got back my health. You can parole me or keep me, it's all the same to me."

VOTERS URGED TO PAY POLL TAXES EARLY

Attention of the voters of Ranger is being called to the fact that only about 15 days remains in which to pay poll taxes in order to be eligible to vote in the various elections to be held during the year 1936.

Many important elections are already scheduled and it is likely that others may be called during the year.

The regular democratic primary is to be conducted in July and the second, or runoff primary, is to be held the latter part of August.

Then, too, this is general election year, with a general election being held early in November, at which time those who have paid their poll taxes prior to Feb. 1, can vote in the presidential election, which is expected to be one of the most important held in many years.

Although there is not any definite assurance of an election on legalization of sale of beer or other liquors, it is possible that this matter may come up for a referendum sometime during the year 1936, and everyone who is eligible to vote will want to have an opportunity of expressing his or her views on the matter.

In order to vote in 1936 everyone who is eligible to vote and does not have a legal exemption must have paid a poll tax prior to Feb. 1, and although poll taxes may be paid after that date such payment does not entitle one to vote in any election during the year.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Five hundred Ethiopians and about 100 Italians were killed Sunday at the opening of an offensive on the southern Ethiopian front, the Exchange Telegram reported today.

The offensive still was in progress.

CARBON WINS A THRILLER FROM RANGER

Carbon High School made a clean sweep of the basket ball games played in Ranger Tuesday night, the girls' team winning by a score of 56 to 12 and the boys' team winning 24 to 17. The win for the boys kept Carbon at the top of the county league standing with four wins and no defeats.

The Carbon girls started out with apparent intentions to put the game on ice early and at the half were leading by a score of 32 to 7 and scored 24 points in the last half while the Ranger girls were scoring but five.

The boys' game was much more closely contested and the two teams battled on exactly even terms until the Ranger team began to show signs of tiring. At the end of the first quarter the score was 5-5, after the score had been tied twice during the period. At the end of the first half the score was still deadlocked, each team having scored 12 points, and at that time it looked as though either team might win or that it might have to go to extra periods. Ranger had a slight advantage in the first half, being ahead by a couple of points on several occasions.

In the last half, however, Carbon's supremacy showed and at the end of the third quarter the score was 20 to 16, which Ranger made 20 to 17 shortly after the third quarter started.

But Ranger apparently began to tire and Carbon made two baskets in the last session, while the Bulldogs were unable to tally again, the game ending with Carbon leading after a furious contest by seven points.

The Eastland Mavericks, who lost twice to Carbon by almost the same score as in Tuesday night's contest, will play in Ranger Friday night, Carbon will play at Rising Star, and Gorman will play at Cisco.

No Meningitis Is Reported Here In Spite of a Rumor

"Although there have been cases reported in other sections of the state," Dr. Palmer said today, "there has not been a case reported in Ranger nor in the vicinity of Ranger, and all rumors to this effect are absolutely without foundation."

Dr. Palmer stated that he had heard rumors to the effect that there were cases reported in or near Ranger, but that there had not been a case nearby in many years.

It's strange, but the very people who want free speech preserved are afraid the future will find it in an excellent state of preservation.

INTIMATION IS ROOSEVELT TO VETO BONUS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17. White house intimations that President Roosevelt will veto any bonus bill failed today to deter congressional bonus advocates in a pell-mell push toward enactment of a compromise that would pay veterans with demand notes.

White House sources sought to rebuke rumors that Mr. Roosevelt might not veto the bill because of its overwhelming congressional support. Friends of the president said they knew of no change in his oft-expressed opposition to immediate payment.

Bonus leaders in house and senate, however, were confident of ability to pass the bill over the president's veto. Their confidence was borne out by a survey showing that at least 64 senators would vote to override.

That the house would overthrow a veto seemed foregone.

The united front bonus bill for which the compromise measure was substituted in the senate was passed 356 to 59 in the house.

A year ago the house overrode a bonus veto and it was only by eight votes the senate failed to follow suit.

The compromise bill, introduced by Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee, may come up for senate vote tomorrow. It provides for issuance of baby bonds which would be cashed immediately or held as an investment at 3 per cent interest.

ALVIN KARPIS ESCAPES TRAP IN MISSOURI

AURORA, Mo., Jan. 15.—Alvin Karpis, America's public enemy No. 1 and a companion escaped a trap set by federal officers and highway patrolmen at a garage here today.

The trap had been maintained by federal agents and highway patrolmen since Dec. 30 when Karpis and his companion rented space in a garage to store their car.

The identification of Karpis at that time was made positive by the garage owner and several attendants who were there when the two men drove the machine in.

The trap failed when officers temporarily relaxed their vigilance at the breakfast hour and the two, becoming suspicious when the garage owner would not immediately release their automobile to them.

Federal agents and highway patrolmen took up the trail and were reported to be less than five minutes behind the pair.

Discrimination Is Charged In Suit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The government today charged the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company with a price discrimination with Sears, Roebuck & Co. in tire sales.

The government contended in final arguments that the Goodyear company charged with violation of the Clayton anti-trust act, in reality sustained a net loss of more than $14,000,000 on its Sears business. Company attorneys asserted Goodyear made $9,500,000 profit.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

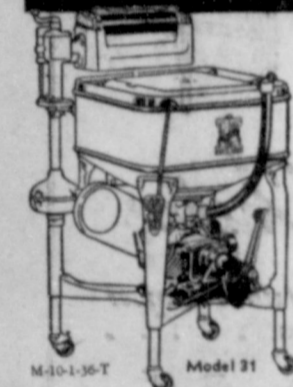

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Nazis Rebuilding German Cities and Razing Landmarks

BERLIN—Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and other German ministers for some time have been busily ceremoniously opening new public buildings in all parts of Germany. In their speeches they invariably stress that the "Third Reich" is going to have "a new face."

Building trade has recovered from the slump affecting it during the depression years. Barracks and public buildings are being constructed by the hundreds throughout the Reich.

In every corner of the country there are numerous buildings, like "House of Aviators," "House of Mechanics," "House of Peasants," "House of the People," "House of Merchants," "House of Jurists," "House of Physicians," "House of The Youth." These and similar buildings all serve administrative purposes.

This, however, represents only a small fraction of the large scale building program going on in Berlin, Hamburg, Munich and other towns.

'Mugging' Suspects Starts In Panhandle

DALHART, Texas.—Harve D. Foust, Dalhart, sheriff of Dallam county, and Sheriff Ralph Queen of Hartley county, are leading a northwest Panhandle program for "mugging" every person, man, woman, boy or girl, who comes into their hands. Two photos will be taken—one full face, and one a profile.

They expect to tie the program in with the identification files of the United States Department of Justice, so that the information gathered will be universally available.

Need of the program has been emphasized by Queen because of the failure so far to identify a 16-year-old boy found dead along the Rock Island railroad tracks, 30 miles west of Dalhart on Nov. 1. Apparently he had fallen from the train and died from concussion.

Berliners no longer can trace the many famous spots so vividly described in old chronicles. The ancient Berlin had to give way to the new head office of the largest German savings bank and to the new gigantic Reichbank building.

Another old part of Berlin, adjoining the section just pulled down, will be broken up within the next few weeks. Among the buildings affected is the famous "Palais Ephraim," one of the most beautiful houses of the age of Frederick the Great. This house, however, is not going to be demolished, but will be removed to a near-by site and remain a museum of cultural life in the 18th century.

Also the traditional Wilhelmstrasse changed. Goering broke with the "Frederician style" in which most government offices were built in Wilhelmstrasse during the last two centuries. His new air ministry presents itself in up-to-date style. With more than 2,500 rooms, this youngest government department is by far the largest of all ministries.

Sheriff Candidate

This issue carries the announcement of Steele Hill for the office of sheriff of Eastland county. Steele, as he is familiarly known throughout the county, has made Eastland county one of its most efficient officers in the process of his duties as deputy sheriff, which position he has held for the past eight years. He has never been found wanting in the line of peace officer. He is fearless and yet conscientious in dealing with those who offend the law. The following statement is submitted to the voters for consideration:

I herewith announce my candidacy for the office of sheriff of Eastland county subject to the primary election to be held in July. I was born and reared in Eastland county and have lived here all my life. For the past eight years I have been deputy sheriff and feel that I am fully qualified to be your sheriff as my experience has given me every advantage to give you the best possible service which my duties will require me to do. If elected I pledge myself to enforce the laws of the state as required by the constitution under by oath of office. I shall do everything humanly possible to see that the laws are obeyed. I shall try and see every citizen in the county during the campaign and will appreciate your giving my candidacy your careful consideration. I will be grateful for your influence in my behalf.

Steele Hill Making Race For Sheriff

Respectfully yours,
STEELE HILL.

John D. and Grady McRae to Continue Insurance Business

Announcement is made today that the insurance agency established several years ago by D. C. McRae, now deceased, will be continued by John D. and Grady McRae, his two sons.

John D. has been associated with his father for the past three years and is well known in Ranger. Grady will be interested with John D. in continuing the business and his family consisting of Miss Evelyn, 18, daughter, one son, Jackie, and Mrs. McRae will return to Ranger just as soon as arrangements can be made in Tucson, Ariz., to dispose of properties. They will return to Ranger and make it their home.

Grady McRae has been engaged in the automobile business in Tucson for the past 10 years. John D. formerly lived in Tucson.

The McRae Insurance Agency was established by the father of these young men several years ago and they intend to give the same courteous attention to their policyholders as did their father.

Millionth Chevrolet Of 1935 Will Be Given Away as Gift

Chevrolet's one millionth car of 1935 production is to be presented to the owner of the oldest Chevrolet licensed and in regular use in the United States, according to Mr. H. C. Howard, zone manager, Chevrolet Motor Company, Dallas.

Mr. Howard says, "The millionth Chevrolet built within the current year came off the assembly line at Flint, Mich., on Dec. 12, just eight days after Chevrolet produced its eleven millionth car since the beginning of the company."

He continued, "Presentation of the millionth car of the year—a 1936 standard coach—will be made to the owner whose Chevrolet is discovered, between Dec. 16, 1935, and midnight Jan. 15, 1936, to be the oldest model licensed and in regular service."

He specified that, to win, the old-timer Chevrolet must have been regularly licensed for operation during the current year, possessing its own 1935 license tags issued before Dec. 1. It must, also, have been licensed as a passenger car, and be equipped with a complete car body. It must bear the original engine and chassis numbers, legible and unaltered.

To enter a Chevrolet for consideration, the owner need only drive it to any Chevrolet dealer's salesroom and submit it for examination, receiving a blank on which he will report the engine and chassis numbers of the car to the Chevrolet Motor Company at Detroit, where the company's records will determine which is the very oldest in service.

"Chevrolet is happy to present this 1936 model," said Mr. Howard, "because it feels that some recognition is due the owners of Chevrolets. Our achievement of a production totaling well over a million cars during 1935 is to be credited largely to motorists who began purchasing Chevrolets years ago."

"I wish that I could have the thrill that is in store for the owner whose early Chevrolet—a car maybe 15 or 18 years old—will be supplanted by a 1936 model."

Mr. Howard stated that although the presentation will be made as a new year's gift, the time for submitting cars for consideration has been extended, to include Jan. 15, because of the short period between Dec. 12, the birthday of the millionth car of the year, and the first of the year. Announcement of the award will be made on or about Jan. 22 as soon as the records can be carefully studied to determine exactly who has the oldest Chevrolet in active service.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

Texas Centennial Hall of State

The glories of Texas will be paraded before the eyes of millions of visitors to the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas in the great State of Texas building now under construction. Architects' conceptions of the facade and complete structure, shown above, give some idea of the magnificence of the project. Situated at the end of a beautiful esplanade of flags, the $1,200,000 building will afford one of the most breathtaking vistas at the Central Exposition of the Texas Centennial Celebrations, opening June 6.

Rail Accidents Fatal to 4,652

WASHINGTON.—The average railroad passenger in 1934 could count on riding the equivalent of 26,725 times around the world without meeting accidental death, the Interstate Commerce Commission reported today.

It advised that 27 train passengers were killed accidentally or an average of one per each 668,076.03 miles traveled.

At the same time rail casualties totaled 4,652, divided as follows: Trespassers, 2,566; Employees, 435; passengers not on trains, 27; Travelers not on trains, 8; persons carried on contract, 4; other non-trespassers, (largely grade-crossing accidents), 1,612.

Total fatalities compared with 4,816 in 1933. In 1934 16,446 persons were injured compared with 16,472 in 1933.

Grade crossing accidents took a slightly larger toll than in 1933, but 38.36 per cent less than in 1929.

The total of grade crossing accidents was 3,728, resulting in death of 1,554 persons and injury of 4,300. Automobiles were involved in 3,317 of these accidents, 1,320 persons being killed and 4,099 injured. Such accidents caused derailment of 49 trains, resulting in the death of 47 persons and injury to 57.

Elimination of highway grade crossings is steadily underway, the commission reported.

In 1934, 2,109 such crossings were eliminated but 999 were added, a net decrease of 1,110 for a total of 234,820. In 1933, 2,629 crossings were eliminated, 788 added for a net decrease of 1,241.

Net decreases were shown in each of the past four years, reversing a steady trend of increases in years prior to that.

"The number of deaths and injuries resulting from grade crossing accidents," the commission said, "is excessive and is capable of material reduction."

The commission pointed out the Rockville, Md., accident in which 14 children were killed as "peculiarly distressing" and asserted that "elimination of crossings at grade, while calling for larger expenditures and requiring longer periods of time is the solution of this problem which must in many locations finally be adopted and measures to this end which are now in progress should be vigorously carried on until a material reduction in grade crossing casualties has been effected."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Rep. Charles Eaton, Rep., N. J., shouted a charge on the house floor today that President Roosevelt scrapped the democratic platform of 1932 for new deal legislation.

Eaton made a blistering attack on the Roosevelt administration especially in regard to spending. The government, he said, is spending $2 for every $1 in revenues.

He termed Postmaster General James A. Farley the whitest political lily ever nurtured in the Tammany tradition since Boss Tweed went to jail.

GOODWIN, Ark., Jan. 15.—Seventeen mangled bodies—the toll of the worst plane disaster of commercial aviation—were taken from the twisted and bloody wreckage of the crack air liner today and removed to Memphis for identification.

Soon after Lake Littlejohn, department of commerce investigator, arrived from Little Rock, a former inquest was held on the scene and it was decided the crash was "purely accidental."

All 17 bodies, some unrecognizable, were taken to Memphis.

Investigators rounded up natives in the dismal swamp country near the Mississippi river hoping to learn something that would lead to a partial explanation of the disaster.

Investigations began to fix responsibility. The American Air Lines twin-motored Douglas crashed last night in a swamp three miles northeast of this farming hamlet carrying all aboard—14 passengers and a crew of three, to a frightful death.
