Fox, Jr. who won handoly over Mrs. Ruth Branton, the incumbent, in the race for county treasurer: four unop posed candidates for major offices. and County Commissioners Lou Medford and Arch Bint.

Going into runoffs were W. W. 'Sheeny" Eddleman and J. B. Williams, who beat out John Barber in a very close three-way race for sherriff; County Commissioner In the tight eight-way congressionl race from the 17th District, in Precinct 3 in which Judge Bill Blanton of Albany held a consistent lead and Omar Burleson of Anson apparently won second place in the runoff, Eastland County gave its support to Robert R. Herring of Breckenridge, formerly of Ranger, of Corsicana a whopping majority with Homer P. Rainey a not-sogood second and Grover Sellers third. John Lee Smith trailed close behind Sellers, and Jerry Sadler was an also-ran, polling only a few more votes than Caso March, biggest of the "little" candidates in the field of 14 A big vote was polled in the county, eclipsing all recent totals and probably all those since the early or middle 1920's when the county was in a population boom.

Highest vote polled was by Virgil Love, unopposed candidate for re-election as county clerk, who amassed 7640, or nearly 1300 more than the county's poll tax strength

Other unopposed county candidates are N. E. Grisham, who will succeed Earl Conner, Jr., as county attorney; District Clerk Roy Lane, County School Supt. Homer Smith, and County Surveyor T. H. Landon

In the races for state representative, Omar Burkett and Turner Collie went into a runoff for 106th District place, representing Eastland County only, eliminating E. M. Threatt and Rankin Blackburn of Cisco and L. R. Pearson of Ranger went into a runoff for 107th District place, representing Eastland and Callahan Counties, eliminating by a narrow margin T. S. "Tip" Ross of Gorman.

Judge E. J. Miller of Brownwood piled up a sizable majority to win nomination to the 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland over Judge Albert S. Mauzev of Sweetwater, and carried Eastland County heavily.

Market Increase For Peaches Seen FOR RENT by the week. Sewing After Experiment

2,774,00 bushel crop in 1945, may have a much wider market for their product in the future if a series of tests on long distance hauling of tree-ripe fruit this summer are successful, a report issued by Dr. Charles W. Hauck of Ohio State University indicated.

Pointing to preliminary tests made with southern peaches last year, Dr. Hauck said the results had convinced him that the consumption of peaches could be greatly increased if tree-ripened fruit good condition.

The shipments, according to Dr. Hauck, are another phase of the ELECTION . . . Columbus Experiment being conducted by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, A. & P Food Stores and several packaging suppliers in Columbus, O. The experiment seeks, through consumer packaging and refrigeration in the retail store, to reduce the prethese benefits, up to $5,000.00 for sent estimated 25 per cent waste only $5.00 per year. Pays Dr. Nurse, and spoilage of fresh fruits and Preference of consumers for ripe peaches was strikingly demonstrated in this series of tests in A & P stores. Dr. Hauck, who is the Experiment Station representative in the study, said. Fully ripened peaches, offered at a five cents-a-pound premium, outsole the hard-ripe fruit two and onehalf to one. When the premium of a cent a pound, the ripe fruit outsold the other four and one half to one.

"I am thankful for the support which I received in Eastland Couned, and I have no regrets or bitterness over the results. The people program which care an issue in the polls with typewritten lists of have spoken and I graciously abide their verdict." (Pol. Adv.)

"The company was unable to obtain enough of the fully ripened fruit to meet the demand of his patrons who returned seeking ripe fruit after having had highly satisfactory experiences with earlier purchases," Dr. Hauck said. "When ripe peaches were available, sales of hard peaches practically ceased. and after supplies of ripe fruit were exhausted, considerable time elapsed before sales of hard peaches again picked up."

Special cardboard containers have been designed by the Ohio Boxboard Company of Rittman, O. to carry the fruit. They range in size from one resembling an egg box and holding a dozen peaches, to a bushel container with an individual space for each peach after the fashion of an egg crate, Packaged at the shipping point and properly handled until they reach the consumer. Dr. Hauck conwere delivered to consumers in cludes that tree-ripe peaches can be shipped safely to distant points.

EASTLAND'S BIG, SPLENDID HOUSEWARES AND APPLIANCE BUSINESS!

ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 3rd

We have the warmest regard for Mr. and Mrs. Pullman, with whom we have had long and satisfactory business dealings, and we feel that the people of Eastland may well be proud to have this fine couple open such a modern and progressive business institution as the Pullman Store.

We urge you to attend the formal opening Saturday, and to see the outstanding array of merchandise that will be on display. And we know that you will always be treated well and fairly at the Pullman Store.

to have such a fine new modern store as the Pullman Store. During the past few years of shortages and rationing, it is a pleasure to know that there is a new modern store where one can shop and find many items that have been on the "scarce list" for so long. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pullman on the opening of their new store. Our wishes are for many future years of prosperity and congenial associations.

HENRY PULLMAN

We're For You

We all know that the Legion post and Auxiliary here have no harder-working members than Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pullman, and we know that despite the tremendous time and efforts they have devoted to making their business a success, they have devoted almost as much time and effort toward building the Dulin-Daniel Post No. 70 and Auxiliary of the American Legion. We're backing them all the way!
