INDIVIDUALISM TO THE RESCUE

Despite all the speeches about democracy and dictatorship, and all the talk about national strength, geographical position and spheres of influence, international relations are determined in the end by the nature and character of the men who conduct them.

The foreign ministers' deadlock had held fact since last September, and showed no signs of breaking. Reasons of ideology and policy were cited to support the contention that an agreement was impossible unless a miracle happened.

Thanks to M. Bidault, the impasse over Trieste is dissolved and the prospects of peace treaties and a general peace conference at last definitely scheduled are, for the first time, bright.

Who is this political newcomer, and how did he do it? Common information on this side of the Atlantic is sketchy on both questions. But apparently M. Bidault is a small, reserved man who rose from obscurity through his leadership of the French underground during the occupation.

A relatively unknown professor, editorial writer and smalltime politician, he seems to have attained eminence quite by accident as a result of his patriotic efforts.

His patriotic service brought him to the attention of General de Gaulle. And through the intricate ramifications of French politics he found himself first in the French Foreign Office and then in his present eminent position.

He inherited a canny, conciliatory policy from General de Gaulle and improved on it. Representing a country important enough to receive consideration but not strong enough to force an issue, he seems to have played both ends against the middle.

In budgeting the three greatest powers from their formerly immovable positions M. Bidault has presented the future roles of the smaller nations in a new and hopeful light.

There will be future grave difficulties, certainly. But a way has been shown of solving the first and greatest, and as a consequence the world can breathe more easily.

T. E. (Ed) Castleberry

Candidate For COMMISSIONER PRECINCT NO. 1 EASTLAND COUNTY

Subject To Action Of Democratic Primaries

THE VOTERS OF COMMISSIONERS' PRECINCT NO. 1 EASTLAND COUNTY:

I have spent my entire life in the rural districts, the most of it in this precinct.

I taught school, combining farming and teaching, at Merriman, Juloock, Union and Yellow Mountain for 15 years.

I have been livestock farming 28 years at my present location: 7 miles north of Eastland, 10 miles west of Ranger.

The last ten years, in combination with my farm operation, I have worked with the Eastland County-Agricultural Agencies on the soil and water conservation program over the entire county.

I believe that I am fully aware of the duties and responsibilities connected with the office and I am basing my candidacy on my practical experience. I will appreciate your vote and influence and if elected will give my best efforts to the duties of that office.

Sincerely, T. E. (Ed) Castleberry and Mrs. H. C. Adams, came in Sunday for Mrs. Rose and they left at once for their home in Henderson.

Mrs. Mitchell, who is quite ill is reported to be some better today.

Dan Bryant visited home folks over the week end and went to Mineral Wells, Sunday.

Wilbert Norton is home from the European theatre of war. He and Doris are at home at the Holt Apartments.

The Baptist revival is in progress and doing nicely.

Rev. G. D. Clark, Methodist preacher, has returned home and he and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stark, left today for their vacation.

Shorty Parks, who recently moved to Ranger, paid us a visit Sunday. We miss these good people and wish they would move back.

C. O. Langston purchased the residence and cafe formerly owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Heptinstall and has taken over the cafe and will occupy the residence shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Heptinstall moved to Stephenville, where Mrs. Heptinstall will teach music in the public school. Mr. Heptinstall is undecided as to what he will do.

Rex and Johnnie Roberts, brothers of Mrs. Pit Crawford, visited Olden over the week end.

Clyde Sheppard, of Abilene, filled the pulpit at the Church of Christ Sunday morning and Dana Price preached in the evening. Bro. Price was accompanied by his wife and daughter and Mrs. Lee Williams from Eastland, who they are visiting.

O. L. Wilson and family visited Mr. Wilson's brother, at Comanche Saturday and Sunday.

C. B. Anderson and son Clyde, with Tommie Landreth, visited relatives near Wingate Saturday and Sunday.

Roy Simer, of Fort Worth, was a visitor in the home of Mrs. Ida

Coyotes Chief Target In Drive On Range Tests

SALEM, Ore. (UP) -- Predatory animals, especially coyotes, are on the increase in the Western states, according to statistics compiled by the Oregon Department of Agriculture.

Consequently, federal, state, county and private agencies are increasing efforts to rid the range of these stock killers. Coyotes, bobcats, foxes, mountain lions, wolves and occasionally bears are the worst offenders, with the tawny, crafty coyote holding the limelight.

The coyote has taken over where his more vicious canine cousin, the wolf, has left off. Unlike the wolf, the coyote seems to thrive on agriculture expansion. His favorite victims are sheep, but chickens, turkeys, calves, swine and horses and cows fall prey to the coyote. His range extends from the Arctic to Costa Rica.

Time was when cowboys carried bottles of trichyline in their saddle bags to dose dead animal carcasses in the hopes of killing a predator. But most of the coyote are killed these days by professional hunters and trappers.

The most common method of killing these range pests is by poisoning, shooting, trapping and hunting out the coyotes' lair and destroying the cubs. In some parts of the West airplanes are used to seek out and kill coyotes.

The recent increase in coyote and predatory animal population began in the early 1930s when the price of furs declined greatly. Coyote pelts, that are used in making many other artificial furs, sold for $10 and $15 in the 1920s, Simer, Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Will Horner is at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Bettie Mitchell.

Rev. O. D. McDonald, son in law of Mrs. Mitchell, who was on Sabbath leave was called to Winters Sunday to be at the bedside of his mother who is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coltharp accompanied by Gene Evetts, made a business trip to Dallas Sunday and returned today.

but the price dropped to as low as $1. Bounties also reduced during the depression. Then, when the prices were increasing to a point where trapping and hunting the animals was again becoming a profitable business, World War II took the hunters from the range and placed them in the armed forces and war industries. Ammunition became scarce and traps were hard to get.

But once again pelts are becoming more valuable and funds for predatory control work are increasing. Maybe the coyote will find himself facing extinction before long.

HOME-MADE SEISMOGRAPH RIVALS BEST

WHITINSVILLE, Mass. (UP) -- Amateur seismology. Mechanic William Renault's hobby has cost him a total of $1.60 so far.

The seismographical instrument he has is almost as good as the costly one at Weston College. Renault's recorded graphs reputedly compare favorably with those taken at Weston.

The 35 year old mechanic's seismograph registers shocks caused by tremors in every part of the world.

The money it cost him to build the instrument was spent on two bags of cement. He put together with clocks and assorted junk he found in his workshop. First he dug a hole in one end of his cellar extending seven feet into the ground. He built a seven foot base there. That made one end of the seismograph. Then he built a similar base of cement at the other end. With the knick-knacks from his attic he put the complicated piece of machinery together.

Renault claims he never saw a diagram or read any books telling him how to build it. Afterward he did obtain reading material on seismology from the well stocked scientific library at Holy Cross College.

The seismograph is in the cellar and Renault's hand made radio equipment upstairs.

Renault goes down the cellar once in a while to see how things are going, then does some amateur cartoons, then goes upstairs and tunes in on his radio to talk with some other amateur of the ether waves.

AMERICAN LEGION

DON D. PARKER, Post Commander
MRS. GEORGE LANE, Aux. President

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker and daughter Mrs. Betty Alford, have returned home after spending their two weeks vacation visiting friends and relatives in East Texas and Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy George are visiting Mrs. George's parents Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hennessee. Mr. George has accepted a position with the Western Electric Co., in Lubbock where they will make their home.

Our post is over the 400 membership mark and with a little effort we can reach the 500 goal soon, there are a good number of World War I veterans who have never joined any veterans organization and of course there are many World War II vets that only wait an invitation to join the Legion, it is every Legionnaire's duty to secure the membership of every GI possible in order to make our Legion strong, thereby making his position as a veteran strong also. It is a known fact that with the Legion's membership numbering in the millions gives us strength and a great deal of prestige with the members of congress in the consideration of proposed veterans legislation in the future. Don't wait to be invited to join the legion, just hand your dues to any legionnaire or to our service officer, Herbert Tanner at the Chamber of Commerce or to post adjutant Hollis Bennett at the U. S. Employment office.

The ladies auxiliary paid off a debt of gratitude in the form of a party for the two girl scout troops and their leaders who have made the auxiliary poppy sale such a financial success each year. The girls invited their favorite boy friends and enjoyed the evening with games, a jitter bug contest was held and Rodney and Ann Day were proclaimed by the frolicers to be king and queen of the rug cutters. The prize money was awarded to the winners for selling the greatest number of poppies during the auxiliary poppy day sale.

The first prize going to Margie Poe, the second prize to Jessie Whaley, third prize to Mose Pullman and fourth prize to Alta Harbin. The scout leaders present were Mesdames H. C. Enas, W. C. Whaley, J. C. Poe and G.

Reeves and guest Mrs. Joe Stephens, Mrs. Neil Day, Mrs. W. B. Milton, Mrs. R. L. Sikes and Mrs. J. Laughlin. Refreshments were served to sixty five.

Ex-Serviceman Chas. Parkett has been discharged from the Army Air Corps and is at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chaidie Burkett. Chas. is to enter school in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Genz Sutphen, newlyweds of Abilene are visiting Mrs. Sutphen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walters.

Did you hear about the little moron who—thought he was built upside down because his feet smelled and his nose ran? Was a feeling so low he got his hands slapped. Drank eight cokes and belched "7-up"? Put crackers in his shoes to feed his pigeon toes so they would leave his corns alone? Slept on his stomach when he heard the Japs were looking for a naval base? Took off his knee cap to see if there was any beer in the joint.

Buddy Hershall Safley is on a much needed vacation for a rest and is visiting in Temple, Texas.

Unit member Mrs. W. W. Walters has been confined to her home with a badly sprained ankle and is reported improving satisfactorily.

Faith is not trying to believe something regardless of the evidence, faith is daring to do something regardless of opinions.

Did you know? That the American Legion conceived and sponsored your GI Bill of Rights, that the American Legion was formed by fighting men in a meeting in Paris, France, in 1919 and was chartered by an act of Congress on September 16, 1919. The act was amended in 1942 in order to make eligible veterans of World War II, the first duty of the Legion is the proper care of the disabled veterans and the dependents of the deceased veteran of World War II, that after the economy act of 1933 which repealed all laws dealing with World War veterans and reducing the appropriation effecting them almost to nothing, the American Legion's Legislative Committee was successful in securing the passage of many laws liberalizing the cut of the Economy Act.

The responsibility for employment of veterans rests upon the shoulders of the entire nation—government, private employers, every citizen, and every community. With victory, our soldiers and sailors turned their faces homeward, their hopes high for peace and plenty. Today the problem of their readjustment provides the opportunity for the nation as a whole to serve the veteran—not with a dole, but with a job. The best way to employ veterans is to list all your local jobs with the United States Employment Service. Phone number 195, P. O. box 631, Eastland.

General Mihailovitch has been convicted and executed, the cards were stacked against him and he knew his trial would result in his facing a firing squad, he was found guilty of dealing friendly with Germany, we think the truth really is he was guilty of being on the wrong side of the red fence. Simple deduction shows us that no man could play ball with the Hitler gang and at the same time save the lives of 600 American airmen forced down over his territory. The American Legion ask our country to withhold food and other aid until we had the assurance the Marshal would be given a fair trial, we asked in vain. 600 American lives meant much to their loved ones and to our country, and we will always owe the great Chetnik leader a debt of profound gratitude.

Our National Executive Committee will make every effort to secure the passage of HR 6340 which provides for an over-all increase of 20 per cent in the compensation or retirement pay of veterans of Wars I and II, in order to meet increasing living costs. It also provides restoration of full compensation to hospitalized patients without dependents, and for the payment of allowances to dependents of veterans drawing compensation.

Its much better to be able to appreciate the things you cannot have than to have the things you cannot appreciate.

Seldom the American Legion ever goes on record of opposing any legislation effecting servicemen but the Legion has opposed HR-2346 a bill proposed to extend all the privileges of the GI Bill of Rights to those who served in the Merchant Marine during World War II. These Merchant Marine were not considered to be in the armed forces and were paid a regular salary and could tell the boss they were quitting for a better job in the ship yards or elsewhere. The Merchant Marine did an outstanding job during the war and we wouldn't take anything reasonable from them, but we do not think they should come under the Bill of Rights.

SEES URANIUM AS BASIS FOR MONEY SYSTEM

CHICAGO (UP)—The development of atomic energy may lead to a new and more stable monetary system, based on uranium instead of gold, according to Prof. Farrington Daniels of the University of Chicago.

Daniels, director of the university's metallurgical laboratory, says that a given quantity of uranium or plutonium, obtained from uranium, is equivalent to a definite number of kilowatt hours of energy having a potential value in the world's economy comparatively free from price fluctuations.

"On this basis," he says, "a new monetary standard might be substituted for gold."

Although available statistics indicate that the amount of high grade uranium in the world is limited, new deposits are likely to be found and it will be sought more intensively than in the past, Daniels says.

Daniels, on leave from the University of Wisconsin Chemistry department to work at Chicago, says that valuable deposits are known to exist in northern Canada and the Belgian Congo, Africa and lower-grade deposits in Colorado, Czechoslovakia and other scattered regions.

Despite the possibilities offered by the harnessing of nuclear energy, Prof. Daniels cautions against expecting revolutionary changes overnight.

"It seems safe to say that no obsolescence of any existing power units through the introduction of atomic power will take place in the next 10 years. Atomic power will not replace ordinary fuels under existing conditions where fuel is nearby and abundant."

He suggests that nuclear power might first be put to work on a large scale in remote places where other sources of power are not available. In such isolated regions, he points out, the high cost of producing atomic energy would be relatively unimportant. "If one chooses to build a city at the South Pole, one must have heat and power regardless of price," he says. "Certain remote mining operations and irrigation developments could well afford to pay abnormally high prices for atomic power."

Attorney, Jurymen Agree On One Point

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Prosecuting attorneys and jurymen don't always agree in the courtroom, but their domestic problems are evidently similar.

Recently, assistant district attorney Bob Allen asked a prospective juror, "Do you hear well?"

The elderly man retorted with, "Well my wife has to tell me something twice generally."

"Yes, yes," was Allen's reply. "My wife generally has to tell me two or three times, too, but do you hear well?"

THESE and scores of other branches of training and education are now offered to the young men of America in Uncle Sam's new voluntary peacetime Army. During the war, the U. S. Army developed training schools of unusually high standard, not only for men in this country, but also for those serving in occupation forces overseas.

These schools are being maintained at the same level of efficiency, and men 18 to 34 may now take advantage of the opportunities they offer by enlisting for a 2-year period in the Army.

In addition, you receive good pay, a broader opportunity than ever before for advancement to a technical rating, a 30-day furlough at home each year. Or you can accumulate your furloughs and complete a 2-year enlistment in a year and 10 months, with two months' furlough with pay at the end. You also get a 5% increase in pay for each reenlistment, plus promotion pay, and you can apply for Officers Candidate School.

The Army has never before offered better preparation for a fine career. And, most important of all, every man who enlists has his own opportunity of helping to guard the peace that has been so hard-won.

To enhance an impressive list of manufacturing "firsts," Chevrolet now enters in another pioneering venture as the first motor car manufacturer to sponsor a regular commercial television show. Admittedly an exploratory venture to explore the possibilities of television as an advertising medium, these broadcasts were the first in the country to be sponsored by any automobile producer. Four weekly shows were staged by Chevrolet and broadcast through the facilities of the American Broadcasting Company's television network. The shows were televised at the Dumont Studios in New York for the three stations currently teamed in the ABC television network. Shown above is a scene from the second of the series, a half-hour program titled "Roads to Romance."

Coffee Pot Joe Returns Home With Honors

PITTSBURGH (UP) — "Coffee Pot Joe II" has been mustered out of the Navy, after serving about 20,000 cups of java in four campaigns.
Three sailors of the U.S.S. Erben, on which "Joe" served for nearly 30 months, returned the battlescarred coffee pot to its owner, Mrs. Genaro Balenciago, of Imperial, Pa.
The trio was headed by Harold L. Kildoo, of Ellwood City, Pa., owner of "Coffee Pot Joe I", a war casualty. He was accompanied by William S. Zabric, of Johns town, Pa., and Dick Stephens, of Columbian, O.
Their names and those of 33 other Erben sailors are engraved on "Joe." In "Joe's" war record are four battle stars for the invasions of Guam, the Philippines, Okinawa, and Japan. There are 2 special citations for percolating through typhoons.
An engraved citation also thanked the Balenciago family, father, mother and three children for sending "Joe" to the service of their country. Mrs. Balenciago sent the percolator after reading an appeal in a local paper sent by Sailor Kildoo, who wanted to replace "Joe I".

If telephone service is slower...here's why!

We're taking emergency steps to bring telephone service to people who are waiting.
We're adding more telephones to switchboards already heavily loaded—more telephones than the switchboards were ever intended to handle. This may slow up telephone service here at the busiest times of the day.
In normal times we wouldn't even consider such action. But many people are waiting for service. And new equipment is hard to get and takes considerable time to make and install. The size of the job staggers imagination. Telephone equipment is needed everywhere in large volume.
That's why it is necessary to load the present switchboards to the very limit.

As fast as we can in the face of material shortages we're pushing our construction program. Our first goal is to serve everybody who is waiting. Then we'll restore service to prewar standards as quickly as we can. It will cost a good deal. This year we plan to spend 47 million dollars in the five states we serve.

Sometimes you may not hear "Number, please?" promptly
With switchboards here heavily loaded, the operator may not always be able to answer your signal as promptly as she and you would like. This may be true especially during the busy calling hours, in midmorning and early evening.
If you do not hear the operator's "Number, please?" for a few seconds after you lift your receiver, we hope you'll understand why. She will answer just as soon as she can.

Robert R. Herring
CANDIDATE FOR Congress
TO THE VOTERS OF THE 17TH DISTRICT OF TEXAS:
Today, we citizens of the United States stand at a crossroads. Upon the decisions you make and put into action on July 27th may depend the future course of our American life. If we fail, through our aroused actions, to secure an honest, strong willed group of representatives in the Congress at this election, we will undoubtedly continue on this road of economic distress. I have tried during this campaign to place my full and exact beliefs before you that you may justly consider my candidacy for the office of your representative. I have tried to point out that I believe many Americans today are blind to the true values of our life because of the greed for dollar bills, and I feel that enough men who realize the cost of these last four years, with all of its loss of life, can return our government to sound values and to you as average citizens.
I earnestly request your deepest consideration at the primary election, July 27th:
Sincerely,
Robert R. Herring

My Electric Servants Cost LESS Than Ever Since Electric Rates are Down

Yes, your most dependable helper, Reddy Kilowatt, works for still lower wages. That's because your electric rates are down.

Your electric refrigerator, your radio, lamps and the dozen or more other electric home appliances now cost less to use, right when practically everything else costs more.

The recent reduction in electric rates is in keeping with the Texas Electric Service Company's policy to assure customers a continued high standard of electric service at the lowest possible cost. Electric rates always have gone DOWN—never UP. Reddy worked for you during the war without any increase in wages. Now he works for less.

Electric service always has been one of the smallest items in the cost of running the average home. Now electric rates are down and electric service costs less than ever.

TOUGHY CAN'T FORGET FORMER MARINE BUDDY

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—After a fellow's been overseas with the fighting Marines, it naturally might be a little hard to settle in one place for any length of time—especially when the memory of a dead buddy keeps haunting him.

Or it might be that Toughy has war nerves and problems of readjustment. Put it may well be that he still thinks he should be "out there" running messages for the leathernecks. If that's the case Toughy will be running away again.

Toughy can do it a lot easier than his GI counterparts. You see Toughy is a dog—a war dog turned back to civilian life, but without the pal he grew up with and joined in the war.

The story behind Toughy probably is not an unusual one. It happened wherever a boy and his dog loved each other, and one goes away never to return. During the war, it was all too common.

Toughy's tale came to light when Wallace E. Williams, 43, went to the dog pound to get a pet dog for wife Helen for her birthday.

Dog Warden Martin Ahern told him how they had to confiscate Toughy in January when they found him running loose. The next day a woman called and said she was the owner. She refused to give her name and didn't want the dog back, but she did want to make sure the terrier found a nice home.

Her son, she said, went overseas with the Marines and soon wrote back that he missed Toughy. "Please, Mom, could you get him into the Marines and send him over?"

Toughy, knowing as only dogs do, that he was joining his master, patiently went through basic training after the Marines accepted him. And the little terrier did get over seas and was assigned to the son.

Then the boy—Toughy's master—was killed, and one of his buddies brought him home at last to the mother.

But at home, Toughy couldn't forget. He would drag and haul articles of the boy's clothing, shoes and sports equipment, around the house. Seeing these articles brought such painful memories to the mother that she decided to turn the dog loose hoping he would find another nice home.

That's how he came to the dog pound and that's how Williams got him for $5 including license.

Before his new owner could staple the license on his collar, Toughy ran away. He was picked up in East Cleveland and a judge fined Williams $22.50 for letting the dog run loose without a license. Williams gladly paid it; he and his wife were glad to have Toughy back.

Then last week Toughy ran away again and this time an apartment house custodian took him in—miles from his "foster" home. Toughy had his license on this

U.S. Readers At Bubble Gum Age, Says Prof.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—Books and magazines written beyond the understanding of a sixth grade pupil stand little chance of being widely read, according to Dr. Gerald Yoakam, University of Pittsburgh education professor.

Proof that America's reading habits are at the "bubble gum" stage, Yoakam said, lies in the fact that the army during World War II had to keep its instructions at the fourth grade level to be certain the soldier readers would have complete understanding.

And the general public wants its reading matter written in a sixth grade manner, whether love or the atomic bomb is discussed. The subject isn't important, he said. Americans just want something simple to read.

Women's magazines average about half way through the seventh grade and love sports and western magazines are about sixth grade, Yoakam said.

Yoakam's guide, known as the Thorndyke Index, takes into consideration vocabulary, length of sentences and complexities.

The professor believes the reading level of the nation must be raised to that of a 14 year old child or "at least to where we can grasp the social and economic problems that confront us."

Texas Chair Sent To Furniture Center

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UP)—In a move that does smack of "carrying the coals to Newcastle," a Harlingen-made chair has been sent to Grand Rapids, Mich., which is where we thought all the chairs came from anyhow.

It was forwarded to the Industrial Assn., of Grand Rapids.

time, so there was no difficulty locating his owner. Williams gave the custodian $5 for his kindness.

Today Toughy's back with the Williamses. They are trying to make a new home for him, hoping he won't run away again. And they hope his war nerves—if that's what he has—stop bothering him.

CAMPAIGN CHARM—One of Beauford Jester's most enthusiastic and prettiest boosters is his own daughter, Barbara, blonde, stately, talented—whose staunchest belief is that her dad is the best in the world. Adding a note of glamour—the Texas kind, not the Hollywood sort—in Jester's campaign at present as she travels with him, Miss Jester is 21 years old and will cast her first vote this year. An accomplished harpist and pianist, she is a music major at the University of Texas. Marriage and home life is Barbara's chosen career. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority at the University. She never turns down a chance at fried chicken, hot biscuits, black-eyed peas and cornbread. She's been active in charitable work for four years, taking part in the housing-for-veterans campaign in Austin, the March of Dimes campaign and in USO programs throughout the war.

Blind Poet's Book To Go To Sightless Vets

HADLEY, Mass. (UP)—A Hadley poet who has been blind since he was 10 is serving as an inspiration to sightless veterans of World Wars I and II.

The American Legion Post here has voted to furnish free copies of Clarence Hawke's book "Hitting the Dark Trail" to 1,500 blind World War II veterans. The book is Hawke's autobiography and after World War I was mailed to 5,000 blind French veterans.

Hawke now is 62 years old. When he was nine, he sprained an ankle returning home from school and the leg was amputated below the knee. After this his eyesight gradually disappeared.

By the time he was 20 he had partially educated himself and was earning his living as a lecturer. He attended the Perkins Institution for the blind and started to combine writing verses with lecturing.

After 25 years of lecturing, he gave it up to devote himself to writing books, of which he has published 53.

Eugene Brioux, the French dramatist helped him publish his autobiography in Braille for the blind soldier of France. He got nothing for the translation but says it was the "best paying thing I ever did."

Miles Solidly Behind Leon River Project

STAMFORD, Tex. July 13—Ted Miles, Stamford businessman and ex-GI, running for the U. S. Congress on the farmers' ticket, today called for active, unversary support in Central West Texas of the Leon River project.

Miles declared that the Leon project could mean the beginning of vast farmland improvements on the Central West Texas watershed and promised unrelenting efforts to push it to completion when he reaches Washington.

The hard-campaigning veteran was the first in his race to make the REA and Soil Conservation full planks in his platform. He favors both strongly and is planning their extension in West Texas.

12 Former Tech Ball Players Go Professional

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP)—Texas Tech, the school on the Texas Plains that would like to get into Southwest Conference football circles, will have 12 former Red Raider stars playing professional football this fall.

And if a couple of backs would switch to the line, the 12 would make a potent grid team.

Within the next few weeks, the 12 will report to six pro teams in two leagues—to the Detroit Lions Chicago Cardinals, Philadelphia Eagles and Green Bay Packers in the National League, and to the Miami Seahawks and New York Yankees in the new All-American League.

Detroit will get four former Red Raiders, Rafe Nabors, center; J. R. Callahan, fullback; Thayne Amomett, halfback, and Pat Farris, guard.

Going to Chicago will be Walter "Full" Rankin, Tech fullback and stand-out for the Cardinals for several years, and Bill Davis, tackle.

Ty Bain and Charley Dvoracek, quarterback and fullback here, will report to Philadelphia.

Green Bay will have Walter Schlinkman, Little All-American fullback last year, as a freshman, and Bob Flowers, center, as a returning Packer veteran.

Prince Scott, end, who has played during the war years with the Third Airforce team, will report to Miami.

And Francis Sachse is switching from the Brooklyn Tigers to the New York Yankees.

Army Makes Over Japan's School System

TOKYO (UP)—The rehabilitation of the education system in Japan may be likened to the performance of an appendicitis operation on a patient who is walking around the operating room, according to Brig. Gen. Ken R. Dyke Chief of the Allied Civil Information and Education Section.

"Such rehabilitation is a delicate and complicated task which requires extreme skill and caution," he said.

General Dyke said the first concern of General Douglas MacArthur was to reopen the schools for the re-education and rehabilitation of Japan's youth. He said necessary changes were made and are being made while some 400,000 teachers in 40,000 schools are engaged in teaching more than 18,000,000 Japanese students.

"The situation did not and does not permit of mere theorizing," General Dyke declared. "We were and are faced with a reality."

He said this does not mean that there could be no planning, but said that all planning has been based on the conditions which confronted the Allies and the need for establishing such new conditions as will contribute to democracy in the educational process.

In general, three steps were envisaged: These were:

1. The punitive stage—that stage in which those things considered to be vicious were to be eliminated.

2. The interim program—that which provides for the use of certain hastily prepared teaching materials as well as old material from which objectionable parts have been deleted.

3. The constructive phase—that stage in which long range reform of the education system will be planned and implemented.

"Memoranda and directives to the Japanese government issued to date by the Supreme Commander have been concerned largely with the punitive stage," Dyke said. "The interim program has been planned and implemented through advice and guidance to the Japanese Ministry of Education and other government agencies concerned."

"The planning of long range educational reforms will be based on the advice of experts in various fields of education. Such reforms are too important to be decided hastily. What we do in the next two years in education will be reflected for generations to come. Mistakes made now may well leave scars for 50 years. Consequently, we shall proceed slowly, availing ourselves of expert advice, from whatever source, to insure a full realization of the responsibility involved in this tremendous task."

Teacher's Study Shows Babies Partial to Papa

CHICAGO (UP)—The professor has spoken. Mama, read and ween!

"Babies," he said today "usually say 'papa' before they say 'mama'."

The professor is Werner F. Leopold, who teaches German at Northwestern University. He also is a papa. He also could be prejudiced. Mrs. Leopold hasn't been heard from yet.

"It is natural," he said, "that fond mothers, waiting for the traditional word, joyfully interpret it as a reference to themelves.

"At first these babbling syllables have no meaning at all; but are mere muscle exercise. In the case I studied, 'papa' was uttered half a month before 'mama,' and was months earlier.

His study is based on day-to-day notes on the speech development of his two daughters, Hildgard, now 16 years old, and Karla 10. The university says it is the most complete study of speech development by a linguist in the world.

From their birth the professor spoke to his children only in German while their mother conversed with them in English. They favor English, he said, because as they grew older they heard more persons speaking English than German.

15 HOURS DAILY PAYS OFF FOR SOAP TYCOON

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—At 37, Charles Luckman has been promoted to a job which paid his predecessor $9,000 a week.

As the new president of The Lever Bros. Soap Co., Luckman's rise has been meteoric since he was graduated as an architect from the University of Illinois in 1911 and couldn't get a job.

Since he had married a fellow student, Harriet McElroy, two days after commencement, Luckman needed work. Just as a stop gap he thought—he took a temporary job as a soap salesman.

A few years later he was sales manager of Pepsodent Toothpaste Co., and by 1913—when only 27 years old—he became vice president in charge of sales. By 1914, he was president.

Meanwhile, Lord Leverholme of England, chief stockholder in Lever Bros., which is Great Britain's largest business enterprise, had been watching Luckman's rise and was impressed greatly by his abilities.

Lord Leverholme noted how Pepsodent's sales had been boosted since Luckman's advent, and he thought particularly well of Luckman's signing of Bob Hope, a comedian, to sell the product.

Last January, Luckman was named president of Lever Bros., whose home office is in Cambridge with plants and branch offices throughout the world. But this Horatio Alger story cannot be attributed only to the smile of Lady Luck.

Starting his duties at 5 a. m., the soft-spoken Luckman often works steadily until 8 p. m., and that happens seven days a week. As proof of his remarkable memory a fellow worker cites the fact that six weeks after Luckman took his present position, he knew the names of hundreds of Lever Bros. managers, stenographers, and clerks.

Metal Wing Aircraft Now In Production

DALLAS (UP)—A new, all-metal wing developed for the Luscombe Silvaire lightplane is a pioneer discovery which it is believed will set the trend for all-metal construction of low-priced aircraft.

Introduction of the simple metal wing, described by the manufacturer as the greatest single post-war development in lightplane design, results in increased safety and efficiency, ease of production and repair. The new design makes the Luscombe craft the only completely all-metal, low-priced lightplane in volume production.

The wing comprises an aluminum shell structure built around two metal spars and two ribs and incorporates a single strong non-welded strut between wing and fuselage which provides easier access to the cabin and furnishes added visibility.

Aerodynamically, it is cleaner and faster than the fabric design and has shown excellent stability and improved stalling characteristics in flight tests. The absence of complicated, internal structure makes the metal wing about the same weight as the fabric and dope construction and simplifies periodic inspection.

The wing is composed of nine panels, all of which are easily replaceable to facilitate repair and the lifetime construction eliminates several hundred dollars expense required every year or so to recover fabric wings.

The durable metal skin will withstand ice, snow, hail and the fabric rot common in the tropics and in addition reduces fire hazards inherent in aircraft employing the fabric wing.

There are 9,270 retail liquor licenses in Chicago, an all-time high.

The way he works? "I simply surround myself with good men and give them full authority. I never interfere. They don't have to come to me for this or that," he explained.

CAPT. JENKINS' DIARY...

May 11th 1895 — Cold norther this morning and the garden plant look wilted. Don't think they are killed.

12th — Charley Simmons killed three mule eared rabbits in four shots. The largest I ever saw. All males.

19th — We all dined with Ann and Eddy for the first time in their new home today.

22nd — T. Simmons killed six fine red squirrels this morning.

27th — This evening Charley Simmons killed 6 red squirrels in six shots.

29th — E. D. Townsend's new cistern was finished. It is a good job.

June 1st — Elbert and Winnie and little Morris arrived on the train today from Ringold, Tex.

11th — Eddie Townsend's cistern was finished today at 3 o'clock in time for a fine rain. The storm blew down and broke off trees. Elbert and Roy were caught out in the storm and got a good soaking and brought home a large lot of fish.

October 20th — C. B. Jenkins bought a new wagon. Hope he will take care of it.

November 2nd. Dr. Townsend left today on the train for his home in Llano, after a short visit.

Editor's Note—Next week we expect to publish in this column a brief report of the death of Capt. Jenkins excerpts from whose diary has been published in weekly installments in The Weekly Chronicle. This will conclude the Capt. Jenkins articles. We will shortly, however, begin the happenings for the period of 1889 to 1899 in Eastland.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

Here is a bit of verse by an anonymous writer:

"When I was at the party," said Betty (aged just four),
"A little girl fell off her chair,
right down upon the floor
And all the other little girls began to laugh but me.
I didn't laugh a single bit," said Betty, seriously.

"Why not?" her mother asked her, full of delight to find That Betty—bless her little heart—had been so sweetly kind.
"Why didn't you laugh," said Betty, "cause it was me that fell."

"A Printer's Prayer" makes use of terms that are connected with the work and equipment of a newspaper composing room:

To The Great Printer Who prints in all colors of the rainbow and whose type face are stars and clouds, autumn leaves and sunbeams, snowflakes and flowers, this is my prayer:

That I may set up my life to the measure of a man; that I may have the courage, win or lose, to follow the rules of the game; that I may point my life toward the things that count; that I may lock up within my heart idle tales, gossip and words that hurt; that I may make ready for the opportunities to serve that come my way; that I may register in my memory the splendor of sunsets, the glow of friendships, the thrill of great music, and the mental lift of inspiring thoughts; that I may press forward in the spirit of adventure toward the new horizons of achievements; that I may also consummate worthy accomplishments; that the impressions that I make on the white pages of time may encourage, cheer and inspire all those who cross my path; that I may bind together in my own life all those positive qualities that make for happy, creative, triumphant living; and finally, O Master of Printers, help me avoid the disgrace of making pi of my life and guide me safely around the yawning mouth of the hell box."

School Children To Get Sample Of Army Chow

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)—Taylor county school children are going to get a sample—a big one—of that mainstay of Army chow, beans.

More than 2,000 gallons of canned beans have been delivered here for distribution to county schools in the school lunch program.

STRATEGY PAYS OFF.

WILTON, N. H. (UP)—Public school headmaster Newell W. Paire resorted to strategy to get the children to class on time when the fishing season opened.

He offered $5 prizes for the largest fish and for the most fish, but to be eligible the students had to be in class before 8:30 a.m.

A breakfast of trout was served before classes started, and there were no truants.

Texas Local 4-H Club Leader Wins Award in Movie Talent Contest

Martin E. Neumann

MARTIN E. NEUMANN, 21, farmer-stockman, of Bigfoot, Texas, has been named one of the 11 national winners in a 4-H movie story-writing contest conducted among local 4-H Club leaders throughout the United States. In recognition of the honor, Neumann will receive a $25.00 U. S. Savings Bond.

The movie, titled "Where the Road Turns Right," is designed to portray the ideals and objectives of 4-H Club work. Produced in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the State Extension Services and National 4-H Club News, it is sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, and will have national distribution.

As the older son, Neumann took over and managed the family's 170-acre farm for his mother, younger brother and sister when his father passed on. Both his brother and sister are 4-H'ers. Prior to becoming adult leader of the Bigfoot-Schattal 4-H Club last year, Neumann was junior leader for three of his eight years' membership. He has won many awards on his meat animal, turkey and corn exhibits, and as a member of field crop and soil conservation teams. His inspiration for writing the 4-H movie story came from observing what 4-H boys in his county achieved, and the things he learned to do as a club member.

You Can't Keep a Good Man Down

Danver Jerry Singer left his job with the 20th Century-Fox studios to go to war. On Okinawa, a Jap sniper wrecked his left leg. Back from war, he reported to the studio and gave an amazing demonstration dance, as pictured above. Then he rolled up his pants leg and revealed his artificial limb. P. S.—He got the job back.

It's BOB'S Time

E F F I C I E N T

Q U A L I F I E D

Two years ago Bob Wagstaff ran for Congress. He made a clean and aggressive campaign. He polled 22 per cent of the vote of the district, in spite of the fact he was campaigning against the strongest opposition, including the incumbent, and was handicapped by gasoline rationing and other difficulties due to the war. The many friends and acquaintances which he made in that campaign have provided him a strong organization in the present campaign, and he has hundreds of friends working for him all over the district.

His record and experience qualify him to make us a great congressman.

Wagstaff is fifty-three years of age and is a member of the law firm of Wagstaff, Harwell, Wagstaff & Alvis of Abilene, Texas. His success and skill as a lawyer qualify him to understand the drafting of bills and amendments, and the legal construction of federal legislation.

He is a veteran of World War I and is familiar with the problems of the veteran.

He was an outstanding legislator in the 42nd and 43rd Legislatures. He was the author or joint author of the oil and gas conservation laws under which the Railroad Commission regulates the production of oil and gas; the act transferring funds for the payment of Confederate pensions; laws relating to the leasing and sale of Public School Lands; the act giving cities and towns prior rights to the use of the water of Texas river; in preference to public utilities, power companies and irrigation; and the first act creating the Big Bend Park System in far West Texas. He also took a prominent part in the legislation for the assumption of the County Road Bonds out of the gasoline tax. He was appointed Chairman of the House Committee which drafted the final bill, this being the act under which the State now operates for the assumption of County Road Bonds.

He is acquainted with the problems of this district. His platform is clear, definite and complete on all issues and shows an understanding of the problems of the typical rancher, and businessman.

HIS RECORD AND EXPERIENCE QUALIFY HIM TO REPRESENT THE PEOPLE OF THE 17TH DISTRICT IN CONGRESS

"JOB DIVIDENDS" at General Electric

For the year 1945, $35,000,000 in addition to wages was spent by General Electric in extra benefits for employees

It isn't a new thing for General Electric to put more than money into pay envelopes for its employees.

"Job dividends"—these extras that G-E employees get in addition to wages—have a sound business reason. To be successful, a company must be efficient. A man with fewer worries can produce more efficiently, which makes further benefits possible.

Profit-sharing plans, relief and loan plans began over 10 years ago at General Electric. Life insurance for employees, cash for suggestions began over 20 years ago. Pension plans were started 33 years ago. And vacations with pay began 53 years ago.

Every employee has a stake in the future of General Electric. For out of its success—and only out of success—can come further advances in living standards. That is the aim of General Electric, not alone for its employees, but for the public, who gain by new and better products, continuously improved.
