Texans Are Urged To Conserve All Supplies of Water

AUSTIN—Texas today was urged to conserve all underground and surface water supplies by the Texas Planning Board's water resources committee in a statement of policy made in connection with an exhaustive survey which is being made of the state's water supplies.

Agriculture was asked by the committee to conserve water thru such methods as terracing, contour plowing, strip cropping, rotation of crops, destruction of weeds in pastures, control of livestock grazing and the retirement to timber of such areas as are best adapted to the growing of timber crops.

The committee also advised the construction of storage dams on all tributaries as well as on the main streams of Texas for the purpose of storing water for every useful purpose, as well as for the prevention of floods and the regulation and control of stream flow.

Legislation which will enable the State Board of Water Engineers to exert a positive control over the utilization of underground and surface water, including drainage water in artificially constructed channels, was proposed in the committee's statement of policy.

The State Department of Health was requested to strictly enforce existing regulations against pollution of Texas streams and the cooperation of the Texas State Parks Board and the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission was asked in the development of water recreational areas in the state.

Turning to the threat of future floods, the committee recommended the construction of a coordinated system of levees in connection with flood storage along the main streams for the purpose of protecting and reclaiming alluvial lands and protecting municipalities against flood damage.

The committee also recommended the encouragement of friendly cooperation between Texas and Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas, and between Mexico and the United States, for the conservation of the waters of the Pecos, Canadian, Rio Grande and Sabine rivers, and the Red and Brazos.

Motor Without a Crankshaft Made

PUEBLO, Colo.—An airplane motor without crankshaft, valves or carburetor, which burns ordinary gasoline and follows other general principles of internal combustion engines, has been invented and patented by W. H. Smith after 10 years' experimentation.

The engine was created to overcome lost energy used by ordinary motors in keeping themselves running.

The engine has eight cylinders, each fired four times per revolution of the engine, making 32 strokes per revolution. Ordinary automobiles engines have one power stroke for every two revolutions.

The engine revolves in its casing, eliminating the necessity of a crankshaft. When completed the engine will produce 10,000 to 15,000 revolutions a minute, Smith believes, or 4,000 revolutions a minute under load.

The entire engine is to be made of aluminum to conserve weight, and will produce as high as 15 horsepower per pound of weight, Smith believes. Vanes built into the engine casing itself are designed to create a cooling system.

The engine, designed principally for planes, will serve as its own gyroscope as it revolves with the propeller, thus eliminating automatic pilots or anti- sway devices, according to Smith.

Most House Members Are Native Texans

AUSTIN—All but 26 members of the next House of Representatives, which meets next January, will be native Texans. Four of the members were born in Tennessee and four in Mississippi. There will be two each from Alabama, Georgia, Oklahoma, Iowa and Missouri. Other non-native Texans who will be in the House come from Arkansas, Virginia, Illinois, Kansas, North Carolina, Illinois, South Dakota and South Carolina.

Mrs. Looker Snow Phinney, Dallas, Chief Clerk of the House, has compiled a handy manual about the membership.

The average legislator will be 38. Oldest member will be B. J. Leydendecked of Laredo. Three members will be 21—A. G. Skaggs, Deport; Howard S. Smith, Sulphur Springs; and Odie A. Weldon, Mabank.

Lawyers will continue to predominate, with 58 lawyer members and five members who are law students. There will be 17 farmers, 17 teachers, four ranchmen, four salesmen, four real estate men, three insurance men, three newspaper men, three general business men, two merchants, two retired men, two printers. Other occupations represented are: railroad clerk, telegraph buyer, physician, dentist, cotton buyer, barber, druggist, trader, chemist, minister, oil-gas operator, oil refiner, advertising, ginmer, and one student other than the law students.

Soviet Needs Hair; Horses Lose Tails

MOSCOW—All Soviet farm horses will lose their tails before Nov. 1, under instructions of the commissariat of agriculture issued to state and collective farms.

The order was issued in a three column announcement in the agricultural press which featured a picture of a peasant docking his horse's tail.

"Attention of collective farmers, individual peasants and state farm workers! By organized cutting of tails and manes of horses we can supply our industry with very valuable raw material for production of goods of broad consumption."

"Docking of horses according to instruction of the commissariat of agriculture of the U.S.S.R. is ordered from Sept. 15 to Nov. 1.

Presenting the phenomenal facts about GULFPRIDE THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR OIL

THE facts on this page sound hard to believe. But here is the reason why GULFPRIDE—and only GULFPRIDE—can accomplish such results...

Gulf begins with selected Pennsylvania crude, refines it to a motor oil that equals the best—then further refines it by the exclusive Alcholor process.

Only GULFPRIDE is made by this process—result of 15 years' research—the same scientific research that has made every Gulf product a leader.

Read the facts below. Then drain your dirty summer-worn oil and refill with GULFPRIDE now. At all Gulf dealers.

AN AMAZING TEST. Bottle No. 1 shows a mixture of 6 famous Pennsylvania motor oils. Bottle No. 2 shows them after being put through Gulf's Alcholor process. Bottle No. 3 shows the 29% waste removed from these already highly-refined oils by Gulf's Alcholor process. This process starts where others stop! That's why GULFPRIDE is the world's finest motor oil.

TOPS IN THE AIR—8 out of the 11 winners in last year's National Air Races used GULFPRIDE OIL, the identical oil you can buy for your car at any Gulf dealer. This "aviator's oil" will take you farther before you need to add a quart than any oil you ever used!

BACKING THE BULLDOGS -- WIN OR LOSE!

Two Nominees Lost Presidency With A Popular Vote Plurality For Them

WASHINGTON — Twice since the Civil War the electoral college has prescribed in the Constitution has enabled Presidential nominees to win although paradoxically defeated by popular vote. In 1875 Rutherford B. Hayes was elected by an electoral vote of 185 to 184 for Samuel Tilden. Tilden had 260,000 more votes on the popular count. In 1888 Grover Cleveland was 100,000 votes ahead of Benjamin Harrison, but the latter went to the White House.

*Twelve years of age and under

The electoral system is a relic of the country's real "horse and buggy" days. It was devised by the Constitution framers for a system of indirect election of President and Vice President through representatives of the people rather than by popular vote.

State's Rights Involved
State's rights, difficulty of travel and other such motives were involved in the original decision. Contrary to the original design, electors now are bound to vote for a specified candidate, but the original basis of state electoral votes still stands. This consists of one elector for each member of Congress—House and Senate—from a state.

As the system works out, Connecticut, for example, with a population equal to that of Delaware, Nevada, Vermont and Wyoming combined has only about eight electoral votes, compared with 12 for the four smaller states.

Electors are chosen in the states, usually at party conventions. Their names go on the ballot, and technically the voter votes for party electors rather than directly for a Presidential nominee.

After the election the electors meet on prescribed days—usually in the capital of each state—formally cast their votes for the party choice, and then send a signed and sealed certification of their vote to Congress.

Congress Sits Jan. 6
On Jan. 6, 1937, these certificates are due to be opened at a joint session of Congress, and if no disputes arise, they will be ratified, making the November election finally legal.

Under the Constitution a majority of the electoral votes—266 out of 531 this year—must be cast for a nominee to insure his election. In a three-sided race, therefore, it is possible for the entire election to be thrown into the House of Representatives. The House would vote by state delegations—each state having one vote—to select a President.

Although a majority of the electoral vote is required, there is no such requirement as to the popular vote. For instance, Woodrow Wilson in 1912 had only a plurality of the popular vote, the vote combined for Taft and Roosevelt exceeding his. However, his electoral count was 435; Taft, 8; Roosevelt, 88.

SUNFLOWERS GO DEMOCRAT

BUDGET ADOPTED
The Eastland School Board adopted the budget for this year's operation at a meeting Saturday morning. The board will meet next Saturday at 11 o'clock in the Exchange building to approve the budget.

District Meeting of Medicos Due At Eastland October 28 and 29

Dr. Calvin R. Hannah, professor of obstetrics in the Baylor University School of Medicine at Dallas, and Dr. J. R. Lemmon of Amarillo, will conduct lectures at Eastland Wednesday and Thursday, October 28 and 29, in the third and final series of postgraduate lectures for physicians in the Thirteenth Councillor District of the State Medical Association. Two other meetings have been held, at Seymour September 2 and 3, and at Mineral Wells, September 30 and October 1. Physicians from the seventeen counties in the Thirteenth District of the Association, under sponsorship of which the lectures are carried on, through the Division of Maternal and Child Health, State Department of Health, are being urged to listen to the two days of talks that will be a continuation of the former lectures, going into advanced phases of the subjects. Dr. Hannah will lecture in obstetrics and Dr. Lemmon in pediatrics.

The postgraduate lectures on the fundamentals of care on prospective mothers and the newborn will be held at the Exchange Building, and a public health meeting for the general public will be held Wednesday morning. An outstanding feature of the refresher courses for physicians is a general assembly at which the visiting lecturers and other outstanding authorities in the field of public health will speak.

Dr. L. H. Reeves, Fort Worth, is District Councillor and has been working with Dr. Edythe P. Hershey, director of the Division of Maternal and Child Health, to contact every physician in the District. Subjects of interest to the physicians will include communicable diseases, difficult labor, abortion, repair of birth injuries, asphyxia neonatorum, and behavior problems in child training.

A health exhibit has been arranged by the State Department of Health that is displayed in connection with the lecture course. The State Department of Public Safety is cooperating in the health exhibit, and courtesy sound cars from the State Highway Department are on duty in each town.

Flood Damage Was Enough to Build Three Major Dams

TEMPLE — With the money which the recent floods in the Brazos Valley cost, three of the major dams proposed in the Brazos River development could have been built, General Manager Jno. A. Norris declared here on his departure for Washington to confer with federal officials regarding the project.

"Or," he added, "that money would have taken care of the construction of 50 or more small dams and reservoirs that have been contemplated from the beginning over a widespread area in West Texas on the headwaters of the main stream and its tributaries and on some of the minor tributaries."

He pointed out that the 13 major dams have been contemplated from the state merely to provide a nucleus around which would be grouped a large number of smaller dams and reservoirs that would provide the much needed water and flood protection to the fan-shaped area lying above and around the main reservoir.

"A careful and thorough investigation of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district yields the startling fact," the general manager declared in his statement, "that the tangible losses in 31 counties in the Brazos watershed as a result of the floods of late September and early October showed a total of something like $8,000,000."

"To be sure, this amount does not by any means represent the total loss resulting from this flood, because the intangible losses vary frequently aggregate more than the tangible losses."

"And further, the records show that this was not the maximum flood, but on the contrary, has exceeded several times within the history of the Brazos and its tributaries."

"While it is true that there is nothing especially remarkable about this particular flood, still the amazing feature is that with the natural facilities at hand to prevent the all too frequent recurrence of such catastrophes, we have all these years permitted ourselves to be at the mercy of the elements.

"It must be remembered that immediately prior to this flood devastation, many of the counties that suffered the flood loss had been included in what was known as the 'drought stricken area,' so that we see ourselves within a period of 30 days subjected to the extremes of drought and flood.

"So the word 'amazing' seems to be well used when we consider that by the use of our natural facilities of storing flood waters and thus preventing the damage from inundation, we may at the same time provide the means for relieving in large measure the harmful effects of droughts.

"The Brazos project was conceived and is now put forward as a project for both conservation and flood prevention, and when we consider this last damage of $8,000,000, we cannot help but consider at the same time what benefits would accrue from expenditure of this sum in the construction of dams within the watershed."

Dams on which surveys have been completed are the Leon (Bell County), $2,379,831; Cordova Bend (Hood County), $1,965,558; and Lampasas (Bell County), $1,676,449, or a total of $6,021,829, compared to the recent flood loss of $8,000,000.

Other dams, most of them being surveyed now, are: Breckenridge, (Throckmorton County), $3,367,687; Seymour (Stonewall County), $3,113,091; Turkey Creek (Palo Pinto County), $1,873,168; Inspiration Point (Palo Pinto County), $1,860,388; Bee Mountain (Bosque County), $2,995,825; Whitney, (Bosque and Hill Counties), $3,091,868; Navasota (Brazos County), $1,801,567; North San Gabriel (Williamson County), $1,252,316; South San Gabriel (Williamson County), $1,712,798. The grand total, including $3,001,598, already allocated to Possum Kingdom dam, the first unit, in Palo Pinto County, is $30,092,345.

Mr. Norris hopes to obtain an early release of funds for additional units, all of which were included under the presidential order of approval September 26, 1935.

Ordinance May Be Protection for Men Against Women

By JAMES P. DOBBS United Press Staff Correspondent DALLAS, Tex. — An ordinance providing a penalty for women accosting men as well as men accosting women will be proposed to the city council by Municipal Judge King Williamson who is conducting a strenuous campaign to curb prostitutes.

"A few cities have ordinances providing just as heavy fines for females accosting males as they do for males accosting females," Judge Williamson said, "and I think passage of an ordinance of that kind here would be one of the most effective measures we could take against vagrant women."

The Dallas ordinance prohibiting males from accosting females provides fines of $1 to $100. Capt. Max Doughty, police vice squad, concurred with Judge Williamson. He said the plan would be feasible and effective, because officers at present have difficulty in obtaining evidence against street women.

Under the new ordinance the testimony of a man would be all that would be necessary for a conviction unless the woman had witnesses to the contrary. Judge Williamson's attempt to curb the illicit trade was due to complaints from fathers of high school youths who had been tempted to spend their lunch money in the house of prostitution.

Capt. Doughty assigned plainclothesmen to watch various neighborhoods and pick up the women and warn them to stay away from streets.

Other suggestions made by Judge Williamson in the effort to control the prostitutes were: 1. The primary answer to the problem is in the homes, where people must have the proper social training to keep them from the clutches of vagrant women—many of them diseased.

2. State laws should be amended to give police powers to force internment of diseased vagrant women until they are cured.

3. A program of education in the physical and scientific factors of the sex problem should be instituted in the public school system to supplement present moral training.

4. Young people of both sexes should be able to obtain information about prophylactics.

5. A "red light" district should be established with all vagrant women allowed to operate freely in that area of the city.

RCA Victor Launches Magic Voice Contest With 10,210 Weekly Prizes

Inauguration of a national contest during which prizes worth $56,000 will be awarded over a 4-week period by the RCA Victor Company for the best statement of 25 words or less on the subject, "Why I Like the Magic Voice Radio," was announced by Felton Brashier of the Ranger Furniture Exchange, who handle the RCA in this territory.

The Magic Voice contest began October 4, and runs for four consecutive weeks, with 10,210 prizes awarded valued at $14,000 being distributed weekly. To insure a better chance for local residents, Brashier said, the country has been divided into five sections, so that separate prizes will be distributed weekly in each of these sections for the duration of the contest. Each week, for four weeks, the RCA Victor dealers will award ten first prizes of beautiful new Magic Voice console radios with world-wide antennas; fifty RCA Victor table model radios, complete with world-wide antennas; fifty record players, for playing records through the radio set; and no less than 10,100 China salt-and-pepper shakers in the novel shape of the Yagouso Victor Dog, for the best statements of 25 words or less on why you like the Magic Voice radio.

Brashier said that the sponsors have exerted themselves to make the contest as easy to enter as possible. Accordingly, all that is necessary is for one to go into any RCA Victor dealer's store, ask for a demonstration of the Magic Voice radio; then, on a handy card provided for the purpose, write your impressions in twenty-five words or less. These cards may be mailed, postage-free, direct to the contest headquarters.

The purpose of the Magic Voice contest, Brashier explained, is to direct attention to the new Magic Voice development through which RCA Victor engineers have succeeded in bringing about an immense improvement in the total reproduction of the new radio sets. The Magic Voice, he said, consists primarily of an ingenious arrangement of organ-like pipes—called acoustic transducers—with the radio cabinet, the back of which has been rigidly sealed. Ordinary radio sets, he explained, have as much sound coming out of the back of the cabinet as the front; this curious fact can be determined by turning your own radio set around. The back waves rebound from the wall surfaces of the room and conflict with the sound already coming from the front of the radio, with resultant distortion. The Magic Voice system automatically controls and directs these back waves so that the sound is free from annoying "boom" and is as lifelike as the original sound in the broadcasting studio.

The public is cordially invited to hear the new RCA at the Ranger Furniture Exchange, where full details of the contest will be explained and cards furnished for those wishing to try for one of the several thousand prizes being offered.

Silk, Once Too High For Emperor's Wife, Is Now Very Cheap

Silk such as that used to make hosiery now being sold at Montgomery Ward during Ward Week was once so expensive a luxury that the Roman Emperor Justinian refused to allow his wife to use it. And Justinian was a wealthy man, too.

This and other interesting facts about the development of silk from a rare luxury to a modern necessity at a low price were outlined today by H. C. Clark, Ward store manager who has just received the information from the company's researchers in Chicago.

Silk is the result of extensive labor on the part of both silkworms and those who tend them. To determine the beginning-of silk production is as much a problem as is raised by the eternal question, "Which came first, the egg or the hen." However, for the sake of beginning somewhere, the egg which has been laid by the silkworm moth hatches tiny, but hungry worms under moderate temperature, usually artificially created. The principal occupation of these worms, before they start their job of spinning silk cocoons is the eating of mulberry leaves. No other kind of leaves is fed to them. When thousands of these silkworms feed at the same time the sound is said to be like that of falling rain.

The worms feed for a few days and then "sleep" for several days, going through four cycles of this kind. During the dormant periods of "sleep" they are kept quiet and warm with all noise prohibited. At the end of the series of "sleeps," they begin to eat in earnest, consuming 10,000 times their own weight in mulberry leaves, and then "sit up" nervously and begin waving their heads in circles, which is an indication that they are ready to spin cocoons.

Feverish activity on the part of their human attendants then takes place, as specially constructed arbors of wigs are placed within reach of the worms. The worms climb up into these, take hold and begin to spin a long thread of silk which they wind tightly about themselves to form the cocoon.

After the cocoon is completed the larva within is killed by suffocation to prevent its hatching and breaking the continuous strand of silk which is about a half-mile long. This strand is then unwound on machines and forms raw silk to be spun later into threads. Cocoons selected for the further production of silkworms are allowed to hatch into moths which lay eggs for the future supply of silk.

Prices, as evidenced by the low prices for silk stockings at the Ward Week sale, have dropped decidedly since 1920. During one month of that year silk was selling for $17.65 a pound. In 1923 the price was $8.84, and there has been a more or less steady drop since then. The average for 1935 was $1.67, a price which would no doubt surprise old Emperor Justinian as much as would airplanes and other modern wonders.

Eastland Assigned Comm. Hearing

Officials of the Railroad Commission office at Eastland have been advised a hearing will be held Monday, Oct. 26, at Eastland to determine vacuum to be pulled in the Pleasant Grove area in Eastland county. The hearing probably will be at the Councillee hotel, officials stated.

Experiments Keep Philco Radios At Peak of Perfection

In the great Philco experimental and engineering laboratories, a corps of distinguished radio engineers constantly conducts researches into every branch of radio reception . . . striving in every possible way to improve the performance of radios already generally admitted to be entitled to unquestioned leadership.

Because of this unceasing experimentation, Philco Radios today incorporate every worthwhile advance in radio science and invention. From the smallest Philco to the largest, the regular 1937 models were designed to provide the finest performance and tone quality in their respective price ranges.

But when all plans had been completed for the regular 1937 line, a direct challenge was issued to the inventive ability and resourcefulness of the greatest radio laboratories in the world:

"Build the finest radio ever designed . . . a radio that will give better performance than any radio at any price . . . the radio you have always dreamed about having for your own home."

Philco engineers accepted the challenge . . . figured, experimented, tested and re-tested. After months of concentrated efforts, after experimental models by the score had been subjected to the most searching tests . . . success crowned their efforts . . . success as exemplified by the 116x De Luxe super-Fidelity Philco!

Alcazar Siege Reveals Man's Innate Heroism

Whatever we may think about the rights or wrongs of the struggle in Spain, all of us can at least recognize dogged human heroism when we see it.

And as the correspondents at last pick their way over the ruins of the Alcazar fortress in Toledo and tell what they saw there, we have to realize that here, once more, has been retold the great story of the way ordinary human beings can set their teeth and take a beating.

There are times when life suddenly turns into a melodrama; when men are thrust into positions where there is nothing to do but to hang on tight and take the worst that can happen in the way of pain, hardship, danger and death.

Their lives resolve themselves into a struggle between the human spirit and the gathering darkness; and as the struggle goes ahead we suddenly discover that death is only an incidental thing, that to endure and to be dauntless is to win a victory that defeat and the grave cannot affect.

So it was with the English at Lucknow, with the Texans at the Alamo, with the Light Brigade at Balaclava, and with Lee's exhausted army at Petersburg; and so, too, it seems to have been with the rebels in the Alcazar.

Eleven hundred fighting men went into the Alcazar. When the rebel troops finally fought their way into Toledo and raised the siege, 90 of these men had died, 580 had been more or less seriously wounded, and 57 had vanished.

There had been 520 women in the place when the siege started. Two died and nine were wounded; two gave birth to children during the fighting.

The defenders had a quantity of grain, 97 horses and 27 mules, and a chest of medical supplies when the siege started. When it ended, one horse and five mules remained (the rest had been eaten), and the doctors had one bottle of chloroform and one bottle of alcohol left of their supplies.

During the siege the assailants rained 8500 shells and 4000 bombs and grenades on the castle. They made eight direct attacks on it, raided it by air 30 times, threw 200 jars of inflammable liquid into it, and set it afire 10 times.

For 71 days the defenders had crouched in underground cells and burrows, fighting and sleeping and eating and fighting again in a dreary, heart-breaking, endlessly monotonous round.

Those statistics sound dead and dry, when you write them down. But they do give us the outlines of an epic of endurance and solid, undramatic courage which deserves to be remembered.

For struggles like this one tell us more about the spirit of man than a whole volume of ordinary annals. They remind us that there is something utterly unconquerable in this blind, selfish, and frequently ignoble descendant of the angels; that he can, on occasion, look death in the eye without trembling, fight in the dark without aquail, and hang on grimly when the last shadow of hope seems to be gone.

With all his faults, he can be a great guy when the pinch comes. Can we learn that lesson too often?

Brook trout lose 2.6 per cent of their length in death, science says, which refutes the belief that fishermen always stretch them.

90th Division to Hold a Reunion

FORT WORTH.—From present indications, the coming Convention of the 90th Division Association, to be held in Fort Worth November 6th, 7th and 8th will be one of the best ever held by that organization, according to John W. Wallace, Secretary of the Texas Division and General Chairman of the local Convention Committee.

Brazil Is Taking Away Cotton Trade

DALLAS.—Brazil is rapidly taking away much of the cotton markets of the world formerly supplied by the United States and will continue to do this as long as the United States goes on with its present trade policies, W. H.

Beattie, sub-manager of the National City Bank in Rio de Janeiro, said on his arrival in Dallas to visit the Texas Centennial.

Brazil is fairly prosperous but the country's trade balance is gradually diminishing, Beattie said. Brazil's money is pegged to the franc but since the devaluation by France of its money, Brazil probably will turn to the British pound or to the United States dollar, Beattie believes.

The Brazilian and his wife sailed from South America several weeks ago. Mrs. Beattie, who was formerly Miss Ellen Fulwiler of Abilene, came to Texas to visit her family and Beattie joined her a few days ago. They will return to Brazil in a short time.

We are anxious to read, "Gone With the Wind," to find out who fled with the politician.

Valley Products Exhibit Planned

Car Registrations Show a Decline

EDINBURG, Texas—Four committees to handle preliminary arrangements for the third annual Valley-made Products Exposition here the week of November 16 have been named by J. D. Courtney, manager of the Edinburg Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the exposition.

AUSTIN, Texas.—New passenger car registrations in thirteen representative Texas counties during September, totaled 4,364, a decline of 14.6 per cent from August but an increase of 41.9 per cent over September last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Sales during the first nine months of the year in these thirteen counties totaled 51,642 cars, an increase of 21.8 per cent over the corresponding period a year ago.

The change-over to the 1937 models by a number of car builders doubtless accounts for the decline in sales from August to September, the Bureau's report stated. Unusually large back orders announced by several companies should soon be reflected in expanding registrations, the bureau added.

The following committees have already started work, and others are to be appointed.

Registration and reception—Mrs. Marvin McAskill, chairman; Mrs. Jack Trolinger, Mrs. J. C. Looney.

Building and decorations—Terry Coats, chairman; W. C. Jones, Jr., R. W. Fenwick.

SUNFLOWERS GO DEMOCRAT
PORTLAND, Ore. — H. J. Griffith loves sunflowers — sunflowers, to — but as a registered Democrat since 1904 he became tired of jibes because he raised 1 and sunflowers. A huge picture of President Roosevelt which he framed on a sign and planted in the sunflower bed, solved his trouble.

Entertainment—C. K. Leslie, Jr., chairman; B. F. Kelley, Dallas.

Many Designs Are Offered On Covers of Sealy Mattresses

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

The exposition is one of the Valley's four major annual fall and winter attractions.

Many of those groaning, aching, painful backaches, sciatic or neuralgic pains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 2 pounds of waste.

Floral designs, choice of striped tick, and many other attractive features to be had in the Sealy mattresses now on display at the Killingsworth, Cox furniture company. The 3-piece Sealy mattress during the sale is something a bit unusual and one which you should see during the sale.

Also of interest to those whose interest is centered about the home are the Easy washers, a machine proving popular because of its ability to save both time and money. A shopping tour to this place would save you much where attractive buys are in evidence.

Municipal Marble Boards Are Urged By City Manager

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Municipal ownership of marble boards estimated to net $540,000 a year in Fort Worth has been advocated by City Manager George D. Fairtrace.

That was Fairtrace's reply to a city council query on what to do with marble boards. The 2,000 privately-owned machines now in Fort Worth bring an annual profit of more than a half million dollars to their operators. The city manager said that sum would put the city welfare service in excellent condition.

Black-Draught High In Quality Without Being High In Price
Black-Draught is "easy to pay for" because it is so economically packaged and so reliable.

But as to quality, there's nothing "cheap" about it. For instance, its principal active ingredient is the leaves of a certain species of plant that are brought 10,000 miles from where they grow to the factory where the medicine is made. These leaves from far, far away, help to give Black-Draught its well-known "laxative reliability." They could not be left out, or substituted, without real loss of good medicinal quality.

For a good, purely vegetable laxative, insist on Black-Draught. About 25 doses in each 25-cent package.

"On top of that," he joked, "we could give a big barbecue every month for the welfare clients." For years, officials in Fort Worth and other Texas cities have pondered the legality of slot machines and marble devices. Most large Texas towns permit their operation in modified fashion pending the outcome of much-delayed litigation in the courts.

Fort Worth itself is marking time until the Texas courts of criminal appeals define the anti-gambling statute. Marble boards are operated throughout the city. Slot machines of the nickel to a quarter variety are displayed prominently on the Frontier Centennial grounds and in some night clubs.

Police recently told city officials flatly that they could do nothing as long as city licenses were issued for the skill-or-chance devices. City Councilman W. J. Hammond reported that complaints had come from many mothers that their children spend school lunch money on marble boards.

In many places, marble boards have operated "in one day and out the next." Police confiscate the machines after complaints. Courts issue orders restraining them from confiscating others.

Dallas last month began a "clean-up" of its Centennial entertainment spots. First it ordered midway "strip shows" at the Texas Centennial Exposition to put clothes on their performers. Next officers declared war on "nickel-getting" games.

Houston and San Antonio, usually liberal cities, tolerate certain types of marble boards and no open slot machines. Horse race games played with marbles are banned. El Paso, also recognized for its liberality, treats marble boards more roughly than any other Texas city. Police there confiscate and destroy all machines on sight — without awaiting the formality of a court order.

Roosevelt-Garner Campaign In Texas Moving Smoothly

AUSTIN, Tex. — With less than a month until the national election Nov. 3 the campaign in Texas for Roosevelt and Garner is operating like clock-work, with all units cooperating and with quotas coming in steadily to the headquarters of Roy Miller, campaign director in this state. It is a real Democratic campaign, judging by the activity, rallies and meetings being held in all of the counties.

As a result of this, Miller and Myron Blalock, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee predict that 1,000,000 Democrats will go to the polls Nov. 3, breaking all Texas records for general elections.

John Garner, vice president; Congressman Sam Rayburn, Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard, together with Miller, show why it is more necessary than at any time in past Texas history to get out a big Democratic vote this year. Since the national convention has abrogated the two-thirds rule in making nominations, in the future delegate strength at national conventions will be based on the number of votes cast in operate in keeping cafes, drug stores, and night-clubs from rigging their customers of spare change by nickel-in-the-slot methods.

the general election. Unless all Democrats vote there will be danger of losing strength and prestige in the national conventions and in Washington government affairs, and at present Texas is pre-eminently in control of party and government matters. This should ever be sacrificed, and to maintain this power the vote of every Democrat and a contribution, no matter how small, is needed.

Texas will go three or four to one for Roosevelt. As to the national road, Director Miller is supremely confident that Roosevelt will be re-elected, and he bases this on advice from party leaders in doubtful states, leaders who have had to know the facts. While contributions have been satisfactory the national war chest needs much more and promptly. Democrats do not have the sources of wealth to go that is available to the Republicans.

Nearly a dozen counties have completed their quotas and have forwarded the money, including Travis, Smith, Duval, Bosque, Culberson, Kerr, Crockett and Winkler. Smith and Travis counties exceeded their quotas. Where Smith county was assigned $2,108, it turned in to headquarters $3,750. Where Travis county had a quota of $3,200, it turned over $6,150, doubling the amount, and leaders say they will run it up to $7,500.

Although serious floods in the San Angelo area caused some delay, E. E. Murphy, chairman of the twenty-first district, and his committee are putting their shoulders to the wheel and raising funds. Murphy made a classic, real American statement that should be a lesson to people in every state. He said: "The administration has responded nobly in our flood crisis in furnishing money to the WPA for repairing damage done by the flood in San Angelo. This work has given employment to hundreds of men and I find the same cooperation has been extended in all parts of West Texas. There is not the slightest doubt that Roosevelt will be re-elected by a tremendous majority despite what a lot of Republican-minded straw votes show."

and farmers of that district are cooperating, and adds: "Mill counter received so much money in the agricultural program and from other agencies of the New Deal that it is felt that nearly every citizen will want to help re-elect President Roosevelt. Business institutions that never take part in politics have become interested in this campaign because there is no question that Roosevelt brought back prosperity."

Last Cave Dwellers Move from Dark Into Model Village

By United Press
BUDAPEST—The last settlement of cave dwellers in Europe has disappeared.

Until recently, in a certain district of the Hungarian county of Borsod, not far from the Czechoslovak border, several thousand poor farmers, together with their pigs and poultry, lived in caves into which no ray of the sun ever penetrated.

For many decades, neither authorities nor public opinion paid any heed to their condition. Then recently, a group of socially minded young Hungarian writers roused the nation's conscience and started a movement to end this medieval situation. Among the first to respond to their call were members of the cabinet. Minister of Interior Nicholas Kozma, donated a neat wooden farmhouse; this example was followed by his colleagues, Foreign Minister Koloman von Tanya, Finance Minister Tihamer Fabinyi and Minister of Commerce Geza Bornemisza. During the summer a new up-to-date village, with a modern church and school building, was constructed. It was named "Kikszatfalva," or Kikszat's village, after the writer Kikszat, who, by depicting the plight of the cave dwellers, had greatly contributed to the reform. By the end of September the population had moved into their new homes. To destroy every vestige of the former shameful situation, the cave settlement was blown up by dynamite. "Pawpaw crop is failure." The only exception seems to be Father Dionne.

Farm Conservation Payments to Start

COLLEGE STATION. — The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has announced that initial payments under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation program will soon be started to producers in Texas and the other states of the Southern region, according to A. L. Smith, secretary of the State Conservation Committee.

There are two classes of these payments, Class I to be made on acreage diverted from soil-depleting crops, and Class II to be made on certain soil-building crops and practices. It is estimated that the payments in Texas will amount to approximately $37,522,455, though —because of incomplete figures on compliance at this time the final payments may vary from this amount.

Producers in the Southern region will receive 90 per cent of the Class I payments and 100 per cent of the Class II payments, H. R. Trolley, A. A. A. administrator, states. An additional payment will be made after the exact extent of participation is determined.

"Complete information on participation will not be available for several weeks," Mr. Trolley said, "although it is known that the number of farmers taking part in the program is in the neighborhood of 4,000,000. This is substantially in excess of participation for any one year under the old-crop reduction."

"From the standpoint of sound business procedure, therefore, it was deemed advisable to take advantage of the safeguards provided by the program in order to avoid possible deficits, and at the same time, avoid holding up a large share of the applications for payments until all of them are completed."
