Controversy Still Rages Over Location of "Old Log School"

Editor's note: There still seems to be some controversy over the exact location of an old log school, in which court was held at one time in Eastland county, as this paper has received a communication from Charles M. Prestidge of Gorman, Route 3, Box 91, in which he says he attended school in the old building and can point out its exact location. In fact, he believes he can point out some of the original logs that once formed the walls of the building. Any others who have any information about the old log school or the first courthouse in Eastland county are invited to pass this information along, through the columns of this paper, as it seems to be a question of much interest to a large number of readers, who are anxious to secure more concrete and accurate information about the early history of the county.

The letter from Mr. Prestidge follows, in full:

"Dear Sir: I enjoy reading your paper very much, especially the pioneer incidents which are printed very often.

"The letter that was recently published, written by Mr. Ed T. Cox, brought my mind back to many pioneer events.

"Sixty-two years ago the 24th day of last December my parents and their four children, and my uncle, Tom Henry, came to the Mansker lake, later settling on the Leon river on the farm that is now known as the Jim Moseley farm. Of the seven who made the trip from Hood county and settled on that cold December day, two now are living, my brother, John, of Palestine, and I.

"I think Mr. Cox is mistaken on where the old log schoolhouse at Alameda was located.

"The schoolhouse set just a little south of where Jim Hart now lives.

"The first school I ever attended was taught in the old log schoolhouse at Alameda, which was later moved to Young Springs, and my wife and I lived in it in 1892. Then it was moved again about 200 yards northwest of the springs and I think there are a few logs in an outbuilding on that farm that came out of the old schoolhouse.

"I think I can show you the very spot where the schoolhouse stood, as I have been here since a boy five years of age, and made my home around Alameda all my life.

"Good luck to the paper and all its readers.

"CHARLES M. PRESTIDGE."

Eighteen persons — indicted by district court grand juries from Jan. 31, 1935, to Feb. 1 this year — are sought by Eastland county officials.

Indictments returned during that period total 173.

The 18 persons, possibly less since some individuals not placed in the custody of officials up to Tuesday may have been charged by several indictments, are classified according to the "true-bills" as follows:

Forgery, two; theft of money, two; theft by bailee, one; selling mortgaged property, one; driving intoxicated, two; theft, two; theft over $50, three; burglary, four; and aggravated assault, one.

Tentative dates and plans call for the show to open in a store building in Eastland on March 6 and to continue for two days. It was pointed out today that these dates were tentative, but that they were expected to be accepted at the meeting Monday night.

All poultry entered in the show will be carefully cared for during the two days, with competent men in charge of the pens. Entries are invited from all over the county in order to make the show a success and to promote a wider interest in the poultry business in this section.

Survey of Farms Being Undertaken To Equalize Taxes

"People would be glad to push us along," said T. L. Overbey, county supervisor of the Works Progress Administration tax survey, "if they knew this work will help in the equalization of taxes."

A crew of employees will soon take to the fields in search of information on types of farm-homes, condition of soil, amount of erosion, acreage cultivated and other data which will enable the proper and equal assessment of taxes.

The Eastland county project was inaugurated the latter part of December and, according to the supervisor, will necessitate six or 12 months additional work.

Twenty-one are employed at present. The number will be augmented in the near future by six youths who will be furnished by the National Youth Administration.

Deed records and books of the assessor-collector are utilized by the different crews in the work which many have said will aid counties and the entire citizenship more than any works project program.

Information obtained by the project will be available for commissioners' court in this county. The county project is one in a state-wide program.

"SLEEPING BEAUTY" FACES FIFTH YEAR OF NAP

Patricia Maguire, modern "sleeping beauty," is about to enter the fifth year of the strange coma that has baffled doctors and a mother's devotion.

Day after day, week after week, year after year, the loving care bestowed on the afflicted girl never varies. Her mother (right), Mrs. Peter Wiley, and sister, Mrs. Gladys Hixson, are shown preparing a meal for Patricia, who has gained weight during the long ordeal of her unique illness. They also keep her well-manicured and coiffured.

THESE FACTS ABOUT BRAN HAVE BEEN PROVED BY TESTS

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years' research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two table-spoonfuls of bran daily continued to relieve constipation over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system—the right way to correct constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal, with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk."

Grocer Norris is Planning Appeal For His Freedom

By JOSEPH W. MILLER

LINCOLN, Neb.—Attorneys for George W. (Grocer) Norris, of Alva, Okla., central figure in the investigation conducted by a senatorial committee in Nebraska in 1930, are resolved to carry the case to the U. S. supreme court, if necessary.

Norris in 1930 attempted to file for the U. S. Republican senatorial nomination against Sen. George W. Norris, of McCook. The 36-year-old grocer recently was convicted of falsifying before the committee and sentenced to three months in jail and fined $100 in federal court.

While his counsel is perfecting an appeal to the U. S. circuit court of appeals in St. Louis, Norris is free on a $1,500 bond and continues his work as a grocery store manager at Alva where he moved from Broken Bow, Neb., shortly after he announced his candidacy.

Norris contended he was the innocent victim of a political trick hatched by a group bent on smashing the political power of Senator Norris. The dapper young grocer admitted at the trial that he was given $50 to file for the nomination and an additional $500 for "campaign expenses." This testimony was in conflict with his statements before Senator Gerald P. Nye's senate committee in 1930 that he neither received nor was promised any funds to run against Senator Norris.

Grocer Norris said he knew that influential Nebraska Republicans furnished the funds paid to him through an intermediary.

Evidence presented in court revealed the money was contributed largely by William Stebbins, of Gothenburg, state treasurer at the time, and also a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination.

The grocer's name never appeared on the ballot. The Nebraska supreme court held that his filing papers arrived at the state capitol a day late.

Victor Seymour, Lincoln attorney who was manager of the Republican national committee's western campaign office at Denver, recently completed a six months' sentence for perjury committed before the same committee.

The grocer will base his appeal upon the ground that it was a senate resolution and not a statute that created the Nye committee and hence there was no perjury under a federal statute. An additional defense will be that he corrected his testimony at a second appearance before the committee.

No Action Taken On Farmers' Demand

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—Dr. H. Y. Benedict, University of Texas president, declined to comment today on action taken by Central Texas farmers at San Marcos requesting the removal of Dr. A. B. Cox, head of the school bureau of business research for allegedly criticizing President Roosevelt and his policies.

"We can but let the matter rest on its merits. All I know of this is what I read in the papers," Benedict said. Dr. Cox could not be reached for a statement.

W. S. Adamson to Be a Candidate For County Judge

Judge W. S. Adamson, prominent Ranger attorney, has announced his candidacy for the position of county judge of Eastland county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary of July 25.

Judge Adamson is well qualified, both by training and experience, to hold the position he is seeking. For the past 20 years he has been actively engaged as an attorney and for four years he was county judge of Scurry county.

For the past three years Judge Adamson has been a city commissioner of the City of Ranger, and during his regime many constructive measures have been brought forward and enacted, saving the taxpayers of the city many thousands of dollars, and at the same time putting the city in the best financial condition it has enjoyed since the boom days.

In announcing his candidacy Judge Adamson stated that he was in favor of a conservative and economical administration of the county's affairs and was in favor of a reduction in taxes.

He will wage an active campaign later, at which time he hopes to contact every voter in the county. He has not, as yet, arranged his speaking itinerary, but will arrange it so that it will carry him to every portion of the county.

FREEDOM OF PRESS UPHELD BY HIGH COURT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In a sweeping opinion that went to the roots of the American constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press, the supreme court invalidated the Louisiana newspaper gross receipts tax.

The court ruling in the case was unanimous. While submitting its verdict in the newspaper tax law, passed at the request of the late Senator Huey Long, the court failed once again to render its decision on the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

However two important rulings on the validity of the sections of the New York milk control law were presented.

The court opinion in the Louisiana newspaper case, struck hard at any effort by government to shackle the long-guaranteed liberty of the press.

Read by Justice George Sutherland, it traced the history of the tax and challenged the Louisiana statute, "not an ordinary form of tax, but one single in kind, with a long history of hostile misuse against the freedom of the press."

The court made clear that it was not intended to except newspapers from any ordinary form of taxation, but only to protect their recognized freedom from attacks, cloaked in the guise of taxation.

The court concluded: "The predominant purpose of the grant of immunity here invoked, was to preserve untrammelled press as a vital source of public information. Newspapers, magazines and other journals of the country, it is safe to say, have shed and continue to shed more light on the public and business affairs of the nation than any other instrumentality of publicity and since it formed public opinion, is the most potent of all restraints against misgovernment. The suppression of the publicity afforded by a free press cannot be regarded otherwise than with grave concern."

The American cause was not hopeless, however, for only a mere 3.65 seconds separated the American sled from the No. 1 Swiss sled which captured the lead with a dash of 1 minute and 18 seconds today.

Mothers read this:

A CONSTIPATED child is so easily straightened out, it's a pity mothers don't know the remedy.

A liquid laxative is the answer. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult. Doctors use liquid laxatives. Hospital use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. And today, there are fully a million families that will have no other kind in the house.

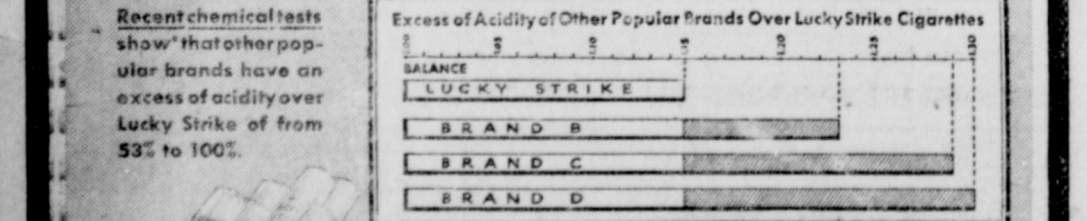

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, now so widely known that you can get it all ready for use at any drugstore.

Going to town with Luckies A LIGHT SMOKE of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes. They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product. All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Ranger Legion Banquet Speaker

S. Goens, of Tyler, Department Commander of the American Legion, has accepted an invitation to speak at the annual George Washington's Birthday Banquet to be held in the Legion Club Rooms on Thursday evening, Feb. 20, 1936, at 8 p. m.

Commander Goens was drafted to serve as the Centennial Commander at the annual Convention held in Dallas last September. He is the first of the Centennial years in all the 18 years since the American Legion came into existence. He is in demand as a speaker at many public programs all over Texas.

Commander Goens is an outstanding citizen and an influential figure in the public life of Texas. "I am happy to respond to the invitation to be with the Oil Belt Legionnaires at the Ranger gathering," he stated, adding "The Posts throughout the Oil Belt of West Texas have always been devoted to the principles of the American Legion, and have been an inspiration to the Department Commander since my assumption of this honorable office."

The American Legion of Texas is going places with Goens this year. He declares Legionnaires who are acquainted with the activities of the Department Leader.

SILO PROVES ITS WORTH AS FARM PROJECT

H. C. Wilkinson of the Commercial State Bank of Ranger was present Wednesday afternoon at the Mayhall farm eight miles northwest of Ranger at the opening of the trench silo by County Agent Ballard of Stephens county. There were about 40 visitors present.

In explaining silage of this kind the agent said it was the most inexpensive way known to preserve feed. There was absolutely no waste and that stock would eat it just as well as they did when the feed was green. Several head of stock were fed some of the ensilage.

A trench was dug last fall about three feet deep and 100 feet long; 35 tons of feed was placed in the trench and 19 barrels of water poured over the feed. Old waste corn stalks and fodder was then placed over the feed and this was covered with dirt and left until Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Mamie Pryor, home demonstration agent, was present and gave a lecture on a balanced ration for the family. She said much had been done for the stock on the farm but very little attention was given health preservation of the family.

County Agent Ballard then gave a demonstration on how to kill out surplus timber on fence rows. He used plain kerosene in saturating the bark on the trees and said there would be no further growing of that timber. Ballard also pruned an orchard and gave demonstrations of tree surgery.

In closing the program the agent stated that he knew of silos that had remained sealed for eight years and when opened the feed was in a perfect state of preservation. However, he stated, the record was one silo remained closed for 13 years.

There are a number of these silos in Stephens county and the farmers in Stephens, Eastland and adjoining counties are taking quite a bit of interest in this economical way of preserving their surplus feed.

Mrs. Wilkinson accompanied her husband on the trip to the Mayhall farm.

LAST PENSIONER OF 1812

By NEA SERVICE

More than 120 years after the end of the war of 1812, one name remains on the federal pension rolls as a beneficiary of a soldier of that conflict, a striking illustration of the length of time that a government pays war costs after the clash of arms has halted. The last pensioner of the struggle with England is Mrs. Lydia Ann Graham, 98, of Brushy Run, Va. Widow of Isaac Graham, drummer boy of 1812, she was married to the veteran in 1869, when he was an elderly man and she was a woman of 32. Graham died in 1881. Now Mrs. Graham dwells alone in her mountain cottage, raising chickens and cultivating her garden, living comfortably on the $50 check which she receives each month from the veterans' administration. She has no modern conveniences — running water, lights, or gas—but still uses kerosene lamps and carries in her own fuel. The one great annual event in her life is the family reunion at her home. She has three daughters, all of whom have large families. While the pension list of the war of 1812 as dwindled to one beneficiary, several thousand veterans and widows of veterans of the Civil War still are receiving checks from Washington, and officials estimate that this century will be drawing to a close before the last one has passed away. If pensions are granted to widows of World War soldiers, which is expected to be the next goal of veterans' organizations, the government will be paying them well into the next century.

Lydia Ann Graham, 98, as she stepped out in front of her West Virginia mountain home the other day in near-zero weather to have this picture taken.

a rawhide lumber house bought by the police court of Eastland county from L. B. Perry and wife for a consideration of $375 in Eastland county bonds on Feb. 27, 1875.

There is a story which persists that is without foundation of fact, in so far as I have been able to determine, that the terms of court were held in the old stone house known as the Vincenheller house, but Uncle Mart Brewer, who lived about half a mile from Merriman and Mrs. Sarah Higgins, a daughter of the late W. C. McGough, who lived about four miles from Merriman both say that court was only held in the Perry rawhide lumber house.

These statements are corroborated by the deed records of Eastland county, which show that Vincenheller bought his Merriman lots in 1877 which was after the county site had been moved to Eastland. The building (Vincenheller stone building) was built after the date of the deed.

The first term of district court in Eastland was held upstairs over the present corner drug store in August, 1876. The Hon. J. R. Fleming presiding. The upper story was used as the place for holding district and county court until the completion of the rock courthouse in 1883. It was also used for a meeting place of church and the union Sunday school which existed at that time.

The rock courthouse was our courthouse until destroyed by fire in 1896 when a box structure was then used as temporary courthouse until the brick courthouse was ready to be occupied.

This box building stood about where the Kimbrell Hardware store is now located.

The courthouse at Merriman was sold to a party who wrecked it and moved the lumber to a place near Olden, now owned by Joe Norton, where it was used to build a house which Mr. Norton wrecked after he bought the place and used the sills in building the house in which he now resides. These sills are the only known remaining parts of the original courthouse at Merriman. These sills are still in good state of preservation after more than 60 years usage. This your writer can testify to as he sawed out a piece of one of the sills lying flat of his back under the house. This statement was also amply corroborated when he attempted to nail the pine two-by-six on to the pieces of the sill left under the floor of the building. Those who have tried to drive nails into seasoned oak lumber know what I mean.

The piece of timber mentioned in the article appearing in the telegram is, I presume, the one obtained by this writer as no other had been secured at the time I mention above.

If there are others with facts or supposed ones which do not agree with statements made in this article will they please make them known as now is the time to make sure of historical accuracy while some of the participants in those interesting times are still living.

Respectfully, ED T. COX.

Centennial Artists May be Selected

HOUSTON.—J. Frank Dobie, member of the historical advisory committee of the Centennial Division, State Board of Control, has urged selection of a centennial artists committee. The committee would have control over sculpture to be placed at the various historical places in Texas.

"Bad sculpture is worse than none at all," Dobie said, "because once put up it can't be hidden." He said he was "certainly in favor of having a select committee of not more than three individuals with taste and knowledge to pass on the sculptural work being promoted through the Texas Centennial Commission."

NEWELL, Ia.—A residence, purchased by Dr. F. C. Foley, was cut into two sections and hauled five miles overland to a new location. The division was made necessary because the sections were moved across several bridges along the route.

Ed T. Cox Gives Data On First Eastland County Courthouse

After a story, "Eastland County Sends Wood for Historic Table," was published last week, Ed T. Cox, pioneer Eastland county citizen, wrote the following letter giving data of pioneer days.

"There are some statements," Cox wrote in reference to the story, "which do not square with the information which has come to me which I have checked pretty thoroughly concerning the courthouses of Eastland county."

"I am persuaded that possibly your correspondent misconstrued some ones remark as to the two-story log house being the first courthouse in Eastland. A two-story log house was the first building in which district court was held in Eastland county but it was at what was then known as Schmick's schoolhouse which was situated between the Leon river and Mansker's lake about 12 miles east of Eastland. It was afterwards known as Alameda schoolhouse and the community is still known by that name.

I had often wondered why these terms of court were held at Schmick's schoolhouse, but the question was satisfactorily answered by W. C. Bedford, well known to old timers and now a resident of Desdemona, when in Eastland a few days ago. Mr. Bedford said that Schmick schoolhouse was the only house available that was large enough to accommodate the court. According to Mr. Bedford, Judge D. K. Scott and Bud Jones this schoolhouse was a large two-story log house. Judge Scott remembers that the upper story was also used as a place of meeting by the Masonic lodge in that community. This was probably the first Masonic lodge organized in the coun-

The court held here was the June and November terms in 1874 of the district court. There was no county court in Eastland county until 1876 after the county site was moved to Eastland.

Three terms of district court were held at Merriman. Those of March, May and November, 1875. These and the ones at Schmick's schoolhouse were presided over by the Hon. J. P. Osterhout. Court was held at Merriman in

CAMPBELL-EWALD COMPANY, Advertising

H. T. EWALD, President GENERAL MOTORS BUILDING DETROIT, MICHIGAN, TRINITY 2-6200

Weekly Chronicle, Eastland, Texas.

Gentlemen:

Campbell-Ewald Company celebrated its twenty-fifth birthday on Saturday, February 1, and I want to take this opportunity personally to express my appreciation of the fine spirit of cooperation that always has marked our relations with your paper, and that has helped to no small degree in the successful development of our business.

We are, as you well know, firm believers in newspaper advertising. Other media are important, but the newspaper is the final vital link between the producer and the consumer that must be, in the very nature of things, an essential part of any well balanced advertising program.

It has been a great source of gratification to me all through by business experience to note the friendliness and courtesy that we have received invariably from publishers in the newspaper field, and it is because of this that I am impelled to write to you this expression of appreciation now that we have been doing business together for a quarter of a century or so.

You will be interested to know that our business for last year was the best we have had since 1931, and that I have every confidence of still sounder and better conditions in the coming year.

Sincerely, H. T. EWALD, President

EDITOR'S NOTE: The letter above, received in Monday morning's mail, from one of the nation's leading Advertising Agencies, in charge of Chevrolet, Buick, Pontiac, and other accounts, tells of improved business conditions:

CONGRESS MAY ADJOURN BY FIRST OF MAY

WASHINGTON Feb. 10.—Congress trimmed its sails today in a dash toward early adjournment in response to word from the president he will not have an extended legislative program.
Mr. Roosevelt has informed his aides he would like to see adjournment as soon as appropriation bills and a few emergency measures are enacted. Leaders talked of May 1 as a possible adjournment date.
All representatives and 34 senators, facing re-election campaigns this summer, are anxious to get back home to start mending political fences as soon as possible.
Leaders want to confine the session to emergency and routine measures.
Making the adjournment date more uncertain is the possibility of substitute legislation if the supreme court declared more new deal measures unconstitutional. Possibilities include the TVA and the Guffey soft coal regulation measures.

500 DISABLED TEXANS RECEIVE FREE TRAINING FOR POSITIONS

Five hundred persons in Texas are being given vocation training at no expense, thanks to vocational rehabilitation work of the state department of education.
The state department, in co-operation with the federal government, sponsors the work which enables disabled persons to find a niche in the commercial world.
B. E. McGlamery of Eastland, former county superintendent, supervisor for the work in Northwest Texas and has charge of 75 counties, maintaining headquarters in a former consultation room in 91st District Court. McGlamery's district is one of four in the state.
Some persons receiving the aid in which the department pays employers for giving training to the disabled are cripples. Many were born physically defective while others received injuries in accidents. Tuberculosis has left many in a weakened condition.
Age limit for beneficiaries in the program is from 16 to any which is practical to become adapted to a vocation.
Not only does the department pay for training in business establishments, but pays tuition and fees for those receiving education at non-denominational schools.
In cases where Texas has no schools which offer subjects or training in which a disabled person prefers or is adapted, they are sent out of the state.
A letter received this week by McGlamery was from Peoria, Ill., where Wendell Haygood of Texline is taking a jeweler's course.
Individuals receiving training or education in schools must arrange for their board and room.
Many employers return money the state department gives them to train students to the individual. Twenty dollars is the average amount given employers to train students in beauty culture, cooking, barbering, shoe repairing and other vocations.
The rehabilitation supervisor finds unusual success in placing students under the guidance of employers who are disabled. While some employers express an emphatic disfavor of allowing a disabled person to train in their establishment, still many are considerate, McGlamery has found.
Selection of a vocation in which the disabled is adapted is one of the initial considerations of the supervisor.
Though endeavoring to be sympathetic to many disabled, problems arise when persons without both hands tell the supervisor they want stenographic training.
At Hamilton recently a youth, a good mechanic, had to cease work in an automobile shop. Without one leg, the youth was not physically adapted to the work. Efficient in his work, the strain on the other limb was too much.
"A problem this," said McGlamery as he thumbed a letter from Albany, "a fellow wants to be placed in some kind of training. Curvature of his spine makes it impossible for him to leave a wheel chair."
Life seemed dark until several months ago for a West Texas girl. Gifted in art, she was handicapped by deafness. Now the department has arranged for training in commercial art through a correspondence course. Eventually, McGlamery hopes with the student, she will be able to sell advertising work.
When a physically disabled person reaches 35, possibilities for training reach a minimum. Those disabled and at that age do not learn readily, figures reveal.
The department also arranges hospitalization for cripples under 21 and later for their training.
The work is an outgrowth of rehabilitation of crippled and disabled soldiers. In 1920, educators suggested that funds be also allotted disabled civilians. Since that time, McGlamery stated, the work has expanded.
Over 1,200 become disabled each year in Texas due to disease and accidents. One hundred in McGlamery's district are receiving training. Seventy-five are on the waiting lists.
While many disabled receive training as cooks, beauty culturists, barbers, teachers and shoe repairers, some learn to be dictators, architects, journalists and attorneys.

NEW CANTOR MUSICAL AT CONNELLEE SUNDAY

CONNELLEE SUNDAY

Cantor, Sally Eilers and Parkyakarkus, famous dialectician, in a scene from "Strike Me Pink," his sixth annual screen musical for Samuel Goldwyn, comes to the Connellee Theatre. Ethel Merman is featured. The film is released through United Artists.

Eddie Plays Correspondence School He-Man In "Strike Me Pink"

Eddie Cantor in "Strike Me Pink," the pop-eyed comedian's sixth annual musical extravaganza for Samuel Goldwyn, begins a run at the Connellee Theatre.

This lavish million-and-a-half dollar production, featuring Ethel Merman, Sally Eilers, Parkyakarkus and William Frawley and a glorious new array of Goldwyn Girls, casts Eddie as a timid little college tailor whose secret passion for a glamorous night club singer, in the person of Miss Merman, moves him to take a correspondence course in personal magnetism, entitled "Man or Mouse, What Are YOU?"

Then he inherits the management of a huge amusement park and becomes involved with a gang of slot machine racketeers who have put every previous manager on the spot.

"Strike Me Pink" was based on Clarence Budington Kelland's Saturday Evening Post story and novel, "Dreamland." The adaptation and screen play are by Frank Butler, Walter DeLeon and Francis Martin. Norman Taurog directed. Harold Arlen and Lew Brown are responsible for the snappy song hits, which include "The Lady Dances," "First You Have Me High, Then You Have Me Low," "The Calabash Pipe," and "Shake It Off."

Robert Alton staged the dances and ensembles and Gregg Toland photographed the dance numbers. Omar Kiam designed the costumes and Richard Day created the sets.

Highlights of the musical are a thrilling, laugh-loaded comedy chase on a Giant Roller Coaster and a wild balloon ascent, with Eddie and Parkyakarkus in the basket and the gangsters at the controls.

Others prominent in the cast are Helen Lowell, Gordon Jones, Brian Donlevy, Jack LaRue, Sunnie O'Dea and Rita Rio. "Strike Me Pink" is released through United Artists.

"THE IRISH IN US" OPENS AT THE LYRIC SUNDAY

Warner Bros.' "The Irish In Us," with James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Frank McHugh in the leading roles, opens at the Lyric Theatre Sunday.

It is said to be one of the most entertaining pictures of the season, combining riotous comedy with tense drama, pathos and a most unusual triangular romance, involving the love of two brothers for the same girl.

The cast as well as the director and most of the crew are Irish, including that inimitable trio, Cagney, O'Brien and McHugh as the three sons of Mary Gordon, herself born in Ireland.

Once a happy family, a rift sets in when Cagney and O'Brien fall in love with the same girl, Olivia de Havilland.

The film presents what is said to be the longest and most fiercely fought ring bout in history. Although it takes but 15 minutes on the screen, it was five days in the making. Cagney and Harvey Parry, a former boxing champion, are the contestants.

J. Farrell MacDonald and Thomas Jackson also have important roles. The picture was directed by Lloyd Bacon, an Irishman, despite his English name. The screen play is by Earl Baldwin, based on the story by Frank Orsatti.

FRANK BUCK SHOWS NEW TRAPPING ART IN LATEST FILM

The result of a full year of work, danger and hardship has been condensed into the less than two hours that it takes to unroll "Bring 'Em Back Alive." Frank Buck's "Fang and Claw," which comes to the Lyric Theatre today. The noted animal collector spent nine months in the jungles of the Malay Peninsula and northern India, and the balance of the year in traveling and cutting and editing the 100,000 feet of film to its exhibition length.

This picture, which is said to be a most worthy successor to the noted animal trapper's preceding cinematic records of his jungle exploits, "Bring 'Em Back Alive" and "Wild Cargo," attains new heights of interest in that it reveals to the public some new secrets of trapping and outwitting the wary birds and animals of almost every known variety, the picturization being spiced with many hairbreadth escapes of Buck and the members of his expedition. Produced by the Van Beuren Corporation and released by RKO Radio, it once more proves that "Na-
