CIO Refuses Plan To Endorse a Third Presidential Term

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 17.—An attempt by a delegate to place a resolution on the agenda of the CIO convention on record endorsing a third term for President Roosevelt and praising the New Deal was sidetracked today by CIO leaders.

Lee Pressman, counsel of the CIO and head of the resolutions committee, assured the convention a measure dealing with the administration and other political subjects would be submitted. It was not disclosed what attitude the CIO would take toward a third term for the President but several of its individual unions are in favor of such a development.

Rep. Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the House committee investigating un-American activities and Mayor Frank Hague of New City, N. J., were booed by delegates.

The incident occurred as the convention shouted its approval of resolutions demanding anti-labor legislation, a ban on child labor, establishment of a permanent congressional committee to investigate violations of civil liberties.

Tanner urged that all fans of the game in their cars call the Chamber of Commerce in order to notify school bus drivers of the need for transportation.

Officials pointed out there was no necessity to issue a call for aid this year as the Brownwood game will be the last of the season.

Bulldogs to Play Highland Park at Dallas On Friday

The Ranger Bulldogs leave at eight o'clock Friday morning for Dallas, where they play the Highland Park Scots in the ninth and next to last football game of the season for the Ranger team.

The game is to start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Scots are considered one of the best high school football teams in the state, having lost but one game by a one-point margin early in the season, and being victors by a wide margin in every other game they have played.

Early in the season the Scots defeated Adamson High of Dallas by a score of 32 to 6, then dropped a game to Masonic Home of Fort Worth by a score of 14 to 13 before getting off to a long winning streak that has few equals in the state for high scores.

The Scots defeated Longview state champions in 1937, by 26 to 6, downed Denton 41 to 0, toppled Greenville 47 to 7, defeated Dallas Tech 26 to 0 and McKinney 33 to 7.

During that time the Bulldogs have won three, tied two and lost three, going undefeated until their last three starts, which they lost.

The Bulldog record for the season is as follows:

The Mavericks' final conference game of the season will be played Friday night with the formidable Lions at Brownwood beginning at 8 o'clock under the lights.

Coach E. B. Grady, Jr., is anxious for the Mavericks to make a good showing in the Brownwood game as the game will be played in a city where he formerly resided.

Brownwood, which in the first of the season was regarded as a district threat, can no longer classify itself in that position but will be one of the toughest opponents the Mavericks have encountered this season.

The game will be the tenth of the Mavericks this season and will wind up a season that has been one of the hardest for the Eastland gridmen in years.

Although a victory is not expected, the Mavericks are believed capable of making a good showing themselves.

Petroleum Retailers Seeking Price Laws

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Wilmar Schuch of Milwaukee, president of the National Association of Petroleum Retailers, said today price posting and fair trade laws are more desirable than government control and state regulation in meeting current needs for the industry.

Harry Hopkins Is Favoring Plan For WPA Civil Service

By United Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A new interpretation of WPA philosophy by Harry Hopkins, disclosed today he hopes to put WPA workers under civil service to give them a "sense of dignity" so they will be proud to work for the government and not afraid to tell their neighbors about it.

Hopkins discussed his views at a conference with 1,000 WPA executives here. He said there was enough public work, such as slum clearance, soil conservation and "if our national policy demands it, the production of armaments to protect this part of the world" to keep 2,900,000 WPA workers busy for 20 years.

He said he would like to put the WPA, lock, stock and barrel, under civil service to stop the "injection of petty politics into unemployment relief work."

Bishop Tells Bank Officials to Fight Un-Americanism

By United Press
HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 17.—Bishop James Freeman of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington, D. C., demanded firm measures today in dealing with alien propagandists and preachers of un-American doctrines.

The bishop said the United States was too lenient with "rabble rousers." He spoke at the final session of the American Bankers association's 64th annual convention.

In a surprise speech a Houston clergyman delivered before the bankers a 20-minute lecture on the theme that "money is the root of all evil."

Rev. Jerome Rapp, priest of a Catholic church, gave the invocation. He read from the Bible, then waved the audience to its seats.

Father Rapp told them money caused crooked politics, filled the jails and afflicted "young and old, wise and ignorant, rich and poor."

Eastland Thespian Group's Play Is Adjudged Success

It was Maurice Harkins' night at the opening of the Eastland Little Theatre's "The Pot Boiler," one-act farce, which began a two-day run Wednesday at the Connelley theatre.

Harkins had the leading role of an easily imagined temperamental playwright in "The Pot Boiler," which in reality was a play-within-a-play. Such a role for Harkins, who has aided in many of the Little Theatre plays, was a "natural."

Harkins was well cast in the production, directed by Miss Virginia Weaver, and opener of the Little Theatre's fall and winter season.

The play concerned the instruction of a young playwright, Wilson Owen, by Harkins. For the benefit of Owen, Harkins brought into action a play "The Pot Boiler."

The audience gave its approval of the production.

Well received were others in the cast, Louise Weaver, Owen, John D. Harvey, Lorene Overby, Walker Germany and Earl Francis.

United States Hints Germany May Feel Economic Pressure

By United Press
The United States hinted today that economic pressure might be used to back up President Roosevelt's condemnation of Germany's anti-semitic campaign.

The German commercial attaché at Berlin, Douglas Miller, was suddenly ordered back to Washington a few hours after U. S. Ambassador Hugh Wilson had started home for "consultations" which may last indefinitely.

Departure of Wilson had been accepted by the German press as an opportunity for the American government to get a "clarified" picture of true conditions in Germany. The recall of Miller was an indirect economic blow that not even the most optimistic Nazi editor could interpret as anything except stern disapproval of German policy.

The American government has expressed its disapproval of the theory of force in world affairs and indicated it preferred to carry out the New Deal trade program by deals with democratic powers rather than with the dictatorial bloc.

Thus, while the prospects of and trade with the Reich became more remote, the United States and Great Britain prepared to sign, today, a reciprocal agreement of great importance.

The British-American treaty is regarded as the keystone of U. S. Secretary of State Hull's program.

Developments in connection with the Jewish problem included:

1. Announcement that the rights of Jews in Germany to continue occupancy of homes would be abrogated and they could be dispossessed at any time.
2. The Nazi press let loose with both barrels in an attack on President Roosevelt's statement, which has never been printed in Germany. The theme of the German attack was that American imperialism was rising in the Western Hemisphere, backed by Jewish influence.
3. High Nazi leaders, including Adolf Hitler, went to Dosseldorf for the funeral of Ernst von Rath, German diplomat killed by a Jewish boy in Paris.
4. Britain and the U. S. were reported near agreement on a plan to provide most of Germany's 700,000 Jews with a new home.

Football Team of Ranger Is Winner In WPA Contest

Mrs. Winnie R. Grady, supervisor of the Eastland WPA recreation project, Thursday released the following report in regard to football play sponsored by the organization:

The Eastland West Ward WPA recreation football team played Hodges Park junior team Tuesday at the Ranger softball park. Although the Ranger team was victorious to the tune of 33 to 0. The Eastland team report that good sportsmanship prevailed throughout the game of good clean football. A return game with Hodges Oak Park will be played in Eastland soon.

These teams have been organized on the WPA recreation playgrounds of South Ward and West Ward. This is the first out-of-town game and the second game of the season. It is planned to match other out-of-town games if such can be arranged. The relative weights of the team line-ups are as follows: South Ward 80 pounds to 100 pounds; West Ward, 80 pounds to 125 pounds.

The merit system of sportsmanship rates the teams, which is 40 points for sportsmanship, 40 points for reliability and 20 points for victory. At the end of the season the winning playground team will be the one who has the most points under this scoring system, not the one who has won the most games.

BY CECIL BARHAM

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the producers of "The Hardy Family" pictures are bringing a new family to the screen this time it is the Kildare Family, consisting of Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Lynne Carver, Samuel S. Hinds and Emma Dunn. The first picture in this series will be "The Young Doctor Kildare" which plays at the Lyric today and Saturday. The story of "Young Dr. Kildare" presents an ambitious intern in a metropolitan hospital, in love with his boyhood sweetheart back home. He wins the interest and friendship of a veteran surgeon, portrayed brilliantly by Barrymore. However the young doctor encounters difficulty in his profession, first when he protects a fellow intern who fails to save the life of a prominent politician and again when he disagrees with a superior in the matter of a diagnosis. The grim drama that exists in the emergency ward of a great hospital, the tense lives of those who work there, and the tender romance of the struggling young intern, makes of the picture a story of unusual entertainment. It is well worth seeing, don't miss it!

Here is a chance for everyone to have a good time and do a good deed at the same time. The girls of the Double Seven Club (and boys, they're pretty ones too) are selling tickets to the Charles Boyer picture "Algiers" playing at the Lyric next Tuesday and Wednesday. The tickets sell for 25c each and the Lyric management is giving the girls 10c on every ticket they sell. This money will be used to buy a large basket of groceries Thanksgiving and Christmas for some unfortunate Eastland family and also to give a Christmas dance for the Students and Exes of the Eastland High school, if you want to help them out, you can get a ticket from any of the following members, Julia Parker, Patsy Wiegand, Sidney Scott, Alma Williamson, Mildred Ferrell, Danice Parker, Virginia Garrett, Anne Jane Taylor, Nan Mickle, Rita Barton, Betsy Jones, Elizabeth Sikes, Mary Nell Crowell and Betty Jane Lane.

HOLLYWOOD FLASHES—The three Lane sisters will inaugurate the Yule season when they lead the parade down Santa Claus Lane (Hollywood Boulevard 11 months a year) . . . Spencer Tracy sings in "I Take This Woman" . . . The life story of the "Dead End" kids will be told in "Hell's Kitchen" to Hollywood . . . So great has been the demand for more of John Garfield that Warner Bros. refuse to let him out and schedule enough pictures to keep him busy for two years . . . William Powell has inked a long term with M. G. M. and goes into another "Thin Man" picture after the first of the year. "The Pot Boiler" presented by the Little Theatre Wednesday and Thursday night was a great success and a large crowd attended the performances each night. "The Pot Boiler" was directed by Miss Virginia Weaver and the cast include Maurice A. Harkins, Wilson Owen, Louise Weaver, John D. Harvey, Lorene Overby, Walter Germany and Earl Francis. Every member of the cast was outstanding and Mr. Harkins was unusually good in the leading role. Miss Weaver's fine direction was worthy of any compliment that we could give her.

Hitch-Hiking Trick Lands Originator In County Jail

By United Press

EL PASO, Texas.—Sidney Popkin of Buffalo, N. Y., had what he thought was a fine method of catching free rides—until he stopped the wrong man.

A school zone had been equipped with stop signals that pedestrians might turn on at will so they could cross the highway. Popkin learned he could flash the red light at passing motorists and request them for a "lift" when they stopped.

Popkin flashed a red light once too often. He was ready to ask a motorist for a ride to Fort Worth when he realized the driver was County Highway Patrolman Hicks, who took him before Justice of the Peace Abe Alderette.

"Those lights were installed for the safety of school children," Alderette observed.

Popkin is now in the county jail, serving out a $100 fine.

This first one turned out so well, the producers at once decided that the professional and personal adventures of "Young Dr. Kildare" would make a great series. And also a call meeting for practice period for the session was announced to be held Friday night in the hall. All members of the drill team are urged to be present.

Several impressive talks were made on Pythianism, visiting Knights of Pythias and were enjoyed by the assemblage. Those attending the meeting Monday night were: Misses, Bertha Ross, Alene Hunt, Alma Falls, Margerite White, Louise Duhr, Hollyce Ferris, Winnie Dorsey, Mary Frances Street, Ora Robinson, Edna Earl Williamson, Mary Frances Reed, Ethel Shepherd, Bee Lovelace, Josephine Strickland, and Messrs, Less Dorsey, Tom Lovelace, John Blackwell, Claude Strickland, and Blanche Nicols.

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE
COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOCK—admiral's daughter. She forced a choice between two navy suitors.
DWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.
JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.
MARVEL HASTINGS—navy aviator. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

lie was barred. Marvel knew that Judy would turn her down. Maybe Marvel had known all the time. Maybe this was just her own idea of having a little fun with the queer Navy girl Dwight had been interested in.

JUDY went into the hall, murmuring, "I must tell Mother," and she struggled with her inward rage for a second before she entered the kitchen. "Mother," she said, "Dwight and Marvel have asked me to be their maid of honor."

Her mother's worn, but still beautiful, face mirrored surprise. Judy patted her mother's hand swiftly. "I don't want to, darling," she said. "But you tell them. Tell them I can't."

Dwight rose to his feet punctiliously as Mrs. Alcott entered. "How are you, Mrs. Alcott? You're looking well."

"Thank you, Dwight," she said. He had called too many times for her to abide by the formal "Lieutenant." She greeted Marvel with that graciousness which was so lovely a part of her social graces. Judy felt proud of her then. But she was always proud of Mother. The thought came to her that even if Dwight ever reached the rank of admiral, Marvel would never grace his position the way Mother graced Daddy's.

Mrs. Alcott was saying, "How kind and sweet of you to ask Judy, Miss Hastings! But on such short notice, I—well, I've had planned a trip—"

"Beside, Lieutenant Hanley has been trying to persuade Judy to take a little jaunt to Pensacola, and in that case, she couldn't be back in time."

It was polite, meaningless, the refusal that Mother knew so well how to give. But at the mention of Jack's name, Judy felt her hands shake. Mother was so wise. Her kind eyes saw everything. Maybe Jack had even told her, before Judy got home from the shopping trip with Diane, that he wanted to take her to Pensacola. . . . The more she thought of it, the surer she grew. He had told her.

But she wouldn't speak of it to Mother. They were very close, and yet there were some things that lay between them unspoken. Judy felt, sadly, that Mother wanted her to accept Jack. Mother had seen Dwight only a few times before she recognized his inherent climber's spirit. And Jack—Jack was the sort of officer Daddy had been.

Dwight and Marvel left soon afterward, murmuring the proper things, and Judy stood at the door with her mother and said, "You must come and see us again." But she wanted never to see either one of them as long as she lived.

THE door closed. There was silence in the house. Judy said slowly, "Thank you, Mother."

Her mother looked at her very directly. "Judy, I wouldn't have permitted it under any circumstances." Then they went into the living room together, and Mrs. Alcott said, "Come here, pudd'n." That was Judy's baby pet name. Tears stung her eyes. She wanted suddenly to throw herself into her mother's arms and sob. Everything was so complicated. So cruel. If she could just bury her face in Mother's breast and tell her all the doubts and fears which tormented her. Even now—even now, as he rode back to the hotel with his fiancée—she loved Dwight so much that it was tearing her apart. She loved his eyes, and the way his hair grew, and the big, blunt fingers that had twirled the gold and silver eagles—p. He had had no right to ask her this thing. Yet she loved him still. Her chest hurt with the bottled-up sobs. She faced her mother dry-eyed and still, but she knew that Mother was not deceived.

"Jack Hanley told you he was leaving for Pensacola?" her mother asked in a quiet voice.

"Yes."

The soft hand touched her cheek. "You didn't—didn't try to stop him? Oh, Judy!"

"I couldn't, Mother!" The rebellion, the frustrated emptiness, came through the cry.

"You're so young, child," her mother said, smoothing the soft, pale hair. "So young and unhappy. Poor child. Poor little pudd'n." Her eyes were thoughtful, above the girl's head. Then she said, "I can't see you going on this way, Judy. I can't. I know he mustn't leave. So I phoned your father at his office. He will speak to the admiral of the fleet. In the morning, those orders will be revoked. Jack is entitled to shore duty, but he can serve it just as well on North Island. For a few weeks he must stay where he is. You'll both come to your senses."

"Mother!" Never before had she known of a time when Mother in any way influenced a decision of the admiral's, or asked him to use his influence with other officers. And to prevent Jack from going to Pensacola when he had requested it. . . . Her face burned. He'd know why those orders had been revoked.

But her mother only said, with a little smile, "Darling, I did the best I could. I'll work out. You'll be glad I did it, some day."

New Hope Club In Meeting Thursday

The New Hope home demonstration met with Mrs. V. W. Weaver, our food demonstrator, Thursday, at 2:30 o'clock.

After the business meeting, Miss Ramey, home demonstration agent, asked Mrs. Weaver to show her pantry.

Mrs. Weaver has built five shelves eight feet long in her ceiling.

made a breakfast table, with drop leaves. She has painted her cabinet, table, built-in-cabinet a cream color. The total cost was $3.50. Mrs. Harrison said that her kitchen was worth $50.00 to her.

There were 10 present at the club meeting including visitors: Mmes. Pirtle, Nunnely, McCoullough; members, Mmes. C. L. Rogers, R. F. Woods, H. E. Seago, A. F. Hallmark, V. W. Weaver, Ernest Weaver, Elvin Barron and Miss Ramey, the home demonstration agent.

The club members then made a short visit with Mrs. Harrison, kitchen demonstrator, to see the improvements, she had made in the kitchen. She has a built-in cabinet, which she built out of old lumber, with a sink made of a gasoline tank.

She has repapered her kitchen.

Muirhead Receives a Carload of 1939 Pontiacs

SHIPMENT REPRESENTS 5 DIFFERENT MODELS IN TRIO OF NEW SERIES

NOW ON DISPLAY

Muirhead Motor company presents the finest cars Pontiac has ever built, and the finest ever to appear in their respective price fields—a completely new quality six... a new de luxe six... and a new de luxe eight. All three have these things in common: each is big, smart and luxurious... each is packed with brilliant new features... each is a marvel of thrift... and the cost of each represents a substantial price reduction. As a result, you can choose any model with complete assurance that you are getting the finest automotive value available today.

1939 Pontiac Quality Six

With this newest addition to the Pontiac line, Pontiac again leads the industry in giving more for less. The quality six is new from the wheels up and a "top-flight" car all through. Its styling is so new and so smart that it could win a beauty prize in any price field. It is generously sized inside and out, and appointed with finer richness. It offers the widely-copied, Pontiac-pioneered safety shift at no extra cost. It introduces a new ride feature meeting a great need—No-rest ride with du-flex springing, which gives one passenger the jolt-free ride formerly possible only with a full passenger load. The engine is a marvel of smoothness, with economy that asks no odds of any car plus performance that lets you step with the best. And this big six is priced so near the lowest that you'll never miss the slight difference in monthly payments. Pontiac proudly presents a great automotive achievement—by all odds, America's finest low-priced car.

Luxury and Comfort New To the Low Priced Field

The spacious rear compartment of the new quality six typifies the extra luxury which sets this fine car apart from the rest of the low-price field. Fabrics are rich and beautiful. Fittings are the finest examples of modern design. And Pontiac's luxury goes deeper than appearance. It includes the luxury of solid comfort, resulting from wide, 3-passenger, chair-high seats and exceptional floor space. You'll be proud of your Pontiac—inside and out.

No Car at Any Price Is Better Engineered

There is no more efficient engine built today than the powerful, lively, smooth, quiet, and amazingly economical motor of the Pontiac quality six. There is no sturdier chassis and none with more advanced features. Following is a partial list of the mechanical advancements Pontiac provides. To satisfy yourself that you can't excel Pontiac quality, compare these features with those of any other car: Duflex rear springs, hypoid rear axle, link parallelogram steering, improved safety shift gear control, multi-sealed hydraulic brakes, power cushion drive, hydraulic cushion levelators, rifle-drilled connecting rods, ball-bearing water pump, self-cushioning clutch, vacuumatic spark control, improved knee action, ten-second zero weather starting motor.

1939 Pontiac DeLuxe Six

Pontiac has long been famous as the most beautiful thing on wheels, but never has a Pontiac been more worthy of the title than the 1939 Pontiac deluxe six. Along with a smartly modeled new front end, this new low-priced, luxury car provides the biggest bodies ever offered in a Pontiac six. And these bodies are something entirely new to the low-price field—a type formerly available only in one of the costlier of cars—new bodies by Fisher available with or without running boards, curb-high floors and vastly increased vision. Moreover, although these bodies are several inches lower than the usual type, headroom has not been reduced, and the interiors, as a whole, are much larger than those of any previous Pontiacs. Pontiac reaches the peak of smartness, comfort, and safety with this bigger deluxe six, yet prices are lower than before, and economy has never been greater. You'll be proud to own a Pontiac deluxe six—proud of its beauty, even prouder of its thrift.

Authentic Fine-Car Luxury and Beauty

Your own eyes tell you—you must go to the costliest cars to find another interior as inviting and luxurious as that of the roomy new Pontiac deluxe six. Here is ample space for six to lounge in perfect comfort with fine appointments on every side. Notice the extraordinarily large window openings, the handsome clock, the chromium spoke wheel and the space-saving arrangement of radio controls. If you want luxury at lowest cost, you want a Pontiac deluxe six—the fine car that costs so little to buy and operate.

Pontiac Deluxe Six 4-Door Touring Sedan

Trunk provides 20 cubic feet of luggage space. Recessed ash trays in rear arm rests. Recessed foot rest. Light tan mohair or brown Bedford cord upholstery. Running boards optional.

Pontiac Deluxe Six 2-Door Touring Sedan

Spare tire and wheel concealed in spacious trunk. Recessed ash trays in rear seat arm rests. Split, sedan-type front seats. Tan mohair or Bedford cord upholstery. Running boards optional.

Pontiac Deluxe Six Sport Coupe

Extra folding seats behind the split, three-passenger driver's seat give five passenger capacity. Ample luggage space in dustproof rear deck. Running boards optional.

Pontiac Deluxe Six Cabriolet

Vastly Increased Vision

A lower cowl line, higher windshield corner ports, and higher, wider windows all around are important results obtained by the more modern construction of Pontiac's deluxe bodies by Fisher. By widening the field of vision of drivers and passengers approximately 25 per cent, the safety and pleasure of driving are greatly increased. Fisher no-draft ventilation is again a standard Pontiac body feature.

1939 Pontiac Deluxe Eight

For people who believe that only an eight can satisfy them for performance, Pontiac provides General Motors' lowest-priced eight cylinder car. Although this eight sells at a new reduced price which brings it well within the reach of people who normally buy sixes, it compares in smoothness, quietness and alert performance with any eight in any car regardless of price, and it exceeds most sixes in economy. This car, too, has the newest of bodies—bodies by Fisher with curb-high floors and vastly increased vision—available with or without running boards. The exceptional comfort and roominess of these trilevel, turret-top bodies can be judged from the fact that this luxurious car is 196 3/4 inches long. You can depend on it—when you sit behind the wheel of the 1939 Pontiac deluxe eight you command every road you travel, and you travel at a minimum cost per mile.

Beauty and Utility Perfectly Combined

The front compartment of the Pontiac deluxe eight and six is a fine example of the results obtained by engineers who think in terms of design. The gear-shift lever is on the steering column and the emergency brake lever is under the dash, completely clearing the front floor. The open vision wheel gives a clear view of the smartly arranged instruments and radio and clock are right under your eyes. Convenient, comfortable, beautiful—these are the lasting impressions you get when you sit behind the wheel of a Pontiac.

Pontiac Deluxe Eight 4-Door Touring Sedan

Front compartment has combination arm rests and door handles and adjustable tilting seat. Rear compartment has ash trays recessed in arm rests. Tan mohair or Bedford cord upholstery. Running boards optional.

IT'S NOT TOO LATE BUT HOW TIMES DOES FLY!

.... Let us suppose the position of the average tenant. He is working and making a fair salary. From month to month, he is going along nicely, nothing much to worry about now, but later, What?

.... The years have slipped by rapidly, the family has grown up, and the earning capacity isn't what it used to be. If you have let the opportunities slip by, don't blame the world, but blame yourself.

.... None of us can escape the uncertainties and vicissitudes of passing time. We are and must be what we make of ourselves. There is no sin comparable to that of lost time and neglected opportunities.

.... So, if you are the average person, begin to rise now. Begin home ownership—a good start to make. Ask us about our new plan of owning a home without a large down payment. The plan is available to the average tenant.

HIGH COURT AFFIRMS TWO VOTE CASES

Rulings of two Abilene district courts in alleged libel suits brought by Thomas L. Blanton, were affirmed by the 11th district of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

In the suit of Blanton against Garrett and others, the court affirmed the 42nd district court in ruling which granted Garrett a transfer of the case to Eastland county on a plea of privilege.

In the suit of Blanton against A. H. Belo corporation, publisher of the Dallas News, Judge R. Chapman of 194th district court had denied a transfer of the case to Dallas county as asked by the Belo corporation on a plea of privilege. The appeals court affirmed this action of the Abilene court.

In case of a plea of privilege the appeals courts have final jurisdiction.

In each of the cases, Blanton had damages of $100,000 in connection with events occurring during the 17th district congressional campaign in which Garrett defeated Blanton in 1936.

DeLeon Newspaper Sees Bright Side In Money Outlook

Eastland was complimented in an article appearing in last week's DeLeon Free Press, which discussed the city's indebtedness and drew a comparison to former financial difficulties at DeLeon.

The article, in full, was as follows:

"The City of Eastland has been reported in the press as bankrupt. Reports indicate that request for a federal receivership has been requested for the purpose of working out the affairs of the city to the satisfaction of the creditors.

"The amount of money the city of Eastland owes was not apparent in the report, but it is understood to be large. Much of the indebtedness was contracted long in oil boom days of 1919-20. The city has a tax rate of $2.50.

"A similar receivership was resorted to here at DeLeon several years ago, and it has proved a good thing. Belton, Texas, took the same action and is said to be well on the road toward financial recovery. Eastland is a good town, well built and has a substantial citizenship. If given time the city will no doubt work out its financial difficulties and emerge from its difficulties bigger and better than before.

Questions Farmers On Terrace Work

Elmo V. Cook, county agent, has sent the following message to 35 farmers who may desire to run terrace lines this year:

"Do you want any terrace lines run this year?

Last year you made a request for terrace lines but I did not get them run because of weather or other conditions. In order that no one wanting lines run may be overlooked, if you still want the lines run please fill out the enclosed card and return it to me immediately.

In many cases I have observed, terrace lines are run but the terraces are never built. As the county agent's request for terracing use all his available time, those who do not actually intend to build terraces should not make request for lines."

Kokomo Girls Told Of Mitered Corners

"Mitered corners make a neat finish on dresser scarfs and luncheon sets," said Miss Mabel Caldwell, assistant county home demonstration agent, at a meeting of the Kokomo Girls' 4-H club at the school house recently.

"To make mitered corners take a measuring gauge and measure one side of the material the desired width and crease, then measure the other side and crease, making a square in the corner. Open the creases and fold the corner with creases corresponding making a complete triangle on the wrong side of the material. Fold the triangle, stretching both pieces of material and whip to within one fourth inch of edge to be hemmed. Cut off triangle to within one fourth inch of the whipped edge. Turn to the inside and you have a neat finished corner.

"The mitered corner does away with heavy corners, is easier to iron and makes a more expensive looking article."

All except one girl had the material for their head scarfs which were measured and cut at this meeting.

Those present were: Verda Mae Eaves, Jean Mangum, Ernestine Jumper, Wanda Donaldson, Louise Eaves, Billie Jo Crawley, Phyllis Donaldson, Mrs. L. R. Higginbotham, and Miss Mabel Caldwell.

WANTED: A Woman with Strong Arms to Work for 1/4¢ an Hour. Apply

YOUR ELECTRIC FOOD MIXER USES ONLY 1/4¢ WORTH OF ELECTRICITY AN HOUR!

No woman would be willing to do hard work for only 1/4 cent an hour, yet that is all it costs to run an electric food mixer. If you use your mixer for a full hour to whip cream, mix a heavy batter or to do other kitchen tasks in preparing a Thanksgiving dinner, you can figure that the cost for electricity will be only 1/4 cent.

Isn't that a small price to pay for using a handy servant that saves your time and your strength?

Other electric appliances do their daily jobs just as cheaply. For example, cleaning a room with an electric cleaner costs on the average only about 1/4 cent. That is why we say that electric service is the biggest bargain in your home.

GOOD NEWS FOR EVERYONE: JIM WILLIAMS IS GOING TO KEEP ON DRAWING "OUT OUR WAY" CARTOONS

SIGNS NEW CONTRACT WITH NEA SERVICE, WHICH SUPPLIES FAMOUS COMIC TO THIS PAPER.

BY ERNEST LYNN
NEA Service Comic Art Director J. R. Williams, familiarly known to readers of this paper for his famed "Out Our Way" cartoons, has just signed another long-term contract with NEA Service, Inc. This means that the work of this noted cowboy artist, often called the Will Rogers of the comic art field, will continue to be published daily in this newspaper.

The ever-popular "Out Our Way," a topnotch comic since it made its first appearance nearly 17 years ago, is now the most widely used of all newspaper features. Approximately 725 daily newspapers publish it six days a week. Two hundred fifteen papers run Williams' Sunday page, "The Willets." These do not include the numerous papers in foreign countries which translate the feature.

MEET
JIM WILLIAMS
At the many millions of daily "Out Our Way" readers a large share has often wondered what it was specifically about this series of homely, "human interest" drawings that held such charm. Perhaps the best explanation lies in the fact that the reader can so readily identify the subject matter with his own experience. And behind this lies a story, the story of Jim Williams himself.

First, meet him as he is today, and on his home ground, which is a 45,000-acre cattle ranch near Prescott, Ariz.—a ranch boasting about 800 head of cattle, 45 horses, a swimming pool, a concrete tennis court, and a lake. He is middle-aged, sandy-haired, compact and muscular. He has the squint that comes from long-distance looking. He wears boots, overalls, a 10-gallon hat. In short, he looks as if he might have stepped out of one of his own "Out Our Way" cowboy cartoons. After you've known him five minutes you start calling him Jim, and he likes you for it.

This is the west that Jim Williams loves, and the ranch in the Arizona mountains is the realization of a life-long ambition. He spends his winters in Los Angeles, but this, he will tell you, is largely a concession to Mrs. Williams and their two grown children, Helen and Bob, the latter just out of the University of Southern California. Williams says, "I never was much of a hand for the big cities."

His career as a comic artist began with NEA Service early in 1922. Before this his life had been an almost unbelievable record of adventure and excitement. These are some of the things that Jim Williams has been: college football player, railroad fireman, cowboy, mule-skinner, cavalryman, prize fighter, policeman, machinist and artist. All this is still a part of him. It forms the philosophy and background without which there never would have been an "Out Our Way." It accounts for his rare ability to meet so many different classes of readers on common ground and in terms of the familiar.

Jim Williams re-lives his own life in his feature—to a greater degree, perhaps, than any other artist. His daily procession of "Out Our Ways" contains a cowboy series, a "Worry Wart" series (about kids), a "Why Mothers Get Gray" series, a machine shop series (featuring his old foreman, the "Bull of the Woods"), an occasional cartoon of the old border cavalry days, and a "Born Thirty Years Too Soon" series, the last being a nostalgic recollection of life at it was a generation ago.

"Out Our Way's" famous Jim Williams and his famous horse, Lizard.

NOW MEET JAMES ROBERT WILLIAMS

His full name is James Robert Williams. He was born in Nova Scotia of parents who had come over from England. He was still a baby when his family moved to Detroit and at the age of 14 he was playing football at Mt. Union college in Ohio.

For that matter, he was firing on the Pennsylvania railroad when he was only 15—but let Jim tell it.

"Back in those days," he says, "we didn't have any complicated eligibility rules in college football. I was big and husky and tough, and that's what counted. The scholastic requirements were pretty elastic, too, which is how I got in. I was taking up art."

"At 15 I was as big as I am today. I was tired of school and I got a job as railroad fireman by passing for 21. Didn't have any trouble, either."

But this job didn't hold him long. He headed west and landed a job in Kansas as a mule skinner. He drifted on, and tied up with a cattle outfit. He cooked for the cowhands. He punched cattle.

One day, down in Texas, he saw some cavalrymen come into town and he liked their look. So he enlisted and served a three-year hitch. He did a lot of cooking in the army, too.

And he did considerable fighting—with his fists. He was hard as hickory, and as tough. He weighed about 163 pounds, was as light on his feet as a tap dancer, and was quite a scrapper. He became the light heavyweight champion of his outfit and when his enlistment was up he turned professional.

"The first fur coat I ever bought my wife was with part of a purse I won as a pro," he tells you. "She made me quit, though. She just plain didn't like it. And when a big feller busted my nose one night, that ended it."

TATTOOED TOO

All the time that Jim Williams was chasing cows and cooking grub around a chuck wagon, all the time he was in the army, he never forgot that he wanted to be an artist some day. The kid who had enrolled in a college art course at 14 was now a man who sketched at night in the cowboys' bunkhouse and in an army barracks. While he was in the cavalry he somehow picked up the knack of tattooing and his inherent artistic ability made him pretty good at it. For a price he tattooed lovely pictures on the broad chests and brawny arms of his mates.

This was a profession for which Mrs. Williams expressed an even greater distaste than for prize fighting.

"I brought my kit with me out of the army," he chuckles, "and one day she found it and I never saw it again."

But he still kept on with his sketches, and he was still at it after he had landed a job in a machine shop in Alliance, O. It was while he was working here that he sent some sample cartoons to NEA Service in Cleveland. He was hired promptly, and a short time later the first of the "Out Our Way" cartoons was published.

Williams' artistic talents extend considerably beyond his daily and Sunday drawings. In his ranch home are two beautiful ship models, every detail of which he made with his own hands. One is a Spanish galleon for which he has refused many offers. He is an expert silversmith, a fine water color painter, has even dabbled in sculpture. He built his own swimming pool, supervised the digging of his lake, designated his own irrigation system. Once when he wanted some stone-laying done and had hired some experienced men for the purpose, they balked at some of his own ideas, saying they couldn't be executed. So he showed them how to do it.

Municipal Scrip In Use 77 Years Ago

By United Press
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—WPA workers have dug dusty documents out of the city clerk's vaults proving that the use of scrip to pay municipal debts is an idea nearly as old as the city.

Two pieces of scrip were found written on the treasury of the city of St. Anthony (which merged with Minneapolis in 1867). One scrip was for $5 against the fire department account, dated Jan. 1, 1861; the other for $95.08 against the hospital appropriation of March 21, 1864.

The system used was to issue scrip in lieu of cash payments when the treasury was low on funds before tax collections had been made. Both were marked "cancelled" indicating St. Anthony had paid off.

Texas Prison And Ten Farms Make Up Huge System

By United Press

HUNTSVILLE, Tex.—The Texas Prison System, housing 7,000 prisoners, consists of the Central Prison at Huntsville and ten "farms" embracing 62,454 acres of land.

The farms range from West Texas prairielands to the rich, blackland fields that have been reclaimed from a dense jungle surrounding Eastham Farm, where 856 "incorrigibles" are kept.

Eastham Farm, comprising 17,311 acres of river bottomland and pasture in Houston County, near Crockett, has been called the "Alcatraz of Texas," not because of the few escapes but because of the type of prisoners held there.

Eastham Farm is divided into three separate camps, with reinforced concrete barracks at Camp No. 1 for the most dangerous convicts, and wooden structures at Camps No. 2 and 3. Camps 1 and 3 are known as the Ferguson Farm, and they house prisoners over 25 years of age. The younger convicts are sent to Camp No. 2.

Eastham, where prisoners say they "go crazy because of the solitude" has been the scene of frequent escapes. The late Clyde Barrow delivered Raymond Hamilton and a half-dozen other prisoners from that farm several years ago in one of the most daring breaks on record.

The farm is on the Trinity River, surrounded by thousands of acres of dense forest and underbrush. Few prisoners make their way through that jungle. If they cannot steal or commandeer an automobile on one of the two highways that traverse the area, they soon are tracked down by dogs and posers.

The casualty toll from Eastham breaks has run high. Many prisoners have been killed in attempting to escape, and a number of guards have been killed and wounded. Several prisoners have been drowned in Trinity River.

The Central Prison at Huntsville, which serves as receiving unit, houses an average of 1,500 convicts, including Whites, Negroes and Mexicans. The central unit is composed of three main buildings, a brick and concrete cell house for regular prisoners, a reinforced concrete hospital, and a trusty building of wood and corrugated iron. All of these are inside the walls. Outside are several industrial buildings where prison clothes, license tags for Texas automobiles and other commodities are manufactured. The Administration Building is also outside the prison walls.

The Central State Farm at Sugarland included 5,203 acres of farmlands and a brick building for farm industries. The 300 inmates are housed at two camps, one for Whites and the other for Negroes. Only prisoners who can be rehabilitated easily are received at the Central Farm.

Harlem Farm at Richmond also receives first offenders with good prospects for rehabilitation. More than 517 young prisoners work its 5,675 acres.

Retrieve Farm at Snipe houses 450 prisoners in a single reinforced brick building. All are White prisoners who have served one or more previous terms but who have some prospects of rehabilitation. As they prove to prison officials their willingness to cooperate with them, the Retrieve prisoners are advanced to the Harlem unit, then to the Central Prison at Huntsville, where they are taught a trade in the industrial shops.

Clemmons Farm, of 8,000 acres of land at Brazoria, is divided into three camps, all for Negroes under 25 and rated as capable of rehabilitation. About 500 Negroes are imprisoned there.

Darrington Farm at Sandy Point also is for Negroes—first offenders between 17 and 25 years of age—450 of whom are worked on the 6,770-acre plot on the gulf coast.

Mexicans serving first terms are sent to the 4,506-acre Blue Ridge Farm at Hobby, Fort Bend County. An average of 376 prisoners are kept there.

Ramsey Farm, at Otey, has 960 Negro and Mexican incorrigibles in four separate camps on its 15-689 acres.

Women prisoners are sent to the 967-acre Goree Farm five miles south of Huntsville. An average of 145 women live there in a reinforced, fireproof brick dormitory. Goree Farm has a woman manager, Mrs. W. V. Heath.

Tubercular prisoners and other unfit for heavy labor are sent to the Wynne Farm, three miles west of Huntsville, where they are given light duties on the 475 acres in cultivation on the 1,913-acre unit.

Special today --better mouse-traps

Every one knows the story of the man who built the better mouse-trap. He lived in the middle of a forest, but, because his mouse-traps were better, the world discovered him and made a beaten path to his door.

Today, men make better mouse-traps, better automobiles, better furniture. But when you want them, you don't have to travel to a distant forest to find them. They are described and displayed for you in your own home—in the advertisements in this paper.

The advertising section is the most valuable part of the paper to you as a buyer. Reading it will pay you dividends every day.
