Eagle Scored By Earl Conner, Jr., In Philpoco Meet

RISING STAR, Aug. 13.—To District Attorney Earl Conner, Jr., goes the distinction of scoring the only eagle during the tournament and by so doing he won the first round in the second flight consolation from Billy Barton. The match was one of the last to come in late Saturday afternoon and a large crowd had gathered around the 18th green. Barton and Conner came up on the last tee all square.

It was Barton's first shot and he drove a screamer to within 30 yards of the green on the 310-yard hole. Conner had one straight up the middle but was about 100 yards short of the green. Coming up to his ball, the D. A. drew his trusty niblick and hit a high arching shot. It fell three feet short of the cup, took one hop and "plunk" into the cup for an eagle two.

Barton, with a fine chance for a birdie three, sheepishly picked up his ball, walked up to the green and shook hands with Conner and the match was over. The Conner eagle, incidentally, is the only one to be scored on the new grass greens.

Ranger Gets Credit For Booster Truck Of Fire Department

AUSTIN, Aug. 13.— Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner of Texas, today praised the city officials of 30 Texas cities for their foresight in sending representatives of their fire departments to the Firemen's Training school at A. & M. college recently, and announced three per cent "key rate" reductions for fire insurance written in those cities on and after August 15.

Explaining that the fire insurance "key rate" is based on the fire-fighting facilities possessed by each city and locality, Commissioner Hall said that experienced and trained firemen are very important factors in keeping losses low.

Among cities granted reduced "key rates" for improvements in their fire-fighting equipment, in addition to the three per cent, is the City of Ranger, with a reduction in the key rate from 33 to 32, credit due for installation of a booster tank truck.

Many and Varied Are Letters In Solon Mail Box

Many and varied are the requests received by a secretary to a congressman, that is the fact known to J. W. Cockrill and Sam Conner, who handle secretarial work for Representative Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland.

Only recently did Judge Garrett receive a request for 9,160 copies of 800 Department of Agriculture bulletins. A congressman is only allowed 11,000 separate bulletins for free distribution each year. After explaining the situation to the vocational agriculture agent who wrote the request the order was modified and 10 copies each of 30 bulletins were sent.

And then this week was received a request for an agriculture department book which costs everyone $5 each. Anyone who receives the books asked for must pay that price.

About 25 per cent of letters received ask for jobs, 10 per cent on veteran correspondence, 25 per cent of the mail on postal matters and the rest miscellaneous type.

All letters receive special attention.

Ellenburger area northwest of Cisco, section 468-SP, 4,000 feet northwest of the Hickok Producing and Development company pool opener, Eastland county. Unsaturated Ellenburger lime was topped at 3,983 feet and pipe was set at 3,982 feet. According to other wells in the pool, the lime is only several feet thick at the maximum and extreme caution is taken in probing further into the strata following penetration of the lime.

Checked were the wells of N. D. Gallagher et al, Dobbs, Christmas, Haile and Kirk in Eastland county as they were at previously reported shut-downs.

In Palo Pinto county Fred E. Engreen and Susan K. Engreen picked location for No. 1 Mrs. Ola K. Carter, four miles north of Fickwick, McKinley and Williams wells, as 500 feet from the south line and 300 feet from the east line of the survey. The test, in an area absent from activity for some

Men Represent 100 Years Fighting Fires In Cities

FORT WORTH—A hundred years of fire-fighting were represented here when James Downey, chief of the Wallingford, Conn., department and Chief Standifer Ferguson of Fort Worth got together.

Chief Downey visited Chief Ferguson while his son, Morton Downey, noted radio singer, appeared at Casa Manana. The two firemen's careers coincide remarkably. Both joined their fire departments 50 years ago. Each became chief 18 years ago. Both conducted their greatest fights against fires in the month of April.

Chief Downey's biggest job was a fire in a fireworks factory at Wallingford. Chief Ferguson directed the fight against a conflagration that swept South Fort Worth several years ago.

Morton Downey said he brought his father along to keep him company while awaiting the announcement of the birth of the singer's fifth child in New York. Mrs. Downey is the former Barbara Bennett of the theatrical family.

Allot 67 Jobs to Youths In County For N. Y. A. Labor

AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—A quota of 67 National Youth Administration School Aid jobs have been allocated for Eastland County under the 1938-39 school aid program to provide part-time employment for young people in elementary and high schools who cannot otherwise continue in school, J. C. Kellam, State Youth Director, has announced.

C. S. Eldridge, County Superintendent, has been notified of the number of jobs allotted. He has been requested to organize an advisory committee of local school officials to recommend an equitable distribution of jobs within the county on a basis of youth need and availability of school facilities.

Mr. Kellam said that as soon as this is done, the NYA State office will be in position to approve schools for participation.

School officials requiring information concerning the 1938-39 school aid quotas should communicate with their county superintendent. They should furnish him with data which will assist the county committee in recommending the distribution of jobs, Mr. Kellam said.

As for the last three years boys and girls in secondary schools between the ages of 16 and 24 will be enabled to earn a wage not exceeding $6 a month. They will be selected for employment by their own school officials, who will plan and supervise their work assignments. Students seeking part-time NYA School Aid jobs should apply to the superintendent or principal of the school they plan to attend, since the officials of schools approved by the NYA for participation in the program select the students for the jobs, Mr. Kellam said.

1936 Agri Checks Arrive at Office

Seventy checks, totaling $1,221.35, and representing additional payment to farmers because of re-adjustment of bases in the 1936 conservation program, have been received at the extension service office in Eastland.

JOHNSON, TP TEAM WINNER OF TOURNEY

The T. P. Oilers of Ranger slumped a 3-0 victory in the minute nook Saturday night when they shut out Texas Electric of Eastland and became the district champs in the A. S. A. tournament.

Jack Johnson's fire ball scorch-ed over the plate time and time again and every man on the TESCO roster experienced at least one strikeout at Johnson's hands with the exception of Kearney, who popped out to Nixon his first time up and on the second time he sent one to Daskavich on first base who beat him to the bag.

The Oilers scampared ahead in the second inning when Whitefield smacked one to right field and then Daskavich walked and Johnson came up and pounded one hard down the third base line into left field. Then Lochery came to the plate and got on first by a fumble on the part of Pope and T. P. slid in a couple of tallies.

In the fourth inning it looked as if TESCO might even the count when Overby got on by a walk and stole everything but Johnson's pants. He did a nice piece of work stealing second and left Johnson standing flatfooted when he ripped right on down to third a few minutes later. Miller knocked a slow bouncer down the first base line and after a bit of high stepping beat it out to first and took after Overby's base stealing, getting down to second base. The Electricians had a man on second and a man on third with Gilkey coming up, Morris on deck and Mitchell in the hole with none away. It was a real chance for them to even things up, but the old horsehide did everything but blaze as Johnson whipped them over the plate one time after the other, sending Gilkey and Mitchell down for strikeouts and Morris popped one right into Johnson's hands. It was a nice piece of bearing down when you had on the part of Johnson. From then on the Electricians never threatened.

Hargus worked himself out of a deep hole in the 5th after Pittman rocked one hard out over second base that was stopped by Gilkey on a spectacular running stop that might have gone for a homer. Then Martin walked and the first thing Hargus knew he had a man on second and one on third with one away. Lewis was at the plate and so far in the game had connected for hits both times and was batting 429 in the tournament, but Hargus steamed them over and Lewis struck out. Nixon stepped up to the triangle next and popped out to Hargus for the trio that got Hargus out of the hole.

In the seventh the Oilers tallied three times to put the game well on ice. Nixon knocked one out of the park scoring Lochery and Lewis ahead of him.

Johnson was accredited with 13 strikeouts and Hargus stacked up four. Thirty-six batters faced Hargus while only twenty-four Electricians hovered over the plate facing Johnson's blazing fire ball.

International Boundary—North American Style

A big commercial transport plane was flying from Cleveland to Detroit the other day. Taking the shortest route, it swung northwest across Lake Erie, flew over a sizable corner of Ontario, and then crossed the Detroit river and glided down to a landing at the Detroit airport.

One of the passengers was a young man who recently spent upwards of a year in Germany with the branch office of an American firm. When he got out of the plane he remarked:

"That was the most thrilling thing that has happened since I got back to America."

"What, this flight?" asked an acquaintance. The flight had been extremely unexciting—a short, uneventful hop made in perfect weather.

"No," said the young man. "The way we flew over the international boundary without anybody noticing it. We crossed from the United States, flew over Canada, and then flew back—and nobody said a word. That's the sort of thing that couldn't happen in Europe. Planes don't cross international boundaries there, not without a lot of negotiation and formality. They go far out of their way to avoid flying over a little strip of foreign territory. If they didn't, the pursuit planes would go after them."

Which is just another way of saying that we who live in North America never realize how lucky we are—until we see what we would be up against if the European system prevailed over here.

But perhaps it isn't entirely luck, after all. When you stop to think about it, there is nothing to prevent the United States and Canada from distrusting each other and glaring sullenly across the border in the European manner—nothing except the fact that each nation uses good sense and neighborly forbearance.

The United States, for instance, could easily claim that it "needs" the raw materials which Canada has—the metals, the wood pulp, the other things that keep the Great Lakes steamships busy all summer long. It could argue that unless it "controlled" the supply of these things its whole economy would be endangered. And it could go ahead and lay plans for the conquest of the Dominion.

Canada, on the other hand, could point out that its liberty was endangered by the colossus to the south. It could complain about the disruptive influence of American visitors—those C. I. O. organizers who have disturbed Ontario's premier, for example—and it could close the border with patrols, forts and so on.

The situation that would result would be every bit as logical as the situation which is commonplace on almost every European border.

That peaceful boundary between the United States and Canada is, as the young traveler remarked, an immensely thrilling thing. But it doesn't exist by accident.

It is what it is because the people of the two countries have chosen to act sensibly.

A Straw Suggests the Wind Blows Away From Fascism

The next time you wake up in the night to worry about the danger of Fascism, and comfort yourself with the thought that it can't happen here, you might wind up by offering a word or two of thanks to the American voter. For that gentleman, despite the fact that he often gets a flighty streak and puts some unaccountable hams into office, is our first and last line of defense against the idea of a dictatorship. And in his engagements to date he has done pretty well by himself.

There was, for example, the recent primary in Kansas. The Rev. Gerald Winrod was seeking the Republican nomination for U. S. Senate. A week or two before the election, strange tales began to circulate: first, that he had dismaying and unmistakable Fascist tendencies, and second, that he was rather likely to walk off with the nomination.

But when the voters got through with him at the polls, the Rev. Mr. Winrod was just another also-ran. After appealing to almost every kind of prejudice and trying to capitalize on every variety of discontent, he placed a poor third. And it is now apparent that the wheat belt offers very slim pickings for home-grown Hitlers.

Which isn't so very surprising, of course, when you stop to think about it. Yet the thing to keep in mind is the fact that it is never the demagog who is dangerous; it is the people who listen to him and fall for the line he hands out.

Germany is the principal case in point. We do a lot of talking about the repression which exists there—about the way nobody dares express any discontent, about the supervised rubber-stamp elections, about the snoopers and tale-bearers who make it unsafe for any man to voice the least dissatisfaction with Herr Hitler.

Yet the indisputable fact remains that the Germans embraced the Nazi cause with their eyes wide open. Hitler got into office by vote of the people. The election which followed the Reichstag fire was, of course, manipulated brazenly by the Nazis; nevertheless, it is unquestionably true that a majority of voting Germans gave Hitler the mandate to go ahead and do his stuff.

People get just about the kind of government they ask for, these days.

Dictatorships exist because people invite them. The one and only defense against them is the good sense of the electorate.

If it can't happen here, the sole reason is that the American people are intelligent and alert enough to keep it from happening. And the Kansas election is a straw indicating that the wind is blowing in the right direction.

Dad and Daughter Reunited

This appealing picture shows the reunion of a father and his daughter after a story book lost-and-found mixup. John Emerson's wife left their San Francisco home to visit her mother in Washington state, decided she wanted a divorce, didn't return. The couple's children, Joan, 4, and Kenneth, 8, hitch-hiked with another girl to Tacoma to try and persuade their mother to come home. The father started out to find the children, their trails crossed, and the father reported the children lost. Then he saw their picture in a San Francisco paper, rushed home, and this is John Emerson and his daughter, Joan together again.

Red Cross Plans A Safety Survey In People's Homes

The Red Cross through its Eastland County Chapter, plans a movement soon for the prevention of accidents in the home and on the farm.

Few realize that more people are maimed and killed through accidents occurring in the homes and on the farms than in any other one vocation or industry.

This campaign is to be put on through the schools in order to reach the homes. Every home in the county is expected to be reached.

Each school is to be asked to get permission of its patrons to allow pupils appointed by the school to inspect their premises.

This will require some preliminary or "mission work" to be done by the teacher through the pupils. This accomplished, the teacher appoints inspection committees of two or three each to go over the premises of the patrons.

Blanks will be furnished by the Red Cross to record the results of these inspections, the hazards found and suggestions for the disposition or removal of these hazards, fire or otherwise.

It can readily be seen that this work affects the life of every individual from the babe in arms to the oldest person. Should the death of one person be prevented by this solicitation, it would be regarded as a worthy effort well expended.

The Red Cross asks for the full co-operation of every family in the county and that full permission be granted these boys and girls to enter your home and carry out the plan.

State Man Will Assist Veterans In Their Claims

J. T. Gray of the veterans' state service office will be in Eastland on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1 and 2, with headquarters located at the district clerk's office, third floor, courthouse, to assist all war veterans and their dependents in establishing their claims to any government benefits they may be entitled to receive under present veterans' laws.

The veterans' state service office of Texas is a part of the state government maintained for the purpose of rendering service to war veterans and their dependents.

Gray states that he is working with the various veterans' organizations in his territory, and is receiving their full cooperation. He suggests that it would be advisable to bring all papers pertaining to individual claims in order that he may render the best service possible in connection with claims brought to him for assistance.

is cooperating with Mr. Gray in every way possible to the end that veterans of all wars throughout Eastland county who have a claim pending or who think that they have good grounds for a claim may see Mr. Gray at the district clerk's office in Eastland on Sept. 1 and 2.

Crossley states that the insurance on those veterans who lost their lives during the World War will terminate this October.

The surviving father and mother, if both are living, are entitled to $25 each per month, for the rest of their lives, or if either the father or mother survives, they are entitled to $45 per month, but application and certain proof must be furnished. Also, the bonus is due those veterans who lost their lives if same has not already been collected.

Crossley especially requests that all fathers and mothers of boys who lost their lives during the World War visit Mr. Gray at the district clerk's office on the above dates, in order that these claims may receive proper attention, as well as all other veterans who have claims pending or who think that a claim might be established.

Gasoline Company Safety Meeting Held in Ranger

With Plant No. 103 in charge and A. C. Smoot acting as chairman, about 50 employees of the Ranger district of Lone Star Gasoline company held their regular monthly safety meeting Wednesday night in the Ranger Office yard. Archie Robinson was secretary for the meeting.

R. V. Burns gave a talk on 'The Safety Factors in the Operation of Gas Engines' and discussed the accidents that had occurred to engines in his years of experience as engineer. 'It's not the gas engine that is dangerous, it's the way some of them are operated.' Some of the factors that insure safe operation is to keep the engine tight, regular inspection of fly-wheels, governors, bearings, etc., periodic testing of pop valves, and to keep the fluid level low in the suction scrubbers.

A discussion followed with the 'boners' that have been pulled when men who are not familiar with first aid attempt to render assistance to men who have been injured resulting in 'worse' aid instead of first aid.

Eston Todd had the subject 'School Days Are Here Again' and called the attention of every one that school would begin soon and school children would be going to and from school and would present a hazard to everyone that drives a car. He brought out the point that these children do not use the utmost precaution in walking along the highway or in crossing the streets and that every driver may be the cause of any injury to one of them.

P. C. Coffin, assistant general superintendent of gasoline plants, was a visitor from the Dallas Office and commended highly the talks that were presented.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR AN IDEAL INVESTMENT?

During the past five years we have sold many homes to people in Eastland on the proposition that everyone should own their own home, if nothing else. Since the first of the year, however, we have not only sold real estate for home use, but also as an investment. It pays a high yield, and it is safe and sound.

High rents and the constant scarcity of homes and apartment houses lend added incentive to investments of this kind. There has never been a safer investment than that offered thru home financing.

To those who have idle funds to invest, we recommend Eastland real estate. We have some bargains listed now that will pay the investor from 8 to 20%. We welcome the opportunity to show you what we have.

Horse Racing May Be Big Factor In Senatorial Races In August Voting

BY GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN.—Results of the legislative races in the runoff primary election to be held August 27 will be watched for their effect on possible return of horse race pari-mutuels to Texas.

Many Texans will watch the trend of this state election as eagerly as the nation's voters scan other results to determine the country's attitude on the "New Deal."

Hope for the return of pari-mutuels originated when it was reported that the name of W. Lee O'Daniel appeared on a petition to the Texas Legislature opposing repeal of the pari-mutuel act. O'Daniel now is Democratic nominee for governor. The petition indicates that he has a view on racing directly opposite to that of Gov. James V. Allred. Governor Allred opposed racing and made passage of the repeal act an issue. He demanded that the legislature vote upon it at the last session.

The House readily acquiesced. Forced to a vote, the Senate tallied 18 ayes for repeal and 13 nays for retaining the act that permitted pari-mutuel betting at licensed tracks.

The ranks of the 18 repealers will be lessened at least by three in the next Senate. Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron has died. Sen. E. M. Davis of Brownwood was eliminated in the July 23 primary election in his district.

Sen. Jim Neal of Mirando City, who voted for race repeal, has a runoff race Aug. 27, with Rogers Kelly of Edinburg. Neal says that he believes the full vote against him because he opposed racing was cast on July 23 and he will try to offset it on Aug. 27 by an appeal to the voters who favored repeal of the pari-mutuel act.

Sens. Claud C. Westerfield of Dallas and Grady Woodruff of Decatur who voted for repeal of racing, both have runoff opponents on Aug. 27.

Two of the senators who voted to continue pari-mutuels will be absent from the next session. One of them is Frank Rawlings, who was credited with staving off racing repeal for a long time by clever parliamentary tactics. Rawlings was not a candidate for re-election. The other is Sen. T. J. Holbrook of Galveston who was defeated on July 23 by William E. Stone.

The known changes in membership of the Senate leave the count 15 against racing and 11 for pari-mutuels, with a total membership of 31. How the totals will be affected by incoming senators depends on the voting on Aug. 27. On past performances, the outlook is not bright for the racing interests. They must have five to get a majority, if all the old members stand on their former votes.

George Moffett of Chillicothe, who comes to the Senate in place of Sen. Ben Oneal, voted for race repeal as a member of the House of Representatives. Jess Martin of Fort Worth will succeed Sen. Frank Rawlings from the district that includes Arlington Downs. Rep. Lonnie Smith withdrew from a runoff contest with Martin. Smith as a House member had voted against racing. Martin announced no stand on it in his race. He had been attorney for a dog race track and is said to have had Rawlings' support.

Doss Hardin of Prairie Hill, who will take Dr. Newton's place, has no past legislative record. His twin brother, Ross, member of the House of Representatives, was absent when the vote on the race repeal bill was taken in the House.

Whether Sen. Grady Woodruff is re-elected on Aug. 27 or is defeated by Rep. R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro, probably will not affect the racing situation. Both voted for race repeal last session.

Another of the runoff elections is between Reps. Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo and Ross Prescott of Santa Anna. Prescott voted in the House for race repeal. Metcalfe was absent when the final vote was taken.

W. E. Stone, who succeeds Senator Holbrook, has no legislative record and did not make racing an issue in his campaign. Holbrook had been for pari-mutuels. A factor that entered into the

Woman Is 'Natural' At Capturing Wild Animals In State

CRYSTAL CITY.—It isn't the fault of pretty Mrs. Bessie Kennedy that she has captured eight mountain lions, 40 bobcats, and 154 coyotes during the past year. Mrs. Kennedy just couldn't help it. She was led into being a trapper of wild animals by her husband, and she turned out to be a "natural" at her vocation.

Now, according to C. R. Landon, district agent at San Antonio for the Texas Predatory Animal and Rodent Control Association, Mrs. Kennedy is just as good a trapper as her husband, Robert Kennedy, or any of the other men on the force.

Mrs. Kennedy became an employee of the association about two years ago. A comely young woman about half the size of many of the lions she traps and shoots, she married Kennedy here three or four years ago. Kennedy already was a trapper for the association, and his bride traveled the trapping lines with him, staying in camp and sought amusement by reading books, or set out for game herself in the brushy, gently rolling country of Dimmit County, where her husband trapped.

Kennedy's job at the time was the protection of sheep in a 20,000-acre pasture surrounded by cattle country. Because there was no one working the cattle land, coyotes began to migrate across it into the sheep pasture. They took a heavy toll of sheep.

Finally, ranchers appealed to the association to put on another situation last time, especially for members from livestock areas, was the pressing need at that time for support for a $700,000 appropriation for tick eradication by the Livestock Sanitary Commission. Some members probably felt the success of that appropriation was paramount to the benefit to breeders from racing in Texas. This time, however, the racing supporters have to make an offensive fight. Last time they were on the defense.

Bids Received On Moving New Negro School Building

Bids were being received today by the Ranger school board on moving the old Trolley tavern from its present location on the Eastland highway to the negro school grounds.

The building was recently purchased for a negro school building by the school board. Plans call for installation of a native rock foundation for the building and remodeling work to make it a modern school. Negro patrons of the school are aiding in the work of removing furniture and fixtures from the old building and storing it until the new structure is ready for use.

Man to help Kennedy. "I was getting bored with the camp life and had gained plenty of trapping experience, so I applied for the job for myself," Mrs. Kennedy said.

They gave her the job, placing her on probation until she made good. That was two years ago. She did well the first year, and in the second year she started driving an automobile along the trap line while her husband rode a horse. Her catches jumped to such proportions that she rivaled the best men trappers in Texas.

"She's pretty good," Landon said. "There were many men who did outstanding work during the year, but few if any of them could show more for their work than did Mrs. Kennedy."

The association still does not pay Mrs. Kennedy a salary equal to that of her husband and other men trappers, although Landon admits that on the basis of her performance she is worth as much as any man on the payroll.

"We pay her that sort of salary because she works in cooperation with her husband," Landon said. "The two of them have a new assignment coming up in Jim Wells County. We'll see how they work out down there, and maybe there'll be some adjustment made."

Bank Holdups Have Declined Since Dillinger

By United Press

INDIANAPOLIS.—Bank holdups have been reduced drastically in Indiana as well as over the entire Middle West since John Dillinger and Al Brady—who went down in records for their murderous crimes as the Hoosier state's most notorious outlaws—were slain in gun battles with Federal agents.

For the first six months of 1938 Indiana boasts a clear slate for bank holdups. This, however, was the first time since the early 1920s that the state has not had at least one bank holdup during a six-month period.

According to state police records, there was only one bank burglary and three unsuccessful burglary attempts on state financial institutions during the first half of the current year.

Thieves obtained only approximately $300 in a night burglary of the Burnettsville, Ind., state bank, in Cass county, on Feb. 11. On Feb. 10 and April 22 unsuccessful attempts were made on the Carbon, Ind., state bank and on April 24 an attempt was made on the Lapee, Ind., State Bank.

The peak for Indiana bank robberies occurred in 1932 during the forays of John Dillinger and his henchmen, who extended their robberies throughout the Middle West. The Dillinger gang, all of whom are dead or in prison, is reported to have netted more than $175,000 in wholesale state bank robberies during 1933.

In 1932 the total loss from 22 bank holdups aggregated $66,000 according to police records. Then came the outbreak of the Dillinger mob, which shot the losses to a new high mark in a single year. The Dillinger mobsters also operated throughout most of 1934 and aided in boosting that year's loss from bank robberies to $61,000. There were ten raids on state banks and two messenger robberies during the year.

Despite the daring robberies of the Brady gang in 1935, losses from bank holdups in the state were comparably small—totaling only $10,600. Although Brady at the time of his escape from the Hancock county jail at Greentfield, Ind., boasted he would "make Dillinger look like a piker," he fell considerably below the amount of money Dillinger seized through his career of crime.

In the following year state bank robberies dropped to only $8,000 and in 1937 fell to $5,000, state police records show. Partly attrib-

Lions at Parley Of Service Clubs Tuesday Evening

Pullman to Host Veteran's Group At Friday Parley

TREE SHADES 7,885 PERSONS

CHICO, Cal.—This city boasts of the world's largest oak. Known as the Sir Joseph Hooker oak, its height is 101 feet, circumference at the ground 25.7 feet and at 8 feet above the ground, 28.4 feet while the circumference outside its branches is 446 feet. Allowing two square feet for each person, 7,885 people can stand under its branches.

Used to this drastic reduction was a drive which gave Indiana a modern, fully-equipped radio police system. Closer co-operation between state police, department of justice, city police departments and county sheriffs and deputies, established following the Dillinger and Brady gang raids, also is regarded a major factor in reducing the state's bank holdups.

Through a $30,000 subscription by the Indiana Bankers' Association and a $20,000 contribution by the administration of former Gov. Paul V. McNutt, now high commissioner of the Philippine Islands, the new modern state police system was established.
