Bulldogs, Under Lights, Bring In Bigger Revenues

If the first game of the season is any criterion the lights on Bulldog Stadium in Ranger will prove a profitable investment, according to figures released Saturday by H. C. Wilkinson, school tax assessor and collector, who has charge of football receipts and expenditures.

Sept. 18, 1937, the Bulldogs opened their 1937 season in an afternoon game at Ranger, playing the Strawn Greyhounds. For that game total receipts were $109.20, with expenses of $60, including the guarantee paid to Strawn, leaving a profit of $49.20.

Sept. 16, 1938, the Bulldogs opened the 1938 season in a night game at Ranger, playing the Gorman Yellow Jackets. Total receipts for the night game were $283.70, with expenses of $65.50, not counting the light bill, for a profit of $218.20.

With interest in the Bulldogs running much higher this year than in 1937, the entire difference in gate receipts cannot be attributed to the fact that one was a night game and the other an afternoon game. But, whatever the cause, there was an increase of $169.00 in the net receipts of the two games, and a difference of $174.50 in total receipts.

Boys Are Urged To Send Peanuts For Fair Exhibit

Following is a copy of a letter sent by Elmo V. Cook, county agent, to Eastland county 4-H club boys, urging they help advertise peanuts by sending a one-gallon sample to the county and state fairs:

Dear 4-H Club Member:
Eastland county is the second largest producer of peanuts in Texas. Peanuts is our major crop. Every time we advertise Eastland county peanuts we help the peanut grower to get a better price.

We are depending upon you 4-H club boys who have peanut demonstrations to help advertise by sending a one-gallon sample to the county and state fair. Samples left at the county agent's office not later than Wednesday, Sept. 28, will be shown in the 4-H club division of the county fair and then taken to the state fair without any expense to the owner.

Premiums offered 4-H club boys at both the county and state fairs are very generous and you might be the one to win one or more of these prizes.

Hand select your peanuts, being careful to choose only well filled, two-podded nuts free from trash, peps and discolored shells. It's a good plan to select about 5 quarts so that you will be assured of a gallon after a final culling at the fairs.

Our county quota at the state fair is 10 exhibits of peanuts and it's going to take an exhibit from every 4-H club boy growing peanuts to fill this quota. Don't disappoint us.

Yours very truly,
ELMO V. COOK,
County Agent.

Blue Uniforms Are More Uniform

If you care to get mildly sentimental about the United States army, you might be interested to know that Uncle Sam's soldiers are once more going to be "boys in blue." The olive-drab service uniform familiar to this generation is soon to be discarded. Army experts have decided to give it up for a uniform of blue—not the deep, navy-blue tint of Civil War days, to be sure, but a lighter, hazier blue which will look natter at close range and, at the same time, have a lower visibility at ordinary shooting distance.

It is principally a matter of economics and military efficiency that causes the change. The War Department explains that the regulation olive-drab khaki is hard to get in a hurry. If the need for uniforms suddenly increases overnight a hundred fold—as it did early in 1917—the new recruits are more than likely to find themselves wearing outfits of subtly differing shades, ranging from an almost green to an almost-yellow. This irritates colonels and top-sergeants and is apt to confuse the rookie.

So the army will presently be going back to blue, and the soldier will cut a more dashing figure on parade. All of this, to anyone of a sentimental turn of mind, is a good thing. By all our old traditions the American soldier is a fellow dressed in blue. It was so in the Revolution when he was dressed in any sort of uniform at all—it was the blue-coated trooper who sweated across the plains in pursuit of the Indian, and even in the war with Spain the blue shirt was still regulation.

But if a mere civilian may have opinions on army efficiency, one might wonder why the War Department didn't go a bit farther when it was making the change. A retired general of the U. S. army recently wrote a book in which he suggested that the army throw away all of its present uniforms and simply clothe its soldiers in blue dungarees, of the kind familiar to doughboy working parties.

First of all, said the general, blue denim can always be bought in quantity without difficulty. It is cheap and it is durable; expand your army overnight, and you can have the whole gang in uniform at once.

MAVS READY TO PLAY AT GRAHAM SITE

For the second time in as many weeks the Eastland Mavericks Friday night at Graham site will meet a non-conference team which is reputed to have the edge over them.

The game will be called shortly after 8 o'clock, it was stated. The engagement marks the second for the Mavericks this season, the Eastland team having been downed 52 to 19 last week at Olney.

With many faults having been exposed last week, the team is expected to show great improvement. Many defects in the performance last week have been ironed out, it was stated.

The question of reserves is still one of major importance for the Mavericks this season. The entire squad numbers 19.

While the Graham engagement is eyed with interest, perhaps more so is held for the game next week of the Mavericks against the Ranger Bulldogs at Eastland.

The Bulldogs are friendly enemies of long-time standing. The game, slated Friday week, will be a feature of the Eastland County Fair and will be played on Welch field.

The great gorilla has already achieved world-wide notoriety by attacking the executive head of the show. Viewing Gargantua and meeting his gaze are experiences one will never forget. So much like a horrifying nightmare vision of what man might have been, he offers a pernicious portrait study without counterpart.

His daily diet consists of 16 bananas, 12 oranges, two heads of lettuce, several stalks of celery and three-one-quarter milk shakes. Once each day too he gets a half-pound of calf's liver brought to the boil. This is his only meat diet.

His milk shakes, which he relishes contains chocolate flavoring, mineral oil and sometimes a little cooked rice. During the feeding of the milk shakes is the only time his keeper ever approaches near the great monster. At these feedings Gargantua grasps the bars with his huge hands and the keeper, from an ordinary milk bottle, pours the liquid refreshments down his giant throat.

An afternoon and night performance will be given at 2 and 8 P. M. To permit leisurely inspection of the vast menagerie the doors will open at 1 and 7 p. m.

Famous Giant Gorilla Introduced by Bring 'Em Back Alice Frank Buck in Big Barnes and Sells-Floto Show

Gargantua The Great, the world's most terrifying living creature, makes his first appearance in this vicinity when he comes to Abilene, Saturday, Sept. 24th, with the mighty Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto Combined Circus now augmented with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey stupendous new features.

The huge anthropoid ape, with the strength of 27 men, is exhibited at each performance in a mammoth nine-ton air-conditioned cage. This moving Alcatraz has double rows of chilled steel bars, outside of which are double thicknesses of shatter-proof plate glass.

As an extra precaution guards, night and day armed with high power rifles march up and down outside the cage.

Gargantua The Great, captured by natives at the age of two and traded to a sea captain is now 7 years old and stands 5 feet, 6 inches, weighs 450 pounds and has an arm stretch of over 8 feet. He is introduced to the audiences by Bring 'Em Back Alive Frank Buck intrepid explorer who played an important part in obtaining him.

For the past year Gargantua has been growing more evil tempered and now his keeper, for all the years he has watched over him, must keep outside the range of his powerful hands. Gargantua and Frank Buck, until recently the super-features of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey organization now head the most imposing array of big top attractions ever exhibited by the Barnes Sells-Floto circus, or any other major tented amusement institution.

Gasoline Company Safety Meeting Held In Ranger

With plant No. 108-2 in charge and Harold Getts acting as chairman, about 65 employees of the Ranger district of the Lone Star Gasoline company held their regular monthly safety meeting Wednesday night in the Ranger office yard.

Joe Patterson, musical director of the Colony high school, presented several members of the Colony Choral club. Miss Yvonne Ivey rendered two musical numbers on the piano, and Misses Norma Crabb, Yvonne Ivey and Norma Hadley gave two songs, with Miss Allene Fitzgerald at the piano.

Harry Henry gave a talk on the "Winter Operation of Our Cars" and stressed the importance of everyone assuming the responsibility of the operation of his car and to see that the car is properly protected from cold weather. Winter driving is the most hazardous of any time of the year, and the work of Lone Star employees is most important at this time, so extra precautions must be taken to see that the cars are in good operating condition and able to go in all kinds of weather.

Guy T. Smith, superintendent of the Colony high school, had the subject, "Safety in the Schools," and brought out the work that the schools are doing to impress safety habits on children while they are in the habit-forming age. He also gave a brief sketch of the legislative acts of other states requiring certain courses along safety lines and how Texas is a little behind the other states in this respect.

The rural schools are responsible for the transportation of the children to and from school as well as while they are at school, and requires the constant supervision of the entire school staff and how well they are assuming this responsibility is shown by the fact only one-eighth of the accidents occurring to children of school age occur at the schools or on the way to and from school.

John W. Ivey of plant No. 108-2 gave a talk on "Preparing for Winter," and stressed the point that now is the time to eliminate the water pockets in the lines in the fields and plants, to repair the insulation on the regulators and traps, to prepare the coils so that some of them could be cut out of service and drained in severe cold weather, to put the drips in good condition and to install new ones where needed, to prepare the roads in the fields so that the drip

CONSIDER THE MAN WITH A SAVINGS ACCOUNT Every day interested people come to our office to talk over their problems concerning home buying and home ownership. These problems are not so serious, perhaps, as those that surround the European Diplomat at the present time, but within themselves they are just as important, to those who are seeking to acquire a home. The chief obstacle to home buying now is the down payment, or the small sum required to be paid by the purchaser before sale. The old-fashioned savings account which use to be kept and added to regularly by nearly every one who had an income of any kind does not seem to exist any more. We are inclined to drift along buoyed up by the false idea that the Government is a big rainbow and all will be well at the end. But life is no dream! So let us consider the idea of saving something regularly. Aside from its many other advantages, it will enable one to finally own his-home. Those who practice thrift today will be the home owners tomorrow. EARL BENDER & COMPANY Abstracts — Insurance — Real Estate — Rentals

Oil Men to Meet in Tulsa On Oct. 19

TULSA, Okla.—Oil men from every part of the United States are preparing for the most important meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America in the ten years of its history, to be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, October 19, 20, and 21, and will formulate long-range policy which will affect every phase of the petroleum industry, according to Charles F. Roesser of Fort Worth, Texas, President of the Association.

Among vital issues to be discussed, matters which are on the tongues of oil men everywhere, whenever several of them get together these days are: protection of the domestic producers rights, limitation on imports of crude petroleum and refined products, renewal and strengthening of the Interstate Oil Compact under which production quantity is regulated, taxation, and many others, Roesser said.

"The past year has seen the oil industry fighting to protect the recovery which has been accomplished from the low point of a few years back, striving to stabilize operations and practices for the benefit of everybody concerned and seeking to insure the future of everybody's industry, the oil business, and it is up to the independent operators of this country to chart the proper course and help steer the Nation's No. 2 industry along its way," Roesser declared in issuing the official call for the convention.

Plane Is Used by An Arctic Priest

VATICAN CITY.—The utility of the plane as an adjunct to mission work in the Far North is illustrated in two radio messages just received by the Congregation for the Propagation of Faith from the "flying priest," Father Paul Schulte.

In his first message, Father Schulte described how with a radio engineer and with Captain Cox of Bishop Turquetil's Mission ship, the M. F. Therese, he made an aerial inspection of ice conditions in the Frozen Straits district just within the Arctic Circle to determine whether the M. F. Therese might risk its scheduled voyage by that route. Hitherto few ships have passed through the Frozen Straits.

The inspection, according to the message, proved satisfactory to Captain Cox who thereupon decid-

North Texas Has Secured $6,047,429 In WPA Projects

FORT WORTH—Federal and local expenditures on WPA projects in the 21 North Texas counties administered from the Fort Worth office amounted to $6,047,429 during the past fiscal year ending June 30, it was reported today by Karl E. Wallace, administrative officer.

WPA contributed $4,334,175 and local sponsoring agencies provided $1,713,254 as their share of participation in the work program, Wallace stated.

Of the total amount expended by WPA, $3,753,276 was disbursed as wages for workers on projects. The remainder was utilized for purchases of materials, rental of equipment, and incidental project items.

WPA expenditures according to type of project were itemized by Wallace as follows: highways, roads and streets, $1,595,154; public buildings, $526,339; recreational facilities, $584,165; conservation projects, $50,427; improvement of public utilities, $116,916; transportation projects, $11,876; education projects, $99,372; professional and service projects, $251,545; education projects, $99,372; professional and service projects, $11,876; service projects, $251,545; conducting recreation-activities, $50,686; sewing room projects, $819,568; other production projects, $129,072; sanitation and health projects, $54,125; distribution of surplus commodities, $44,879.

Counties administered from the Fort Worth WPA office are: Archer, Baylor, Callahan, Clay, Eastland, Foard, Hardeman, Haskell, Jack, Knox, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Shackelford, Stephens, Tarrant, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger, Wise, Young.

ed to begin his voyage at 3 a. m. the following day.

The experience demonstrated how serviceable the plane may be in assisting the piloting of ships through Arctic ice by means of ice observations from the air.

The M. F. Therese, it is pointed out, is the gift of an anonymous American woman. Built in Holland, it is equipped with a Diesel engine. The 270-ton ship began its mission career in July last year.

Almost immediately upon returning from this inspection, the flying padre, according to his second message, set out again. This time he went on an errand of mercy with Dr. Thomas Melling of Chesterfield Inlet hospital. According to the message, Okumaluk, second son of the Eskimo King Hydsiyauv, had been shot accidentally by one of his five sons, Nypvark, aged 7.

The plane brought Okumaluk from Igloolik to the hospital at Chesterfield Inlet, where he is recovering.

During the latter flight, which covered about 1,200 miles, the plane once was driven back because of fog.

His Speed Record Was Short-Lived

Records are made to be broken again, is the old saying, and it held true for John Cobb, British daredevil, shown roaring across the mountain-framed Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah, at 350.2 miles an hour. Shortly after Cobb set the record—a new world speed mark on land—his countryman, Capt. George E. T. Eyston, who had formerly held the record, regained his laurels with a 357.50 mile-an-hour run.

Sportsmen Urge Universal License

BEAUMONT, Texas.—A universal hunting and fishing license law for Texas has received the endorsement of the Gulf Coast Rod and Reel club.

Such a law would cover all fishermen, regardless of whether they used artificial lures or live bait. The club, however, advocates a low fee under the proposal.

At a meeting here recently, members of the club voted to ask the legislature to pass the law.
