Mobilization, in 1914 and in 1939

The general mobilization that is taking place in Europe today is another evidence of how the world has changed since 1914.

In those primitive days, general mobilization was everywhere considered the next thing to war itself. It was only after the Russians mobilized that war became inevitable. Germany then insisted that it must mobilize to protect itself, and the others followed. Everybody conceded that once the great armies had actually been set in motion it was too late to avert war.

Today, or sometime before the end of the month, Europe will have eight million men standing to arms. They call it maneuvers, but it is nothing less than general mobilization.

Yet war is by no means certain. It may happen, and there are private tips circulating to the effect that the end of August will also see the beginning of the end of civilization, that is, war.

But it is by no means certain. We are in the midst of a period of 'white war,' a new technique whereby nations try to wear down the nerves of one another by constant and continuing threat of war. These tactics are especially effective in these days when war, the very day it begins, will show its ugly face at every man's front door.

Nobody wants war that is, the German people don't want it, the French people don't want it, the British, Polish, Italian and Russian peoples don't want it. But the aim of the leaders apparently is to make the threat so ever-present, so menacingly close, as to wear down the nerves and endurance of the opposing side so that it will at last yield without a fight.

It worked a year ago. Today it is by no means certain. The Poles have shown no sign of nerves as yet. The "Allies" are far better prepared than a year ago. Their nerves, too, are less shaken. Europe is far less impressed by the mobilizing of 2,500,000 Germans today than it was when a thin trickle of troops passed over to occupy the Rhineland a few years ago.

More and more clearly the game is revealed as a naked show of power for the most grossly material ends. Nobody even talks of "right" and "wrong" in Europe any more. It is simply, "I am strongest! You must yield!" "No, I am strongest! I will not yield an inch!"

Should all this reckless and child-like playing with fire result in a spreading conflagration this autumn, the United States will have need of every bit of coolness and sanity can muster. It is not too early to begin now to ask, "Must we take a hand in a game whose rules we did not make, whose cards we did not deal, and in which we cannot possibly win?"

I Give You Texas

By BOYCE HOUSE

Contrary to the generally accepted saying that people don't care for poetry any more, nearly everyone has a fondness for rhymed words. Most executives—even those who like to consider themselves hard-boiled—have a bit of verse under the glass top of their desks or in a billfold; some such sentiment as:

"When the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name, He writes not that you won or lost, but how you played the game."

"United we stand, divided we fall," declared the intoxicated man as he clung to the lamp-post.

Well, it's working out all right. None of the concerns affected by the ban on Sunday trucks (of course, those doing emergency hauling are not included) opposed the regulation and the traffic on the main highways the first Sunday was materially less, reducing traffic hazards and increasing the enjoyment of families out for a pleasant drive.

And here's an ancient one: A Negro couple living in the Florida swamps had a large family and one day the wife ran up and exclaimed, "Sam, an alligator just ate little Rastus." The husband calmly replied, "You know, Mandy, I thought somethin' had been gettin' our chillun."

Austin has the most elaborate battery of traffic signals at busy, zig-zagging corners of any seen by this observer. There is a red light and part of the time it is on a "walk" light for pedestrians shines. Then there is a green arrow pointing right or left, meaning you can drive in the direction indicated, even if the signal is red. Besides these, there are the yellow warning light and the green light. But it's not as complicated as it sounds—it couldn't be.

Even more elaborate than the traffic signals are the toothpick machines in some of the Austin cafes. The customer presses a lever and one toothpick shoots into view. You have to grab quick or it'll drop back out of sight, proving that the hand is not quicker than the eye.

This contrivance keeps the patron from carrying away two toothpicks instead of one. Since a box of toothpicks costs 10 cents, this loss would amount to perhaps 70 cents in the course of a year. However, this saving is somewhat reduced by the fact that the machine costs $5 or thereabouts and is inclined to get out of order every few weeks, requiring the services of a skilled mechanic armed with a kit of tools as numerous as those of a veterinarian working on a sick race-horse. It's a great age we're living in.

For Each Employee Chains Pay Taxes That Total $215

DALLAS, Tex.—An amount equal to over 60 per cent (average) of their earned profits was paid by 138 leading chain stores companies of all sizes, all types, in taxes for 1937, Charles B. Roberts, president of the Texas Chain Stores Association, announced today. These tax payments, which amounted to 2.94 per cent (average) of total sales were quoted from a compilation by the Institute of Distribution, Inc., and supplied to Roberts, whose official duties cover the Southwest as field officer for Sears, Roebuck and Co. The survey was conducted by Institute of Distribution, Inc., and four other associations of chain stores. Findings were certified by the public accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company.

Total dollar sales of the reporting companies were $3,485,129,762 and their combined payrolls were $511,055,858.

For every employee, $215 was paid in taxes for government; for every store, $3,108 was paid in taxes.

Roberts said that "out of every dollar of the sales of reporting chain food stores the government took 1.79c for taxes, while average net profit of these reporting companies was 1.12c." Roberts quoted Ward Melville, chairman of the Institute of Distribution, as saying that "this latest comprehensive survey constitutes an effective answer to those who believe that the chains do not bear their full share of the tax burden." Mr. Melville added that whereas most types of individual-owned stores average less than 1 per cent of their total sales in taxes as against an average of 2.94 per cent of sales by their chain store competitors, chain store companies are asked to pay every conceivable type of levy that can be imposed on retail business, as shown by the fact that one typical company, included in the survey, had on its books, records of payment of 209 different taxes, not of course, including the substantial additional taxes that, like its chain store competitors, it indirectly paid through higher rentals.

Quebec Builds A Modern Prison Without Any Bars

HULL, Que.—A modern, barless prison for men, women and juveniles, which may act as a model for future structures of its kind, will open shortly at Val Tebeau near here.

The prison is the first of its kind in Canada and probably in the British empire. Air-conditioning, indirect lighting and toilets in most of the 87 cells are only a few of the features of the new bastille. At allotted hours prisoners may roam the spacious terraces and get a sun tan and plenty of fresh air.

The windows of the jail are of thick double plate-glass, with the steel sash set about eight inches into the wall. A small section in the window may be opened to provide fresh air. To escape by this route would mean tearing down a section of the wall.

There is no death cell in the building, and those condemned to die will be put in a bright, airy room and given all the privileges justice will permit. There is, however, a "hole" where unruly prisoners will be put until they decide to behave.

Juvenile prisoners will be segregated from adults and will have a separate cell block. Cells for women prisoners will be on the opposite side to that of the men.

The governor's quarters have no connecting doors with the prison, and to enter the prison he must leave his quarters and enter the prison by the front door.

The prison was built by the Quebec government at a cost of $300,000.

Elements Scar An Old Mission of 1783

TUCSON, Ariz.—Unless funds are forthcoming for a complete rebuilding program, historic mission San Xavier del Bac, said to be one of the oldest missions in either California or Arizona, faces destruction by the elements, according to Father Mark Boucher, O.F.M., pastor of the church.

Located nine miles from Tucson, the mission was built in 1783 by the Jesuits. It has been partly restored several times, but storms during the last few years have so damaged the structure that a complete rebuilding program is necessary, Father Boucher said.

A recent electrical storm, described by Papago Indians living on the San Xavier reservation as the worst in their memory, destroyed nearly all the cupola on the west tower and knocked a massive iron door from the courtyard.

Merch. Boucher said, "The west side of the mission is demolished several feet of plaster. It continued along a wall and bored a three-inch hole in a flight of stairs."

Another bolt jumped to the choir loft roof and spread over most of the building, the priest said, but did not damage the decorations and murals on the altar.

Sudden dust and high wind storms, as well as lightning, have buffeted the mission so severely, Father Boucher reported, that few portions of the structure, with the exception of the murals and decorations near the altar, have escaped.

The aged adobe walls of the mission have been cracked and dented. Many of the windows are broken.

Leaders of Japan and China have endorsed moral rearmament. Some day, maybe, they'll practice it.

HOME TOWN GIRL MAKES GOOD

..when she loses beer

WHAT'S THE AUGMENT, GIRLS? JESSIE SAYS ALL BEERS TASTE ALIKE. SHE CERTAINLY HASN'T TASTED SOUTHERN SELECT. I'LL BET IT TASTES LIKE ALL THE REST. O.K. YOU TREAT US TO THE MOVIES IF YOU LOSE. WHERE HAS THIS BEEN ALL MY LIFE! COME ON ME FOLKS, THE MOVIES ARE ON ME.

I KNEW SHE'D LOSE WHEN SHE TOOK HER FIRST TASTE OF SOUTHERN SELECT.

Here's WHY Southern Select is different

Next time a skeptical friend says all beer is the same—just hand him a bottle of SOUTHERN SELECT. And while he is still looking amazed at its difference you can show off your knowledge by informing him that the reason for that special SOUTHERN SELECT smoothness is the fact that it is the South's only distilled water brew. If you have a friend who has never tasted this famous old brew you'll be doing him a favor to introduce him to SOUTHERN SELECT. The first taste makes friends.

STATE AND COUNTY TAX COLLECTIONS 70 PERCENT

State and county tax collections for the period from Oct. 1, 1938, to June 30, 1939, were 70 percent of the total levy, according to Assessor-Collector C. H. O'Brien.

If all county collections were made the total would have been $317,948.57, while actual collections were $214,732.11, O'Brien stated.

Of $90,013.68 of state taxes on the books for the period during that time $62,313.01 were the actual state tax collections.

Of course, the amounts which are delinquent that period will be paid from time to time.

Observers said that the rate of collection was indicative tax collections and economic conditions of the county are generally good.

Honorary Degree Given Seiberlings

American educators are collectively scratching their heads trying to recall an instance similar to the conferring of honorary degrees upon F. A. and C. W. Seiberling recently by the university of Akron, at Akron, Ohio, according to Jim Horton of Jim Horton Tire Service, Seiberling tire dealer.

For the first time in anybody's recollection, two brothers were honored with the same degrees at the same time. Both of them received the hood symbolic of the degree of Doctor of Law from President Hazelton Simmons as a feature of the university's commencement program.

F. A. Seiberling, who will be 80 years old in October, and C. W., 78, are known for their far-flung contributions to American industrial and social life. The two "Seiberling boys" have come through life together side by side, through thick and through thin.

They founded the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in 1898 in an abandoned factory with borrowed capital, guided it and built it into one of the greatest industrial concerns in existence and then in 1921, at an age when most men are ready for retirement, left to found the company which bears their name . . . The Seiberling Rubber Company.

"F. A.", considered as the industry's greatest inventive genius, is responsible for more contributions to the development of the rubber tire as we know it today than any other one man. Now the dean of the industry, he still is known as "The Little Napoleon of Rubber."

"C. W." is referred to by everyone in his home town as "Akron's Number One Citizen." Besides his many contributions to the rubber industry, chief of which are in the field of personnel development, he has contributed more to the welfare of Akron than any man alive today. No civic movement is complete without him, according to Horton.

Eastland County Third In Payment Of Westex Claims

AUSTIN, Aug. 12.—Veterans widows, dependent children, and "Gold Star" parents of World War soldiers in West Texas received payments of $52,358 from the federal government during the first six months of this year on the basis claims cleared through the state Veterans service here, according to State Officer C. Betts.

Mr. Betts estimated between 85 and 90 per cent of all veterans claims in Texas are serviced through the state office. Others, however, are handled by the Red Cross and similar organizations. Some are negotiated directly with officials in Washington.

Claims paid in Taylor county topped the West Texas list. The total for that county was $9,779. Kerr county was second, with $7,140; Eastland third, with $5,053.

Drivers' Licenses May Be Stamped at Assessor Office

Citizens may get their drivers' licenses stamped to show that they are valid by going to the office of Assessor-Collector C. H. O'Brien.

The highway patrol office at Eastland is only open every Tuesday morning and the plan to have O'Brien's office stamp the licenses was decided upon for the convenience of the Public.

It is especially necessary for those who go out-of-state to get their licenses stamped to show they are valid, it was pointed out. The legislature this year failed to enact legislation providing for re-issuance of the licenses and the stamping plan was decided upon.

No Better than the Rest, . . . but as good as the best, is a wise investment in real property.

A well known out-of-town broker and large property owner made the above statement in our office this week. His experience has been, and he has been successful, that real property values fluctuate and are at times subjected to high taxes, litigation and foolish rush-room booms yet they rank high with the man who has large or small amounts to invest.

This is very true in the case of homes. No one ever lost anything by buying a home. While a few may occasionally have hard luck and be dispossessed of the physical property, but the joy experienced in having one for awhile cannot be measured in dollars and cents.
