Audience Pleased With Play Opening

ICEBOUND.—A play by Owen Davis, presented by the Presto Players at the Conlee theatre. Staged by Virginia B. Weaver with settings by Virginia B. Weaver. The cast: Henry Jordan, Mil ton Rhea; Emma Jordan, his wife, Alberta Taylor; Nettie, her daughter by a former marriage, Jerry Russell; Sadie Fellows, once Sadie Jordan, a widow, Harriet McEwen; Orin, her son, Virgil Seaberry, Jr.; Ella Jordan, the unmarried sister, Betty Boyle; Doctor Curtis, W. C. Campbell; Jane Crosby, a second cousin of the Jordans, Louisiana B. Weaver; Judge Bradford, Pat Everett; Ben Jordan, Dean Turner; Hannah, Martha Satterwhite; Jim Jay, Loss Woods.

The cash customers, who pay the freight, found "Icebound" an interesting three-act play at its opening Tuesday evening. That is the best basis to judge the entertainment qualities of a play. Two hundred and fifty attended.

At the end of the performance the members of the cast responded to a curtain call. The play, a Pulitzer prize winner, was written by the prolific Owen Davis.

Without a doubt, the play was one of the best ever given in Eastland by an amateur group. The play opened at an interesting pace and as the actors "felt" the audience and got into their stride better as the play progressed, sustained attention and interest was held to a credit of all. Direction of the play, which was by Virginia B. Weaver, reflected skill.

The story, briefly, told of the death of the Jordan family's mother, the revelation that she had cut off all except Jane Crosby, a cousin of the family, the rehabilitation of Ben Jordan, the wayward son of Mrs. Jordan, and finally the turning over of the estate to Ben and finally the happy ending with Ben and Jordan on their way to the altar.

The manner in which the cast sensed the mood of the audience and timed the laugh-provoking lines was commendable. With the exception of one or two, the members of the cast enacted their roles in a near-perfect manner. On one of two occasions the audience believed the actions were extravagant. As pointed out, however, the play was adjudged a great success from all.

Singled out for special honors are Louisiana B. Weaver, who played with proper restraint and understanding the part of the cousin who suddenly fell heir to the property and was responsible for the rehabilitation of Ben Jordan, ably portrayed by Dean Turner. Pat Everett, who has a good delivery, played well the part of the judge. Milton Rhea was convincing as the smug and more-or-less self-satisfied small-town businessman. Another able member of the cast was Alberta Taylor. She, too, had good stage presence and an excellent delivery.

Though having only a small part, W. C. Campbell fitted well into the part of Doctor Curtis and his lines did bespeak a professional manner. Virgil Seaberry, Jr., as the son of the widow Sadie Fellows, was amusing. His make-up, however, to some, was too "Toby-ish." His mother, played by Harriet McEwen, and Ella Jordan, played by Betty Boyle, acquitted themselves well.

Turner, playing the part of Ben, with the most difficult role, was high in the estimation of the audience as to the manner in which he portrayed the wayward son. Turner established himself as one of the best amateur actors in the city. Martha Satterwhite, Loss Woods and Jerry Russell completed the cast and were well-received in the play.—S.M.D.

'Quality' Carnival For Fair Signed

One of the largest carnivals to play this section in a decade or longer will be at Eastland during Annual County Fair week this year.

The announcement of the securing of a carnival for the county fair, which will be the fourteenth annual affair, was issued Tuesday by H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, who has signed the State Fair Shows.

The carnival was signed by Tanner at the annual convention of the Texas State Fair Managers Association last week in Dallas.

The carnival, which has not played Texas for a long period, carries 12 rides, 12 shows and 30 concessions. It will be located on North Seaman street.

The fair dates are Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 17-19. The dates this year occur later in the year than before. This was arranged because peanuts will be in better condition for display purposes.

The dates were set upon the recommendation of agricultural experts who pointed out that more and better peanuts will be available for display.

As last year, the fair this year will again have as one of its main features the display of peanuts.

Most prolonged cold spell in 41 years places greatest test on gas company facilities in its entire history... dependable, unfaltering supply during emergency due to modern, interconnected pipeline system bringing natural gas from 46 separate gas fields...

Snow Still Seen As Freeze Goes Into 13th Day Texas' Coldest Spell For 41 Years Shows No Sign of Letup; Thursday Top Is 24 Dallas headed into its thirteenth day of freezing weather Thursday night as the Weather Bureau hoisted snow signals for this section for Friday and Saturday with rain in the south portion of Texas. It was the coldest wave in a decade, and despite moderating weather in West Texas the state still was gripped in freezing weather which extended near the coast. The cold wave is the most tenacious in Texas in forty-one years and in Dallas was comparable with the cold January, 1918, when the mercury dropped below zero for forty-four days out of the forty days from Dec. 27, 1937, to Feb. 4, 1938. Since Dec. 27, 1938, all but five days have had sub-freezing weather, and some of the lowest temperatures were recorded since the all-time low of 3 below zero was set in January, 1930.

One of lowest Januaries. Notorious January, already branded the bitterest seven-year year by Dallas' twenty-seven-year weather records, and by pioneers' tales of the roaring blizzard of '99, will be recorded this year as one of the worst. The average daily minimum temperature for the month for a twenty-five year period is 58.8 degrees, and is nearly two degrees more, and is nearly two degrees less than December's average, next coldest month, and nearly four degrees less than the February average. For the current year, however, the average to date is 24.8, twelve degrees below normal. This was the first rigid January since the first rigid January in Dallas since 1936, when a cold wave of several days' duration marked up a 14-degree low. The preceding year the mercury had fallen to 5 degrees. The cold wave of 1939 was the next chronologically, and was preceded by January, 1928, during which the mercury had fallen to 6 twice and is expected to go lower.

An "Interconnected" System - the vital key to unfaltering service! January, 1940, is recorded as one of the most bitter cold months in our experience. Snow, sleet, ice and bone-chilling winds swept down across this section with a health-threatening viciousness unequalled in 41 years. Customer requirements for gas jumped to a new high...and the demand was great...so great that our customers used more gas in fighting the prolonged cold wave than at any similar period in our history. During this prolonged cold spell, when unfaltering natural gas service was of vital importance for the health and comfort of our customers—NOT A SINGLE TOWN ON LONE STAR GAS SYSTEM WAS WITHOUT ITS GAS SUPPLY. From 46 separate gas fields natural gas was moved through our 4,700 miles of INTERCONNECTED pipe line system to meet the emergency of the bitter cold weather. From north, east, south and west—from more than 1,000 gas wells in widely separated gas fields—we brought the supply through. Modern facilities, including our many powerful compressor stations located at strategic points on the system and an abundant supply developed through many years played an important part in meeting this emergency. But of all the facilities maintained 365 days of the year for just such an unusual period as January, 1940, the greatest single factor for your unfaltering gas service is Lone Star Gas Company's INTERCONNECTED PIPE LINE SYSTEM CAPABLE OF BRINGING GAS TO OUR CUSTOMERS FROM 46 SEPARATE GAS FIELDS ACCORDING TO THE EMERGENCY.

Gas dispatchers in headquarters of Lone Star Gas System, Dallas, at work on one of the coldest days of the year. With heavy snow falling and the greatest demand for gas in 30 years, men were at their posts constantly. They are connected with far flung gas fields and compressor stations giving orders to step up pressures and cut in more wells. One man is receiving weather reports over short wave radio. They are alert for any emergency. Left to right: Tom B. Lous, chief dispatcher; Luther Tolbert, assistant pipe line superintendent standing back of M. S. Ball, receiving weather reports; H. D. Hewitt, studying pipe line map.

Eastland County Now Enjoying Less Crime Than It Had In Previous Times, Study of Indictment Records For Past 18 Year Period in Clerk's Office Reveals

Present grand juries have less to do than those from a period from 1922 through 1935, a study of records in the office of District Clerk John White discloses.

With the exception of one year, 1936, there were less indictments returned last year than any year in the past 18.

During 1939 114 indictments were returned. In 1936 only 81 indictments were returned.

Contrast those figures with totals of 719, 584, and 561. In the 18-year period those were the figures for some years.

Burglary and theft have always been two of the main charges upon which indictments have been returned.

Officials are quick to recognize that there would probably be more indictments, especially burglary and theft, if there was no relief program as there is now to care for the needy.

An analysis of indictments returned the past five years shows that driving drunk charges grew more numerous each 12 months.

However, this is explained that whereas a man might formerly pay a fine in justice or lower court in a case showing him to be drunk and driving an automobile, all these cases now come before district courts.

Eastland County has not had the experience recently of other Texas cities in the prosecution of drunk driving cases. In some cities these types of cases were tried in justice or city court with the defendant paying a fine.

In other words, although drunk driving cases have increased in district courts, the proper tribunals are receiving these cases and the total number of that type of drunkenness cases is practically the same.

Colorful are the nicknames and first names of some of the persons who have been indicted in the county.

Charges for which indictments are returned only once-in-a-while include breaking into jail to rescue prisoner, pipe line tapping, arson, abortion.

Included in totals for indictments were entries for habeas corpus actions. These are instituted to effect a prisoners release from jail and lowering of bonds.

The number of indictments returned by grand juries the past 18 years is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Year, Indictments, Total. Rows include 1939-1940, 1938-1939, 1937-1938, etc.

The following table was prepared to show a comparison of indictments returned for specific charges the past five years.

It is also noted that indictments charging violation of the liquor laws were greatly reduced after 1935. This is because state law changed, making many of the former felony offenses misdemeanor and which now come under the jurisdiction of county court.

Table with 3 columns: Charge, 1939, 1938, 1937, 1936, 1935, Total. Rows include Offense, Theft, Burglary, Driving Drunk, etc.

tion of the tax burden, for progressive education and social welfare and also in favor of a program of soil and water conservation.

WHAT ABOUT THE THIRD TERM?
 ... Many office holders believe strongly in the third term principle. The voter outside of office, especially if he wants in, is not always so enthusiastic about long-term public service. So far as we are concerned, we are neutral, but we are opposed to the proposition of a tenant serving over a long period of time in a rented house. A continued period of tenancy is costly both in money and morale.

So we recommend home ownership for many reasons. We have many bargains to offer from a wide selection of homes in most any price range one would want. Here are a few homes in the cheaper class that we have marked down to sell:

411 Pershing, $1500.00; 408 Foch, $800.00; 705 S. Halbryan, $850.00; 1409 S. Seaman, $400.00; 1101 W. Main, $1,000.00; 706 S. Bassett, $800.00.

Hawaiian Program Due
 If you want to know about Hawaii the logical thing to do would be to write someone in Hawaii, decided Miss Sybil Holder, program chairman of the Las Lealas club, which is to give a Hawaiian program, May 17.

She wrote George Armitage of the Hawaiian Tourist Bureau at Honolulu, Hawaii, who has promised to furnish all material on Hawaii desired for the program.

In addition he expressed his hope the program would be a success.

Poem by Resident Of County Appears In New York Times
 A poem, "Taos Cottonwoods," written by Lexie Dean Robertson of Rising Star, recently was published in the New York Times.

Mrs. Robertson is poet laureate for the state of Texas.

The poem is as follows:
 Grave old cottonwoods in Taos,
 Beneath the winter sky,
 Dance with barren symmetry
 When brumal winds beat by;

Their chalk-blue shadows move upon
 The ancient, snow-packed road
 In rhythms that a hundred years
 Have taught the patterned mode.

And he who listens with his heart
 When he goes there to walk,
 May garner truth from trees who speak
 Of centuries in their talk.

Mary Halkias Celebrates Ninth Birthday
 Complimenting her daughter, Mary, on her ninth birthday recently, Mrs. Ernest Halkias entertained with a delightfully arranged party at her home.

The Valentine motif was used throughout the home as decoration theme.

An afternoon of indoor and outdoor games were enjoyed by the small guest with a musical program as a feature of the afternoon. Piano selections were played by Betty Sue Brinkley, Patsy Horn, Mary Hoffman, Mozelle Pullman and Mary Halkias. Betty Joe Coghlan entertained with a reading. A violin solo was played by Minta Sam Herring and Betty Sue Brinkley also entertained with a tap dance number.

In keeping with the Valentine motif, a huge beautiful birthday cake, iced in white and sprinkled with red nuts, was served with fruit punch and sandwiches. Small Valentines with candy and sticks of gum attached were given as plate favors.

Guests listed were: Audrey Louise Maxwell, Sue Crossley, Claudine Burton, Bobby Burton, Barbara Ann Ellis, Mary Katherine Hoffman, Narine Ferguson, Louise Martin, Jan Spaulding, Doris Ann Calloway, Betty Jo Coghlan, Gwyn Hibbert, Juanita Duffield, Patsy Rath Young, Jack Ernest, Louis Crossley, Leon Neig-bors, Derrill Jean Jennings, George Halkias, Estes Halkias, Charles Perry, G. W. McBee, Fred Joe Roundtree, Jack Horn, Derrill Jean Clyatt, Jack Muirhead, Mary Sue Brinkley, Minta Sam Herring, Velma Baggett.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

A MAN WHOSE FAITH WAS HIS BEST ASSET

Perhaps Lincoln is most revered for his simple philosophy of life, a quality that was never dimmed even after he reached the highest office in the land. It was the expression of a simple man, who respected the wisdom of the Almighty... who firmly believed that Faith was man's only hope.

Since then, the United States has faced other troubled times. Even today there are great problems to be solved. It is not enough that we admit these problems. It is more important, if we are to meet them, to have that same Faith in the ability of our people to meet every emergency. The Faith that Lincoln had.
