Guam Action Means Strength, Not Weakness

The action of the House in rejecting the $5,000,000 project to begin fortifying Guam will undoubtedly draw interested comment abroad.

It will be said that this was a great rebuke to President Roosevelt, and it will be suggested that the American people are plainly divided on armament plans.

Neither deduction will be justified. True, rejection of the Guam proposal is to some extent a rebuke to President Roosevelt and one particular item of his plans for national defense. But it is not a grave rebuke. For the House almost unanimously went right on to pass appropriations 10 times as great for other items of Pacific defense.

The question was not "Shall we resolutely provide defense measures proportionate to the increasing armament of the world about us?" It was simply a question of "How best provide that defense?" To decide deliberately on defense means and policies that accompany them, and not to be stampeded into hasty action, is a mark of strength, not weakness.

The House decided that to begin fortifying Guam was not the best way. On defense itself, practically the entire country is united as it has been on few things in recent years. Let no foreign commentator make any mistake about that.

These reasons undoubtedly ruled in the mind of the House majority in rejecting the Guam proposals:

First, it would certainly be annoying or alarming to Japan, precisely as we would be alarmed if Japan began fortifying the island between San Francisco and Hawaii, or Britain turned Bermuda into another Singapore. Such action, in a world where countries are spending half their time annoying or alarming others, ought not to be taken unless vital to defense.

Second, it wasn't considered vital to defense of the United States.

And third, if Guam were to be fortified at all, it should be fortified in such a way that it could be defended. The proposed plan merely made it a more desirable plum for Japan or anyone else to pick at any time it pleased them.

Those are all sensible and reasonable reasons for the House action. But no one should draw from it the conclusion that the United States is unwilling to provide such defenses as seem to it necessary to make itself and its interests safe.

On this general theme, the country grows more united daily as it becomes more and more clear that the rest of the world is determined to chuck orderly procedure out the window and resort only to the tactics of the alley bully and the Neanderthal Man.

We don't like that game, but we can and will play it with anybody who insists on dealing us a hand.

I Give You Texas

By BOYCE HOUSE

Entry in the "oldest joke" contest: A banker, after turning down an application for a loan, finally told an insistent man, "I'll loan you the hundred if you can tell which one of my eyes is a glass one." The other said, "It's the left one." The banker said, "That's correct but how did you know?" The borrower said, "I could see a little gleam of human sympathy in that eye."

Nocona is up near the head of the class for odd signs. One says, "Kleenitorium" and another, "Lubricatorium." The first one designates a cleaning and pressing shop; the other, a garage department where cars are greased.

Which reminds me of another story about bankers: A farmer wanting to open an account, was sent to the vice president in charge of new business. When he wished to transfer his money so it would draw interest, he was directed to the vice president in charge of savings accounts, and when he wanted to borrow some money, he was sent to the vice president in charge of loans.

One day, the president of the bank visited the farmer and, noticing a man at work near the barn, the banker said, "I see you have a hired man." The farmer replied, "No, that's the vice president in charge of mules."

District Judge Ralph Yarborough took cognizance of lobbying activities when he charged a Travis County grand jury not long ago. While recognizing the "right of petition" of course, Judge Yarborough pointed out that certain lobbying practices are prohibited by law.

First thing Jerry Sadler did when he moved to Austin to become State Railroad Commissioner was to build a barbecue pit in the backyard of his home. When he gives a barbecue, he does the barbecuing himself. Not long ago, he entertained Austin newspapermen and he presented an interesting appearance, wearing boots, jumpers, a leather jacket, an apron and a big white hat. By the way, lunch.

did you ever eat any barbecued turkey? It's Jerry's specialty.

The highway a short distance north of Austin is torn up again—or yet. Most of last summer, traffic had to detour for miles because a small bridge was being built. Now there are two "one-way" spots, constituting inconvenience and danger on one of the most heavily-traveled roads in the state. One wonders why all three pieces of work weren't done at the same time.

Jumping around over Texas: "Casa Manana rides again." For the fourth year, Fort Worth will present magnificent entertainment on the world's largest revolving stage out under the Texas moon next summer. Lou Wolfson, noted impresario, spent three days wandering about Ft. Worth, like the disguised Caliph of ancient Bagdad, asking soda dispensers, policemen, waitresses and many others what kind of entertainment Texas enjoys.

Look alike: Collier Parris and Bing Crosby. Parris is sports editor of the Lubbock Avalanche. Crosby does something or other in the movies and on the radio. Publisher H. B. Fox added 230 subscribers to the Madisonville meteor recently through a hen subscription contest. He actually received 256 hens as some of the subscribers brought in two light ones instead of one heavy one.

And that calls to mind the story of the man who complained about eggs being 60 cents a dozen. "That's a nickle apiece," he declared. A friend replied, "But did you ever stop to think that an egg represents a whole day's work for a hen?"

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM CONGRESSMAN CLYDE L. GARRETT

Bills Enacted—Congress has been in session for two months and has enacted five important laws. Thousands of bills have been introduced, eleven passed by the House and nine by the Senate, but five have actually been enacted, which means that both Houses have adopted the measures. These were: Appropriation for Relief; Revision of Internal Revenue Code; extension of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; extension of the Export-Import Bank and Commodity Credit Corporation; and fifth, a continued investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The House passed the Army and Navy defense bills and it is awaiting Senate approval. Many problems are still to be considered, among them the Neutrality Law, Labor Law, Old Age Pensions, Unemployment Insurance, Railroad Legislation, and Farm Legislation.

Reorganization—The new House reorganization bill, drafted by Rep. Lindsay Warren of North Carolina and introduced by Rep. John Cochran of Missouri, chairman of the Committee on Reorganization, has come to light. Under the new measure authority is given the president to submit plans for transfers, consolidations and abolitions of agencies and functions in the interest of both efficiency and economy, but Congress is given veto powers over these proposals. Unless both Houses passed a concurrent resolution blocking them, the president's reorganization proposals would become effective 60 days after their submission to Congress. Many of the proposals suggested in last year's reorganization bill were eliminated, among these the power given the president to abolish or establish any executive department or transfer of the functions or to change the name of any department. Chances of a sound reorganization program being enacted at this session seem good.

Loans Aid Small Farmer Groups—The Farm Security Administration claims that more than 7,000 groups of small farmers had borrowed a total of $4,404,132 to purchase equipment and services for group use from the beginning of its Community Service Loan program in July, 1935 up to January 1, 1939. Such loans have expanded 128,856 farm families to expand and improve the efficiency of their farming operations through purchase of equipment or services not previously available in their communities. These loans, financing group purchase and use of equipment which no single individual could afford, have enabled small farm operators to compete on equal terms with the large, mechanized corporation farms. Such loans have also been used to purchase canning, laundry, and sewing equipment to lighten the burden of the farm home work.

Farm Marketings—Cash income from sales of farm products in January totaled $586,000,000. In December 1938 income from farm marketings totaled $613,000,000 and in January 1938 $603,000,000. Government payments to farmers in January were approximately $41,000,000 compared with $39,000,000 in December and

Athletic Program Of Ranger NYAs Being Organized

The first softball game between NYA teams in Ranger was played Sunday afternoon when a team captained by Henry Henley, with A. J. Drake pitching, defeated a "pick-up" team by a score of 8 to 7. Melvin Daniels was pitcher for the losers.

The NYA training project enrollees are organizing a track team and are to seek track meets with high schools in this part of the country as soon as a few workouts can be had. There are several high school track men from over this part of the country on the team, it was stated today. In April the track team will meet a team from the Lubbock NYA project, and will challenge the Buchanan Dam NYA school, it was stated today. Softball games are also to be sought in this part of the country.

Well In Scranton Area Is Spudded

CISCO, March 6.—L. A. Warren, et al, have spudded their No. 1 Cozart, aimed for the 1,660-foot horizon penetrated with excellent showing by a Phillips Petroleum company deep test, near Scranton and juts over the Eastland county line in Callahan county Saturday.

The well is 75 feet northwest of the Phillips deep hole, plugged and abandoned when Ellenburger formations were not productive. $620,000,000 in January 1939. Income from livestock and livestock products continued the downward trend of recent months with greater declines in income received from dairy products and poultry and eggs. Marketings of dairy and poultry products continued large but prices of eggs and dairy products declined much more than usual from December to January.

Education Not Keeping Pace With Aviation—Education has not kept pace with the rapid developments and progress in the field of aviation. The Commissioner of Education based his statement on findings of a national survey of aviation in high schools and colleges throughout the United States. Educators themselves admit the fact that despite a keen interest on the part of high school pupils and college students in the study of aviation, the prohibitive cost of equipment and training has confined the number of courses to a minimum. Only 130 high schools and 109 colleges and universities report aviation courses.

1938 Babies—Babies born in 1938 have a 62-year lease on life. The total "life expectancy at birth" for the U. S. last year, according to computations by the U. S. Public Health Service, was 62 years. This figure compares with an expectancy of 60.26 in 1931, and 60.9 as estimated for 1937. Life expectancy is almost twice as great as it was 100 years ago.

AIRYMEN OF COUNTY FORM ORGANIZATION

A temporary organization of Eastland county dairymen and others who take an interest in dairying was formed Friday night at a meeting attended by 22 persons in the office of County Agent Elmo V. Cook at Eastland. T. E. Richardson, C. C. Street and Louis Pitzer, all of Eastland, were chosen members of a committee to contact other dairymen of the county and assist Agent Cook and Assistant Agent Sam Rosenberg in plans for the next meeting at which perfection of the organization is anticipated.

Later the organization of dairymen may take the form of a herd improvement association, also known as a "cow testing association."

Several speakers from Abilene related the progress of the Taylor County Herd Improvement association in its three years of existence. C. A. Wilson, who is secretary of the Taylor association, told that the purpose of such an organization is to "Breed, feed and veal."

Wilson stressed that the purpose of a herd improvement association is not necessarily finding of new markets for milk products but the culling of herds to make dairying more profitable. He and other members of the association, said Wilson, have been able to maintain smaller herds at a greater profit since organization of the herd improvement association.

Knox Parr, Taylor county agent, told the Eastland county group that Henry Spaulding, cow tester for the Taylor county organization, tests herds of dairymen in the association at least once each month. By maintaining complete records, Parr continued, members of the association know the exact production of each cow, the feed cost, how much profit the cow makes and other valuable facts. In that manner, he pointed out, a person is able to eliminate the cows which are unprofitable.

The visitors announced District 7 Dairy Day will be held April 22 at Abilene at which time dairy cattle and dairy products will be exhibited and graded. They expressed appreciation for participation last year of Eastland county and again invited representation.

Several at the meeting indicated that they would like to avail themselves of the services of the Taylor organization tester. It was brought out previously that the tester might be available for several small herds in the county each month.

The next meeting of the dairymen will probably be arranged with a meal as a feature.

Visitors from Taylor county: Secretary Wilson of the association; W. Pritchard, farmer; Agent Parr; Tester Spaulding, and W. A. Rushman, assistant county agent.

Speakers from Eastland county at the meeting included: Dave

Henry Pullman, commander of the Eastland American Legion post, disclosed Tuesday that the members at a meeting in Eastland passed a resolution denouncing the German-American Bund which they characterized as constituting "a challenge to the American people."

A copy of the resolution was sent the state legion magazine at Houston and another copy was forwarded to National Commander Chadwick.

The resolution was as follows: "Be it resolved, by this Dullin Daniels Post No. 70 of the American Legion, at Fort Worth, Texas, in regular meeting of March 3, 1939, that

"Whereas, in the meeting of the German Nazi Bund, so-called German-American Bund, held February 20, 1939, in Madison Square Garden, New York, N. Y., the German Nazi swastika was paraded above and ahead of the flag of the United States and contrary to all rules and regulations relative to the use of our National Emblem, and

"Whereas, the German Nazi salute was given by the members of said Bund at such meeting and demonstration rather than an American salute to the Flag of our country, thus openly and defiantly pledging fealty to the German dictator, Adolf Hitler,

"We, the members of this Post and visiting legionnaires and ex-service men, now publicly denounce said Bund organization and its allies in this country for the following reasons, to-wit:

"It has contradicted every tenet of democracy and overstepped the bounds of right of free assembly and forfeited its right of existence in the United States of America. It has openly pledged its allegiance and fealty to a foreign power and in so doing denounced all allegiance, if any it ever had, to the United States of America. It has made of its meeting an open forum for the spreading of hate and intolerance. It has made undignified attacks upon the principles of our government and has attempted to place itself as a self-righteous head of a nation-wide movement to divide our country into intolerant classes through an insidious appeal to prejudice which placed Hitler in power in Germany, with high hopes to accomplish the same results in America.

Henry Pullman, commander of the Eastland American Legion post, disclosed Tuesday that the members at a meeting in Eastland passed a resolution denouncing the German-American Bund which they characterized as constituting "a challenge to the American people."

A copy of the resolution was sent the state legion magazine at Houston and another copy was forwarded to National Commander Chadwick.

The resolution was as follows: "Be it resolved, by this Dullin Daniels Post No. 70 of the American Legion, at Fort Worth, Texas, in regular meeting of March 3, 1939, that

"Whereas, in the meeting of the German Nazi Bund, so-called German-American Bund, held February 20, 1939, in Madison Square Garden, New York, N. Y., the German Nazi swastika was paraded above and ahead of the flag of the United States and contrary to all rules and regulations relative to the use of our National Emblem, and

"Whereas, the German Nazi salute was given by the members of said Bund at such meeting and demonstration rather than an American salute to the Flag of our country, thus openly and defiantly pledging fealty to the German dictator, Adolf Hitler,

"We, the members of this Post and visiting legionnaires and ex-service men, now publicly denounce said Bund organization and its allies in this country for the following reasons, to-wit:

"It has contradicted every tenet of democracy and overstepped the bounds of right of free assembly and forfeited its right of existence in the United States of America. It has openly pledged its allegiance and fealty to a foreign power and in so doing denounced all allegiance, if any it ever had, to the United States of America. It has made of its meeting an open forum for the spreading of hate and intolerance. It has made undignified attacks upon the principles of our government and has attempted to place itself as a self-righteous head of a nation-wide movement to divide our country into intolerant classes through an insidious appeal to prejudice which placed Hitler in power in Germany, with high hopes to accomplish the same results in America.

"For those reasons we denounce said Bund and say that it constitutes a challenge to the American people and nothing short of a vigorous campaign on every front, subjecting said Bund and its allies to the most scrutinizing publicity, will enable us to meet this challenge and to crush the movement."

The program will be held March 15. Prominent speakers from cities in this area are being sought.

A feature of the program will be listening to a national legion broadcast. The program will be free.

The project will provide work for 73 men until the work is completed, which will take several months.

HOT LUNCHES PROJECT GIVEN FDR APPROVAL

County Supt. T. C. Williams, announced Saturday the receipt of telegrams from Senator Tom Connally and Representative Clyde L. Garrett which advised of presidential approval of a WPA project to provide free hot lunches to undernourished and needy children.

The project is set-up for five month's operation and total cost will be $14,726, $5,503 of which will be contributed by school boards of the county and various civic agencies.

Supt. T. C. Williams submitted the project, to begin at the discretion of state WPA authorities but probably in mid-March, as the agent of school boards which desire to participate in the plan.

The project will provide employment for unemployed women, meet urgent physical needs of hungry children and also provide an opportunity for children to learn and to build up food habits necessary for maintaining good health.

Mrs. Medora S. Pitcock, area supervisor of women's and professional projects for the WPA, made clear that only home economics trained persons will be hired for project superintendents.

Workers, she said, will be from certified WPA rolls.

Schools in which the project for lunches will operate must furnish equipment and a portion of the food. Some commodities will be furnished by the Texas Relief Commission.

A list of schools in which the project will operate had not been determined.

Wedding Date Is Observed By Two Eastland People

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McCoy of Eastland, residents of this county 12 years, last Friday observed their 44th wedding anniversary.

They were married March 3 in 1895 at Thurber when that place was a prosperous little city.

"A person in those days could spend a dollar and know he could make more that next day. It wasn't like it is now when you have to keep a dollar because many people do not know if they can earn more later," commented McCoy on conditions.

McCoy, who has spent many years of his life in coal mine work, is 67 years of age. Mrs. McCoy is 62 years of age.

He was a shortstop in a baseball team at Thurber while residing there. He also had played previously for Sherman and Denison clubs.

He is a native of Indiana and Mrs. McCoy of Kentucky. Mr. McCoy has been a member of the Knights of Pythias 25 years. He also has engaged in coal mine work in Mexico, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas. In Arizona he was engaged in copper mine work.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy have one daughter, Mrs. C. H. Turner, who resides at Dallas. Two sons are dead.

With Our Wildlife BY JOHN R. WOOD, State Game Warden

Wildlife Resources Are Profitable Fur Income

Last week there was discussed in this column, fur and furbearers. A birds eye view of the national income from this source was given and a few facts about the poisoning campaigns put on in the west and just what this meant to the income of the trapper.

Today I am going to give some facts about the fur income to local trappers. People do not ordinarily see an actual money profit from our wildlife resources. Many times this income is very large, depending on the fur bearer and the section where the furs are taken. The author need not say that the fur resources of the State of Texas does not get the proper protection, and little effort is put forth to improve the conditions for building this extra money crop on the farm or ranch. Surely a million dollar industry would mean much to the state of Texas, and most Texans would do all that they could to get such a business in Texas, well, that is just exactly what we have in our fur bearers and I wish that the average land-owner could realize this fact, and help build up this valuable source of income.

The counties that were included in this survey of the fur income to the trapper were the counties in my district: Brown, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland and Erath. There is a big area that cannot produce furbearers in these six counties, and surely not much time was spent in building up this industry. But at that the total income exceeded $12,743.

Odds Against a Trapper

The average trapper this year had many odds to work against, and these were big factors in reducing the total income this year. For one the prices were very low, but on the average better than those of last year. This was probably due to the lack of foreign market due to the war situation.

A very dry fall probably had much to do with the class of fur that was produced. Because of the low prices many of the trappers would discontinue their operations. This was a big factor in reducing the total number of animals caught.

Fur-Bearers, Number Taken

There were only ten of the many furbearers taken in this area. They were 43 bobcats, 841 ringtail cats, 40 badgers, 21,366 opossum, 12,969 skunks, 450 coons, and 59 wolves.

In this survey there were several interesting facts brought out. There were about 2 1/2 times as many opossums taken as there were at this great odd the year brought three times as much as last year.

Another odd fact was that there were sold to one fur dealer. These were taken in Comanche county and in the edge of adjoining counties. The price was and from this one source the value was only $35.40. Still brought the highest total in this being about $9,981, about thirds of the total income.

This survey also pointed out several species that really need protection and laws to close season for a few years to be

PERMIT FILED FOR RANGER'S WATER SUPPLY

County Clerk R. V. Galloway announced Saturday that a permit to the City of Ranger to impound unappropriated waters of Russell Creek, a tributary of the Brazos, in Eastland County, has been filed for record in his office following presentation by the State Board of Water Engineers.

The City of Ranger, according to the permit, is to impound waters from the creek not to exceed 525 acre-feet per annum, "or so much thereof as may be necessary, when beneficially used for the purpose of domestic water supply."

Filing of the permit was after proceedings at Austin when a Travis County district court ruled it was without jurisdiction to restrain the board from granting Ranger permission to impound water from Russell Creek. Strawn had opposed granting the permission to the City of Ranger on grounds that part of the watershed area was in the watershed of a water supply for Strawn.

The permit granted Ranger by the State Board of Water Engineers explained the permission was given "Provided, that the said City of Ranger, the beneficiary, under this permit is authorized to construct a dam in and across the bed of Russell Creek, a tributary of the Brazos River, in Eastland County, Texas, said dam to be of earth fill type, 40 feet in height, 1,400 feet in length, having a top width of 20 feet and a bottom width of 235 feet, thus creating a reservoir having an average width of 1,700 feet, length of impounded water 5,100 feet, an average depth of stored water of 10 feet, and having a storage capacity of 2,000 acre-feet; said dam to be located at a point which bears S. 15 degrees, W. a distance of 900 feet from the S. E. corner of the A. Bradley original survey on the west bank of Russell Creek in Eastland County, Texas, and distant in a northeasterly direction from Ranger, Texas, about four miles; and to impound said reservoir from time to time, as the unappropriated flow of the said Russell Creek is available, and to divert said reservoir by means of a pumping plant, not to exceed 25 acre-feet of water per annum for the purpose herein stated."

Survivors are his wife: six sons, J. W. of Gorman, L. H. of Shidler, Okla., E. E. of Eastland, S. M. of Brownsville, W. O. of Odessa and R. E. Richardson of Eastland; two daughters, Mrs. G. W. Turner of Eastland and Mrs. Dora McCrary of Eastland and one sister, Mrs. Alice Merchant of Floresville.

Hound Conquers a Long Trail to Home

By United Press
UNIONTOWN, Pa. — When hunters gather these winter evenings for a session of yarn-spinning, a discussion of the wilds is hardly complete without some mention of Jack, a bear-hound.

Jack earned his niche in dogdom's hall of fame by making a 150-mile trip home alone from the bear regions of Virginia. And it was no mere jaunt for the routes between Uniontown and Virginia are intercepted with mountains and the roads were encrusted with ice.

The dog was lost two months ago while on a bear-hunt with his master, F. G. Benson.

When he appeared on a street corner here he was half-starved and in a semi-wild condition. He didn't recognize his master at first and snapped at all who came near him. His emaciated body and bleeding paws told mutely of the hardships he encountered on the journey.
