He Gave Children the Opportunity to Live

The public playground is so common a feature of the modern city that it is still a fairly youthful institution. It is actually only a little more than one generation since the first playgrounds were established.

This is called to mind by the fact that July 28 has been designated "National Joseph Lee Day" by the National Recreation Association, with the indorsement of President Roosevelt. And if you don't know who Joseph Lee was, it might be worth your while to find out.

Joseph Lee was a wealthy Bostonian, the son of an aristocratic banker. Graduating from Harvard in the 1880's, he decided that he had all the money he would ever need and that he would devote his life and his fortune to the promotion of play and recreation.

He came to this decision in an odd way. He read in his paper, one day, about a group of Boston boys being arrested for playing in the streets. It was an every-day occurrence, of course; but, as he said, "To me it was as if those boys had been arrested for living." So he decided to do something about it.

Do something he did; and that "something" was a driving, unceasing campaign to persuade people to provide play space for children. He made an elaborate study of the cause of juvenile delinquency, helped develop a model playground in Boston, helped to organize the Playground Association of America, devoted years of his life to its service—and, all in all, gave some $360,000 of his own money to further the cause.

It would be a great exaggeration, of course, to say that Joseph Lee was solely responsible for the development of the public playground. But it is indisputable that he was responsible in a very large part, and that a great many thousands of children have had decent room to play in which they would not have had if Joseph Lee had not lived.

The industrial city of the late nineteenth century, with few parks and no playgrounds, with mile on mile of congested housing, inflicted a very great wrong on millions of people. It wasn't, directly, any of Joseph Lee's business; but because he had that priceless capacity for getting mad over somebody else's troubles, he made it his business—and did a great deal to right the wrong.

There are still, heaven knows, plenty of similar wrongs to be righted. They will get righted only as we develop and exercise that same capacity for selfless indignation.

APPRECIATION

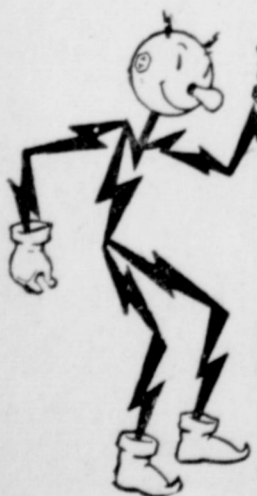

Is what I deeply feel for the friendship displayed by Eastland county's citizens in my recent campaign.

I shall always appreciate the various acts of friendship and support shown me in the past and previous campaigns.

GENERAL ELECTRIC EXHIBIT AT WORLD'S FAIR—New York City—The 1939 Fair added another structure to its numerous buildings as the ground-breaking ceremony took place for the General Electric exhibition building. The structure will provide for the generation of 10 million volts of artificial lightning in the Steinmetz Hall wing. Left to right: Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair; Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of General Electric; and Charles E. Wilson, executive vice-president.

"SIT UP AND BEG"—Clyde Beatty, world-famous animal trainer, who tells in Collier's how he taught "Menelik," shown with him, to perform this difficult feat. Lions are top-heavy in this position, and therefore poor balancers, so Beatty put the platform at just the right height for "Menelik," who weighs more than 600 pounds, to brace himself with his tail.

"MISS SUNSHINE"—Long Beach, Calif.—Pretty Miss Louise Shultz won the title of "Miss Sunshine" over fifty contestants during the annual celebration of sun, surf and sand days here.

SAY IT WITH FLOWERS—That's the advice "Charlie Rose," left, gave to Harry Ferris, his human stogie, at a meeting of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, proving that he's smart even though he is only a dummy. The F.T.D.A. recently was cited by Consumers Information as an example of trade associations which develop new services for the public—in this case a service which fosters romance as well as business.

HEN LAYS 1/2 POUND EGG—Cedarhurst, L. I.—Christiana Pastor, 6 years old, looks with wonder at a V-shaped egg weighing one-half pound laid by the hen shown here. The odd-shaped egg is in reality three eggs.

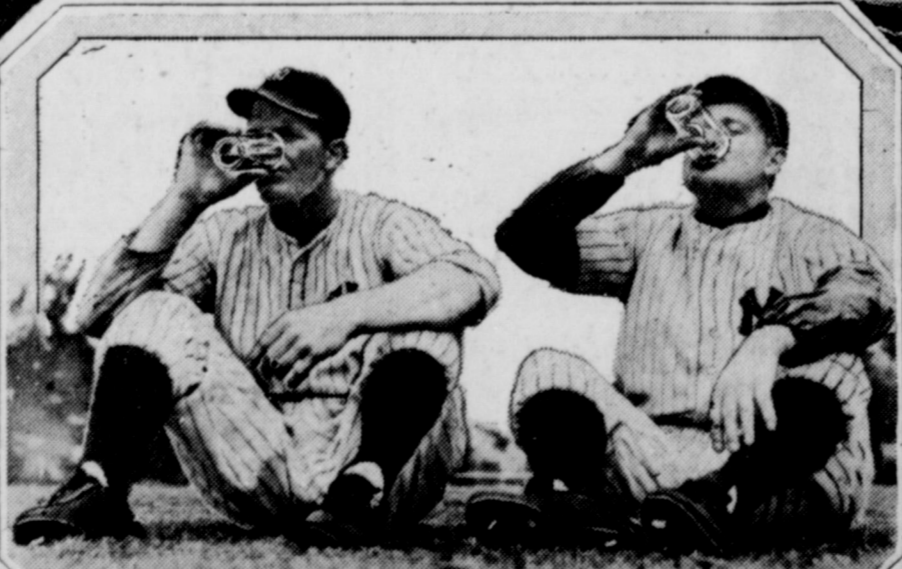

COAL BARGE—FLOATING CHURCH—M. Belanger, a French Abbe, has converted an old coal barge into a floating church in which he patrols the canals of France. Named "Je Sers" ("I Serve"), the church is built of reinforced concrete drawn through the canals by a tug.

TEA TIME ON THE DIAMOND—George Selkirk and Jake Powell, hard-slugging New York Yankee outfielders, hoist husky beakers of iced tea in a between-innings rest. Powell, right, leads by a swallow.

YOUNG TENNYSON ON VISIT—New York City—Harold C. Tennyson, 19-year-old great grandson of the poet, is shown as he arrived here to join his father. Young Tennyson is a student at Cambridge and admits that he also has written poetry.

PROFITABLE PESTS—Los Angeles, Calif.—R. W. Thorpe is perhaps the only wholesale and retail exclusive spider dealer in the country. Starting his business as a hobby, he now supplies laboratories, pet stores and zoos. He has never been bitten yet.

Banned Memphis Troop 'Invasion'

With tenseness increasing in Tennessee as the possibility grew that Gov. Gordon Browning would send national guardsmen into Memphis to guard the polls in the state primary Aug. 4, the situation became even more inflammable when Federal Judge John D. Martin, above, issued an injunction in Memphis banning the troop movement and instructing the U. S. marshal to resist any such "invasion."

since I became a 4-H Club Member six years ago. The Eastland County 4-H Club Boys left Eastland at 6:00 o'clock Tuesday morning, July 6th in the Reagan school bus. Of course we saw numerous interesting things on our trip down to College Station, however some of the outstanding things to me was the different types of soil and topography we saw along the road; how much more the field crops were advanced in the growth the further South we went; seeing the great body of water contained within Lake Waco, and the great cotton plantations in Brazos county.

We arrived in College Station at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon a tired but a happy group. We went to the main building to secure our room assignments. All the boys from Eastland county were assigned to three rooms in Goodwin Hall. After we had cleaned up we started out to inspect the campus of A. & M. College. I had never realized how large and beautiful the campus was until I tried to see all of it within a period of two hours. I soon decided after two hours walking that if I was going to see all of the campus I had better take off one-half day and take my time. We went to the cafe, ate supper, and returned to our rooms. That night Mr. Barnhart came by our room and all of the boys were called in for a meeting so as to find out where we would report the next day for our contests. All of the boys went to bed at 9:30 that night, so as to receive a full night's rest before our contests the next day.

Six o'clock Wednesday morning time to get up and get ready for breakfast. 7:15 breakfast over with, and at 8:30 we went to Guion Hall for a one hour program, listening to the Studer Brothers in a group of Swiss yodels. Walter Jenkins, International Rotary Club singer, led the 2449 4-H Club Boys and Girls attending the short course in group singing. Mr. L. L. Johnson and Miss Onah Jacks, State Club Agents gave short talks, after which each of the 12 Extension Service districts elected two delegates to select a general chairman and secretary for the week. This meeting lasted until 12:00 o'clock.

Off to the mess hall to eat dinner in the largest dining hall in the United States. Four thousand people may be served at one time in this mess hall at A. & M. College. One 4-H Club boy made the following statement after finishing his second meal in the mess hall "I will bet them corks had to begin cooking last Christmas so as to have enough "grub" cooked for this bunch."

One o'clock and the Eastland County boys were ready to enter the State 4-H Club Dairy Demonstration, Dairy Cattle Judging, Field crops, Poultry judging, and Plant Propagation contests. All contests were completed by 5:00 o'clock that afternoon. Now to have a long wait for the results of the contests. After supper we were entertained with a picture show. The pictures shown were "I Pledge My Heart," a 4-H Club picture, and "Wild and Woolly." After the show we took our girl friends by their dormitory, and then to the 4-H Club stand for a bottle of soda pop. We would have bought the girl friends a bottle but our nickels were getting few. Off to bed at 10:00 o'clock.

Thursday morning we slept a little late, but up out of bed in a hurry, dressed, off to the mess hall for a later breakfast. Gained admittance, but found most all of the food was gone. Now to go from table to table and pick up the leftovers. Appetite satisfied, now to Guion hall for more group singing and listen to talks made by delegates to the National 4-H Club Encampment in Washington, D. C. in June of this year.

At 10:00 o'clock Dr. W. P. Taylor gave us a very interesting talk on the subject "Some Friends in Fur and Feather." Following this talk we were taken to the gymnasium for a recreational program.

Thursday afternoon was spent in listening to various talks and a picture show on the subjects "Interesting Things in Nature." After supper we went to the stadium, where all of the big football games are played at College Station. This stadium with the extra seats put in place will seat 32,000 people.

Friday morning arrived, and much to our sorrow the last day of our stay at the short course was at hand. At 9:00 o'clock the Dallas County 4-H Club String Band presented us with some of that good old "Hill Billy Music." Following this program Honorable Tom Connally, United States Senator gave a very inspiring address to the group. Following this address the boys were divided into groups and the remainder of the day was spent in studying beef cattle, dairy cattle, poultry, sheep, wildlife, horticulture, swine, crops and handicraft.

After supper Friday evening, our last meal in the mess hall, we went to Guion Hall to be entertained and heard the results on our judging contests which we had entered. Jane Alden, of the Chicago Mail Order House, gave a style show and talk on styles of the past and illustrated each point with a person dressed in the clothes of the various periods. I might say that people who lived three or four hundred years ago wore some very funny looking clothes.

We were quiet surprised when results of the contest were announced. Eastland County teams won the following Field Crops 10th, Poultry Judging 3rd, Dairy Cattle Judging 2nd, Dairy Demonstration 3rd, plant propagation 3rd. We were so happy that night that each boy bought an extra bottle of soda pop with our last two nickels. This of course left a very good taste in the mouths of our friend from the other counties. Saturday morning at 4:30 we left College Station for Eastland and arrived home at 1:00 o'clock, thus concluding one of the most enjoyable, interesting, and educational trips I have ever taken.

“There's The doorbell again”

Suppose daily to your door came the butcher, the grocer, the clothier, the furrier, the furniture man, and every other merchant with whom you deal? What a tedium of doorbell answering that would mean!

It would be even more impractical for you to visit daily all these stores to find out what they have to offer and the price.

And yet you need those merchants' service quite as much as they need your patronage. Contact between seller and consumer is essential in the supplying of human needs. Before a sale can be closed the goods must be offered. Every day, through the advertising columns of this newspaper, the merchants of this city come to your home with their choicest wares. Easily, quickly, you get the news of all that is worth while in the market-places of the world.

They are not strangers at the door, but merchants you know and trust. You are always surer of high quality and fair price when you buy an article advertised by a reputable firm.
