SHORT POLITICAL HISTORY

Originally, an ambitious candidate was a man in a white toga who went about looking for votes.

We are indebted for that apparently extraneous definition of the Book of Knowledge, a familiar work which has nourished the minds of generations of inquisitive American youngsters, and which can still reward the adult with considerable information. And we mention it here because all of us probably get to thinking, at one time or another, that politicians are as variable as politics.

Candidate comes from the Latin candidus, which means gleaming, white or spotless. (It is also the root of our word candid, which many people seldom associate with candidates.) Ambitious is from the Latin verb ambire, which means to go about—especially to go about in search of votes.

The Roman office-seeker used to wear a gleaming, white, spotless toga when he went electioneering. But it often didn't stay that way very long.

The candidate had to meet the people face to face in the Forum. Not for him was the safety of the broadcasting studio. He had to learn to take it, and what he took was not infrequently a barrage of eggs and vegetables past their prime, or a handful of mud from the gutter.

Yet this threat of popular displeasure did not always impel Roman politicians to careers as pure and spotless as their early-morning togas. By the time the Republic was nearing the end of its days, says the Book of Knowledge, fraud, vote-stealing and the rigging of elections had become a political fine art.

Without cynical intention, it might be suggested that one of the major changes in political technique through the centuries is that the ambitious candidate has learned the defensive value of trying to beat the opposition to the punch by slinging the first handful of mud himself. The change is relatively minor, and the ethical advancement is questionable.

Political issues are constantly, inevitably changing since they reflect the day-to-day events which make up history. But the relation between politician and voter is relatively static, judging from the etymological history of the ambitious candidate.

Maybe that's a god thing to remember in listening to the speeches of another political campaign. Voters again will be assured that never have they been called on to make such important choices between rogues and statesmen scoundrels and heroes. But boast and bluster, eggs and insults, soiled togas and soiled reputations are still among the mossiest old heritages of democracy.

Heirs Of Former Texas Residents Being Sought

CHICAGO, Ill.—An "orphan fortune" of $50,000, an estate left by a relative of whom they probably never heard is searching throughout Texas for the descendants of other relatives of William and Addie Perryman who would be the heirs.

This was announced here today by W. C. Cox, probate genealogist, 208 S. LaSalle St., who is directing the hunt. Mr. Cox, who specializes in tracing missing relatives to settle estates, said Mr. and Mrs. Perryman are known to have lived "somewhere in Texas" about 40 years ago, and were at that time about 25 years of age. "Descendants of Mr. and Mrs.

Ferryman," Mr. Cox said, "would have first claim to the estate. Should there be no such descendant, then the descendants of the couple's brothers or sisters would succeed to claim."

"There is evidence that William and Addie Perryman had children and also that some of the couple's brothers and sisters may have lived in a locality near them in about 1905. As nearly as can be learned William and his wife were born in the 1880's, and both are believed to be deceased."

Twin-Engined Helicopter To Take 10 People

NORTH WALES, Pa. (UP)—Twin-engined helicopters will be available soon for commercial use.

Development of such craft, the first ever manufactured for short-haul, passenger and cargo service, has been announced by the Kellett Aircraft Corp.

The firm said the new plane will carry 10 passengers besides a crew of two, or cargo loads of one ton or more. The craft, known as the KH-2, has a gross weight of 11,600 pounds and is propelled by two matched 550-horsepower engines.

W. Wallace Kellett, president of the company, said the helicopter can operate on a field the size of a baseball diamond. It was developed as a result of experiments with the Army's twin-engined XR-10.

No price has been fixed for the KH-2. Operating cost studies indicate passengers initially would pay rates comparable to taxicab trips of the same distance, he added.

INTERSTATE'S COUNSEL HAS HAD WIDE EXPERIENCE

One of the most experienced motion picture attorneys in the United States, John R. Moroney, general counsel for Interstate Theatres, had barely received his degree at the University of Wisconsin Law School when he landed in the thick of motion picture litigation in Texas.

John Moroney

A native Texan, born in Dallas, October 2, 1899, he came in contact with the legal aspects of show business shortly after commencing general practice in the offices of his prominent father, Judge W. J. Moroney.

The success of the young attorney in handling a theatre lease suit in Austin attracted the attention of Karl Hobbiltzelle, president of Interstate Amusement Company. Mr. Hobbiltzelle persuaded Moroney to take charge of his legal affairs, and since 1925 Moroney has specialized in motion picture law, a complicated subject, and has become recognized as a leading authority in this legal field.

Moroney received his early education in primary, high school and freshman college in Dallas. He entered the University of Wisconsin at Madison as a sophomore in the fall of 1917. World War I interrupted his college education because at the end of his first year at Wisconsin, he enlisted in the U. S. Army in the spring of 1918. The end of the war found the young soldier in Officers Training School at Camp Grant, Rockford, Illinois. Upon obtaining his honorable discharge, Moroney, then only 19 years old, returned to the University of Wisconsin where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1920. Upon graduation, he had the great scholastic honor of being nominated for a Rhodes Scholarship to the University of Oxford, England.

Moroney, however, had decided upon a legal career, and was anxious to obtain his law degree. He gave up the Rhodes Scholarship in favor of returning to Wisconsin Law School from which he graduated in 1923. Equipped with his Bachelor of Arts and Law degrees he was ready to hang out his shingle with his father.

Legal opportunity was quick to come Moroney's way, and his knowledge of the law and practical business acumen enabled him to take advantage of the big motion picture development which came fast and furious toward the end of the roaring 1920s.

Prior to the bankruptcy of the great national movie companies brought about by the depression, Moroney had represented Interstate Amusement Company in successful handling of important tax litigation with the government in 1926, and other exhibitors in prominent litigation against Famous Players, later Paramount, in 1928. When Paramount and RKO later went into receivership, he had a complete background of tax, corporation and motion picture law.

RKO had purchased the assets of Interstate Amusement Company from Karl Hobbiltzelle in 1930. Moroney had negotiated and closed this important deal. RKO and Paramount then went into receivership on the same day in January, 1933. The officials of these companies came to Hobbiltzelle and requested that he take over their entire operations in Texas. Although he had retired, Hobbiltzelle felt that he owed it to the business with which he had been identified all of his career to salvage the motion picture theatres in Texas, and prevent thousands of employees from being thrown out of work. He retained his attorney, Moroney to handle the reorganization of the bankrupt RKO and Paramount properties into the present Interstate Circuit.

By 1935, the receivership had been dismissed and Moroney had the satisfaction of seeing the new Interstate company, which he had created legally, enter upon its period of great expansion and community service in the field of public entertainment. He has served as General Counsel and top company executive since the formation of the company.

Married to Irene Lewis, a Dallas girl, in 1936, Moroney's principal interest is his son, John, Jr.

Jester Acquainted With Educational Needs Of Texas

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—Beauford Jester, as president of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, acquired the first hand knowledge necessary to improving Texas educational facilities, L. L. Wilkes, superintendent of schools at Hubbard, and a member of the Democratic State Executive Committee, declared here today in a radio broadcast over the Lone Star Chann.

"Beauford Jester has pledged himself to provide more ample means, in cooperation with the legislature, to raise the level of our public schools," Wilkes said. "He knows that our children are suffering from the deficiencies that have resulted from the inability of our schools to attract men and women of highest calibre and training to the highly vital work of teaching. Beauford Jester decries the turmoil which has reigned in some of our institutions recently and favors harmony in the operation of our schools. He has no pet schemes and he has no scores to settle. He has defined a 'people's path' that will attract good teachers by increasing their salaries to the level of other workers."

Wilkes pointed out that he was supporting Jester in the governor's race because "he wants the manufacturer to receive a just return for his investment; the laborer to receive a real wage that will enable him to support his family in keeping with decent standards of living, and because Beauford Jester wants the white-collar workers and the consuming public to be adequately protected from the ill effects of labor disputes."

Jester's record of performance, Wilkes added, is a criterion "of what he may achieve in the future, for he is a man who has been faithful to every trust and a man who has worked in harmony with the groups with which he has been associated."

Boyce House Says Rival "Ungrateful" To C.I.O. Members

HOUSTON, Aug. 8. — "Ingratitude" was the charge leveled against his opponent by Boyce House, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, in a speech here last night, in which House charged that his adversary, after accepting CIO support for 12 years, "now spurns those who helped elect him three times to the State Senate."

"For 12 years, my opponent has represented in the State Senate the most heavily industrialized and the most highly unionized area in Texas. In his home city of Port Arthur are perhaps the two biggest refineries in the world, one employing 5,000 men and the other employing 6,000 men, and these workers belong to the CIO. "Without these votes, my opponent could never have been elected a second and third time. "Now, isn't it passing strange that not once during all those campaigns did he ever repudiate the elements which he now calls 'radical.' He didn't do it when he was running in 1934; he didn't do it when he was running in 1938 and he didn't do it when he was running in 1942. To have done so would have been political suicide—he would have been defeated for the State Senate, and he wanted to win. "He didn't even denounce these elements that he now calls selfish—he didn't denounce them even in the first primary campaign in this race. No, it suited until he could first get the benefit of their support on July 27.

"He finds himself in a runoff and he is fearful that, in this runoff, he will be linked with the Political Action Committee and the CIO and that the very elements by whom he had been supported for 12 years would be a liability to him in a state race.

"I will say this: If the situation were reversed, if Boyce House had asked for and received and welcomed your votes for 12 long years, I would not become so flushed with power and elated with riches as to disown you. If you were good enough for me then, you would be good enough for me now. I am not ashamed of my friends and I will acknowledge them anywhere, anytime.

"A man who would invite and obtain the votes of a group of citizens and then repudiate them is guilty of ingratitude. And a man who will repudiate one portion of the citizenship after enjoying the benefit of their support for a dozen years, now that he considers them a liability, such a man will repudiate any other citizens of Texas if he thinks he can advance himself by so doing."

Cotton shipments in the crop year ended July 31 reached 3.5 million bales.

Fertilizer? It's In The Air

ATHENS, O. (UP)—Farmers who run into difficulties obtaining enough fertilizer may be interested to know that 35,000 tons of fertilizer hang over every acre of land in the country.

And it could be transformed into a non-gaseous form, these 35,000 tons would be worth $5,000,000.

This was the assertion of Dr. Emil Turog in a talk before the fifth annual conference on Conservation, Nutrition and Human Health at Ohio University at Athens.

Dr. Turog, professor of soils at the University of Wisconsin, said the nitrogen in the air would be worth over $5,000,000 for each acre if some way could be found to make all of it into ammonium nitrate or some similar form.

The soils expert pointed out, however, that farmers can draw upon this tremendous supply of nitrogen by growing legumes, which, when properly inoculated and fertilized, have the power of fixing atmospheric nitrogen to be used for the synthesis of proteins. Dr. Turog said many progressive farmers are following this system today, with the result that the organic matter content and fertility of their soils is being increased and maintained, and the nutritive value of the crops produced meets the most rigid standards.

NEWS FROM Breckenridge

BRECKENRIDGE, August 6 — Mrs. Myrtle Jahan of Dallas was visiting in Breckenridge last week.

Children of Today Better At Reading

CHICAGO (UP) — School children today are better readers than their parents were, according to William S. Gray, professor of education at the University of Chicago.

"A recent survey in the seventh and eighth grades showed those boys and girls (in Detroit schools) were distinctly superior to students of 1928," the professor added.

Gray went on to say that teachers of past generations required an intensive type of reading pattern on a given amount of material.

"Today we are asking them to read widely, intensively, and for a greater variety of purposes," he said.

What For Dinner Is Big Problem For Dietitian

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — The age-old problem of every housewife, "What shall I have for dinner today," is multiplied a thousand fold for the Army hospital dietitian who has to provide meals for upwards to 3,000 every day.

"You cannot take a recipe for five, multiply it by 100 and get servings for 500," says Capt. Mary Beblen, teaching dieticians at Brooke General Hospital, Brooke Army Medical Center.

How do Army cooks get their recipes? Just by reading it off a printed sheet, but it is a long process before that recipe gets to the sheet. Dieticians must first measure the ingredients pound by pound and ounce by ounce in amounts for 100 or 500 servings, depending on the number of soldiers to be fed.

After the recipe has been formulated it is tried in the mess halls three times. If it is judged satisfactory, it is sent to the various messes to be placed on file for use when the recipe appears on the menu.

Here are recipes recently standardized at Brooke General Hospital for Boston Baked Beans and Cole Slaw:

Ingredients for 500 servings of Boston Baked Beans include: six pounds of salt pork, 35 pounds of navy beans, 3 pounds of brown sugar, 1 gallon of ketchup, one-third cup of mustard, two quarts of molasses, five gallons of hot water, in which beans are cooked, three-fourths cup of salt, 30 whole onions of medium size.

Former Courier To Be Supervisor Of Food Service

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — A former courier for the United States government who carried surrender documents to isolated pockets of Japanese throughout the Malay Peninsula has arrived at Brooke Army Medical Center to assume the duties of Food Service Supervisor, it was announced today.

He is Lt. Col. Frank J. Streibig, Jr., who as commandant of bakers and cooks schools at Camp Grant, Ill., and Fort Lewis, Wash., supplied the army with a large portion of its cooks and bakers during World War II.

At one time at Fort Lewis, he graduated more than 2000 cooks and bakers in one class. More than 10,000 were trained during his tour of duty at Camp Grant.

Colonel Streibig, who was commissioned on Nov. 1, 1924, was executive officer of Camp Kanchrapara, India, and served throughout the Malay Peninsula as a courier, carrying surrender papers to isolated groups of Japanese.

VA CONTACT OFFICE SET UP IN EASTLAND
 Establishment August 1 of a Veterans Administration contact office in Eastland has been announced by Tom R. Rayburn, manager of the Dallas regional office of the VA and will have a representative in the Ranger postoffice each Saturday from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.
 The new office, to be located in the Prairie-Sinclair Building will be staffed by James M. Brown and Alexander D. Modisett, contact representatives. Both are World War II veterans.
 In addition, Harry J. Walter, VA training officer, will continue to make Eastland his headquarters, Rayburn announced. Walters, Rayburn announced. Walters, Stephens and Shackelford Counties. His function is to aid former servicemen in establishing their eligibility for job training or education in some college or university.
 The two contact men, in addition to maintaining headquarters in Eastland, will perform field service for Ranger, Cisco, Baird and Albany, visiting each of these West Texas towns at least once weekly on an itinerant basis.
 The VA contact service is the agency by which the Veterans Administration carries out its policy of extending benefits to the front door of the serviceman, no matter where he may live. Contact men, the regional manager said, will assist veterans and their dependants in any phase of the program. This field includes insurance pensions, compensation, retirement pay, vocational rehabilitation educational training, veterans loans, readjustment allowance, medical treatment, hospital care, domiciliary care and guardianship cases.
 Approval of the Eastland office conforms to the expansion in the Dallas Regional office of contact points as needs arise. Eastland is the twentieth contact office in the 54 North Texas counties under the jurisdiction of Rayburn's office.
 Better service, Rayburn said, will be afforded West Texas veterans as a result of establishing the new contact point.
 Brown, who lost an arm in combat duty while serving as a Lieutenant with the Army in the European theatre, is 28. He was put on inactive duty in August of 1945 and has been employed by the Veterans Administration in Branch Office 10 in Dallas and with the contact service in Denton since early this year. His official address is Decatur. Modisett, who is 28, was employed by the War Department in Civil Service at the Army Service Forces Depot in Savannah, Ga., from 1941 to 1944. He served as an enlisted man at the same Army installation from 1944 until 1946. His previous VA duties were placement clerk in the Dallas regional personnel office.

 Modisett recently completed a six weeks school of instruction for contact representatives in Dallas.

DISTRICT GIVES BILL BLANTON BIG LEAD OVER OPPONENTS
HUGE MAJORITY FOR BILL IN SHACKELFORD COUNTY
 Of the 12 counties comprising the 17th Congressional District, Shackelford has the least number of votes, but it piled up for Bill the biggest percentage majority and candidate received in his home county. The two run-off candidates received the following votes in Shackelford County:

	City Hall	Cl. Horne	Fl. Griffin	Moran	Post Oak	Rock Hill	Berryhill	Hastings	Seabrick	Ilex	TOTAL
BLANTON	448	355	29	158	27	19	32	26	28	14	1,136
BURLESON	12	12	0	28	13	1	1	10	0	2	80

Thus in Shackelford County only 80 persons preferred Burleson as their Representative.

THREE-FOURTHS OF COUNTIES IN DISTRICT PREFERRED BILL BLANTON OVER BURLESON
 In 9 counties out of the 12 counties in the District, voters preferred Bill Blanton over Omar Burleson, by the following certified official returns:

	Shackelford	Stephens	Callahan	Comanche	Eastland	Erath	Fisher	Hamilton	Palo Pinto
BILL BLANTON	1136	449	829	1104	1500	900	682	709	585
OMAR BURLESON	80	84	453	480	1401	716	459	263	359

All 12 counties gave 10,167 votes to Bill Blanton
All 12 counties gave 8,521 votes to Omar Burleson
 Bill is going to increase that big lead to a bigger majority in the second primary.
 His platform contains no generalities, which never produce anything for the people, but offers specific remedies for existing evils. Bill already knows Congress and Washington, knows congressional procedure, is a member of the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States, knows many Congressmen and Senators (although he has never been on the Government payroll except as an enlisted man in the Army,) and he will be able to get desirable committee assignments. He will know how to get prompt attention and favorable action for his constituents relating to their many business affairs with the Government.

Former Ranger Man Goes To VA Office In Graham
 Young County, which heretofore has not been given local service by the Veterans Administration, is to have both a contact representative and training officer, the VA has announced.
 Tom R. Rayburn, manager of the Dallas Regional office of the VA, has ordered Earl L. Jolly, a member of the contact staff at Mineral Wells, to open an office at Graham in the Boaz Building. A training officer will be selected shortly and probably will be transferred from Wichita Falls.
 These men will serve not only Young County, but will offer itinerant service to Throckmorton and Olney as well. Throckmorton has been without the services of trained VA representatives to assist veterans in filing for benefits, or in advisement on education or job training. Olney previously has been served on a weekly itinerant basis from Wichita Falls.
 The Graham office, Mr. Rayburn said, also will render service to the eastern portion of Jack County and the northern half of Palo Pinto County.
 Opening the office in Graham is in line with the Veterans Administration policy of taking the service of the VA to the ex-serviceman's home community, the manager pointed out.

James J. Maloney, acting chief of the Secret Service, has issued a warning to GI's concerning the 15,000,000 checks and 1,000,000 bonds to be sent veterans covering terminal leave pay. Mr. Maloney stated that thefts and forgeries of government bonds and checks had increased during the past year that ended in June. He asked that veterans and bond owners safeguard their securities in a secured place, also to keep a separate record of serial numbers and in the event of loss to report such loss to the proper authorities at once in order to obtain replacements. He called upon all holders of government checks and bonds to secure a positive identification of persons seeking payments of all government checks.

When we read with delectable disgust the war scandal unfolding in Washington in which the Gerson brothers' with their 40 interlocking companies managed to secure 75 million in war contracts a large amount of this sum was for the Erie Basin plant that manufactured explosive shells for our boys on the fighting front, our minds reflect to the many stories of our 'buddies' that were killed or maimed by defective 4.2 inch shells or faulty fuses. Sgt. Joseph Weiler of Brooklyn was killed in Italy one hour before the war ended, four or five men members of the 84th Chemical Mortar Battalion met death unnecessarily due to defective shells or fuses and numbers of others too many to mention. Authorities Lax in Curbing Sex Crimes

The blame for forty thousand sex crimes, which constituted the ugliest stain on police blotters during 1945, is laid on the shoulders of lax officials and a squeamish public, in the August issue of "Coronet" Magazine.

The result of months of intensive research, the article containing the charge calls for legislators, civic leaders and clergymen to take action on a problem which daily brings tragedy to 109 American homes.

"The sexual pervert is right now lurking in the community in which you live." It is declared. "The plain truth is that sex crimes and sex criminals are handled improperly because most of us don't want anything to do with the whole distasteful business."

Police departments all over the country are accused of apathy, by the magazine. Bargain sentences, obsolete laws, and futile correction methods make the average law enforcement officer anxious to get rid of the sex offender as quickly as possible. It is contended.

Highlights of a workable program, outlined in the "Coronet" article and now being implemented by progressive leaders, include alert vice squads, complete police files on all sex offenders, psychiatric treatment and care, and the sex education of grade school children.

The program will not be effective it is warned, until every citizen casts aside his false and hampering modesty and deputizes himself to report every sex offense.

Youth Arraigned On Third Formal Murder Charge

CHICAGO (UP)—William Heirens was arraigned today on a third formal murder charge and the court ordered him examined by alienists. The unsmiling youth had dropped the air of bravado which he wore when he appeared July 30 for arraignment on the Degnan and Brown murder charges. Arraignment followed by less than 24 hours the announcement by Sheriff Michael Mulcahy that a razor blade had been found in one of Heiren's books.

When the first Interstate Theatre was opened at Dallas in 1906 a model Ford such as that shown at the left was the means of transportation for Texas theatregoers who were lucky enough to own one. You could park out front unless the police thought you'd scare the naps.

Today, the Ford is out front because of its record of dependability, speed and service. As Interstate Theatres provided the most economical and wholesome entertainment through the years, so did Ford provide the best and most economical transportation.

It is fitting, therefore, that on the 50th Anniversary of Ford Progress, we salute Interstate Theatres on their 40th Anniversary of Community Service. Both are proud of the part they play in the life of Texas!

I GIVE YOU TEXAS
By Boyce House
"When Father Prayed"
By H. C. Geddie of Canton
When father prayed
Beside the hearthstone of our humble cot, 'twas there
My infant ears first heard the awesome voice of prayer.
As father asked the Lord to keep us safe from harm
neath His sheltering arm.
With child-like faith I knew I would be kept
Safe and secure while through the night I slept;
And through the darkness came, the wolf pack howled,
The panther screamed, the shattering thunder rolled.
The storm winds shrieked their challenge o'er my head,
I laid me down and slept, upon my trundle bed;
For I was not afraid.
When father prayed,
With humble mien, in simple phrase and neat
He laid his pleading at the Saviour's feet.
And begged that we might have our daily bread,
Our sins forgiven and be spirit led,
Our burdens lifted and our strength renewed
To meet the many trials that ensued.
And as he prayed oft did I watch his tear-wet face,
Lifted, all gory lighted, to the throne of grace,
And read his answer there.
When father prayed,
He craved that God would bring our family home
To meet, a band unbroken 'round the Father's throne.
Long years have passed since I last heard that plea
But it is not forgotten, and it will not be;
For in the court of Heaven his cause will pend
Until the lives on earth of all of shall end
And heaven's high Chancellor makes his final call.
The others, subjects of this plea are gone,—all
I stand alone this side of the lethal tide
Waiting my summons to the other side,
And doubt not the judgement of His sovereign will
With mercy will be tempered; and I still Am unafraid.

BOYCE HOUSE IS GIVEN GI CANDIDATE SUPPORT

HOUSTON, August 6 — Turner Walker, only "G.I." candidate in the first primary for Lieutenant Governor, today came out in favor of Boyce House in the runoff, rapped the other runoff candidate severely and predicted victory for House. Walker's statement follows:

"Feeling that a man with business experience would bring a fresh viewpoint to the Lieutenant Governorship, I announced for that office. Born in Texas and having spent my life here, my only desire was—after having served my country in war—to serve my state in peace. Many thousands in every part of Texas voted for me and I thank them sincerely; I shall always be grateful to them.

"But now the race has narrowed down to two men. One of them, a Senator, proclaimed in the first primary that he was the only veteran in the race, despite the fact that in announcing, I pointed out that I was a veteran of World War II.

"When he persisted in this untrue assertion of being the only veteran in the race, I issued a statement, calling my military service to his attention. At the time of volunteering, I was engaged in a defense industry and would have been exempt. It is true that I did not go in as a captain but went in as a private; it is further true that I did not come out as a major or but as a corporal; and it is also true that I did not serve in military government but with the combat engineers.

"But despite all this, the major continued to the very end with the assertion that he was the only veteran in the race. This doubtless gained him many thousands of votes and cost me thousands as, unlike him, I am not a multi-millionaire and did not have the funds to reach the people with the facts. "In my judgement a man who would seek to gain office by misrepresentation and by taking from me whatever credit was due for serving my country is not the kind of man the people want as Lieutenant Governor — especially when we consider the record he has made as a Senator, including the fact that he is for the sales tax.

"Fortunately, we have another choice in the race. Boyce House is not the type of man who would stoop to misrepresentation; he stands for the best interest of Texas; he is against the sales tax. By his writings, his speeches and his living, Boyce House typifies the very spirit of Texas. I am going to vote for him and I believe he will be the next Lieutenant Governor."

American Youth CRIES OUT FOR LEADERSHIP

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH. The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the Church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday.

There is mischief as well as piety in the faces of these choir boys. Can you resist them? Boyish voices singing praises to God! What a far cry from gamine shooting craps in back alleys and mouthing vileness and curses in corrupt places! Are you concerned about juvenile delinquency? Negative programs will never correct the defects in which youth problems breed. The Churches have the answer in positive programs, in worthwhile things to do in boy choirs, scout troops, clubs, Sunday School classes, and other church-sponsored activities which build character. But activities are not enough in themselves. There must first be a training in reverence and worship. And then there must be the development of Christian comradeship and unselfish service. Activities laid upon such foundations in the church program are the things which save. Church choirs need leaders, clubs need sponsors, scouts need scout-masters and troop committees, classes need teachers. The church of your choice has a place for you to serve in its program for the young folks. Many of those who have been helping are in uniform. Offer your services this week to your home church. You will have the time of your life, and share in the saving of America. Our youth of today will be America's citizens tomorrow!

THERE NEVER WAS A TIME
... when fire losses, motor vehicle accidents and fatalities, and crimes of all sorts continue to mount steadily toward all time highs. And there never was a time when the average citizen was more in need of adequate insurance coverage than he is today. Certainly, the public has brought home to it every day, with increasing force, the growing need for protection against all kinds of insurable losses. Most people realize this need. They are buying insurance—they are protecting themselves.
