Success Registered In Storing of Pork In Oil Says Farmer

J. B. Eberhart, who lives four miles North of Rising Star, has used for several years and highly recommends the method of storing cured pork in refined cottonseed oil which has been worked out by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and is being recommended by extension agents.

He has stored more than 200 tons of cured pork per year for the past four years and has not only had no losses of meat but has had a good quality of meat until the last piece was used.

He has used the same oil several times after heating and straining it. Pieces of meat that he over-looked and left in the oil for two years were still in good condition when he used them.

Eberhart got his first information on storing pork in oil when he attended the Farmers Short Course at A. & M. College in 1934 with the county agent.

Ranger Wins In Second Round of Contest on Lake

The Third Court of Civil Appeals at Austin ruled in favor of the City of Ranger in the court controversy with the City of Strawn over impounding water for a municipal water supply lake on Russell Creek, east of Ranger.

The case had been appealed to the Austin court, after a district court in Austin ruled, previously, that the courts did not have jurisdiction over permits issued by the State Board of Water Engineers, which had granted Ranger a permit to impound water in the proposed lake.

The Austin Court of Civil Appeals held that Strawn had no right to appeal from an order of the state board a year ago, granting Ranger permission to construct the dam, upstream from Strawn's reservoir. Strawn had contended that the creek could not supply water for both lakes, though engineers had surveyed the watershed and declared there was more than enough water to be impounded from the area for both.

The court said its judgment in no way "affects or adjudicates whatever rights Strawn may have to enjoy Ranger from building the dam or appropriating the waters of the creek in a plenary suit brought for that purpose in the proper form."

Beer Election Is Held Valid In 88th Court

Judge B. W. Patterson of 88th district court late Thursday afternoon held the October 7 county beer election, validity of which was attacked in a suit, is valid.

Judge Patterson's decision was given at the conclusion of arguments on questions of law. Judge Patterson declared that generally speaking the contestants failed to prove their allegations the election was invalid.

The contestants excepted and gave notice of appeal. The October 7 beer election resulted in a dry majority.

Earl Conner, Jr., criminal district attorney, represented the contestants and Milton Lawrence the contestants.

Eyes Gone Yet He Builds His House Without Any Help

PITTSBURGH—Robert L. Grove Sr., is building a three-room addition to his house "by feel."

Grove, a carpenter for 45 years, has been virtually blind for six years. Grove decided last April to build the annex because he couldn't stand idleness. He built the main dwelling of four rooms in 1929.

Grove's blindness does not appear to handicap him greatly. Already he has made excavations, laid foundations, set in the sills and the building has begun to take form. He hopes to complete the project by next spring.

The blind carpenter uses a T-square or a strip of lumber to guide him while sawing lumber, but driving nails is his biggest problem. He holds the nail until the hammer-head begins to pinch his thumb and forefinger, then lets go and sinks the nail with one or two more strikes.

"But it gnarls his hands pretty bad sometimes," said Mrs. Grove.

PREPARING OF PORK TOLD BY AGENT E. COOK

The "A. & M. College way" of killing and curing pork is the surest, most economical and most practical way, according to Elmo V. Cook, county agent, who guarantees the methods recommended by the A. & M. Extension Service to produce excellent cured meat.

He points out that it is just a combination of the best of many old tried and proved methods.

The first consideration is producing prime healthy hogs that weigh 200 to 225 pounds when five to six months of age. The weather should be cool, dry, and clear if possible. It can be kept in mind that perfect weather for killing hogs can be found in most cold storage plants any time of the year, so no one need wait when the outside weather isn't suitable, just chill and cure in cold storage if the outside weather isn't right.

Keep hogs off feed from 12 to 24 hours before butchering for best results. Sticking improperly, thus causing poor bleeding, is one of the principal causes of spoiled hams and shoulders. It is best to stick the hog and allow it to bleed to death. Those who don't want to do this should be sure of a good bleed.

The usual methods of scalding and cleaning are satisfactory in most cases. Dressing is often a botched job but is easily done properly. When a hog is cut in halves down the center of the backbone and allowed to hang in halves overnight the meat is properly chilled, can then be cut up into nicely shaped cuts easier, and will then take the curing mixture more thoroughly than when the cure is applied while the meat is still hot. The advantage in dividing the backbone is to preserve the loin muscle as is done when the backbone is hacked out. The loin is one of the best cuts of the hog carcass.

Dividing the halves into the various cuts is a much neater job when done properly but it takes diagrams or an actual demonstration to show how best to do it.

One of the most important considerations in the curing mixture. For 100 pounds of meat use 8 pounds salt, 3 pounds brown or cane sugar and 3 ounces saltpetre (potassium nitrate). Rub half of this mixture on the pieces and pack them down in a clean tight barrel. At the end of seven days take the meat up, rub on the remainder of the mixture, and re-pack it into the barrel. Bacon, Canadian bacon, and shoulder butts should cure one and one half days per pound per piece, hams and shoulders three days per pound per piece.

After the meat is cured it should be washed to remove the salt from the surface, soaked in cool water for one to three hours, and then smoked. It is then ready to be eaten or stored. Meat properly stored in refined cottonseed oil or peanut oil will keep its fresh taste indefinitely. When meat is not properly stored it soon becomes strong and rancid.

Cook lists as some of the most important considerations in killing and curing pork the following precautions:

1. Don't overheat the animal before killing.
2. Bleed well.
3. Chill meat thoroughly before curing.
4. Use pure salt, sugar, and saltpetre.
5. Scald utensils before using if a brine cure is used.
6. Do not puncture pieces of meat to admit cures.
7. Cure in a cool, dry place.
8. Examine the meat frequently.
9. Cleanliness in handling the meat is very important.

Eastland county farmers who are further interested in the A. & M. method of hog curing are invited to discuss the method with the county agent.

Officers For 4-H Clubs To Convene

A meeting of secretaries, presidents and program chairmen of girls' 4-H clubs will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the courthouse at which time those officers of the clubs will receive special training from Margaret Blount, assistant county home agent.

At the same time plans for achievement day and Christmas activities will be formulated.

INQUIRIES ON PAVING PLAN ARE INVITED

Released today by City of Eastland officials is the following information urging citizens to take advantage of a plan whereby streets may be paved at a low cost:

The City Commission has been busy the past few weeks looking over streets that have been paved within the last year's time, also the work going on at present.

We again wish to call to the attention of the citizens of Eastland who desire to have their streets paved with a cement curb and gutter, to take the opportunity which presents itself at this time. It is the duty of every citizen desiring to have his street paved to discuss the matter with M. H. Kelly, the City Manager, who will gladly go over the proposition with those interested, showing the property owners on the street, the amount of money to be raised in order to pave any certain street or part thereof. The City Commission has been fortunate in having the money appropriated in paving streets along with building curb and gutter by the Federal Government, and only ask the property owner for sufficient funds to pay the actual cash outlay that is necessary in paving the streets, the City furnishing its machinery, trucks, etc., free of any cost to the property owner. The cost of paving a street, to the property owner, is approximately 70 cents per running foot, which is considered less than it would cost anyone to build only the curb and gutter.

If anyone is interested in having their streets paved, we urge them to take the opportunity at this time, as it is impossible to say how much longer the street paving work will continue, and additional streets are needed to work on at the present time.

The increased convenience of these paved streets is worth many times the actual cost to the property owner under the present program, and it is feared that after the street paving has been discontinued, many residents will then complain of not having had the opportunity to have their street paved, therefore, please consider this matter at once, and if interested, get in touch with the City Manager, as the City Commission considers it the duty of the property owner on any street to make the necessary financial arrangements, as they are the ones that are receiving the benefit.

Here's How That Hastily Mailed Letter Can Be Retrieved

NEW YORK—Did you ever mail a letter and then wish you hadn't?

Don't expect to wait at the corner box and ask the mail collector to hand it over. He won't. Postmaster Albert Goldman explains that the proper method is to notify the local post office, and it will take the proper steps, even intercept the letter at the railroad station.

In New York, such crises are referred to the Classification Section, which gets from one to five requests a day to intercept letters. It usually overtakes the letter at the main post office or at the railroad station. If it already is on its way out of town, the sender must pay for a telegram to the post office at the destination.

Brands On Cattle No Longer Proof of Man's Ownership

AUSTIN, Tex.—A brand marking a steer with a "Lazy S" or a "Bar X" or other well known ranchers brand no longer is proof positive that the branded animal belongs to a particular owner.

A ruling of the state legal department has held that one or more persons may register the same brand, provided the second and later users specify it shall be placed on a different part of the animal.

Thus a reclining "S" brand on the shoulder of one steer may mean he belongs to one ranch. The same brand on the side might designate another.

Brands are registered with county clerks. The rancher who registers the brand must specify where it is to be placed.

Prediction By Collie Proves Nearly Perfect

State Senator W. B. Collie of Eastland stood alone Oct. 1, 1937, when he made a minority report of the senate general investigating committee and predicted the state deficit would continue to rise.

The majority report of the committee stated that the state deficit—then $15,194,632.01—would decrease and that additional taxation was not needed. The majority committee report said that extra taxation would not be needed to finance social security costs because of extra revenues due to increasing business.

Senator Collie not only said that extra taxation was needed but even predicted how the deficit would rise. Collie predicted that the deficit would rise to $20,673,000 by Aug. 31, 1938, and to $24,488,923 on August 31, 1939. An October report by the state treasurer shows the deficit in the state general fund is now $23,454,404.55. Collie's prediction, it is seen, was amazingly near perfect.

Senator Collie qualified his prediction in 1937 that the state deficit would continue to increase by stating that appropriations in the future would probably be larger. Nor did he see any great amount of increase of revenues due to increased business as did the other committee members.

At that time Senator Collie supported a tax bill which would have risen seven or eight million each year. Over the two-year period since then over $15,000,000 would have been raised to pay social security amounts.

The state senator has written Gov. O'Daniel in reply to a letter that he would cooperate in the proposed special session to raise social security costs. Of course, any tax bill must originate in the house of representatives, said Collie, and he did not promise support on any particular plan as now suggested. Any suggested tax bill now might be totally different when emerging from the house for senate action.

Collie said he would follow as closely as possible the views of residents of this section on any tax bill.

Watching Propaganda at Home

If every piece of propaganda that reached the American public were boldly labeled and bore a clear description of its source, citizens of this country would know exactly what to do with it. They might read it, but they would not be misled to believe that the report is necessarily authentic.

Even if there were a law to compel such labeling of propaganda in speeches, pamphlets, statements and circular letters, enforcement would be almost impossible. The successful effect of much propaganda depends upon its being disguised as fact.

Most of the wartime propaganda fed to Americans has foreign origin but much of the propaganda with which citizens must contend has its origin right here in the United States. That kind is the most dangerous.

During a period when the majority of the people are particularly anxious to remain neutral, decidedly partisan bulletins are being issued by national groups, frequently supported by prominent persons. Speeches are made and petitions are signed and resolutions are passed. Influenced by certain apparent objective of the organization, many people are persuaded to align themselves with such groups and unwittingly lend their support to more subtle purposes. Such organizations are run by Americans and composed of Americans. They are not consciously the pawns of any other government. They operate freely and openly under the prerogative of free speech, free press and free assembly. These are their rights; and remove them would be unjust and undemocratic.

Foreign agents disseminating propaganda in the United States are now required to register with the Secretary of State. In this respect, at least, they are labeled. American citizens are under no such compulsion as long as they are not in the employ of other nations. They are free to operate in any manner they see fit as long as their activities are not treasonable.

Thus, it is possible for American citizens to play directly into the hands of foreign governments with the widest possible liberty. It is true that many groups whose actions today fall into the category of propaganda are not desirous of leading America into war. But their unneutral tendencies, their efforts to support one side against the other, are not helping this country to emphasize its disdain for conflict and its determination not to become involved.

Emergency Loans On Feed And Crops are Now Available

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit associations, banks, or other private concerns or individuals.

Packers In Valley Waste Only Scent Of Citrus Blossom

"Like the meat packers who boast of using every part of the hog but the squeal, we utilize every part of the grapefruit but the scent of the blossoms," says A. L. Cramer, president of the Engelman Gardens Association of Edinburg, Texas, one of the world's largest growers and shippers of citrus fruits and their by-products.

"The canning of Won-Up grapefruit juice is only one of the operations which are conducted at our three Valley plants," Cramer continued. "During the grapefruit season we can pick and pack 35 carloads of fruit a day. Our juice plant has a daily capacity of 865,000 cans."

"Where does the market for peel and seed come in?" he was asked. "Through our citrus meal cattle feed," Cramer explained. "The residue from the juice plant, that is, the grapefruit peel, 'rag' and seed, goes through our dehydrating plant where it is processed into a cattle feed of special fattening and energizing properties. The feed finds a ready market with stock raisers, and its sale converts what was formerly an expensive disposal problem into a profitable revenue for our association. So you see," he added, "we market literally every part of the crop but the delightful fragrance which fills the entire Valley during the season of the year when the trees are in blossom."

Engelman Gardens, a tract of 11,000 acres near Edinburg, in the Rio Grande Valley, was developed in 1926 by J. C. Engelman, Jr., a pioneer in the building up of the Valley as a citrus growing center. The Association, purely cooperative, it owned, controlled and operated by the grove owners of Engelman Gardens. The association provides complete service at cost for the care of orchards and the harvesting, processing, packing and selling of the fruit and by-products.

Pigs Bring Money to Hereford Woman

By United Press. HEREFORD, Tex.—Pigs is pigs but to Miss Ira Jeanne Ricketts they are money in the bank. Ten years ago she bought a sow pig. She paid $5 for the pig—it was a registered Duroc Jersey sow. In the 10 years, that pig and its progeny have earned Miss Ricketts a gross of more than $1,000. The 4-H club girl now is 19 years old. She was nine when she bought the pig. Then she became a member of a 4-H club, the only girl member. She kept the sow pig after the club project was finished and raised several litters from her. Later she sold the sow, bought another, and has been raising swine for market ever since. Since selling her first hogs in 1931 she has had a gross income of $1,019.59. Of this, she spent $339.86 for feed. Total net profit: $679.73.

Localites Like Recent Drop In Auto Tire Price

Show Appreciation in Purchase of Casings, Station Head Says

Announcement by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of drastic reductions in the consumer list price of tires and tubes has been enthusiastically received by residents of this area, according to C. T. Luens, Goodyear dealer.

"The public seems appreciative of the fact that Goodyear has made this contribution toward price stabilization in the face of the current upward trend," Mr. Luens declared. "We have received many calls of commendation and proof of the way local motorists feel about the reductions in price in the increase in sales since the new prices became effective on November 1."

"Coming at this time of year, when highways in many sections of the country are wet and slippery, the price reductions are especially important to car owners who realize that new tires, with sharp gripping treads, are the best possible protection against skids," Mr. Luens said.

In the original announcement, P. W. Hitchfield of Goodyear explained the reductions were made possible by savings in manufacturing costs resulting from modernization of the company's factories in Akron, Los Angeles, Jackson, Mich., and Gadsden, Ala., and by establishment of bulk plants at strategic points throughout the U. S. that have brought about a more simplified system of distribution. He also emphasized the company's belief that "this principle of immediately passing a legitimate share of such savings along to the public is consistent with enlightened economic policy and indispensable to the continuance of national recovery."

In the opinion of Goodyear executives that in addition to stabilizing prices to a degree unknown during the past year, the new arrangement will correct the evils of fictitious price lists, from which hoards have been offered and re-established consumer lists on a "walk basis," Mr. Luens concluded.

Garrett And Wife Go To Meeting Of Baptist Tuesday

Congressman Clyde L. Garrett and Mrs. Garrett left Tuesday for San Antonio from Eastland to attend the annual General Baptist State Convention.

They will return the latter part of this week. Congressman Garrett will be in his office the first three or four days of next week, it was stated. His office is located above the Corner Drug Store building on the west side of the square. Inspection Of Gas Heating Equipment Urged By Officials

Several hundred dirt-daubers in town are looking for new homes, R. N. Wilson, local gas company official, reports. He attributes the acute housing shortage among the insects to the recent cold snap which brought gas stoves out of garages and other storage places and set them up for use.

"Dirt-daubers had rather build their dirt houses in space heaters, orifices, and tubing connection ends than any other place, apparently," the gas man explained. "And when our customers set their stoves up for the winter heating season, they sometimes find the gas won't turn on. Investigation usually shows the remains of a dirt-dauber's summer home blocking the passage."

A serious warning was issued by the gas company, urging customers to have all heating equipment and gas piping inspected now, at the beginning of the heating season.

"Dirty, improperly adjusted burners not only waste gas, but are a possible source of carbon monoxide which can result from the incomplete combustion of any fuel," they pointed out. "Properly used, natural gas is as safe as any other fuel, and a few simple precautions will eliminate the possibility of accidents," they continued. "Fire chiefs over the state annually urge gas users to attach their heaters to gas outlets with rigid metal pipe and screw connections, and to have all heating equipment and piping inspected and adjusted by qualified experts. Gas cocks should be inspected and if loose, should be leak proofed or replaced. Heaters should be at least four inches from walls, and open flame gas heaters should have screen guards over them. Curtains, draperies and similar inflammable materials should be kept away from heaters."

"If escaping gas is detected, all flames should be extinguished at once and doors and windows should be opened. Gas valves and cocks should be closed and the gas turned off at the meter. Call the gas company or a competent plumber at once, and meanwhile allow no flame of any kind to be brought into the room."

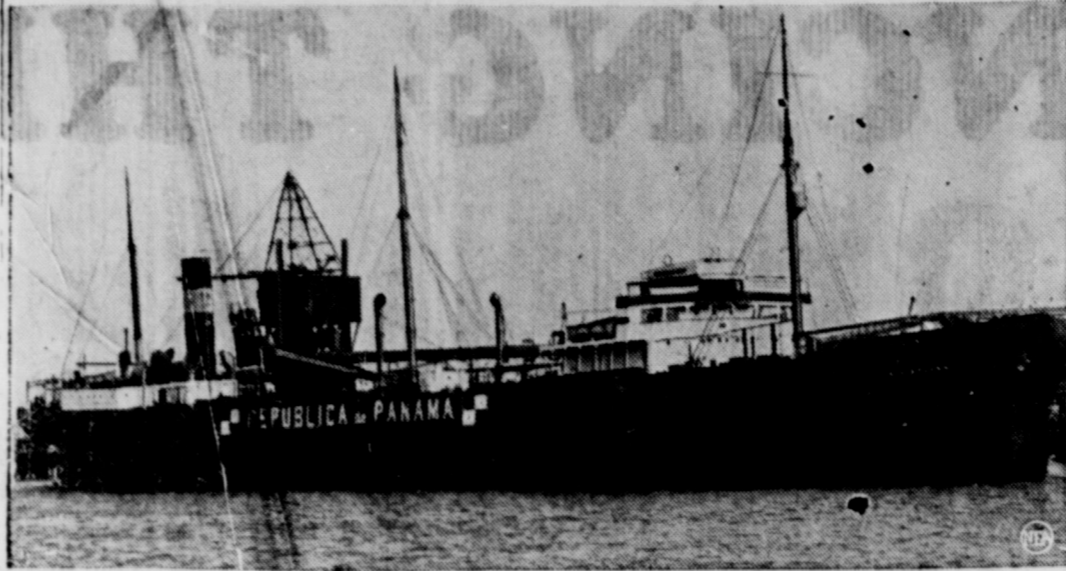

First Of Eastland Deer Hunters Off For Game Hunting

The first of Eastland hunters responding to the annual deer season opening call were leaving or had left Tuesday with many others planning to leave for favored hunting spots later in the week.

C. J. Rhodes and Horace Oldham were off to the Davis mountains. George Harper and Ben Mitchell had left for the Big Bend country. County Agent and Mrs. Elmo V. Cook were leaving for Llano country.

Michigan convicts who attempted to escape during a prison grid contest may have been just walking out on the game.

First U. S. Ship to Don Panama's Colors

First U. S. ship to haul down the Stars and Stripes and run up Panama's flag is the H. H. Tanker is pictured at her Boston berth, reportedly scheduled for belligerent port.

10,000 Pilots Are Being Trained In U. S. at Present

WASHINGTON.—Some 10,000 air-minded students in 420 of the nation's universities and colleges are training for their wings.

They are the participating undergraduates who have enrolled in the civilian pilot training program conceived and developed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

They are scattered throughout the country in schools large and small, technical and academic, educational and regular. Two Negro colleges are among them.

The plan has been acclaimed a pronounced success both in Washington and on the campuses. Tried experimentally on a relatively minute scale in 1938, the program gave so much promise that Congress appropriated $4,000,000 for a full-blown exploitation of the idea this year.

There are two essential aims, as conceived by Robert H. Hinckley, CAA chairman:

1. To develop and possibly perfect fliers, well-schooled in the work, who would provide, in time of national emergency, a valuable adjunct to the regular armed services.
2. To stimulate private flying activities with an eye to promoting air commerce and accelerating the aviation industry.

The CAA, under terms in effect this year, pays from $270 to $280 per student to the permanent pilot-teachers attached to the college's flying school. In addition, it allows the college $20 per student in the ground classes. It has set a maximum of $40 as the lab fee charged the student for his class hours.

ONE OUT OF EVERY FOUR ADULTS HAS Sinus Disease

According to leading doctors "sinus trouble is one of the most prevalent diseases of today. This dreaded and severely painful disease is caused by and follows the COMMON COLD." All kinds of serious complications besides sinus infection follow the common cold. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ wages its attack to pave the way for such serious illnesses as bronchitis, pneumonia, tuberculosis and other serious health-wrecking diseases. Frequently cold infection extends into the ear or mastoid.

HEAT YOUR ENTIRE HOME FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

DURING the common cold months, or winter season, it is especially important to take every precaution to protect your health. Quick changes of temperature should be avoided. Sudden changes of temperature, such as occur when going from a warm room into a cold one, make it easy for you to "catch cold." For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you use, heat your entire house and provide adequate ventilation during the short winter season.

AL CAPONE IS RELEASED BY FEDERAL MEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Scarface Al Capone, once overlord of Chicago's gangs, was whisked across the country in secret and released today from federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. Broken in health and tortured by mental aberrations produced by paresis, Capone was turned over to relatives and accompanied by three federal officials when he left federal custody at Lewisburg after serving seven years, six months and 15 days on an 11-year sentence on income tax evasion.

FRANK MURPHY MAY SUCCEED LATE JUSTICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Nomination of Attorney General Frank Murphy to be an associate justice of the supreme court and promotion of Solicitor General Robert Jackson to cabinet rank appeared likely today, following the death of Supreme Court Justice Pierce Butler, 73. Butler died two hours before dawn today and his passing marked the end of a political contest that wracked the nation.

State Agency For Assessing Taxes Is Recommended

AUSTIN, Tex.—Assessment of property for the ad valorem tax is a task that should be in the hands of some state agency, relieving Texas cities of this obligation, it is pointed out in a current study made by the Bureau of Municipal Research at the University of Texas. A central bureau would assist municipalities in enforcing tax laws and unifying assessing practices, M. G. Toepel, author of the report said. He pointed out that Texas is the only state today without some form of state tax commission.

Cutting Down On Legislative Time Didn't Work Out

AUSTIN, Tex.—A revolutionary proposal for shortening work of Texas legislatures was rejected by a house committee to recommend new rules because the change could be effected only by united action of the house and senate. Rep. Maurice Dowell of Luling suggested to the committee that committee hearings on bills might be eliminated. He proposed that when a bill passed either the house or the senate it should go on the calendar of the other body, without having to go again to a hearing by representatives and senators would have to be arranged.

WAR OF WORDS IN FULL BLAST OVER EUROPE

Nazis and communists kept Europe's war of words going full blast today but the fighting front was quiet. In Berlin it was declared Adolf Hitler will carry on the conflict until "British supremacy has been destroyed." Allied maneuvers to strangle the nazis economically held the initiative. So far there have been only threats of big-scale attacks. In Moscow similar tactics were used against Finland. The Soviet press charged the Finns with provocation, reminded them of Poland's fate and denounced Allied and Scandinavian capitalists as encouraging Finland to block Russia's aims. But there was little prospect of an immediate clash. The Finns watched calmly and a dispatch from Copenhagen charged Russian troops were marching into five Latvian towns which had not been designated as garrison towns under the Russian-Latvian accord. London sources said an important announcement of British-French economic cooperation might be expected soon. It was believed an economic federation might be planned including a customs union and a pooling of resources of the two empires. Such a move might lend reality to the idea of an eventual United States of Europe. People on both sides in the war have desired some radically different plan for future security of Europe.

SILVER CITY, N. M.—There was a "no trespassing and no hunting" sign on J. C. Miller's ranch in the Burro Mountains, but— A party of hunters left open the gates, killed a buck, went to the ranch house when Miller was away, took a pet saddle pony and used it to pack the deer out to their car.

Trade Boom Seen In Saskatchewan

REGINA, Sask.—Their best harvest in a decade now reaped, Saskatchewan's farmers are indulging in one of the biggest buying sprees since 1930. For years thousands of them have been on relief. But 1933 brought the great majority of Saskatchewan's farm population, more than 80 per cent of the total, rehabilitation in cash and spirit. Prospects for the next year are bright. Saskatchewan is the main agricultural province of Canada and the importance of the province in the production of foods for the warring allies cannot be overestimated. Agricultural prices are on the rise, too. The 1932 wheat crop of an estimated 230,000,000 bushels, of which 200,000,000 likely will be sold into commercial channels, was the best yield the province has enjoyed since the bumper crop of 1928. It means an income of $100,000,000, or approximately $40,000 more than the harvest of 1932 brought. It is estimated that other agricultural produce such as coarse grains, livestock, dairy produce, poultry produce, and wool will net a total income of 1933 of between $65,000,000 and $90,000,000. The total income for all agricultural produce, including wheat, thus will approximate $200,000,000. Farmers are using their cash for purchases of everything from automobiles to calico and are paying their back debts as well. Saskatchewan cities haven't known such a business boom since 1930. Regina bank clearings for the first week of October, for instance, totaled $15,000,000, just double that of 1932.

DENTON, Tex.—"Dorothy Roberts," said Dr. Joe Ray in the opening session of his government 131 class at the North Texas State Teachers College—and three girls piped up in answer to roll call. All freshmen, the girls caused so much confusion that J. W. "Dad" Pender, head of the government department at the Teachers College, changed their schedules so that only one Dorothy Roberts would be in any government 131 class at the same time. Dorothy Jane Roberts, second-term freshman from Corsicana, was transferred to Dr. R. L. Connor's class, Dorothy Jean Roberts, Denton Girl, was listed on Ross Compton's class, and Dorothy Ruth Roberts of Vernon remained to take government under Dr. Joe Ray.

Lukemia Victim Is Given Transfusion

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 16.—A physician and a 19-year-old girl took the one chance in thousands today that might save six-year-old Norman Golinsky, whom doctors said will die within a week with leukemia, a rare blood disease. The girl recovered from the disease three years ago. Her physician agreed to make a test to determine if her blood is the proper type for a transfusion in an attempt to save the boy's life. The case parallels that of eight year old Cathryn Felt of Philadelphia, except that it is, perhaps, more serious.

Mixing Water and Oil Is Compared To Air Phenomena

FORT SAM HOUSTON, San Antonio, Tex.—Post weather officers at Kelly Field, near San Antonio, Texas, describe the creation of certain air phenomena as being comparable to the action of oil and water when simultaneously poured into the same container. As each commodity wages a turbulent fight to reach its normal level, so does one layer of air over-run or under-run another, thereby producing various atmospheric conditions. These phenomena are a subject of tremendous interest to the United States Army Air Corps, for by the proper accumulation and calculation of air data its pilots are constantly prepared for all weather eventualities on cross-country flights.

The weather station at Kelly Field never closes. By radio and teletype it receives air data once each hour from 200 weather observatories and stations strategically located throughout the United States. As it is received it is recorded on weather charts which embrace all of the United States, Canada and Mexico, as well as an area 1,000 miles over the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans from our coast line. Although officers at that field state it is possible to prognosticate fairly accurately the atmospheric conditions from 18 to 36 hours in advance, yet each six hours a new weather chart is prepared from the information which they receive.

The men who evaluate and record the information received from the 200 weather observatories and stations are trained for that service by the United States Army Air Corps school at Dayton, Ohio. In explaining that the Air Corps is anxious to enlist suitable young men who are interested in this type of work one officer stated "with private weather stations opening up for the purpose of keeping clothing, refreshment, food and other manufacturers informed far in advance of possible weather conditions to facilitate the distribution of seasonal commodities, they have found our trained men meet their technical requirements for employment, resulting in the Air Corps losing some of those men after we train them."

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY

● Thrifty housewives who keep a close check on expenses know that electricity is the biggest bargain of all household needs. They also know that the more electricity they use, the more they save in time, energy, add to the comfort of their home and protect the health of their family.

They know, for instance, that a penny's worth of electricity cleans the rugs in the entire house; that a few pennies a day is all it costs to keep food fresh and healthful in an electric refrigerator; that good light for reading costs only a penny or two an evening, and radio entertainment for a whole evening costs less than three cents.

When the end of a month comes around, they know that the cost of full use of electric service has averaged only a few cents a day, and is one of the smallest items of household expense . . . and the biggest bargain.
