the rambler by Jack E. Brady

Fault Finding... That individual who cultivates constant fault finding, must be a miserable creature within himself.

Phrases of a recent article are indeed fascinating... 'I'm interested in you as a person, not as a potential bill-payer for the Church.'

W. H. Millican had the pleasure of seeing his sister, Mrs. Otha Henson of San Fernando Valley, California, recently, for the first time in forty years.

Eastland's Girl softball team defeated the Rising Star team by a score of 21 to 8, Thursday night.

Mrs. Lola Black, Field Worker of the Texas State Department of Public Welfare, was a business visitor at Gorman and Desdemona Thursday.

We're going to miss Mrs. Edna Mae Hatcher while she's away on vacation from the Welfare Office.

Dee Burselon of the Department of Welfare, has started his vacation; you are conspicuous by your absence, Dee.

Mrs. Donna Mae Cook is visiting at Lubbock.

A movement for the establishment of a Negro clinic is underway by Mrs. S. D. W. Bradford, and other civic-minded individuals, we are told.

Merle Steen visited with her mother, at Waco, Thursday and Friday, while there on a business trip.

Marie Shopman of Midland, is visiting Mrs. Janie Bills of this city.

About the nicest thing "the rambler" heard yesterday, was an expression of appreciation to their employers, J. B. Johnson, and R. A. P'Pool, owners of the modern Dry Cleaners and Dyers, by their employees.

WASHINGTON.—The departure of Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson from the cabinet was regarded today as another step in the unification reshuffle that is expected to provide the nation's armed forces with an entirely new high command by Jan. 1.

"I am going to make this the very best," Mr. Doyle said. "We are going to construct six units at this time. They will have hardwood floors, shower baths and the very best in furniture including Hollywood beds."

The buildings will be constructed of rock veneering. "We are going to use Eastland county rock of the very choicest kinds," Mr. Doyle said.

Mr. Doyle lived many years at Olney in Young county and served that county as County commissioner for five years. He still had a year and a half of his term to serve, he said, but resigned to come to Eastland and engage in the tourist camp business.

GREEK ARMY REPORTED TO BE ROUNDING UP GUERRILLAS

ATHENS.—Dwight Griswold, Chief of the American aid mission to Greece, warned the Greeks today to iron out their factional troubles if they expected U. S. assistance to come into full effect.

ATHENS.—The Greek Army reported officially today that it had killed 110 guerrillas and captured 70 others since Sunday.

Additional casualties were inflicted by the Greek air force, said a spokesman for the Greek general staff.

He set Greek army casualties at nine killed and 11 wounded. His figures on guerrilla losses were considerably lower than those claimed by rightist political sources, and his account of the fighting varied from that given by Defense Minister Napoleon Zervas.

The army spokesman, who could not be named, said there was no evidence that an "international brigade" participated in the guerrilla attack. He said the assault began from Albanian territory, but was made by Greek guerrillas who previously had fled into Albania.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—Total inadequacy of the present Lobbying Registration Act, which was passed as part of last year's congressional streamlining law, is shown by a check-up on registered lobbyists in the real estate and building business.

When President Truman signed the new housing and rent control act, he sent Congress a message in which he blasted at the real estate lobby for its "brazen operations to block programs so essential to the needs of our citizens." Even Senator Tamm backed him up on that one, though Senator Brickley called it "the cheapest kind of political demagoguery."

The President called Congress to investigate this "intolerable lobby." Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama topped that by demanding that Congress investigate all lobbyists. It is doubtful if Congress will investigate one or all. But the lobbyists' registrations filed with Congress show the need for such a probe.

Of the 20 real estate and building industry lobbyists whose statements are on file, only one is from what might be called a "big shot." He is Morton Bodfish of Chicago, admittedly one of the most active and influential workers seeking to amend the veterans' housing program controls and bring an end to rent control.

YET Bodfish's registration for the first quarter of 1947 does not reveal what his salary is or who paid it. And he says his expenses were only $335.98 for travel, hotel and maintenance in Washington. Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and Arthur W. Binns, head of the National Home and Property Owners' Foundation, did not register at all, though they have been just as active as Bodfish.

N.A.R.E.B. sent five men to the Hill to bear the stigma of "lobbyist." Calvin K. Snyder at $10,000 a year, Albert A. Payne at $8,000, Earl P. Brown at $2,800 half-time plus $86.02 expenses, Charles T. Stewart at $1,500 half-time plus $7.00 expenses, and Edwin L. Stoll at $949.93 half-time plus $83.45 expenses.

N.H.P.O.F. registered two lobbyists, James Edward Mack, $3,000 salary and no expenses, and John Lloyd Richardson, no salary given but $12.80 expenses for parking lot fees and taxis.

Douglas Whitlock, formerly spokesman for the Building Products Institute, reported a $1,500 fee and $519.24 expense. Joseph T. King reported $1,800 salary and $242.27 expenses in looking after the interests of unnamed building supply dealers and sending them a National Affairs Report. Samuel E. Neal, registered for the Mortgage Bankers' Association, drew an $850-a-month salary and no expenses in issuing a news letter.

It is obvious from listings such as these that Congress has on file only the messenger boys of the real estate lobby.

TRUTH of the matter is, of course, that the real lobbying job against housing and rent controls was done by local citizens from the congressmen's home towns. They know their congressmen personally and the lawmakers have to listen when these people from home express their wishes. Only two of them registered as lobbyists, however.

F. W. Neal of San Antonio took up a collection from property owners in that city, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Houston, Carthage, Tyler and Ma-Poa and came to Washington to oppose continuation of rent control. He worked free, but expenses were $1,405.

Harry Hansen of Des Moines collected $428.80 from the Home Owners' Protective League and various lesser sums from individuals, down to one dollar. The total was $685.50. He came to Washington to lobby against rent controls. But his expenses were $787. So he lost money on the deal.

Summing it all up, what Congress doesn't know about the real estate lobby that Truman chased out would fill many books.

The Tollivers

By MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM

WHEN Father and I in summer white went over to the Forbes' mansion that evening, we found Mr. DeMaria's four-piece orchestra tuning up in the front hall.

Flora, in pale blue and pink flowered organdy, came running to meet us and hugged us both. Her mother, Amy, and Nelson greeted us more soberly. Mrs. Tolliver's eyes were red, and her hands trembled.

The grandfather clock in the hall struck eight lingering strokes. On the eighth stroke the orchestra began the Lohengrin wedding march. Down the staircase came Gloria Louise and Theodore, both in fluffy white and carrying stiff little round bouquets.

AS Father had said, Mr. Hartwell's manners were perfect. He was reserved, but said exactly the right things to everyone. When the ceremony was over, he kissed Mrs. Tolliver's cheek and thanked her for the inestimable gift of her daughter; he kissed Amy's and Flora's hands.

But some time later, after the supper, he sought me out in the hall, where I happened to be alone. I swear, the twenty dead wife. He said her name had also been Louise. He said it made a bond between us, that he hoped I would be his friend.

His restless dark eyes, under heavy brows, took in the room, the candlelight, the masses of flowers—counted, I swear, the twenty dozen yellow roses. Whether or not he approved I could not tell.

Flora added sadly: "I almost wish she had died." (To Be Continued) very pretty, that there might be a slight resemblance. "It's more than slight," Frank insisted. He added soberly: "She was a saint on earth, the finest woman I ever met in my life."

I said coldly: "This hardly seems the time or place. . . After all, you have just married a new wife." "That is true. And she has all my loyalty and affection. But that does not change in any way the loyalty and affection I owe the beloved mother of my dear children."

WE were not, as a rule, a drinking group, but we were all in the grip of a vague but acute discomfort. Thanks to Sam and unlimited champagne, most of us were feeling considerably cheered when the time came for Annabelle to get ready to leave.

case of the extra detail work, such as sending regular bills ten days before a payment is due. The installment plan is particularly designed for vacationists, Hayes stated, and therefore applies to round-trip fares only.

Besides the broad stipulations in the newly inaugurated installment tariff applying to passenger fares on the Texas & Pacific, there are a number of specific rules governing the plan which are more interesting to students of business and finance, perhaps, than to the general traveling public.

College To Have Two New Dormitories

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—Housing of boarding students on the campus will not be a problem next fall at the College of Mines and Arts, a branch of the University of Texas, according to Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president.

Two new dormitories, one for men and one for women, and a dining hall which will seat 300 students at a time will be completed by fall at a cost of approximately $800,000.

The architecture will follow the Tibetan lines of other buildings on the campus, and the dormitories will have spacious parlors, recreation rooms and a snack kitchen on each floor.

Says Good Bartenders Promote Temperance

NEW YORK (UP)—A good bartender can do more for moderation in drinking than all the temperance conventions in history, according to Arthur Gillett, president of the United Restaurant Liquor Dealers of Manhattan.

The good bartender always can be down at the other end of the bar when the customer calls for one drink more than is good for him, Gillett said.

"But always courteously," Gillett said. "The 'fussy' drinker is likely to be a sensitive fellow. That's why he drinks. If the bartender explains he might lose his job."

John Parker of the Arab Gasoline Corporation, and Roger Moorehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moorehead, have returned home after an extensive trip through the Eastern states.

They say of their trip: "We covered over 500 miles stopping over in Ohio to visit Roger's grand parents.

"From there we motored on to Philadelphia where John's parents reside.

"During our stay in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania we saw many historical places. We visited the site of Valley Forge, where Washington's old headquarters were located. We saw the famous Valley Forge historical museum where is located Washington's original wardrobe, also his tent and the boat in which he crossed the Delaware river. These things are all carefully preserved and guarded.

"We drove all over the battlefields seeing the entrenchments and log cabins which were built about 1750.

"Among other interesting historical objects seen in Philadelphia were the Liberty Bell, Independence Hall, where the Declaration of Independence was signed; the original furniture used is still on exhibit. We also saw the Philadelphia Navy Yard where hundreds of transports, used during the World War have been junked.

"From Philadelphia we motored to Atlantic City where we spent several hours in a rolling chair on the boardwalk observing the Navy novelty shops which line the 'walk' for miles.

"We took a dip in the ocean in midafternoon and found the water much cooler than that of Texas lakes.

"On our way home we stopped long enough to see the Great Lakes.

"In the Allegheny mountains at one point we were very much surprised to find that we could see seven counties in three different states by using the large telescope at the top of the mountain."

"I Have A Gentleman In The Pew, Doctor"

Well, the Ministers of the City of Eastland wrote me to extend the hand of welcome and the invitation to meet with the Ministerial Alliance which meets once each month. The letter is signed by W. E. Hollenbeck, chairman. Unfortunately, the letter was delivered too late to change plans for the day's work in Breckenridge on the 12th. I'd like to have been there, not only on account of the valuable association of the men themselves, but because I know how valuable a service such an organization can render to the community. Also, since the 12th, was my birthday (I'm passin' into "middle age" now, I reckon—35) and I can think of no better way to have celebrated that anniversary than by meeting with other ministers of God in token of our common task to do our part in welding together a Church so sorely in need of Christian unity. Back in the eighteen-sixties, the famous hymn - writer, Samuel Wesley and Sam Stone wrote their great epic to Christian unity in the hymn "The Church's One Foundation". Do you remember the third verse? "Though with a scornful wonder, men see Her sore-oppressed, By schisms rent asunder by heresies distressed; Yet saints their watch are keeping; their cry goes up, "How long?" And soon the night of weeping shall be the morn of song." Aren't we all anxious to see the Church truly and visibly One Family, that we may all be truly and visibly brothers and sisters in Christ? Our Rector, out on the Ranger Highway, is sort of a road-hazard, I reckon. Friday nights we've been showing a religious movie or two out in the big front yard, and evening drivers on the highway have been pulling up to a screeching standstill to see what in the world is goin' on. For fear of highway accidents and also on account of Friday nights being "open house" at the Rector, we're suggesting that any interested folks just drive on in and join the party. We're not tryin' to run competition to Bran Garner, but if you're passin' by with no intention of goin' to the Majestic that night, then drive on in and watch our show. By the way, Eileen, our eight-year-old, is at Camp Crucis, the year-round Episcopal Church Camp at Granbury, Texas. We've had two painstakingly scribbled pennypostcards from her this week. The cards have been carefully identical. "Dear Mommy and Duddy: I love you very much. Send me some more money to ride horses with. Love, Eileen." They catch on quick — to horses and money—don't they? Thanks to Mrs. Ruth Ducker, G. B. Rush, Dr. G. C. Boswell, Judge Pearson and some of the other fine, community-minded citizens of Ranger, we're getting started on our Teen - Canteen program, to offer the young people of the county a regular evening, every Monday of the year, with supervised recreation, entertainment, square-dancing, quiz programs, movies and good, clean fun. Especially to be congratulated for their work as Program Committee are Taylor Spence of Eastland, Carolyn Ducker of Ranger and Carolyn Crofts of Cisco. Have you heard the new American Broadcasting Company's show, "Candid Radio"? It's pretty clever. Wire - recordings of conversations and situations involving all sorts of folks who don't know their voices are being recorded! No names are given, but plenty of informal fireworks result, such as the reaction of the man who was given a loaded cigarette, or the cafe-manager who was told by the well-fed customer that there was no money to pay for the meal! It's fun to hear the unguarded and uncensored reactions of just plain folks. Some of 'em react philosophically and with a sense of humor and some of 'em are pretty rough. The idea is a good one. But we shudder to think of the possibilities it affords. What if they got the idea to hide a microphone in one of the political caucus rooms in Washington? Or in the program - committee office of a big advertising agency? Or in Joe Stalin's private office? No tellin' what us poor unsuspectin' folks who still believe in Tom Jefferson's ideals might hear! Maybe they'd better not carry that "candid microphone" idea too far. Reckon?

VA CONSIDERS MOST DENTAL TROUBLES WITHIN ONE YEAR OF DISCHARGE AS SERVICE-CONNECTED AND PROVIDES OUT-PATIENT TREATMENT FOR THEM

For correct information contact your nearest VETERANS ADMINISTRATION office.

Army and Navy Reserve personnel will not obtain added credit toward GI schooling by reason of being recalled to an active duty for 15-day training periods, according to a decision of the Veterans Administration, announced by Robert C. Rice, manager of the Dallas Regional Office. The VA holds that these training periods do not constitute active duty for purposes of entitlement to increased educational benefits under the GI Bill, nor may such periods be counted toward establishment of the qualifying period for educational benefits. This ruling, however, would not apply if the call to duty were for an indefinite period and the veteran served for 30 days or more. In general, an eligible veteran of World War II is entitled to one year's training or school at government expense, plus an additional month's training for every month of active duty up to a maximum of four years. You Ex-GI's who haven't talked to "Bob" Collins at the Collins Insurance Agency, Eastland, regarding the F. H. A. Title 6, Home Building Plan, are urged to do so, at once. . . . Come on, Fellows, let's get busy on this matter of having a home of your own, and start a home building program in Eastland, that will make all of Eastland's citizens take notice. . . . Ex-GI's can get a one hundred per cent loan, and you non-veterans can obtain a ninety per cent deal, through the liberal F. H. A. Title 6, Home Building Plan. . . . The Collins Insurance Agency has made the deal possible for you. . . . Now it's time for you to show us that you really want a home.
