ESTABLISHED NOVEMBER 1887; EASTLAND COUNTY'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

VOLUME FIFTY-NINE

EASTLAND, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1946

No. 36

Lewis Crossley Issues Formal Announcement

Since the beginning of our country and the institution of our democratic government, it has been considered that one who has served his constituency faithfully, honestly, and constructively, should at least be entitled to a second term in office. I am proud of the fact, however, that we live in a free America, where anyone who feels so inclined, may run for the office of his choice. It is on the theory, however, that a faithful servant is entitled to at least his second term in office, plus the record of actual achievement and benefits derived and accruing to the people's interest and benefit, that I am asking you for a second term as your County Judge.

I refer you to promises two years ago, where in I said that I would, to the best of my ability, perform the duties of the County Judge's office in as business like and economical manner as was consistent with good business judgment and practices, and I now submit to you that this has been done. By reason of our adherence to this principle and policy, some personalities were injected in to it in the early days of my tenure of office, and at various times during last year, all of which will probably be revealed as the campaign progresses. We have tried to pay the employees of the county all that we felt that we could afford to pay, making as many adjustments as possible, and at the same time have consistently refused to grant out of line and ridiculous salary raises, both for the office holders and the employees.

A picture of the county will reveal that the county is in better condition than it has been in more than 30 years. This is because we have entered into a delinquent tax collection campaign, that has ensured to the benefit of the entire citizenship, to the end that our tax rate has been very materially reduced, and will be still further materially reduced for another year. The tax rate for the immediately surrounding counties run from 43c per hundred valuation to 60c per hundred whereas Eastland county's rate has been considerably more than double these rates. At the beginning of my term in office, the tax rate in this county was $1.16. I am happy to tell you that the 1946-47 rate will not be more than 60c per hundred, which said rate will be duly set as is required by law. This savings of 56c per hundred or $5.60 per thousand valuation, should be something that all the people should be proud of. This has been done through a fine spirit of cooperation, without a single contested suit having been filed, and

Stevenson To Be In Ranger August 21st

Governor Coke R. Stevenson today accepted an invitation to be in Ranger on August 21st to dedicate the new Junior Chamber of Commerce rodeo grounds.

The decision came in response to a special invitation from Price Crawley, president of the Jaycees and a personal invitation from Representative L. R. Pearson. His acceptance came in a telephone conversation with Representative Pearson this morning.

This is but one of the many special attractions that the Jaycees are planning for the rodeo, others to be announced later.

The rodeo will be staged by Bob Estes of Baird and Howard Brown of Dublin and will have four night shows beginning on the 21st. ## Australian Bride Is Pleased With New Texas Home

Mrs. Robert Ray Herring, whom the candidate for Congress and former resident of Ranger married in Australia, arrived in Breckenridge last week and is pleased with her new home in Texas.

"Six months was a long time to wait," she said, "and I am glad to be here."

She is a black-haired girl of about 100 pounds, who speaks her words crisply, with something like an English accent.

Asked what has struck her as odd in the things she has seen here she answered, "Those hats and the boots with the sharp heels. I saw a man in a store with them on this morning and I was astounded, but no one else seemed to think his attire strange."

This led into another thing—the way we Americans eat with our fork in our right hand. The Australians keep it in the left all the time. Her husband added to this that he has heard the Australians call it "fork-switching."

The food here is much the same as she had in Australia, with the exception of some fruits and vegetables.

Asked what has impressed her most here and she quickly answered, "friendship." "It is wonderful."

Mrs. Herring is the former Miss Sylvia Carmen Grant of South Wales where her father is in work similar to that of the USO here.

The State of Texas should guarantee a loan up to $7500.00 to every G. I. that served over ninety days in armed services, loan to be OK'd by his neighbors.

Texas should have a civil service law, that would require every State employee to take an examination for the job they might choose, with preference going to war veterans.

We must have better schools and higher paid teachers.

Build farm to market roads wherever needed.

Let farmers and ranchers raise what they wish, and sell at market prices, do away with all government controls.

Make O.P.A. work to do away with black market or abolish it.

Give each state school a fair share of school money.

Do away with politics with all state employees, let the hold jobs on merit.

He is a strong believer in organized labor, but not racketeers.

EASTLAND COUNTY WORLD WAR II HONOR LIST

The first consolidated listing of Army dead and missing in World War II—a compilation of the names of nearly 310,000 men and women who gave their lives in the Nation's service—was released today by the War Department.

The list was made up of fifty booklets, one for each state, one for the District of Columbia, and one for the Territories and Possessions of the United States. Each booklet contained a foreword explanatory of the methods of listing, a breakdown by counties and types of casualty, and an alphabetical listing by county of the name, serial number and grade of each individual and the manner in which he met his death. The Philippine Common wealth was not included in the study.

An overall death and missing rate of 2.98 per cent from all causes was indicated by the listing. Of more than 10,000,000 men and women mobilized into the Army between the Presidential declaration of unlimited national emergency on May 27, 1941, and the concluding date of the study, January 31, 1946, a total of 307,554 had been killed in action, died of other causes or became missing, later to be determined dead. In addition, 1,424 persons were still carried as missing on January 31, 1946, bringing the total number of names in the list to 308,978.

The first Eastland County Postwar Roll lists 82 dead and missing. The type of casualty is indicated by the symbol at the far right of each column. KIA-Killed in Action; DOW-Died of Wounds; DOI-Died of Injuries; DNB-Died (Non-Battle); FOD-Finding of death under Public Law 490, 77th Congress; M-Missing.

Adoption in November of a constitutional amendment to set up a Veterans' Land Board and authorizing a fund to purchase land for resale, on long terms and at low interest rate, farms and homesites for more than 100,000 war veterans; making available to veterans and other farmers the facilities of A.&M. College for information and guidance, including "on-the-farm" training.

2. Amendment of the workmen's compensation law to increase the current $20—a week ceiling to an amount sufficient to care for workmen and their families during disability and to include war veterans in its provisions.

3. Passage of a law guaranteeing working women the same working conditions, the same hour and the same pay for the same service as men.

4. Appropriation of funds to pay the full $40 monthly to the aged, as provided in a constitutional amendment.

6. Complete support of all measures to raise educational standards, including substantial salary increases for teachers and increased per capita appropriation to Texas schools from the available school fund; equal educational opportunities and institutions for colored students, but preservation of constitutional provisions for segregation, with Prairie View made into a first class university.

7. Full cooperation in expansion of rural electrification.

QUIZ PROGRAM

If we were a congressman today we should demand, in addition to the proposed $15,000 annual salary, an additional $64 for trying to guess what sort of labor legislation President Truman wants, and double time for trying to draft it.

About two week ago Mr. Truman had to act quickly and drastically because, as he said, two men were threatening to tie up the country's whole economy through a railroad strike.

Mr. Truman still wants emergency powers permitting him to seize an industry when crisis threatens and to draft workers into the armed forces.

Mr. Truman tells Congress that "we cannot attribute work stoppages to any one factor... Strikes must be considered in the whole context of our modern society."

At the same time, he objects to the Case bill because it's range is broad, dealing with a wide variety of subjects, some of which are wholly unrelated to the subject of settling or preventing strikes.

Mr. Truman pleads for equality for both management and labor. Yet he objects to one section of the Case bill because it "does no more than prohibit all persons, whether union representatives or employees or others, from interfering with interstate commerce by robbery and extortion."

That would seem to be equality prohibiting the old sport of highway robbery to everyone, no matter who. Yet Mr. Truman is dissatisfied with it.

Apparently what is wanted is temporary legislation so strong as to earn for Congress all the hard words that Mr. Truman has been called for requesting it, and permanent legislation so mild that all organized workers would sprain an ankle in their rush to vote the whole Congress back into office.

Such a prescription would undoubtedly result in a permanent state of latent economic chaos, with periodic eruptions calling for temporary seizures, drafts and denunciations.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON, NEA Sports Editor

GENE TUNNEY once said that the heavyweight championship was a state of mind, which was among the things that made those closest to him like Billy Conn's chances against Joe Louis.

Preparing for the second great opportunity of his young life, Conn finally was at peace with everybody, including his father-in-law, Jimmy Smith.

It will be recalled that Conn's fist fights with Smith formerly made headlines almost as frequently as the challenger's scraps in the ring.

The Collar Ad was deprived of the chance to enter the Army as the titleholder when he knocked himself out of a rematch with Louis in September, 1941, by breaking his thumb on the old National League infielder's head.

A 174-pound Conn had plenty of head- and heartaches when he climbed into the Yankee Stadium battlepit to tackle a 199 1/2-pound Louis the night of June 18, 1941.

His mother was dying. He was to elope that night with the girl he subsequently married against her father's wishes.

His future father-in-law, a highly formidable man not afraid of the devil, threatened him with dire results.

"You know I wasn't right," Billy the Kid whispered to me in the dressing room shortly after he was knocked out by Louis with only two seconds of the 13th round remaining.

Only intimates knew of the seriousness of his mother's condition and his romance, and the hectic circumstances surrounding it.

JIMMY SMITH, who has a place of business in Pittsburgh, kept close check on Conn's training at Greenwood Lake via long-distance telephone, called his son-in-law frequently of an evening.

"Peace, it's wonderful," sighed Conn, as he ended training, as fit as he and hands could make him. "Peace was wonderful," remarked Jimmy Smith, the sparring partner Conn seemed to take the keenest delight in belting around, "but I wish he had practiced what he preaches."

It is barely possible in this case that sparring partner Jimmy Smith was unfortunately named. Conn can't resist getting even somehow.

WHEN Louis had finished blowing like a porpoise each afternoon, the fight writers would gather 'round the champion in his dressing room for his daily quip.

"Conn can run, but he can't hide," cracked the Brown Bomber. When he postponed his roadwork until noon because of the weather, and was asked why, Louis explained: "I guess I have enough sense to come in out of the rain."

A reporter for the Russian newspaper, Pravda, called Pompton Lakes for an interview. "This is Moscow calling," said a voice, "is that you, Joe?" "What Joe do you want?" countered Louis.

"Joe Louis," was the reply. "Oh," said the heavyweight champion, "I thought maybe you were calling Joe Stalin and the operator had given you the wrong number."

It got so the writers called Louis "Epigram Joe," and a lot of 'em overlooked his huffing and puffing.

Shorter Work Week For City Employees

CHICAGO (UP) - Additional cities are reducing the work week and granting vacations with pay to white-collar workers, according to the International City Managers' Assn.

The number of cities in which administrative and clerical employees work less than 42 hours a week increased six per cent last year. More than half of the 933 cities with populations of more than 10,000 surveyed for the 1946 Municipal Yearbook now operate on a white collar work week of less than 42 hours, the association said.

Larger cities, generally have shorter work weeks than smaller cities, according to the survey. Seventy-six per cent of the cities with populations of more than 100,000 have work weeks of less than 42 hours. More than half the cities in the 10,000-25,000 population bracket still operate on a work week in excess of 42 hours.

Vacations with pay averaging two weeks in length now are granted city office employees in 97 per cent of the 933 cities over 10,000 included in the survey. The longest paid vacation granted by any city is 26 days. Unskilled laborers in municipal employ are given paid vacations in 74 per cent of the reporting cities.

Sick leaves are given municipal white collar workers in 648 of the 831 cities reporting. The average leave is 14 days, with a range of from four to 90 days.

(Continued from Page 1) at a time, when, if one can ever start doing something toward paying, it is now. Adjustments have been given, when they were due to be given, and the yardstick of fairness has been applied to everyone alike, notwithstanding the mouth to ear whispering and anonymous letters and postcards that have been sent throughout the county. If anyone desires to know about any particular matter pertaining to county business, the best place to learn the facts is from the official handling of the business, by all of the units involved. By reason of the co-operative spirit that has been demonstrated by the people, we are far ahead of our sinking fund requirements and indebtedness, and by the end of this year, will be two years ahead of ourselves in the payment of our indebtedness. All indications point to the fact that the tax rate for 1947-1948 will be even lower, probably not more than 50c per hundred valuation, and if we are permitted to continue this delinquent tax program, there should be no reason for our tax rate being more than 50c per hundred at any time in the future, unless additional bond are voted for some purpose by the people. We must bear in mind, however, that these low rates cannot continue to prevail, if the job is to be abandoned just half complete. It is essential that the program not be abandoned in the middle of the stream in order that fair play to all alike be had and full benefit of the results be gained for the entire citizenship of the county.

The routine legal duties of the County Judge's office, plus duties in connection with the tax program have been quite strenuous and it has been necessary that I devote all of my time to these duties. I expect to see every voter that I possibly can, and expect to acquaint you with every phase of this work, before the campaign ends. In this connection, may I state that there has never been a two year period when as much publicity, newspaper and otherwise, has been given to the people, as has been given during the past two years, in an effort to keep you fully informed as to what was going on in your county business.

Notwithstanding the fact that a good deal of my time will have to be devoted to the duties of the office, I shall make every effort to see each voter personally. However, should I miss some of you, I sincerely trust that every reader will consider this a personal solicitation for his or her support for my second term as your County Judge.

Respectfully Submitted,

P. L. Crossley, County Judge

Hiram House Marks 50th Anniversary

CLEVELAND (UP) — Hiram House, the first settlement house to be founded specifically for its purpose, is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. It also is the golden anniversary of the founder and the first and only director, George A. Bellamy, who conceived his humanitarian idea while a student at Hiram College. One of Bellamy's proudest remembrances of his project occurred during the depression years. More than 600,000 persons a year used its facilities. He said they came to learn to be Americans, to seek help in burying the dead, in marrying the living and to seek a home away from the unwholesome conditions in which they were forced to live. From 1906 to 1946 Hiram House operated a "progress city"—a model community, with its own boy judges, policemen and laws. Some of Cleveland's leading professional and businessmen got their first experience in their chosen fields in "progress city."

SULKY MAKER FINDS HORSE HERE TO STAY

MARION, O. (UP) — Who says the horse and buggy days are gone? At least they're not gone at Marion, where the world's largest maker of horse-drawn vehicles is deluged by new orders and is enjoying the biggest boom in its 42-year history. The late W. H. (Bill) Houghton came to Marion, and founded the Houghton Sulky Co. in 1904. Since then carriages by Houghton have become widely known in many parts of the world. Today, 90 per cent of the sulkies on the harness racing track of America and the majority of the show horse buggies are made by Houghton at Marion. The sulkies used in the movies "Back Home in Indiana" and "David Harum," were made by Houghton and most of the small vehicles used by Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey have the "Houghton" mark. A completed buggy or sulky represents 90 days of effort on the part of a score of men. Every one of the 150 pieces that go into a racing sulky must be fitted by hand. In prewar days, Houghton shipped sulkies and buggies to a dozen foreign nations. Recently, orders have started to come in again from Denmark and Brazil.

BLANTON'S PLATFORM MADE IN JUNGLES

When Bill Blanton decided to run for Congress, he was on the other side of the world, in the Burn jungles. He didn't know whether he would get home, but if he did there were a lot of things he wanted changed.

At the end of his month-long voyage home, he had his platform clearly in mind. He knew what he wanted done about labor unions for instance. That is why he hasn't found it necessary to change his platform and adopt a stand of labor unions in the last few weeks of his campaign. (pol. adv.)

Flower Ideas for the June Bride

Adorn—but do not conceal—the wedding gown, is the rule for 1946 bride's bouquets designed by stylist Alyn Wayne of Florists' Telegraph. He illustrates this principle with the crescent-shaped example at right—blending pink camellias, dwarf elf roses and traditional lily of the valley. Well balanced and easy to carry, note absence of ribbon streamers—just small loops at center, enough to cover the bride's hands. At left; unusually colorful is this modern bridesmaid's bouquet of Gloriosa lilies, coral Gerba daisies and copper tulips.

ON-JOB TRAINING FORCES FIRM TO SEEK NEW PLANT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—An antique, gray-fronted building in Louisville's West End houses a cluttered workshop where a steady stream of former servicemen are learning the intricacies of neon sign construction. After a training period varying from two months to 18 weeks the veterans are ready to enter an industry which is sorely in need of skilled workmen. The school which is being developed here for this type of training is the project of T. C. Cairns, a veteran neon manufacturer.

It resulted when Cairns' on-the-job veterans' training program sponsored by the Veterans Administration, grew to the point where it shoved his Neon Fluorescent Engineering Co. out of its established location.

Cairns' firm was approved for on-the-job training when he returned to the neon industry last December after leaving a position with the War Production Board.

He did all the instructing in the bending of the glass tubing which forms the letters on neon signs and also taught pumping, or filling the tubes with neon gas. His pupils usually remained as full-time employees after their training period, but as the project grew Cairns began to fill requests from other concerns for trained workmen. He still has a backlog of unfilled requests, he said, including ficial who wrote his best tube one from an electric company of-bender was lost in action in Italy and he needed a replacement. As word of the training program spread, prospective trainees contacted Cairns from all over the nation.

The instruction soon reached a point where one person could not handle it, so Cairns obtained 17 additional instructors. It was then he decided to organize an actual school at his present location and move his business to another spot. He has received the necessary approval of the VA and the board of education and is completing plans for the school. Cairns said he plans to have three seven hour shifts a day, training 60 students on each shift. One shift of 25 students already has been organized and works from 12 p. m. to 7 a. m. daily.

Cairns said he has 45 working tube benders which turn out neon signs for such firms as Bordens, International Harvester, and the Hudson Automobile Co.

He accepts for training veterans with or without previous experience in the field and has trained several disabled veterans including one paralyzed from the waist down. Anyone can learn the trade, he said "as long as they have two good hands."

The maximum training period is 18 weeks, but Cairns said he has sent men out to jobs or to establish their own shops after 60 days' training.

Boy, 15, Succeeds In Managing 60-Acre Farm

AUBURN, Wash. (UP)—Jimmy Martin, 15, dangled his legs over the side of the alfalfa bale and thoughtfully scuffed the floor with his toe. "I'm heading for a herd of good, purebred Jerseys, that's what I'm aiming at

This is not the daydream of a callow boy, but the practical plan of a sound-headed, successful dairyman. Jimmy manages a 60-acre farm—alone.

Last January a rotten pole tumbled over and brought tragedy to the Martins. Jimmy's father, B. L. Martin, lineman, was crushed to death. But Jimmy couldn't afford to waste much time grieving, for work had to be done.

The youngster looked over the farm. Spring was coming. Thirty-five acres of bottom land had to be readied for the hay crop. Every morning 12 of the 22 head of Guernsey and Jersey cattle had to be milked. So, the curly-headed youngster with the engaging grin rolled up his sleeves and went to work.

Today he sends his milk, top Grade-A to the city bottled trade. He finds enough time, outside school, to raise a few purebred Chester White hogs. He plans to enter them in the local livestock shows and try for blue ribbons. When he graduates he's going to

Letters From Readers

Eastland is conceded to be one of the cleanest and most beautiful towns to be found. Its people are humanitarians, dignified, and cultured. Those who live here manifest a wholesome concern for the welfare of all.

One instance wherein we can improve ourselves, however, is in regard to the use of fireworks in the city. Sudden noises and shocks such as a firecracker or torpedo will send forth can be more other than disintegrating to the men who have just fought a war for us. Others who are nervous suffer tremendously from the loud blasts heard within the city.

All of us want our young people to lead an enjoyable life. But wouldn't it display a thoughtful attitude to limit the use of fireworks within the city. Is it right for so many to suffer that others may enjoy themselves by shooting thunderous fireworks? Does freedom mean that we can do anything that we desire?

It is the hope of many citizens of Eastland that those who shoot fireworks in the city will be conscious of the disastrous effects.

'Glass Age' Hits Shanghai With A Smash

SHANGHAI (UP)—It is the "glass age" in Shanghai.

Cheated out of its imports from the United States since Pearl Harbor, Shanghai woke up after the war to find a shower of nylon and plastic goods which the merchants conveniently identified as "glass" products.

There is an abundance of nylon (or "glass") hosiery. One may buy as many pairs as he or she likes—provided the purchaser can close his eyes to the glaring white mark of the American ceiling price of $1.30 and pay $30 instead.

Plastic handbags are now in vogue. The first ones to be shipped here fetched prices as high as $75.

gan to import plastic sheets and tailor them locally. Even the local made bags cost as much as $20.

Nearly all men except the poorest today are girdled with a transparent elastic-glass belt. For a time, when the plastic belt was still a novelty, the dealers asked for $10 each until recently, when the influx forced down the prices to about $4.

Plastic cigarette cases and cigarette holders—plus the lighters, which are mostly procured in dubious ways from United States military stores—are other items on the "must" list for the Shanghai gentlemen nowadays.

The latest to invade the market is the transparent plastic raincoat—priced from $30 for those directly imported from the United States, to $15 for those tailored from American material.

World cotton production in 1945-46 is estimated 21,650,000 each until lately, when Chinese bales. This is 12 per cent less than and German refugee dealers be the preceding year.

Your Judgment Will Tell You... THIS BUILDING HAS WHAT YOU NEED!

THE STRAN-STEEL 'Quonset 40'

We'll tell you what this famous "Quonset 40" has to offer, and let you decide whether it "has what it takes" to increase the value, productivity and efficiency of your farm operations.

SPACE

The "Quonset 40" is 40 feet wide and as long as you want—40'x40', 40'x60', 40'x80', 40'x100' and so forth. Interior is clear-span, so that every inch of space is usable.

LOW COST

The "Quonset 40" is the first high-quality steel building to be made available at low cost. This is made possible by the unmatched efficiency of the Stran-Steel framing system, with its nailing groove that permits siding and roofing to be nailed directly to the framing members.

DURABILITY

The "Quonset 40" is framed with steel and covered with steel to give you the sturdiest, most durable building ever produced for the farm. It is fire-safe, sag-proof, rot-proof, warp-proof—strong with the uniform strength of steel.

PROVED IN USE

Tens of thousands of "Quonsets" have been produced by Great Lakes Steel Corporation to meet the needs of the armed forces in all climates.

'Quonset 20'

Here are the same features and advantages as in the "Quonset 40" in a smaller building—20' wide and as long as you want it. Framed with durable Stran-Steel.

'Quonset 24'

This adaptable, 24'-wide building is available with open side—with sliding doors—or with solid side panels. It provides an ideal building for many farm uses.

REVERE BEACH CELEBRATES 50 YEARS OF FUN

REVERE, Mass. (UP) — The bathing suits have changed a bit since 1896, but the spirit is the same at fun-loving Revere Beach—the Coney Island of Massachusetts, now celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Even some of the faces haven't changed. For example, there's 83-year-old John J. Hurley, pioneer concessionaire on the beach boulevard, whose "Hurley Hurdlers," or flying horses, have been ridden upon by two generations of men, women and children.

Last year, which was far from a peak year, the Hurley carousel carried some 350,000 riders. In fact, son William Hurley, who operates the concession, says he has not been able to find time for a dip in the surf in the past 20 years.

When the elder Hurley established his carousel, his own father tried to dissuade him. "Don't put your money in that sand, son," he advised. Today, concessions at Revere Beach are prosperous even beyond Hurley's wildest dreams.

The beach now includes 50 acres of amusements, two race tracks, for horses and dogs, two huge dance halls, restaurants, night clubs and a long boulevard.

"Every Day a Holiday" is the Chamber of Commerce's byword, and they translate this thought into action with such special attractions as gala fireworks displays.

SAVINGS BOND SALES WITHIN 1-5 OF QUOTA

With the first peacetime promotion for the sale of Savings Bonds by the U. S. Treasury only nine days old, Texans have invested almost one-fifth of their 33,000,000 quota in Series E Bonds. Sales through June 15th were reported at $6,429,123.75 with a total of $9,206,266 in all U. S. Savings Bonds at that date.

In encouraging the citizens of Texas to increase their purchases of Savings Bonds during the present promotion. Nathan Adams, Chairman of the Texas Advisory Committee on Savings Bonds, said "A bad case of inflation would be a national catastrophe affecting each and every one of us. It would distort every economic value, private and public. Investing in Savings Bonds will go a long way toward averting inflation. We must invest our savings and take as few of our dollars as possible to market until production shall match demand."

"Spending money recklessly, buying scarce goods at inflated prices," Mr. Adams continued, "is like cutting down the tree to get at a few green apples. The thing to do is wait until the apples are ripe before you eat them. Leave the tree to bear fruit in years to come."

The Treasury reports a total of 3.4 billion dollars in Savings Bonds sales during the first five months of this year. Redemptions have amounted to 2.8 billion dollars. Strikes, tax payments, etc., were credited with this large percentage of redemptions, but figures for May disclose that the trend is toward a much lesser percentage in redemptions. It is further hoped that the current promotion will accelerate the downward redemption trend, giving renewed impetus to the regular purchase of Savings Bonds.

WARNS PEACE IS COSTLY

NORMAN, Okla. (UP) — Full participation of the citizenship of all nations is necessary for world peace, Dr. M. L. Wardell, chairman of the history department at the University of Oklahoma, recently said.

"The world now is realizing that peace is positive—that it is something we have to spend money for," Wardell said. "If we're to have peace, we'll have to spend money and train leaders as we did in wartime."

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS SITE OF UN HOME

NEW YORK (UP) — When the New York World's Fair closed its doors in October, 1940, it was expected that Flushing Meadows would once again revert to a swamp area overgrown with weeds and thickets.

That is just about what happened. But today, almost six years later, Flushing Meadows has new life. They have new significance. They are the site of the new interim home of the United Nations. Some 200 workmen are busy, getting the old fairgrounds ready for the meeting in September of the UN's general assembly. The desolation, the decay and stubble of weeds are disappearing.

The main work is being done to the New York City building, which is being converted into an auditorium. Offices, lounges, committee rooms and cafeterias also are being built.

The building has been donated to the United Nations by the city. In addition, the city is spending more than $2,000,000 to fix up the grounds and improve the buildings.

The improvements and landscaping are scheduled to be completed by the middle of August. And a visit to the grounds now discloses that the UN home will be a place of beauty.

Extravagant flower beds are being planted, with the varieties including such popular beauties as petunias, marigolds and santolinas. In all, there will be 45,000 flowering plants and all will be in full bloom when the general assembly convenes.

The gardeners are concentrating their efforts in front of the former site of the Trylon and Perisphere, the "trade-marks" of the 1939-40 World's Fair. There, the circular pool is being filled to provide a garden 310 feet in diameter. Near by is the New York City building, which is being converted into the auditorium.

It is being divided into two parts. On the north side, an auditorium seating 2,500 persons is being constructed. The south side is being cut into rooms for conference and committee meetings.

Not all the old fairgrounds is being restored, but the UN assembly headquarters takes in a sizeable amount of the desolation.

Housewives are advised that yarn from old stockings makes the best thread for mending snags and runs in other hose. Stocking yarn is less noticeable than darning thread since it is lighter in weight and its color is more likely to match.

EX-GI FINDS GOVERNOR IS McCOY TOO

CLEVELAND (UP) — Back in 1944, James Colman McCoy of Cleveland was stationed in the China - Burma - India theater, but he had his eye on the elections in the United States.

He sent Frank J. Lausche, now Ohio Governor, $25 for his campaign.

Recently, McCoy received a letter from Lausche which said:

"Out of the Burma theater of war in the summer of 1944, there came through the mail from you a contribution of $25 to be used in my campaign for the Governorship."

"It goes without saying that I deeply appreciated the fact that with all the problems and worries that were yours as a soldier, you nevertheless did take the time and trouble to help me in a problem you thought was mine."

"At that time the contribution which you made was deposited in a Cleveland bank in my name as trustee for James C. McCoy. Here with I am forwarding you that passbook along with my letter to the bank authorizing it to release the money to you—the real McCoy."

Atoms May Solve Mystery of Plants

AMES, Ia. (UP) — Atomic research may find the answer to what has been the "mystery" of plant growth.

Dr. Frank Spedding, director of the Iowa State College atomic-energy project, explains that, in many cases, plants show greatly different results on soils which apparently are the same.

He said that minerals with "tagged" atoms could be added to the soil and the plant's utilization of the mineral determined.

Waiting is tough on us, too. For months we've been hoping to present each and every one of you with the new Packards you've ordered, and have been waiting for so patiently. Last fall, the outlook was good. Packard was confident it would double its pre-war output in 1946. (The factory is equipped to turn out far more than that.) Look what has happened! Then came material shortages. Parts shortages. For reasons completely beyond its own control, Packard was able to keep its assembly line moving only nine days in the first quarter of this year. In the meantime... Our friends have kept calling us up and asking, "Hey! Where's that new Packard I ordered weeks ago?" Many of these are old friends—Packard owners since 'way back.

Flying Wing Has Test Flight

The Northrop Flying Wing XB-35, world's largest bomber, takes off from Hawthorne California. The tailless craft left the ground without a wobble, its four 3000 h. p. engines pulling it easily off the field with approximately 1000 feet of the 4000 foot runway to spare. (NEA Telephoto).

Veterans Should File College Applications Now

Veterans who plan to enroll at some North Texas college this fall should file their applications for school entitlement with the nearest VA office now. Otherwise, said Tom R. Rayburn, manager of the VA Dallas Regional Office, exservicemen will contribute to confusion and delays which have provoked complaints in the past if they go to school without certificates.

Subsistence payments cannot be made by the VA until two steps are taken. First, Mr. Rayburn said the certificate of entitlement must be obtained by the veteran. It shows he is eligible for schooling under the government program, and the amount of time to which he is entitled by length of service. Second, the registrar of the school at which the veteran matriculates files the certificate, shows by indorsement that the veteran has been accepted, and forwards it to the Regional VA office. Until this is received, the veteran cannot be put on the payroll for either the $65 or $90 monthly subsistence check due him. "A certified photostatic copy of the veteran's discharge is all that is necessary to apply for the certificate, which will be mailed to the veteran shortly after his application," the regional manager pointed out.

"Schools will be crowded to capacity this fall. Former Service personnel should not go to college without certificates. For his own convenience and interest, no veteran should present himself for registration without having his entitlement papers in his hand," Mr. Rayburn advised.

Sandefer Active In Campaign In The District

"He has met and talked with more eminent people than any other man 34 years of age I have ever met," Dale Carnegie noted author and lecturer, said of Gib Sandefer, now a candidate for Congress from the 17th District of Texas.

That was six years ago and since that time, Sandefer has met hundreds and hundreds of other prominent men and women of the world, and regardless of where he travels today—east or west, in the nation's largest cities, or in out-of-the-way and little known villages, Gib is almost certain to find a friend or friends of years gone by.

Not only has Sandefer known more people than most men of his age—he remembers them regardless of whether they were just "toks" or leaders in government, military or social affairs of the world. He seldom forgets a face or name.

"The welfare of the 17th district will come first if the people of this district want me to represent them in Washington," Sandefer has said in numerous talks since launching his campaign, "and you can rest assured that I'll do everything possible to get the things my district needs and wants."

While talking to friends and supporters here recently, Gib said, "I am not a great statesman and never will be; I am not any more intelligent than any average West Texan; I do not propose to reform Congress; nor do I expect to set the world on fire once I get to Washington, and I will not be going there as your representative to wage war against anybody or anything."

"On the contrary I'll be doing my best to get along with my fellow Congressmen and other government leaders just as I have always been able to get along with you people of West Texas, they're just human as all of us, they're in Washington to serve the interests of the people they represent, and to work for the welfare of these United States, and all other peace-loving peoples who desire only the rights of mankind and the enjoyment of peace and plenty."

POINSETTA HOLDS BLOOM

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—A Christmas poinsettia owned by Mrs. Frank Rinard has been in bloom continually since last November. The plant hasn't lost a petal during its unusually long life, and buds are still appearing. The four-year-old plant behaved like any other poinsettia last year, blooming at Christmas only.

of this year, appropriated $250,000 for emergency construction of barracks at state colleges and the university. And the Attorney General's office has ruled that colleges and universities are eligible for allocations under a $7,500,000 statewide emergency veterans' housing appropriation. Immediate construction of living facilities would greatly relieve the situation, officials say.

Midwesterner Grows Own Tropical Garden

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Earl C. Amen, Lincoln, doesn't let the fact that he lives in the heart of the Middle West stop him from having a tropical garden every summer.

Amen specializes in raising the sacred Egyptian lily, and has approximately 1,000 plants which he sets out each summer. During the warm months, when the plants reach a height of five feet or more the yard "looks like a tropical grove, as the lilies resemble small palm trees," he explained.

During the winter, the horticulturist plants the bulbs in pots in his green house, shifting them to larger containers as they mature. So far as he knows, Amen is the only Nebraskan who breeds the fairly rare lily, which is worshipped in many parts of Asia and Africa.

California Iowans Invited To Return

SACRAMENTO (UP)—The Governors of two states have collaborated to reverse the traditional Iowa-to-California immigration. Gov. Robert D. Blue of Iowa asked Gov. Earl Warren of California to request former Iowans to return to their native state to attend the centennial celebration of Iowa's admission to the union. Gov. Warren, in relaying his colleague's message, urged native Iowans to attend the celebration.

There are so many Iowans in southern California that Long Beach is known apocryphally as the capital of Iowa.

Paper Carrier Presents Motor Bike To Priest

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A local priest will drive a bright red motor-bike over the roads of China next month, the gift of a Pittsburgh newspaper carrier.

Twelve-year-old Danny Morgan gave the bike to the Rev. Ernan Johnston on the eve of the priest's departure to begin missionary work in China's Hunan province. Danny won the $175 bike at a party for newspaper carriers. "I couldn't operate the bike myself," Danny said. "I'm a minor. So when Father Johnston offered to buy the bike, I told him I would give it to him."

Father Johnston said he expected to use the bike to travel between missions. "He said he thought he would not have any trouble keeping the bike supplied with gasoline because it used such a small amount of fuel."

Jesus' Friends Carry On His Work

Scripture: Mark 16:15-16, 18-20; Luke 24:45-49; Acts 2:46-47; 5:42

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

ASIDE from the character and attributes that mark Him as divine, Jesus stands in history as a remarkable figure. Men have been famous for the books they have written, but Jesus, so far as we know, wrote no book. Men have won fame for powerful organizations they created on earth, but Jesus apparently organized only teachers and evangelists, leaving to those who came after Him the large and detailed work of organizing the church. Men like Moses are famous as lawmakers; but Jesus established no codes, nor even put His teachings into codified form.

About His life and teaching there was a seemingly strange casualness. Apparently we might not have had that great instruction about God as a spirit, and about worship in spirit and in truth, if He had not met a Samaritan woman at a well.

YET all the seeming casualness appears to have been a part of God's purpose. The Christian religion, like the Master himself and His teaching, was not to be a hiebound and circumscribed thing. It was to have free course. Mistaken disciples of Jesus have made the mistake of doing what Jesus did not do—of trying to make His religion a formal thing, limiting it with their own conceptions.

Note how the divine purpose in the free emergence of Christianity has been manifested and justified. The Master, who wrote the book, has inspired the best and most beautiful book of all—the Gospels and the New Testament. The Master, who apparently effected no great, formal organization, so inspired His disciples and so enriched their experience that they, humble men whom He had called from fishing nets and customs seats, became Christian statesmen and organizers, recognized as among the greatest humanity has produced.

"I have called you friends," said Jesus to them. "The servant." He said, "knoweth not what his lord doeth." Perhaps more than we know, He talked to them of the days to come, and laid in plan, as well as in influence, the groundwork for all that they accomplished after His death.

BUT it seems unlikely. Their failure to understand Him continued to the Cross itself, and until His appearance after His resurrection had revived and quickened their faith they were ready to go back to their fishing nets, counting all that had happened a glorious dream. But their faith was revived and quickened. They did receive power from on high as the Holy Spirit came upon them. Who can doubt it, who studies what they did and realizes how they were themselves transformed?

They discovered as they never had before what it meant to be the friends of Jesus, and as the friends of Jesus they carried on His work.

It is our privilege, as friends of Jesus, still to carry it on.

release of vendor's lien.

Army To Train Group On War In Mountains

CAMP CARSON, Col. (UP) — The school bell will ring July 1 for a selected group of officers and enlisted men who will learn the tricks of mountain combat and winter warfare at this U. S. Army camp in the shadow of Pikes Peak.

The school, under direction of Col. David L. Ruffner, will "preserve and develop the techniques and tactics of mountain and winter warfare," according to an Army announcement.

Thirty-four officers and 134 enlisted men have been chosen to attend the Army school, where they will study the various methods of fighting in mountains and under wintry weather conditions to pass on to mountain combat troops. The training will include rock climbing, mountain movements, tactics, supply and evacuation, capabilities and limitations of weapons, clothing and equipment. There will also be instruction and study of methods of loading and lashing and use of pack animals as well as care and conditioning of mules, horses and dogs.

Soldiers at the school will take to the mountains clad in snowshoes and furlined garments. They'll skim over the snow on skis, sleds and toboggans.

BLACK ORCHIDS JUST MYTH
CHICAGO (UP) — There is no black orchid—it's all a myth, say Chicago florists who have been receiving hundreds of calls for them in the past few weeks.

"The florists are unable to track down the source of this libel on nature's reluctance to mother her sturdiest flower in an ebony hue," the Allied Florists' Assn. said indignantly in an attempt to prove to the public once and for all that black orchids do not exist.

Orchid breeders agree that black orchids are an impossibility.

Gib Sandefer

Candidate For Representative, 17th Congressional District

A man of world-wide outlook, experience, travel and contacts, Gib Sandefer has a vision and a purpose far beyond that of the average man of 40 years.

He is known in Washington. He knows Washington and many of the leaders there. Yet he was born and reared in the 17th congressional district, and first hand-realizes the day-to-day hope and needs of the people of this district.

He is vitally concerned with an ever improving way of life for his fellowmen. He carries in his heart the realization that this betterment will come in direct ratio to national improvement and achievement and more cordial world-wide relationships and international peace.

"The welfare of the 17th congressional district will come first if the people of this district want me to represent them in Washington," he has said repeatedly in his talks since announcing his candidacy. "You can rest assured that I'll do everything possible to get the things my district needs and wants.

"Working with my fellow congressmen and other government leaders, for the welfare of this district will be my first job. With that goes my pledge to work for the welfare of these United States, and all other peace-loving peoples who desire only the rights of mankind and the enjoyment of peace and plenty," Gib Sandefer declares.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens" (Proverbs 3:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson - Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O Lord, how manifold are thy works in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches." (Psalms 104:24).

The Lesson - Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them" (page 295).
