As Historic Four-Power Pact Was Signed in Russian Capital

AN ORIGINAL PICTURE FROM MOSCOW, this photo shows the signing of the four-power pact in Moscow. Main decisions reached were that none of the four countries, the United States, Great Britain, China and Russia, would make a separate peace with a common enemy and that all four would work together after the war to maintain peace. Left to right are Fu Ping-Sheung, China's ambassador to Moscow; U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull; Russia's foreign commissar, V. Molotov, and Britain's foreign secretary Anthony Eden. Eastland Deer Hunters In The Field This Week

Among those from Eastland hunting in Southwest Texas this week are C. J. Rhodes, Horace Oldham, Dr. W. S. Poe, Dr. J. H. Caton, W. H. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor and James Horton. J. E. Lewis, Curtis Hertz and C. W. Hoffmann are on a duck hunt.

According to officials of the State Game Commission the kill this season probably will equal that of last season when 35,000 deer were taken by sportsmen. Deer are plentiful while the turkey crop is reported as only "fair."

Hunting of white tail deer is permitted from Nov. 16 through December 31 except west of the Pecos river where the season runs only through December 15. Mule deer season is Nov. 16 to 30. Turkey shooting is concurrent with the white deer season, but there is no open season on turkey west of the Pecos.

The season limit is two white-tail bucks, one mule deer or one white tail and one mule deer in the aggregate. In most of the famous Hill country the limit on turkey is two, elsewhere in the state, three.

SANDEFER OF BRECKENRIDGE SPEAKS HERE

Will Address Joint Meeting Of Lions And Rotarians Next Tuesday At Noon

Jack Sandefer of Breckenridge president of the National Organization of Stripper Well Operators will address a joint meeting of the Eastland Lions and Rotarians at the Community Clubhouse Tuesday at noon and all Rotarians and Lions, together with their invited guests are urged to be present to hear the speaker discuss a subject of vital importance in this area.

Last Friday night was ladies night at the Lion's club. James Harkrider was in charge of program arrangements and a good program was presented, the little Misses Dorothy and Heidi Throne and Mrs. A. H. Johnson having parts. Mrs. Johnson who is in the United States Army, gave a talk on experiences she has had in the army while the Misses Throne gave "Pistol Packin' Mama" in the nature of a song and dance.

A very laughable part of the program was a "Mock Trial" presided over by Dr. L. C. Brown and at which Harry Taylor was prosecuting attorney and E. T. Spence defense attorney. Before the court for trial on charges of having purloined one or more dog collars belong to the Lions, were Puck Pickens and Floyd Lynch.

A jury of Lions and Lionesses, acquitted both Pickens and Lynch of any and all charges connected with the dog collars and fined the accusing witnesses fifty cents each.

Lion Ponder of Wichita Falls was a visitor at Tuesday's meeting. Guy Parker, who was to have had the program for last Tuesday's meeting but owing to a misunderstanding did not have a program ready, will be in charge of the program for November 30.

For the week of December 7, Hollis Bennett will have charge of the program.

The "noted" barbershop quartet, composed of "Doc" Kenny, Dr. Brown, Homer Smith and W. G. Womack, rendered a few numbers at Tuesday's meeting. They were accompanied at the piano by Lion Sweetheart Juarice Jones.

TWO EASTLAND COUNTY BOYS WIN CONTEST

Announcement has been made by L. L. Johnson, State Boys' club agent, of the winners of State and National 4-H Club contests. Eastland County has two winners.

Billy Henderson, of Rt. 2, Eastland, who has completed five years of club work is the state winner of the national 4-H leadership contest. According to the interpretation of the contest, this will entitle Billy a trip to the 22nd national 4-H Club congress to be held in Chicago, December 21st, 1943. A certificate will be awarded the 1st place winner by H. A. Moses and the national committee on boys and girls club work. In addition, a beautiful silver trophy will be presented the national winner to be held during the year. This trophy offered to the club boy in the United States showing the most outstanding rural leadership is provided by Moses and is awarded annual by the International 4-H training school. A 200.00 scholarship will be awarded the 1st place national winning boy and a $100 scholarship will be awarded the 2nd place national winning boy by Edward Foss Wilson, Chicago, Illinois.

Donald Kinnaird, Jr., is one of six winners of the state on the national 4-H victory garden contest. This is Donald's first year in club work. According to an interpretation, he is awarded a $25.00 War Bond.

Donald's garden consisted of a back yard plot from which he gathered trees in order to make a garden. By doing the work himself he eliminated all expenses except cost of seed, fertilizer, fence, and plowing. Th variety of plants grown are as follows: okra, collards, chard, turnips, radishes, lettuce, onions, peas, cabbage, beans, pepper, beets. Donald kept a complete record which furnishes a report of total receipts (which included vegetables consumed, canned, given away) $43.63; total expenses: $18.80; net income or return: $24.83.

Donald states in a written report: "Making a garden is a small thing compared to what our boys in service are having to go through on the battlefield, and I am sure that there would be twice as many victory gardens if more people thought of it in this sense instead of as how much time, energy and work it would take to make a garden."

Lending Helpful Hand Costs Man

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Playing the role of good samaritan resulted in Leo Fleishmann, 43, being treated for wounds in a Houston Hospital. Fleishmann agreed to watch the pawn shop adjoining his business while his friend went down the street. A negro entered and asked for a suit he pawned 18 months ago when he joined the army. When Fleishmann failed to find the suit, the negro grabbed another. In his attempt to stop the negro, Fleishmann was struck in the face and knocked into a glass window.

HULL REPORTS AS CONGRESS MEETS HIM WITH OVATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (UP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull told an historic meeting of Congress today that the Moscow declarations will hasten Allied victory and help to create a post-war world free of the conflict-breeding power politics of the past.

The 72-year-old Hull, making the first recorded appearance of a Cabinet member before a joint meeting of Senate and House, asserted: "As the provisions of the four-nation declaration are carried into effect, there will no longer be need for spheres of influence, for alliances for balance of power or for any other of the special arrangements through which, in the unhappy past, many nations strove to safeguard their interests and to promote their interests."

As Hull entered the jammed House Chamber, Senators and representatives rose cheering and applauding. The ovation, as lusty as any ever given a returned hero, lasted two full minutes and would have continued longer had not speaker Sam Rayburn cut it short with his gavel.

Hull's statement appeared to be the administration's answer to proposals which have been voiced in this country that the United States and Great Britain enter into a military alliance as the keystone of future security.

Appearing by invitation at the crowded meeting, Hull outlined the background, purposes, and problems of the conference at which the United States, Russia, Britain and China agreed upon the necessity for a permanent international organization to maintain peace.

Hull asserted that basic policy of international cooperation for peace and security must be carried forward "in the principles and spirit of the Atlantic Charter and the Declaration by United Nations."

Construction Co. Bringing Fifty Families Here

The Oklahoma Construction Company, which has the contract for the construction of a pipe line from Midland to Corsicana for the Magnolia Pipe-Line Company, has arranged for headquarters facilities here and officials of the company are expected here Monday, according to H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

According to Hood King of the King Motor Company from whom office space for the business office has been secured the company will bring about 50 families with them and will expect to employ some 50 to 75 workmen within this immediate territory.

The brick building facing north on East Main street and which belongs to Dr. Evans, will also be occupied by the Construction company, it is understood.

Mr. King stated that the construction company crew would be located in Eastland for some three months.

Eastland stores will remain closed Thursday, November 25, in observance of Thanksgiving Day. It was announced by H. J. Tanner, manager of the Retail Merchant's Association.

Due to the war there will be no program on Thanksgiving Day, Tanner stated.

any foreign property are required to report such holdings on or before December 1 to their nearest Federal Reserve Bank. Practically every type of property must be reported—real estate holdings, cash assets, foreign currency, foreign securities, interests in foreign organization, patent and trade mark agreements and contracts. Order can be restored more rapidly, as territories are reoccupied, if military authorities have such information at hand, states the Treasury Department. All information will be confidential and will be available only to accredited representatives of the Treasury.

Similar Gas Rationing—All "B" and "C" coupons issued after December 1 will be worth five gallons each, compared with the present value of two gallons for coupons of those types in the east and mid-west and three gallons in the far west. This means "B" and "C" books will contain fewer coupons than in the past, but each coupon will be good for more gallons than before. No increase in the amount of gasoline allowed is involved.

More Hosiery For Children—Production of infants' and children's hosiery will be stepped up shortly as a result of priority assistance given to manufacturers for procurement of necessary yarn. The WPB action resulted from a failing supply of infants' and children's stockings.

Shop And Mail Early—The public is urged to complete its Christmas shopping this month and to send all packages destined to other cities, whether by parcel post or express before December 10. Early Christmas shopping and shipping are necessary this year to enable satisfactory handling of the extra Christmas load. Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation said, "Remember, Mr. Eastman added, "that the best gifts for this wartime Christmas are War Bonds or Stamps."

To Store Meat For Spring—A wider variety of rationed meats will be available to the housewife during the low ebb of meat production next spring under a rationing plan recently announced by OPA. Meat wholesalers will be loaned points to fill their storage freezers with veal, lamb, mutton, and the lower grades of beef between now and mid-January, the peak period of meat output.

Rehabilitating Occupied Lands To Be Costly

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—The United States will probably be asked to contribute one percent of one year's national income, or about $1,100,000,000, to meet the relief and rehabilitation needs of the occupied countries, it was learned today. The first Congressional appropriation, however, was not expected to exceed half of that amount, or $500,000,000 since supplies stored in various warehouses may be used to represent part of the total sum. Additional funds, if asked, might come later.

The exact amount of the existing supplies has not been revealed. The United Kingdom also has large amounts of supplies stored away in warehouses, but the amount of these, too, were not known by the present conference of the council of the United Nations.

THANKSGIVING

Sunday morning we shall have our annual Thanksgiving service. The sermon subject will be "The Responsibility of the Righteous for the National Welfare." The discourse will not be as long as its title might suggest. You will enjoy the service. We would have additional cause for thanksgiving were we to see you in the service.

VESPERS "Religious Revelations from Russia" will engage our attention in the vespers at five o'clock. The fortunes of religion in Russia are a vivid comment upon the nature of religion and the nature of man. It would be good to have you think with us about these matters just before the setting of the sun on Sunday.

LOCAL BUDGET The local budget adopted by the Board of Stewards on Monday evening was about ten per cent in advance of the one of last year. The officials kindly request, where possible, the members to raise their offerings a corresponding per cent. Many without knowledge of this need have put forward their pledges for the year. This is appreciated.

SUBSCRIPTIONS The stewards are canvassing the members this week in an attempt to underwrite the anticipated expenses for the current church year. Look them up if they miss you. You will want to be a live as well as a living member of your church. This is one way to manifest that fact. The response is excellent.

WORLD BUDGET The contributions to the budget of causes outside the local church were increased for the new year. The amount is approximately $1,000. The budget includes what is called World Service, or Conference Collections, or Benevolences, but several items more. Virgil T. Seaberry was selected by the Board of Stewards to direct the raising of this budget. The plan adopted is to raise it with an Easter offering. We are of the opinion this is one of the greatest steps forward the church could have taken.

BASEMENT

We think the basement repairs will be completed this week.

BOOK CLUB

The committee on good literature—Mrs. Ida B. Foster, Mrs. Joe Stephen, Mrs. E. K. Smith—plan to organize at least one Religious Book Club (more if demanded) in the church. The plan is to have twelve members. Each member will pay for one book. Each month each member will pass to another in a given rotation the book read. In the course of a year one will have read (or had in hand) twelve religious books and will own the book they purchased in the beginning. Now if you care to be a member of a club like this, contact Mrs. Foster. If more than twelve desire this service, more than one club can be put together.

ADVOCATES

We want at least 100 members for the Southwestern Advocate at $1 each, payable January 1, 1944; and at least 25 members for the Christian Advocate at $2 each, payable on the same date. Give your subscriptions to one of the committees on good literature.

YOUNG ADULTS

Two more new members were enrolled in the Young-Adult Fellowship last Sunday morning. A new course on Prayer—directed by the pastor—got underway. This course was chosen by the members of the Fellowship. Another one will be chosen soon and a teacher for it selected. Officers for the Fellowship are Mrs. James H. Birmingham, president; Frances Baskov, vice-president; and Frances Harris, secretary. The standing commissions will be selected by these officials. If you are a young adult under 35 years of age, come and join a group which is attempting to meet the needs and interest of this section of our people.

STEWARDS Only three of our active stewards were absent from the first official meeting of the new year. We have a strong and capable group serving on this body. John W. Jackson was re-elected chairman. Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite—the only woman on the board—was elected secretary.

Offerings For Orphans' Home Due November 22

The Baptist pastors and leaders of various church organizations of Texas—Baptists are now calling the attention to the membership to the annual Thanksgiving offering for Buckner Orphans Home at Dallas. This offering includes any type of clothing which is in good condition and which may be used from tiny tots to 16 and 17 year old boys and girls. Shoes, socks, underwear, pants, shirts, dresses, coats, hats, caps, wraps, canned goods, non-perishable vegetables, fruits, such as pumpkins, potatoes, onion, apples, oranges, bananas, candies, chewing gum, tooth brushes, tooth

BISHOP HOLT PRAISES

We never talked to Bishop Holt without hearing praises of this church from him. This year it appears the church will be still more worthy of his high esteem by virtue of the fact it will not be the third church in its district but on an equal with the tops. This is where it ought to be and we rejoice that this is its present position.

NEW MEMBERS

Are you among several Methodists living in this community who are not members of this church? Good Methodists join the church where they live and we believe you are that kind of people. Well, next Sunday is the acceptable time for it. It will be good to greet you and to have you in our fellowship.

SYNOPSIS

Adobe Joe is staging a welcome home for Roy Rogers, now "King of the Airwaves", when there is an altercation between pretty Laramie Winters and Victor Marsh, cattleman. She accuses him of cutting her wire fences to let her sheep out, thereby giving the ranchers an excuse to make a run—and possibly drive her out. Roy arrives and, to his astonishment, Laramie cuts him dead. Her feelings are bitter toward any cowboy. Not so her little sister, Penny. In the middle of Roy's broadcast, word comes that Laramie's sheep are again on the loose. She accuses Victor Marsh of cutting her fences; he denies it. A shot rings out and a rancher is wounded. Adobe Joe sees riders galloping off and goes after them. Roy offers to help Laramie and is coldly rejected. The next day he is driving away when he sees old Joe—too late. Rifle fire shivers the air and Joe plunges from his saddle.

CHAPTER TWO

As Roy bent over his old friend Joe moaned and muttered incoherently, "Roy, frame-up—ranchers—Winters outfit—both framed. Bark—Bark—"

Puzzled, Pat said, "Bark—Bark? What's dogs got to do with it? Hey, Joe!"

But Adobe Joe had lapsed into unconsciousness. Tim suddenly let out a yell, pointing. "Hey, look! Out yonder by Pinnacle Rock!"

Two horsemen were suddenly bolting, their silhouettes sharp against the ridge. Leaving the others to get Joe to a doctor, Roy rode a flying leap into Joe's horse and spurred off after the amblers.

Deputy sheriff Luther McMillon asked farmers to pull their cotton wagons near the house at night. He said the thieves roll the trailers to a safe distance and then empty it of all cotton.

"No," Roy said. "Just trying to bring you to your senses before the United States Government cracks down."

Marsh jeered. "Are we going to let Rogers get away with it, boys?"

Barker now, the men started to move in. But Pat galloped up, his gun leveled on them, and they drew back uncertainly.

Laramie, her sheep now under control and safe in the hands of her crew, jumped from her saddle to confront Victor Marsh. If the raid on her livestock continued, she told him, she would take the case to the highest court in the state.

Slade, who had stopped beside Roy, muttered, "We can still settle this our way without any law court interfering."

In the middle of the argument, Barker flung up his rifle to fire, but Roy made a flying tackle and hurled him to the ground. The weapon exploded harmlessly, but Roy scooped up the rifle and emptied the magazine. As Barker sullenly started away to help with the sheep, Roy tossed him the gun, then stooped to pick up the cartridge.

Then he froze, staring at an empty shell with a half-moon mark on it. It was identical with the shell he had found after the shooting of Adobe Joe.

He showed it to Pat while Laramie and her party rode up ahead, back toward the ranch. It was up to them now, he told Pat, to stick close to the Winters outfit for a while.

Pat didn't think that would be easy, considering the attitude of the lady sheep boss toward cowboys, but Roy figured out a plan that worked like a charm. It took a little fancy riding, a bolting horse—a fall. And Roy, apparently unconscious, gained his objective. Laramie had him taken at once to the ranch.

Penny soon learned that there was nothing at all the matter with Roy, but she promised she'd never tell Laramie, too, finally found out about the hoax, but she wasn't too angry. After a while, she even began to act friendly toward Roy.

"Of course not, Penny," he assured her. "Come on, Pat, let's give Miss Winters a hand in rounding up those sheep."

Laramie said quickly, "You stay out of this!"

"Lady," said Roy, "try to keep me out of it!" And, taking Pat with him, he strode out.

A smile on her young mouth, Penny stood there alone, looking after Roy. He'd get to the bottom of the trouble, Roy could do anything. If only Laramie would realize that!

Slade didn't want Roy and Pat to ride with them, but Laramie waved him ahead. Sweeping out the corral, they headed toward Music Mountain.

As they thundered out on a plateau overlooking a valley, they could hear the roll and rumble of gunfire. At the top, they pulled in, looking grimly down on the scene below. Marsh and his hard-riding crew were deliberately firing in the air, driving the frightened sheep on.

One of Laramie's men yanked his rifle from the saddle boot, wanting to shoot it out, but Laramie stopped him. After all, the sheep came first. They had to be turned quickly before they were driven off the cliff and killed.

As she and her men raced down toward the valley, Roy motioned to Pat, and they tore down the slope at a different angle. They raced along at top speed, shaking out their ropes. Circling in behind Marsh and his men, Roy whirled his rope and made a swift cast, dragging one man from his saddle. While he was working on another, Marsh and the rest suddenly looked back and saw what was happening. They pulled their mounts. But before they could move, Roy tore straight at Marsh and piled him from the saddle. Plunging to the earth together, they rolled and scrambled up. Marsh's men moved forward threateningly, but Roy had his gun out. "You'll be the one to be messed up if there's any gunplay, Marsh."

"For the benefit of Laramie, who was riding toward them, Marsh shouted, "Double-crossing your own friends, eh, Rogers?"

"No," Roy said. "Just trying to bring you to your senses before the United States Government cracks down."

Marsh jeered. "Are we going to let Rogers get away with it, boys?"

Rev. Homer J. Starnes Pastor
First Baptist Church

Plans are being completed for our Home Coming program for the week of December 6th. The former pastors contacted with the exception of one, have replied to the letters sent out. It seems now that only five will be able to return, which will give us services for the next five nights of the week. The program will be ready by next week.

The truck for Buckner's Orphan Home from the Cisco Association will be loaded at Cisco November 25. This is an annual Thanksgiving affair, and every church has a part in it. The ladies of the local church are asking that canned foods, clothing, etc., be brought to the church basement on Friday 19. This in turn will be carried to Cisco for shipment. The Home feeds more than 500 children. A tremendous amount of food is consumed. They are depending on Texas Baptists for a large part of this food. Let us show our gratitude for the blessings of life by sharing with our orphan children.

Some men who are deeply interested in the brotherhood work met last Monday night in a planning meeting. There was a round-table discussion on the work in general. Floyd Lynch was elected president to succeed L. H. Taylor, who has moved to Morton Valley. With Floyd's leadership and the support the men will give we anticipate good things from the Brotherhood. Every man of the church should have a part in the Brotherhood work. Its purpose is to strengthen the church in every phase of its work. A group of men with such a high purpose can be most useful in the Lord's work. We appreciate our fine men.

Last Sunday the pastor taught the Sunday school lesson to the boys of the Intermediate Dept. He could not have wished for better attention. The boys were good listeners. We appreciate the boys and girls of our Sunday school,

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 21.
The Golden Text is: "Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?" (1 Corinthians 6:19).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I will abide in thy tabernacle for ever: I will trust in the covert of thy wings" (Psalms 61:4).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul; in matter instead of in Spirit" (Page 223).

Watchdog of the Sea

Beware of the bark of the "watchdog of the sea." She is dangerous. And make no mistake about it; her bite is far worse than her bark! Woe to the target that comes within range of her big 16-inch guns.

THE BATTLESHIP, popularly called superdreadnaught, frequently referred to by commentators as "the watchdog of the seas," is affectionately nicknamed "battle wagon" by navy men. It is the largest, most deadly naval fortress afloat. It carries the thickest armor, the heaviest armament, the largest crew of any vessel in the fleet. In action, several thousand men on different decks move in swift but unhurried movements as nimble fingers turn valves, push buttons, pull levers in a coordinated rhythm that comes naturally with long training.

It is doubtful if there is a piece of equipment afloat or ashore that is more intricate, more compact, more complex, more self-contained than a battleship with its turbines, pumps, compasses, guns, galleys—even a laundry.

And in the operation of each mechanical piece, oil plays a part: fuels, lubricants of all kinds, solvents, marine paints, rust preventives—even the basic ingredient of deadly T. N. T. is oil.

Without oil no ship could leave dry dock. The Humble Company contributes a large share of this oil in a variety of forms. (See partial list below.) These products come from the same refineries which give you Esso Extra and Humble gasolines, and Esso, 997 and Velvet Motor oils for your car and truck.

The pastor's sermon subject for Sunday morning will be "Anchors That Hold". We are now in times when fierce storms sweep over most of us. Life at its best and in normal times has its tempests and adverse winds. What are some anchors for the soul that will hold us secure in the roughest of weather? The evening subject will be "The Holy Spirit and Regeneration." We have tried to direct a study on the Holy Spirit for several Sunday evening services. Come and share in these helpful studies. You will find new strength and courage for life's duties.

13 Per Cent of Our Food Goes to Our Armed Forces

Your Government says a soldier or sailor needs 5 1/4 pounds of food a day, or 1 1/2 civilian rations. To make sure that the right food is always available at the right time, the armed forces need a 90-day reserve for men quartered in this country—and a nine-month supply for men overseas. The right foods are the "protective foods"—meat, fats and oils, milk, canned goods, citrus fruits, dairy products—foods which are "short" in the civilian supply.

THE BIG JOB

is right in your daily homemaking routine

The Controlled Heat of your Gas Range will help

CUT FOOD WASTE

1. Know the seven basic food groups and plan your meals from them.
2. Plan by the week so that two or more protein foods will not be included in the same meal.
3. Plan a vegetable plate or a nourishing soup as the main dish for several meals during the week.
4. Use fresh foods in season. Cook most vegetables in a small amount of water; using only about one-half inch in a covered utensil.
5. Cut down your grocer's waste. Don't pinch fruits. Don't handle vegetables.
6. Serve smaller portions with the provision for seconds. Establish a rule for eating everything served.
7. Don't buy rationed foods for the sake of using stamps. Don't give away or trade stamps.

Buying bonds, working for the Red Cross, helping with Civilian Defense—of course you are helping! But the big job is making the food our farmers are producing go just as far as it will. • Cook only the amount of vegetables needed. Serve left-overs creamed, in casserole dishes, or cold—in salads. • Cook vegetables and fruits in their skins wherever possible—and over a low gas flame. • Roast meats at low temperature in your gas oven to reduce shrinkage. Use left-overs in stews, meat pies and hash.
