VOTE IS 331 FAVORING WITHONLY 83 OPPOSING

WASHINGTON (UP) - The House today overrode President Truman's veto of the Republican labor control bill despite his declaration that the measure will cause discord "for years to come."

The House vote was announced as 331 in favor of passserve Volunteer Recruiting Office, ing the bill over the veto and 83 against. This was 55 more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

The Senate is expected to complete enactment of the measure by voting to override tomorrow. Even Democratic supporters of the President conceded that Senate backers of the bill could muster the necessary two-thirds margin.

The House wasted no time in overriding the veto. The roll was called immediately after the President's 5000word message was read to the crowded chamber.

The House ignored Mr. Truman's assertion that the Taft-Hartley measure would "cause more strikes, not fewer," and put the country a long step on the dangerous road to-

WASHINGTON, D. C .- (NEA)-In the first few days of Senate and House Labor Committee conferences to reconcile differences between the Taft and Hartley labor reform bills, the conferees got through only nine of the 68 pages in the Senate bill. At this rate, it wouldn't be safe to expect final action on a labor bill much before the Fourth of July. First reports from the conference committees indicate the bill they will work out as a compromise won't be too tough. Industry-wide bargaining and welfare funds won't be banned. Most of the provisions of the Hartley bill which the National Assn. of Manufacturers wanted will be proposed since the start of the war has been fought

As a matter of fact, the most effect this bill may have will be on m. Robert H. Taft himself. The bill in its final form will not continuously the provisions which Senator Taft started out to get, if it's ideas and Minnesota Sen Joe Ball's still more extreme ideas to pretty well watered down through the efforts of Republican Sen.

Taft is chairman of the House Labor Committee, and whatever bill omes out will be his baby and bear his name. This labor bill is pparently going to be Taft's major achievement in this session.

Taft's long-range housing bill is stymied. The House doesn't want ny part of it. Taft's ideas on federal aid to education will probably

There may be a couple of political theories as to why nothing should be done about these measures this year. First is that next year is election year and the impact of positive Republican action

Talt may sincerely believe this legislation is not "anti-labor." He though that of his original bill, which was much stronger than the measure passed by the Senate. The hope is that when this legislation becomes law it will be a stabilizing influence in industrial relations, without taking away anybody's sacred rights.

it doesn't twork that way . if union leaders pull a lot of pro-strikes as Chairman Hartley of the House Labor Committee has predicted they will . . . if the Wagner act is so amended that a lot of new test cases will have to be run through the courts to find out what the Taft-Hartley bill really means . . . and if the country is thrown into a lot of industrial unrest as a result, then Mr. Taft and his political future may not be worth a dime.

For a since it.

I said: "Tell me quick. Have you told Sam?"

Flora laughed.

"Louise, for heaven's sake, give me a little time. You don't tell a man the minute he asks you to marry him that you're going to have a baby. That would be the height of indelicacy."

"This is no joking matter, Flora."

"Do you suppose I don't know it? Oh, Louise, what will I do? What will I do? I'm almost out of my mind."

I now saw that Flora looked hollow-eyed and pinched, that her hands moved restlessly, that there were new lines about her mouth. But she did not cry. She told me that if she started crying she believed she would never be able to stop.

She had made no plans. She did admit that it had never occurred admit that it had never occurred services."

"Bob's in France," Flora said wearily. "He could never get a discharge. And how could I mar-ry Bobby feeling as I do about Sam?"

I wanted to shake her.

"Well, what are you going to do?" I asked bluntly. "You've placed Sam in a terribly humiliating position. I don't believe he'll ever forgive you, and I don't blame him. What under heaven possessed you to announce your engagement? Why didn't you tell Sam? He's kind-hearted. He would have helped you."

Flora gave a long, shuddering sigh. She hadn't even meant to tell her mother and sisters, but Sam blurted it out at once. And Sam was so terribly happy. She had told admit that it had never occurred so the could never get a discharge. And how could I mar-ry Bobby feeling as I do about "Yes," I said.

"Humph!" Father said. "You were extremely culpable. Unde the circumstances..."

READING, Pa. (UP)-Police Chief William P. Birney takes a reassuring view of juvenile delinquency.

Birney said he thinks "to much stress has been placed on boys and the rambler girls who go bad and not enough on boys and girls who are learning to become good citizen Proud of the record of the children in his town, Birney said the majoirity of Reading's people are "good kids and deserve praise rather than censure.'
