

Delegate to Meet Recovers a Purse

Praise for Eastland's citizenship was expressed by Mrs. Julia Leidecker, club woman who attended the recent district federation meeting in the city, lost five dollars and a purse which were returned.

"Mrs. Leidecker: 'Dear Sir: I received my purse intact yesterday from Mr. York and do appreciate your effort in my behalf and that of Mr. York in returning it. I have written to him thanking and reimbursing him for postage. It is so nice to realize that there are still many kindly honest people in the world. Losing $5 had almost spoiled my trip, at least left a bad after feeling. I shall always regard Eastland with the kindest feelings in the future. Mr. Penrose Metcalf was out of town but I'll give him your message when he returns." Mrs. Leidecker had only remembered being in two stores in Eastland, Lotief's and "a five-and-ten cent store." She wrote Lotief asking his aid who found the purse in Perry's.

To Distribute Coupons and Rinso

The young women shown in the picture will distribute coupons and a package of the new improved Rinso absolutely free to every householder in Eastland. One of the young women will call personally on every housewife and invite her to a demonstration where she will be given a package of the new improved Rinso and her coupons. These coupons will enable her to buy one and get one free, one Lux, Lifebuoy, Rinso, Lux Toilet Soap and another coupon good for 10 cents on the purchase of a one or three-pound can of Spry, the new all vegetable shortening. The new Spry cook books will be given free at the demonstrations. This campaign has been supported by Eastland dealers and they will gladly redeem your coupons. Spry is the biggest forward step in shortening manufacture that has been made in years. It is a purer, whiter, creamier, all vegetable shortening that makes all your baking and fried foods doubly delicious and easy to digest. Spry does not need to be kept in the refrigerator because it is absolutely pure. It will stay sweet and creamy right in your pantry shelf. It never develops off flavors to spoil the food you cook even in your hottest oven. Spry is economical because it can be used over and over for frying. The four famous soaps satisfy every household need. Rinso soaks clothes whiter by several shades than ordinary soaps. Clothes last longer when washed with Rinso because it saves the wear of scrubbing by soaking out the dirt. Women have found that by thoroughly cleansing the skin with Lux Toilet Soap that they may use all the cosmetics they wish without any danger of getting cosmetic skin. Lux is so gentle for your fine stockings and underthings, it will preserve the live elasticity of stockings so they will stretch under the strain in-

Spring vs. Safety

With Spring's coming the motorist flocks back to the highways as gayly as the birds wing north on their annual migration. All of us love the Spring for its eternal youth. We come alive, we seek out our friends, we must be on the move. We leave the fireside for the open road, for the sun and the soft nights.

Unfortunately, the tragedy of death comes too—automobile fatalities start a precipitous climb. There are more cars on the road, travelling more miles and probably at greater speeds. More people drive during the dangerous, dark hours coming home later or covering ground on trips when the traffic is light.

By its very nature, Spring symbolizes life. Let all of us who drive cars or walk the highways help to fulfill that symbol. Let's all remember the little courtesies of the road, remember that signals and signs are installed for a purpose, not for decoration. Let's remember the simple, sound principles of safe driving that we all know but too often don't follow.

Anyone can drive a car at almost any speed, if nothing untoward happens. Few of us have the iron nerve, the lightning-like reflexes and reactions, the exacting judgment or experience to handle even a slight emergency traveling at 60 miles an hour. Let's remember that 60 miles an hour is 90 feet a second and that, for all practical purposes, a car is a projectile weighing over 3,000 lbs.—much more than the shells for our largest guns.

And above all—because 60% of all fatalities occur at night when only one-fourth the day volume of traffic is moving—let's remember that people cannot be taught to see in the dark! Most of us over-drive our headlights and until our major highways, which in reality become 20 years out of date as night falls, are provided with adequate, modern lighting we must slow down after dark.

And it isn't the city street that is most dangerous. Automobile deaths on rural highways increased 154% since 1924, and in 1936 26,000 or 69% of the total traffic deaths happened in rural areas.

So let's remember to make Spring a time in which to live anew—not a season when too many must die because we forget.

A few days after a seal escaped from New York's aquarium a "mystery seal" appeared on the front lawn of a Los Angeles residence. Here's a case where putting two and two together just doesn't make any sense at all.

Molding Pettier Co-Eds

Any girl can be a beauty if she follows the lead of Mrs. Gladys Butt, of the College of Home Economics at Cornell University. The college girls are laid down in a beauty shop where they learn how to make sin- gular beauty aids, which gives the girls a chance to care for their appearance without too much ex- pense. Graceful postures while sitting, standing and walking are taught by instructors in the physical education department. Faults in posture are not only pointed out, but if possible, are corrected.

Each girl in the course has an opportunity to study clothing and to decide the lines, colors and textures which suit her best. Dress- making also is taught.

Not only do the girls learn to make their clothes, but learn to take care of them as well. They are taught to remove spots and stains, to press, to launder sweat- ers and silks, and to renovate hats.

Marauding Bobcat Is Finally Caught

SWEETWATER, Texas—E. Y.

Harris, employed by Sheepman R. P. Brighton, recently ended the depredations of a three-year-old female bobcat that killed an estimated $100 worth of lambs this spring.

On numerous occasions, Bright- on's sheep were slaughtered at night in their pens. They were not eaten, but had their throats slashed. Brighton and Harris set traps for the marauder, and found the bobcat one morning in a trap two miles north of Sweet- water. Harris killed the 'cat with a gun.

Blue and Gray to Get Free Trips to Field at Gettysburg

By JOSEPH BANKS, Jr., United Press Staff Correspondent GETTYSBURG, Pa.—A few remaining gallants of the Confed- erate and Union armies will meet again on the Gettysburg Battle- field—but this time amicably—to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the great battle of July 1-3, 1863.

Pennsylvania and the Federal government have joined to provide every able-bodied Civil War veteran from the 48 states, the Dis- trict of Columbia and Canada with free round-trip transpor- tation, maintenance during the eight-day convention (June 29- July 6), and all the entertainment they want.

Philosophers may find the celebra- tion freighted with deep mean- ing. To jingoists it might stress the "glory of war." The pacifist might find in it a multitude of arguments for "peace at any price."

But to the veterans themselves—and their letters of acceptance bear witness—it will be a rip- roaring, yarn-swapping good time—a fling such as they prob- ably have not had since they cele- brated the battle's half-century anniversary 25 years ago.

Of the remaining 7,000 veterans of the Civil War, approximately 1,200—of whom many fought under Pickett and Meade—will attend the celebration.

Upon arrival here June 28 and 29 they will be assigned to floor- ed, electrically-lighted tents—which may draw much dry and barbed comment from the doughty old warriors. Then they will be marshalled into mess-groups and each will be assigned a guide.

July 1 will be "Last Reunion Day" and impressive ceremonies have been arranged in which the 4 governors and descendants of Abraham Lincoln, Generals Lee, Grant, Meade, Pickett, Longstreet, Buford, and other Civil War nota- bles are scheduled to participate.

Survivors of America's later wars will parade on July 2 in honor of the Blue and Gray.

Sunday July 3, will be one of the highlights of the celebration. President Roosevelt has accepted the commission's invitation to dedicate an imposing memorial to "Peace Eternal in a United Na- tion." The monument, which houses an ever-burning flame, was built with $75,000 contributed by seven states.

On July 4, units of the regu- lar army will go through a series of maneuvers assigned to show the old campaigners the progress made in the science of war.

That night a huge fireworks display will bring the official program to a close.

The following two days will be free time during which the vet- erans will be entertained inform- ally and accorded an opportu- nity for a rest before decamp- ment and entrapment for home.

Latest decree is that clothes of the well-dressed man should be unpressed. That's a new wrinkle.

Building Permits In Favorable Trend

AUSTIN—Building permits in Texas for March compared favor- ably with both the preceding month and March, 1937, and permits for the first quarter of 1938 increased moderately over the corresponding period last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has an- nounced.

Reports to the Bureau from chambers of commerce in 36 Tex- as cities show total permits dur- ing the month of $7,723,127, an increase of 35.5 per cent over February and 12 per cent over March last year. During the first quarter permits in these cities totaled $17,631,711, an increase of 2.9 per cent over the first three months of 1937.

Featured are five of the scheduled speakers at the fourth annual Oil Belt Safety conference Friday of this week at Eastland. The conference is expected to attract over 100 persons. The five pictured are Albert Sidney Johnson, Dallas, member of the department of public safety commission; A. W. Breeland, Dallas, safety supervisor of Lone Star Gas company; H. W. Boguess, Tulsa, Oklahoma, safety supervisor of the Sinclair Prairie Oil company; Capt. B. B. Smith of the Dallas police department, and Clyde Grissom, associate justice of the 11th court of civil appeals at Eastland.

PROGRESS IN SAVING EYES REPORTED

Markable advances during the past 30 years, in the program of protection of eyesight in the oil belt, are pointed to in the annual report of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Impetus in 1937 by the unusual progress of the campaign to stamp out syphilis, an important cause of blindness, the report says. "Laws requiring pre-marital medical examinations and a blood test for every expectant mother, when adopted by all states, are expected to bring about a great decline in the amount of blindness from syphilis—just as legislation requiring prophylactic drops in the eyes of infants at birth has eliminated ophthalmia neonatorum as a major cause of blindness among children."

18,000 members and donors, whose services now extend from the protection of the eyes of the newborn to the preservation of sight in old age. "Three decades have passed since the small group of public-spirited men and women who organized the movement for prevention of blindness turned their eyes prophetically toward the future. The work they started is, in a most literal sense, enabling thousands of men, women, and children, who might have been blind, to see."

suffer eye injuries—and that some are blinded—through accidents from fire works every Fourth of July. "Other sources of accidents to the eyes of children are air-rifles, air guns and BB guns," the report comments. "New York City and Baltimore during the past year enacted ordinances prohibiting the sale of such weapons or toys, and it is expected that these laws will help to reduce accidents to the eyes."

Napoleon, Junior' Slated Next Week By Little Theatre

Officials of the Eastland Little theatre have announced their next production will be the new stage success by John Hershey, "Napoleon, Junior," at the Connellee theatre, May 12. The players are directed by E. Freyschlag. This will mark the first showing in this community of any play by Hershey. Hershey in recent years won for himself an enviable following among theatergoers everywhere. He is particularly noted for his portrayals of the lighter side of American life, and has been called by one critic, "The dramatist of the American Family."

Deaths In Homes In United States Dropped In 1937
The 1937 home death record was equalled in 1935 and exceeded in 1934 by 2,000. All other years have had lower death totals than 1937. The 1937 total of permanent disabilities from home accidents was approximately 140,000. Temporary disabilities were approximately 4,500,000. Home accident costs dropped off proportionately. The 1937 total of wage losses, medical expense and overhead cost of insurance is estimated at $600,000,000.

In the home accident field accidental deaths fell off sharply in 1937, due largely to a reduction of between 3,500 and 4,000 in excessive heat fatalities. The 1937 total was 32,000, as against 37,500 in 1936—a reduction of 15 per cent.

PERFORMANCE!
MORE than five thousand years ago, the great rulers of Egypt erected as monuments to their vanity, the obelisks and pyramids and Sphinx that may be seen standing nobly and eloquently in the sands of the desert. These baffling phenomena have withstood the ages and the elements because of the engineering genius, the patient workmanship, the boundless wealth that created them. Today an institution endures because of its ideals, because of its desire and capacity to serve. The TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY is such an institution. Its present service may give way to a greater, and still a greater, but the institution will endure, a credit to our community, because by such constant desire to serve it gradually becomes your most needed public service, thereby becoming your most economical service.

A. G. A. approved Gas Appliances----
for: SAFETY... QUALITY... EFFICIENCY
Few industries maintain a laboratory for research and testing such as the American Gas Association Testing Laboratory in Cleveland, Ohio. In this laboratory every kind of gas appliance is tested by trained engineers. For instance, a gas range is subjected to about 250 separate tests. These tests are grouped under such headings as: lighter, leakage, burner operating characteristics, combustion, fire hazard, thermostats, oven heat distribution and capacity, and many classifications pertaining to construction and strength. In every detail, a gas appliance, before A. G. A. approval is given, is made to comply with nationally indorsed standards for safe operation, durable construction and satisfactory performance. When buying gas appliances look for this seal of safety.

AFTER SUDDEN DEATH? ASK UNDERTAKER WHO HANDLES GRISLY JOBS

BY FRED R. ZEPP

Newspaper headlines with such terms as died instantly, broken back, fractured skull and mashed arms, as the traffic juggernaut grinds on and on.

The terms have become accepted by the public without much thought of the gruesome details each has behind it. For between the time the man down the block was hurled into eternity through a smashing windshield while a steering wheel broke his ribs and a window post tore half his scalp off and the time you went to see him laid out peacefully in his coffin someone did a lot of work to spare you unpleasant sights.

Take the case of one of 1938's early casualties, who had a date after work, he left his office a bit late, stepped on the gas going around a slick curve and kept his date with an angel band. In the process of going through the roof he left the right side of his head behind. After he was embalmed they went to work to replace the missing part.

Barbershop Supplies Hair
With a hypodermic needle they treated what was left of his head, then packed the gaping hole with cotton and formaldehyde, letting it set to dry the tissues, after which they removed the cotton and put in a plaster of paris base, covering it with a fine network of stitches over which more plaster of paris was set. Wax to match the skin was mounded over this foundation and the whole sprayed with a spray gun to give his face a uniform color where the wax half met the natural portion. Then a tour of barbershops was made to find scraps of hair of the same color as he had on his half head.

At the eighth place they were found. Then, with a sewing needle, the eye of which was forked, those hairs were inserted, four at a time, in the wax portion of his head until it matched the other side. With the undamaged eye as a model a false eye was inserted by putting cotton in a small rubber ball, cut in half to resemble an eyeball. This was set in the wax and sprayed to look like an eyelid and the job was finished in eight hours. The family never knew just what had happened to their boy.

Suppose the victim is killed as in the recent case when the person's head came in contact with the dash.

Patching Up Face
This is what is done to patch that inconspicuous gash running from forehead to mouth.

If they are in a hurry they may sew it and pack it with wax, but if they want the body to look more like the victim's friends knew him they may cut away the surrounding flesh down to the skull, pushing it back until they have reached a smooth surface. Then they will put stitches near the skull, leaving the surface of the cut open. In that they will put wax and then spray it until it is smooth.

If you insist on that last drink before you start for home you will probably number a broken leg among the contributing causes of death. Did you know the undertaker will have to set it, or it may drop off as he works on you? Or if all your teeth are knocked out he will insert cotton under your lips to make them look natural? Or if your ears are ripped off, as is usually the case, it will take him four hours to rebuild each one with wax, sticking nails into your head to hold the appendages on? If you have lost a hand, he will take a glove, pack it with cotton, coat it with wax, spray it to match your other hand, and sew it to your coat sleeve.

Victims Sometimes Beheaded
Any ambulance driver will tell you that it's by no means uncommon for a passenger in a speeding car to be beheaded in a crash. Take a look at the work they'll have to do to you then to spare your relatives from knowing how you slid over the great divide.

They'll take a ball of cotton, large, and wrap it tightly with string until its solid. Then they'll put in nails to hold a wax framework around the ball head on the end of which they'll put a stick to shove into your body. They'll round out the wax to look like cheeks and add more wax to look like lips. Eyes will be made of wax balls similar to the rubber ones mentioned previously. Ears will be tacked on and your family will think it's you they're looking at. Incidentally, if it's hard to get pictures of you taken before the wreck, the job may not be so convincing.

It costs an undertaker about $150 usually to keep enough cosmetics and fluids on hand to patch you up so people can recognize you. Eighteen kinds of cream to spread over unsightly bruises, ten colors of wax and fourteen tints in a spray gun is a normal supply; all used to erase the signs of anguish from your face.

Buttoning Skull Together
The other day you read about an elderly man who died instantly in a violent collision. What you didn't read was that he was torn into three pieces; a lower segment, a middle and a head. They embalmed the lower part first because it was the solidest, threw the torn torso, on which no work could be done, into a vat of preservatives, and went to work on his head, the veins and arteries of which were so torn that they couldn't hold embalming fluid. A hypodermic needle was used all over in inject the fluid into the skin, the pulpy skin near the wounds was cut away and the two halves of the head fitted together. They missed closing up a half inch. Plaster of paris was inserted there. Then a needle was run through from ear to ear and a button tied to each end to hold the skull together. The mouth and eyes were rebuilt. Where the nose had been, eight nails were put as a base and wax laid over them until the nose was mounded to fit photographs used as models. The head was sewed to what was left of the through to hold the assembled body in one piece. And eighteen chest and the chest to the trunk. Then wire stitches were run hours before he'd been a man. Now he was another number in the traffic toll.

Marion B. McClure, "Little Maestro of the West," is the composer-director of the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band, Abilene, that is scheduled to be in the van in the Oil Belt Safety Conference parade on Friday afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock. The H-SU Cowboy Band, picturesque in cowboy regalia, will head the Abilene delegation at the conference. Abilene will invite the conference in 1939. The band plays swing or classical music under the baton of its conductor-composer.
