Step Toward Solution of Parking Problem

Ask the average American what he is looking for in this life and chances are he will answer "a parking space." Traffic congestion and parking are problems that concern the small town just about as much as the large city.

For that reason New York City's decision to make permanent the ban on parking on 10 midtown streets is of interest to many people.

The "express streets" had been on trial in New York since January 3. Police liked the idea. So did motorists. ed. The parking ban will soon be tried on 10 additional streets.

Other metropolitan centers can now be expected to follow New York's lead. In doing so they will finally give ear to advice which traffic experts have been passing out

And that advice is that the only real solution to the problems of congestion and parking lies in, first, elimina- gineers in the districts to be sur- the City of Eastland, Texas, At- ing situated south of Plummer tion of parking on all but the widest and least traveled of city streets and, second, provision for off-street areas to accommodate not only the cars usually parked on the streets but also the even greater number of cars people are including Erath county and Leo driving around the block in the vain hope that they will find a place to leave them.

The experts believe further that city planning should provide for conversion of low value real estate into parking space.

Down in Argentina, the forward-looking city of Buenos Aires is showing the way to a motorists' Utopia by constructing the worlds widest street-with subways beneath it to provide parking space for 300 cars. This plan appeases the honest objection of merchants who say that elimination of street parking also eliminates a part of their business.

Parking is the prime causative factor in traffic con-

Consider a 100-yard block on a busy artery. Only 18 cars can park in 100 yards; that would be 36 cars for both sides of the street. But the pavement left for moving cars may serve more than 2000 an hour.

Thus a few parked cars clog the street and slow up traffic for many times that number of moving cars.

New York has taken the first step toward a sensible solution of what are probably America's most universally irritating problems, parking and traffic. Simply stated the one practical course seems to be:

Provide adequate off-street space-and then get the parked cars off the busy streets.

When that is done life will be a lot more pleasant for a lot of people. Saturday night on Main street a midwest ern town will be no more of a drivers' nightmart than will 5 o'clock in the afternoon on 33d street in New York

LOOKING BACKWARD . . .

... over a period of ten or fifteen years, we can see any number of people about town who could have had a home paid out long ago for the rents they have paid had they taken the step at the right time. To many of these it is now too late for the time eventually comes to us all when the doors of opportunity are closed.

So those who are looking forward today may profit by the experiences of those who are now looking backward by buying a home while opportunity is knocking at the door.

We offer these homes for your consideration this week: 115 Garvin; 401 South Walnut; 406 Pershing; 811 W. Commerce; 1306 S. Seaman.

kind or age of range can be the cause of her many cooking failures

> Your cook is not to blame for those roasts with a flat "steamed" flavor and colorless, tasteless vegetables she has been serving your family. That worn-out or experimental range you have her use is probably the cause. For neither has the ventilated fresh-air oven or flexible boiling heat of today's gas range.

Proper roasting requires an oven in which excess moisture is allowed to escape if meats are to be juicy and crisp. Today's gas range oven is not only ventilated but insulated. It alone provides an unlimited range of automatically controlled temperatures with even distribution

Boiling vegetables with little water preserves their color and valuable mineral and vilamin content. Needed is a highly flexible heat. Only today's gas range simmer burners provide the exact shade of instant heat for every boiling job.

Underprivileged Children Will Be Happy May Day

AUSTIN .- More than 5,000 underprivileged crippled children will spend a happier May Day this year because of the work of the crippled children's division of the Department of Education, which has helped restore them to a more normal life, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, whose department is cooperating with the May Day-Child Health Day statewide movement.

Among the twelve divisions of the Department of Education is the crippled children's division, whose work is the correction of physical deformities and the training to overcome such handicap Through ministrations of this di vision, the child who has watched his friends at play may be able to join them. What greater happiness may be brought to a child?

In the enthusiasm to do good, many blame this division for fail- demrist for Keith Lane of Comanure to take every call, without che realizing that this division is bound paired by reason of a joint, bone, or muscle defect or deformity, to the extent that the child is or may be expected to be totally or partially incapacitated for education or remunerative occupation. To be eligible for service under this act, the child's disability must be such that it is reasonable to expect that such child can be improved through hospitalization, medical or surgical care, artificial appliances, or through a combina-tion of these services." A child is not eligible if his parents are financially able to pay for the necessary treatment.

The United States Children's Bureau, through the Social Security Act, matches dollar for dollar the appropriation of the state legislature for this work. Surgeons and hospitals are approved by the State Board of Health on compliance with standard requirements

Do you know that, first, 2,037 crippled children were hospitaliz-Second, over 1,200 crippled children were examined by ortho pedic surgeons? Third, over 700 children eligible for treatment wait on sufficient funds for further treatment?

Of every hundred crippled children, 24 are born crippled, 11 are crippled because of accidents, 55 because of disease, and 10 are crippled because even in Texas they have lacked sunlight and proper food. The crippled children's program is four-fold program of prevention, early discovery, treatment, and vocational

One of the bankers' problems is to keep his bank liquid enough to satisfy all probable demands of depositors for funds, and yet participate, by sound means, in the constructive development of the community.

Are Banks essential to community welfare?

Yes, we believe that banks are decidedly essential to community welfare. Our modern business structure is so complex that it could not function without banks. As a simple illustration more than 90% of all the business in this coun

Conservative banking polices do not, however, stand in the way of genuine community progress. In fact, they go hand in hand. D. French Mrs. Arreva

Mrs. Arreva D. French, southern home economist and food authority who will conduct the Eastland Telegram-Weekly Chronicle cooking school in this city, is an outstanding lecturer in her profession and will bring a wealth of knowledge to housewives who will attend the school, on many phases of cookery, home budgeting, household hints, and new cooking secrets.

New suggestions, new recipes, new dishes and many new ideas on the kitchen will be brought by the lecturer, to the attention of the

Mrs. French, while a native Texan, received her principal education in Oklahoma, studying at the Southwestern State Teachers College at Durant, Okla., with all major studies being confined to foods. She has taken several specialized courses in the art of cake baking, cake decorating, bread baking and meat cookery. She is an expert in home canning and is an authority on this subject. Before conducting cooking schools, Mrs. French did civic organization and county home demonstration work.

She will make her lectures while actually doing the things she is talking about. The dishes, both of the plain and fancy variety, which she prepares, will be on display at the close of each lecture, and you are invited to remain after the lecture and discuss your personal problems in cookery and home management.

When the housewife is confronted with the knowledge that her cooking is in a rut, that she is always serving "the same old thing," it is wonderful to see what an inspiration she can receive from the practical demonstrations given by Mrs. French.

There's a lot more to cooking than just dashing into the kitchen and starting to boil, fry and bake. Menu planning, buying judgment, food selection, and economical preparation all occupy a place of extreme importance.

Then, too, in every home there is always a supply of leftover foods that can be made as pleasing and palatable as the original dish, thus varying the menu and at the same time creating new economy in feeding the family.

All of these subjects and more too will be discussed by Mrs. French in her series of lectures. Remember, the lectures are free, and a cordial, urgent invitation is extended to every woman of the community to came and take advantage of the opportunity offered.

Remember the dates, and make a date with yourself to attend each day. We have been fortunate in securing the Connellee Hotel Roof as the scene of the cooking school. Although no seats can be reserved, every effort will be made to provide comfortable seats for all who attend, as it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand each day.
