That Reminds Me

BY FRANK A. JONES

Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life—Job 33:4.

Remember the good old days when we all thought that a year after the end of the war we would all be at work making the gadgets and things that we had to do without during the war, and how some of us were sold on the idea that if price controls were removed the law of supply and demand would bring prices down.

The hope that the conflict between capital and labor will ever be over is an idle dream. Human nature is such that the industrialists never makes quite as much as he would like to make and the worker, no matter what wages he is paid, will always be planning on what he could do with more.

A lot is being said over the radio and in the press relative to traffic accidents and how to reduce their number. Three things, a local car driver says, would help: Stricter examinations for driver's license, more frequent checks on car brakes and heavier penalties for driving while intoxicated. It does little good to plead for more care in driving with the hope of reducing accidents, while little or no attention is paid to these things.

Under the present system the man who saves his money and through self-denial and economy accumulates a saving for his non-producing years is called upon by the government to share his savings and the fruits of his self-denial through taxes with the profligate and the waster. There is the story of the grasshopper and the ant. The grasshopper wasted the long summer days in idleness and play. His neighbor, the ant, toiled and prepared for the winter that was just ahead. From time to time the grasshopper twitted the ant for foolish slowness. "Have a good time now while you can," the grasshopper said as he frolicked in the sun. The ant warned the grasshopper that winter was coming and that he had to get ready for it. The grasshopper laughed at his foolish glee and flew away with his foolish companions. When the first touch of winter came and the fields were brown and bare the grasshopper came to the ant and said, "What shall I do? My food is all gone and winter is coming on, you must help me." As the story goes the ant replied, "I warned you and you would not listen. I cannot help you now without depriving my own family and that I will not do." With that the ant closed the door and left the foolish grasshopper standing there. Times have changed. If the ant and grasshopper were living now the ant and his family would be taxed even to the point of reduced subsistence to support the grasshopper through the winter in idleness as he had lived through the summer. If the story were written today the moral obviously would be spend as you go. When the winter comes the thrifty ant will be taxed to care for you.

Time Limit On Sunset Aids Burglar's Case

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UP)—Consultation of weather bureau records saved a convicted burglar from an additional two years in the state prison. The man confessed breaking into a house "around eight o'clock" police said. Burglary of a dwelling at night carries a minimum term of three years. The minimum for daytime burglary is one year. Police asked the weatherman what time the sun set that day and were told 7:47. Under the law, night starts an hour after sunset, so the charge was daytime burglary.

ATTLEE GIVES ECONOMIC PLAN TO BRITISH

LONDON—Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee today presented to Parliament a go-it-alone program for solving Britain's economic crisis, calling for sharp new restrictions, including a cut in food purchases from America, and a 234,000 reduction in armed forces overseas by the end of next March.

Attlee said his program was drawn on a basis of Britain helping herself out of the crisis without reliance on Congress ultimately approving the Marshall program for aid to Europe.

The Attlee plan included—A $48,000,000 monthly cut in food purchases from the United States and other "hard currency" countries.

Restrictions on meals served in hotels and restaurants, now on a non-ration basis. A restriction on remittances for foreign films, limiting them to not more than 25 per cent of gross earnings—a measure hitting directly at American movies shown in Britain.

MRS. DURHAM WELL QUALIFIED FOR STATE TEXTBOOK COMMITTEE

Eastland and Eastland County are proud of the appointment of Mrs. H. H. Durham, as a member of the Texas State Textbook Committee. Mrs. Durham is the personal appointee of the State Board of Education member, Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, succeeding her former appointee, Dr. Tom Pierce, well known Texas School man, who is head of Demonstration School at Texas State College for Women, at Denton, and coordinator of the present elementary course of study for Texas Elementary schools. Nine teachers are appointed annually, by the State Board, to the Texas Textbook Committee. Prior to her appointment, Mrs. Durham served as a personal advisor to Mrs. Perkins, which oriented her for this work.

The Textbook Committee met in Austin, August 2nd to organize the committee and formulate its policies. The Committee is charged by the State Board of Education to examine all books offered by approximately fifty publishing companies, for current adoption in the state educational program, and make recommendations on the four best books in each subject

Truman Will Visit Rio De Janeiro Soon

WASHINGTON—President Truman will fly to Rio de Janeiro for a three-day visit during late August or early September, the White House said today.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said he had no information as to whether Mr. Truman will address the Inter-American Defense Conference which will be in session at that time.

Ross said the exact date of the President's departure has not yet been set.

The President will fly to Rio, but will return aboard the Battleship U. S. Missouri, Ross said.

Put Lije on Victim

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (UP)—Two bandits robbed Nick Bilotti of $42 in his Brooklyn shoe repair shop and then beat him because he moved too slowly.

Bilotti's false teeth fell out during the beating. "I can use them uppers," one of the bandits said, picking up the denture and putting it in his pocket.

SPECIAL GUARD ORDERED FOR EX-CONVICT

By United Press

WAURIKA, Okla.—Special precautions were taken today to protect Virgil C. Manning, 28-year-old ex-convict, from the underworld execution he fears because of his claimed inside knowledge of the murder of Benjamin-Bugsy-Siegel.

Sheriff W. B. Allen said he had ordered a special guard for the Jefferson County jail to see that no harm came to the nervous inmate who said he put the finger on the bigtime gangster, Siegel was rubbed out at Beverly Hills, Cal., June 20.

Authorities in Los Angeles were checking Manning's story, sent to them in the form of a sworn statement he signed yesterday.

Allen said Manning had been ordered to stay away from the windows in his third floor jail cell to prevent anyone from taking a shot at him from the street below. The sheriff ordered all unauthorized persons be kept from the jail floor.

Brooklyn Soldier Writes Symphony

NEW YORK (UP)—The world premier of "Symphonic Diary," a symphony written by Paul Siegel, a soldier from Brooklyn, now stationed in Vienna, Austria, will be broadcast on Aug. 12 between 9:30 and 10 p.m. (EDT) over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

The 33-year-old soldier began writing the symphony while stationed in Colorado in 1943, and completed it later in Naples, Italy, and Vienna.

Siegel says his symphony is the diary of a soldier in music. It contains three movements. He has been complimented on it by Gen. Mark Clark, the conductor of the Vienna Symphony, and Henry Weber, conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. After the composition is given its U. S. premier, recordings of it will be sent to Europe for use over the famed Armed Forces Network, BBC, and other European networks.

Mr. Siegel was born in New York. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Siegel of 219 Brightwater Court, Brooklyn.

GOLF COURSE MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Gayland Poe, local golf enthusiast, presided at a round-table discussion of the proposed plans for re-opening the Eastland Golf course, at a meeting attended by some 40 people held at the County courthouse last night. He stated the purpose of the meeting and asked for comments from those present. A number of responses were forthcoming.

One of the important things attended to at the meeting was the appointment of chairmen for the following committees: Finance Committee, Earl Conner, chairman. Conner will name two members as his assistants. Pipes Committee, Charlie Joe Owen, chairman. Owen will name two others to help him. Greens Committee, Gayland Poe, chairman. He will name two assistants.

The three completed committees, named above, will meet with the City commission next Tuesday night for the purpose of going over with that body, the proposed plans for re-opening the golf course.

It was brought out at the Tuesday night meeting that some $3,000 to $4,000 will be needed to get the course open and in operation. It is proposed by some to raise this sum through charter memberships.

The City of Eastland owns the land on which the golf course is located. It is believed by some that a water system separate and apart from the present city system, should be installed for the golf course. Mayor C. T. Lucas expressed the opinion that, should the storage tank for the course not be placed too high, water from Lake Eastland would gravitate to the golf course.

The local Rotary, Lions, Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, Quarterback and other service organizations of Eastland are invited to back the movement for the proposed re-opening of the golf course.

Descendants Of E. H. And Roxie Shipley Hold Meet

WASHINGTON—Senate investigators today ordered plane maker Howard Hughes to the witness stand at noon for questioning on his charges that they are trying to "blackmail" him into an airline merger.

The millionaire industrialist and movie producer flew here from the west coast in his private converted bomber. He said on arrival that he would be "happy" to repeat under oath charges he brought at Chairman Owen Brewster, R., Me., of the Senate War Investigating Committee.

A subcommittee headed by Sen. Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., is looking into Hughes' plane contracts adding up to four aircraft and $40,000,000. An $18,000,000 wooden flying boat built by Hughes has yet to fly. Of three photo reconnaissance planes constructed under a $22,000,000 contract, one cracked up, the Army has one, and Hughes is testing the third.

Hughes, who came equipped with a quantity of documents and records, was kept waiting by the committee while his official party-thriller and entertainer of big-wigs, John W. Meyer, gave further details about his free-spending habits.

The plane maker has accused Brewster of ordering the current investigation to force him to merge his Trans-World Airlines with Pan American Airways.

Hughes Goes On Witness Stand At Noon Today

Seven Million Cotton Credit To Hungary Stopped

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State George C. Marshall announced today that the export-import bank has cancelled a $7,000,000 cotton credit to Hungary because former Hungarian officials in whom the bank had confidence have been exiled by the Communist coup d'etat.

Marshall disclosed this action at his news conference when asked if the United States has decided what attitude to take toward the Communist-dominated Hungarian government.

He said no special decisions had been arrived at and that the only action—"if it can be called that"—was the cancellation of the cotton credit on July 31.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today rejected the Romanian government's claim that this nation's interest in the suppression of civil liberties and political arrests in Romania constituted intervention in that country's internal affairs.

DATE, TIME OF MEETING UNDECIDED

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State George C. Marshall announced today that the United States has agreed to a high level conference with the British to consider "liberalization" of the $7,750,000,000 Anglo-American loan agreement.

Marshall told his weekly news conference that the British had asked for such a conference ten days or two weeks ago and that the United States has agreed.

Where, when and with whom the conference will be held has not been determined.

The announcement was made in the midst of a British crisis after the British government in one year had withdrawn all but $1,000,000,000 of its loan which originally was designed to last for several years.

Britain is not at this time asking for a larger loan. But it desires modifications in the loan agreement which would ease the drain on its supply of dollars.

U. S. Offers Good Offices To Dutch-Indonesians

BATAVIA—American General Walter A. Footes broadcast over the Batavia a United States offer of good offices in the Indonesian-Dutch conflict.

Footes' personal broadcast was intended to get the U. S. offer to the Republican capital of Jakarta. He took to the air when Indonesian authorities reported to him that they were unable to get through because of disruption of communications.

The American offer was put forth as each side charged the other with violating the cease-fire orders issued at the request of the United Nations.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Edson

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—President Truman's 10-year $6 billion flood-control program today seems headed for the political battlegrounds—to be kicked around between the two parties and within his own administration.

The program which the President sent to Congress in a special message represents a change in Truman's own policy. He cut back last year's appropriations on flood control and reclamation projects to reduce his budget expenditures. Hereafter he has advocated delaying public works until housing and other wartime construction shortages were relieved, or using public works to take up the slack in a possible recession.

In his recent 35th Division speech at Kansas City, however, he criticized Congress for its cuts in reclamation funds. And he follows this up now by proposing faster action—the spending of $250 million on top of the $45 million already appropriated for this year's flood-control works construction and repair.

The area receiving principal attention would be the 28 states from the Alleghenies to the Rockies and from Canada to the Gulf. It takes in the Ohio, Missouri and Mississippi river basins. It also takes in a lot of voters.

The corn belt having just come through pretty disastrous washouts, its people may cheer the news of greater flood control activity. But this program runs head-on into Republican pledges of economy. A $250 million rush appropriation for flood control at this time would cut the Republicans' real savings on the Truman budget by as much as 10 per cent.

It is not clear whether the program should be a miracle increase of flood control appropriations before it goes home, selection of the projects which get the money will probably be made by the usual method of rolling out the barrel. Projects that can muster the most political support are those that get first approval, whether there is greater economic merit or not.

Only half a dozen principal U. S. river systems have been given any degree of completeness. They include the Tennessee, the Ohio, the Colorado, the lower Mississippi. For 20 years the Army's Corps of Engineers has been working on plans to control the floods on the Ohio, the Mississippi and the lower Missouri. On the upper Missouri the Bureau of Reclamation takes over for flood control, irrigation and electric power development. Both Reclamation officials and the Army Engineers say they have the Mississippi basin situation in hand and there is no need for any other agency to take over or supplement their work.

But here they run smack dab into another political movement sparked by Sen. James E. Murray of Montana. He backs a bill to create a Missouri Valley Authority, patterned on TVA, but incorporating a lot of the language and provisions of the Reclamation laws. President Truman has repeatedly endorsed the MVA idea. He does not mention it specifically in his latest flood control message to Congress but he leaves the way open for "the ultimate establishment of valley authorities" to develop "many valuable projects for navigation, irrigation, hydroelectric power and other water utilization resources."

Here he meets more political opposition, and if the Corps of Engineers could just build retaining walls half as permanent as this blockheadedness, they would never have to be replaced.

Part of this stubbornness comes from the Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation. Part of it comes from land owners who fear they will lose some of their water rights for irrigation. Part of it comes from the railroads who fear cheaper river navigation.

All this opposition hides behind a contention that river valley "authorities" are socialistic undertakings which threaten the free enterprise system by competing with private business.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Browns, deep in the cellar, have Herold Ruel as confused as were the batters when the little fellow caught the immortal Walter Johnson.

Even Muddy Ruel, the lawyer who left the peace, quiet and dignity of Commissioner Chandler's office to lead the St. Louis Browns, can't make them intelligible.

Not only the Browns have been bitterly disappointed to Ruel, as well as to their wealthy owner, Richard C. Muckerman. Home attendance on the American League side has never been too good at Sportsman's Park, and in the recent weeks the good burghers have stayed away in droves.

Things reached such a sad state that Ruel was reported moving into the general manager's office in place of William O. DeWitt. You have the one-time great stopword that this has never been discussed with him.

Poorly-Lighted Streets Held Aid To Crime

CLEVELAND (UP) — Agents and detectives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the police departments of eight cities report that crime "advances in intensity and viciousness as the blanket of night cloes the sky." Figures disclosed that crimes occur two-and-one-half times as frequently as in daylight. Inadequate street lighting was charged by police officials with night crime. The poll of the chiefs of police finds that "most" American cities are regarded as "unsafe" and have insufficient lighting to provide even a minimum amount of protection.

Eastland, Aug. 6, 1929:

From reliable sources comes the information that the Texas & Pacific railroad will soon begin the work of remodeling their depot here. The large brick structure, built for a combination passenger and freight depot, is to be converted into a passenger depot with possibly offices for railroad employes as the company now has an exclusive freight depot. For sometime it has been reported that preceding the work on terminals here the Texas & Pacific would remodel their depot so as to provide room for offices for employes such as would be necessary where terminals are operated.

John Brown's Cabin In Kansas To Be Saved

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP)—The rundown old cabin that served as a hideout for John Brown 90 years ago is to be restored.

The cabin, built of walnut timbers, will be renovated and furnished with pieces of the 1857-59 period when the anti-slave leader used it as a headquarters to send runaway Negroes into northern states.

Undermined with tunnels now caving in and filling with water, the cabin has vines growing through cracks in the walls and roof. Its state of deterioration, however, is not beyond repair.

The Kansas Historical Society reports the building is one of the best authenticated of all the John Brown underground stations. It was once the residence of Daniel Sheridan, a free-stater.

the rambler

by Jack E. Brady

Gone is the day that an individual or a group of individuals can monopolize or have complete control of which concerns the welfare and progress of humanity. As never before in the history of this great nation, it is extremely obvious that Mr. and Mrs. America are doing their own thinking.

The time was when the masses followed the leader, which was likened to a "bell-sheep" controlling the destiny of its followers. The picture is much different today. Education, giving light on the operation of man's every day problems, education that removes the shroud of mystery in regard to man's actions, to satisfy his personal desires, and the conviction some would practice to accomplish position and personal gain, has widely "opened the eyes" of Mr. and Mrs. Average American. The few who operate under the principle that you can fool most of the people, all or part of the time, are strictly "off-the-beam". And, that individual, or group of individuals, that think their manner of operation is cunning, are only "kiddie" themselves.

Due to thinking for themselves, the masses of today demand FACTS. He who fears a revelation of the TRUTH, is completely lost.

George I. Lane, a member of the Ex-Student Association of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, (A. & M.), announces that on August 23rd, the citizens of Texas will vote upon the College Building Constitutional Amendment; the Amendment carries the endorsement and support of all sixteen Texas State Colleges and Universities, and was overwhelmingly approved by the legislature. A five million dollar building program for Texas A. & M. will be made possible if the Amendment is passed on August 23rd. Like other schools, Texas A. & M. needs these added facilities badly.

The College Building Amendment that will be voted on, August 23rd, provides a thirty-year $60,000,000, development program for sixteen colleges and universities, which now are overcrowded by thousands of veterans and increasing numbers of Texas high school graduates. IT WILL NOT INCREASE TAXES. It will give Texas the finest system of state-operated colleges in the Nation. It is the most important development in higher education in Texas during the past twenty-five years, according to the information Mr. Lane gives us.

A statement from the Governor of Texas, reads: (Quote) "My fellow Texans: I am fully in accord with and endorse the proposal for a 30-year building program authorized by an overwhelmingly favorable vote on August 23rd. (Signed) Beauford H. Jester, Governor of Texas" (End Quote).

The information from Mr. Lane give a summary of "How Texas Colleges Will Benefit From Amendment". Texas sixteen State supported colleges and universities will receive the listed-below amounts for building purposes when the voters of Texas approve the 30 years program as provided in the College Building Constitutional Amendment on August 23rd.

- College of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso $2,115,000.
- East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce $3,645,000.
- John Tarleton Agricultural College, Stephenville $2,565,000.
- North Texas Agricultural College, Arlington $3,150,000.
- North Texas State Teachers College, Denton $5,670,000.
- Prairie View Agricultural and Mechanical College, Prairie View $2,385,000.
- Sam Houston State Teachers College, Huntsville $2,475,000.
- Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos $3,015,000.
- Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College, Nacogdoches $2,025,000.
- Sul Ross State Teachers College, Alpine $945,000.
- Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville $2,115,000.
- Texas State College for Women, Denton $5,175,000.
- Texas Technological College, Lubbock $7,425,000.
- The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, College Station $5,000,000.
- The University of Texas, Austin $10,000,000.
- West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon $2,436,000.

Further comment from Mr. Lane's literature reads, (quote) Newspapers Call For Amendment's Adoption "... Boards, executives, alumni leadership saw Texas higher education as a single department of Texas welfare. Texas should catch that vision, too. This amendment should be adopted."—THE DALLAS MORNING NEWS.

"... In view of such immediate benefits and because of the pressing need for buildings at all the state educational institutions the STAR TELEGRAM feels that the amendment for a college building program should be approved by the people on August 23."—THE FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM.

"... Texas' State-supported colleges and universities, because of war-deferred normal expansion and the influx of Federal-aided veterans, urgently need new buildings. Perceiving the emergency, their administrators have worked out a sensible, comprehensive solution."—THE SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS.

"The proposed constitutional amendment sought by the 16 state supported universities and colleges to finance their long-range building and equipment needs offers a co-ordinated and efficient method of achieving that goal."—THE DALLAS DAILY TIMES HERALD.

"... The plan previously was endorsed by The DAILY SENTINEL and by ex-students of Stephen F. Austin State College."—The NACOGDOCHES DAILY SENTINEL.

"... The Legislature saw the needs of higher education in broader terms, and has submitted to the people this carefully-planned program that will permanently sustain the building programs of all the colleges."—THE PORT ARTHUR NEWS.

Further information pertaining to the College Building Amendment may be had by contacting Mr. Lane.

The Staff That Dreams Are Made Of

Were you ever laughed at for being impractical and for dreaming dreams? Have people ever brushed you aside with a whimsical gesture: "Oh, she's got her head in the clouds again; Come on down to earth!"

The poor, misguided people who trudge this mundane sphere of ours! Never looking up at the stars, never really feeling the madness of the moonlight. . . never filling their pockets with stardust!

If you like to dream, go right ahead and dream, but watch the dreams. It is possible to lose touch with reality through dreaming. . . the psychologists will tell you that they'll tell you that it's a right to dream, that it is constructive, as long as your dreams do not take the place of reality, as long as you remain a normal human being, who knows how to take his responsibilities, they will tell you not to take refuge in dreams.

And they're right to a large degree. But don't stop dreaming. . . the world was created because God dreamed. . . the important events of the world took place because someone dared to dream.

It's all right to keep a firm foot on the earth, but the toiler dies in a day and the dreamer lives forever. Dream . . . but keep in touch with reality.
