Mr. Elliott will announce the personnel of his staff in the near future, according to R. V. Gallo-way, of Ranger, who is county chairman of the Eastland County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Fund.

The executive committee is composed of Judge P. L. Crossley and Victor Cornelius of Eastland, Leon Kirk of Gorman, E. M. Howard of Rising Star, E. T. Thomas of Cisco, and W. F. Creager and Mrs. Ella White of Ranger.

One-half of the money raised during the campaign will remain in Eastland county to be used for the benefit of local cases. One such case is now being helped and if funds had not been available through previous March of Dimes campaigns much more serious consequences would have resulted.

COMMITTEE AT WORK ON NEW ESPIONAGE LEADS

WASHINGTON—House investigators digging into alleged Soviet atomic bomb espionage "already are at work on new leads," Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, R., N. J., said today.

Two Eastland Studentss Make Honor Roll

DENTON, Oct. 31 — Two Eastland students, Dorothy Trigg, daughter of Dan O. Trigg, 215 S. Daugherty, and Norman Nevill Durham, son of H. H. Durham, 909 S. Seaman Street, were among 426 juniors and seniors named to the fall semester dean's list, honor roster composed of outstanding students, at North Texas State College this week.

Students on the dean's list are exempt from the usual penalties for class absences and have the privilege of going back into the book stacks in the NTSC library to do research.

To be named to the list a student must be either a junior or a senior and must have attended the college the previous semester and completed at least 12 semester hours of class work with an average grade of B and no grade lower than a C. INDIANS AND MAVERICKS TO PLAY TONIGHT

Game At Maverick Field To Be Called At 8:00 O'Clock

The Eastland Mavericks will meet the Comanche Indians tonight at Maverick Field. Game time will be at 8:00 o'clock p.m. Coach Little says the Mavericks are in top shape and are rarin' to go, with the exception of Lusk, the center. Lusk was hurt in the Ballinger game by clipping. He did not play in the Dublin game but will suit out for tonight's game.

The Indians have the reputation of being a tough team but the Mavericks expect to show them how tough they are.

The Mavericks have lost only one game this season that being to Ballinger, and that was not a conference game. They have played and beaten three AA district teams this season and haven't lost a conference game, so they have an excellent chance of playing the winner of the Ballinger Coleman game.

The Mavericks have two more conference games besides the game tonight, and then on to bi-district are their plans.

The Indians will have plenty of support tonight as the Lions club, Chamber of Commerce and individuals have chartered buses and say that they are coming over in force to support the Indians, so let's show Comanche how we support the Mavericks!

Starting line-up for tonight's game:

Price Ceilings On Sugar To Go

By United Press

WASHINGTON — Price ceilings on sugar die at midnight tonight, but government officials say there is so much sugar on hand now that price boosts by grocers would be plain and simple " gouging."

"There is absolutely no excuse for higher prices on sugar," said officials of the Department of Agriculture sugar branch.

Sugar price ceilings vary with each community, but under controls the average today is about 10 cents a pound, department statistics showed.

ONE WAY TO BEAT HIGH GAS TAX

One way to beat the high Oklahoma gas tax of 7 cents per gallon is proposed by using a mixture of 50-50 gasoline and kerosene. This was suggested by Mr. A. C. Russell, right, of Shawnee, Oklahoma, whose specially designed carburetor will handle mixture as well as regular gas, he says. Oklahoma City gas station operator, Joe Dewess, puts in the regular gas while Russell stands by with Kerosene. Oklahoma, third largest petroleum producer in the U. S. has highest state gas tax. SPORTLIGHT

Hi there, folks! As I was wandering around the football field the other afternoon, I ran into Coach directing his boys in a scrimmage. It is really hard work to train guys how to play football. But I believe that we couldn't have a better man to fill the position than John Little.

In Woodson, where Coach grew up, you'd find him doing just about the same things as the average boy. He also went to school in El Paso and finished high school in Albany. Like most American boys, he played football in high school. Of course that was his favorite sport and it still is.

Coach Little is a graduate of Daniel Baker College where he played fullback on the football team. He also played basketball and track. He was on the honor roll except for one semester; president of the student body his senior year, and president of the junior class his junior year. In 1937 he finished college and coached four years. While coaching in Santa Anna, he met a little girl with green eyes who two years later became his wife, Helen. They now have two adorable children, Penny and John. Later he coached in Miranda City. He was with the Department of Public Safety for the state of Texas up until he started teaching in Eastland High School, which was in the spring of 1945. He has a taught algebra, geometry, safety education, and P. E. besides coaching football, basketball, baseball, and track. Says he likes Math best though.

His plans for the future are not too definite. The football team this year might have some bearing on it.

Well, folks, that sort of brings you up to date on our Coach. Guess I'd better give you a description of him and what he likes.

Coach is five feet, eight and one half inches tall and tips the scales at 190 pounds. He has the nicest dark brown eyes that we have seen around here in a long time.

He is a wonderful fencer and "Sunrise Serenade" by Tommy Dorsey is his favorite. Blas is by far the prettiest color. Ah, when you mention steak or Mexican food his face really does light up. Dottie Lamour is tops on his list of stars, along with Bing Crosby. Building things with rock or wood is his hobby. He really did do a wonderful job on the foundation of his house.

Naturally, football is his favorite sport. He also likes to play golf and is really quite good, from what I hear.

Coach likes to read a good book for his past time. At night if there is nothing else to do, he likes nothing better than a game of bridge.

He is an active member of the Methodist Church and past president of the 9-149 Sunday School class. He is also an active member of the Lions' Club and Quarterback Club.

Come on folks, let's all give a big hand to the most wonderful guy there ever was, our own coach and friend, John Little. He really deserves the best that the world can offer.

Yea Mavericks!

FRESHMAN CLASS PROJECT

At a meeting of the freshman class several weeks ago, it was decided that red and black felt pennants would be made and sold as a class project. Mrs. Walter, the class sponsor, ordered the material and made an example which she presented at a later meeting of the class. They are about five and a half inches long, a little over three inches wide and the top, and have sewn on them a Maverick head and the letters E. H. S. They went on sale last week, and are still selling for 25c.

HOMEMAKING NEWS

This week the girls have started study on Breakfast Breads and Beverages and every one agreed that this is one of the most interesting chapters we have studied so far. Tea and coffee and the utensils for preparing these drinks were discussed Monday. Thursday we were shown a technical movie by the name of Beverages.

This is the second movie this year and both have been very interesting and educational. We hope to have more movies during the year. The movies are free and everyone really seems to enjoy them.

The end of another six weeks and the tests weren't too hard were they? Haha, let us laugh. Seems all the girls are dreading a hard H. M. test but it wasn't so hard after all. That's right Miss Morris we don't mind.

Double Seven Has Meeting
The Double Seven Club met this week in the home of Monette Scott. New business was discussed and a new member was elected into the club. She is Barbara Branton from Odessa.

Refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips, lemonade and home made cookies were served to Margie, Bettye, Shirley, Guyrene, Pat, Wanda, Charlotte, Mozelle, Billie, Barbara, Neta and the hostess Mrs. Scott and Monette.

Rip and Sip Meets

The Rip and Sip met Tuesday night, October 14, at 7:00 o'clock in the laboratory of High School. Fudge was made and we discussed selling Christmas cards. Those present were: Jo Ann Harding, Virginia Wright, Patsy Simmons, Nina Mae Smith, Guyrene Robinson, Pauline Latham, and Larry White, Monette Scott, and Miss Morris.

Local Student Makes Good

Freshmen are a bit more intelligent this year than last, according to Dr. Hoyt Ford, who has just announced results of freshmen intelligence and English placement tests given early this semester. The 485 students taking the tests made an average score of 107.59 against an average score at the same time last year of 106.87.

Girls as a group also scored a fraction of a point higher than the boys, Dr. Ford said. Girls averaged 107.60, while the boys trailed closely with an average of 107.58. The situation was reversed last year when the girls had a score of 106.84 to the boys' 106.89. Veterans' average was 105.8 and the non-veteran score was 108.

Hugh C. White, Abilene High School graduate, made this semester's highest score with an IQ rating of 135. White answered correctly 77 of the 80 questions in the Otis Intelligence Quiz used by Dr. Ford. A score of 238 is a perfect in the Otis testing system.

The nine next highest scores were made by Robert L. Hawkins, Monahan; Maxine Ballard, Abilene; J. W. Childs, Breckenridge; Barbara Jeanne Belew, Abilene; Arthur Joseph, Denver; Annita Bibly, Beaumont; Margaret Jane Times, Abilene; Cherré Livingston, Marfa; and Winford W. Walker, Sweetwater.

Barbara Jeanne Belew, also a graduate of Abilene High School, had the highest score in the English placement tests by answering 142 of the 150 questions on the quiz. Next highest were Cherré Livingston, Marfa; Doris Jean Findley, Abilene; and Jack M. Yates, Abilene; Lois De Island, Midland; Margaret Jane Times, Abilene; Shirley Gladeene Womack, Eastland; Fredda Carpenter, Abilene; Mildred Christine Mayer, Amarillo; and Betty Love, Clovis, N. M.

In the English exam, the average for the whole group was 92.8 over last year's average of 82.6. Of the twenty highest scoring students, eleven were girls and nine were boys. Seven of these, five girls and two boys, are graduates of Abilene High School.

A drop of 10.2 in the English exam grades as compared to last year may be accredited to the fact that the test was different in both construction and procedure, Dr. Ford said.

SPORTS

Well it seems that all good things must come to an end and one did Fri. day night Oct. 17 at the Max stadium. The final score was 26 to 6 in favor of Ballinger. The game was a clash between what is probably the strongest class A teams in West Texas. This ended the team's hopes for an undefeated season. It was the first loss in five starts.

Ballinger's heavy and well-conditioned team controlled the play most of the game. It is highly possible that these two teams will meet again at the end of the season as both of them are favored to win district.

This was the third contest between the two teams. Ballinger has won all three by scores of 69 to 0, 12 to 0, and the 26 to 6 last Friday. Bobby Blair and Jimmie

FIRST APPEARANCE

The Eastland High School Band played for the first time at the Ballinger game. They marched to the field for the Old High School Hill in their uniforms and looked very nice. We think the people were very much surprised at the way they looked and how well they played. We believe that the people know how bad Eastland wanted a band and how they are going after a good one. The people of the town and members of E. H. S. who are not in the band want to help the members get a good start and encourage them to progress to the best of their ability.

Pacific Bauxite Interests U. S.

Possibility of a large-scale United States mining operation in the remote Palau Islands of the South Pacific is seen here. It has been disclosed that deposits of more than 50,000,000 tons of bauxite exist in the island group.

Bauxite is the ore from which aluminum is extracted. The largest deposits are on the island of Eabelthup in the Caroline group, geologist Josiah Bridge advised Pacific Fleet headquarters. Bridge made an economic survey of the Palau for the U. S. Commercial Co., at the request of the Navy.

The geologist said the bauxite may require special treatment because of the difference in chemical and physical properties from that which is now being refined in the United States.

He believes it is entirely possible that the ore can be exploited profitably. It is believed several commercial companies in the United States are interested in the possibility.

The bauxite deposits were discovered by the Japanese in 1937 and mining operations began immediately. In the next six years, the Japanese produced about 400,000 metric tons of exportable ore.

During the war, the mining facilities were bombed heavily and strafed by U. S. planes and only a small part of the equipment can be salvaged, the Navy said.

 DETROIT (UP) — Major automobile manufacturers are scattering their operations slowly to strategic areas. It is part of the jockeying for position against the time when the market again becomes competitive.

This decentralization of plants, employment and purchasing is having a marked economic effect on scores of communities across the nation. Every state furnishes raw materials to the industry.

By relocating assembly plants and supply depots nearer to markets, the car makers seek to cut costs by eliminating high freight bills for long-haul shipment from the Detroit and Midwest areas.

More than 1,000 parts companies and 200 tool and die firms in some 250 cities and towns in 30 states supply auto plants directly.

Under the decentralization program, the suppliers will ship a large amount of their parts to new plants and depots nearest them.

General Motors Corporation, which currently is producing about 37.4 per cent of all the cars and trucks made in this country, is completing a huge program of expansion, including new zone-ware houses, supply and manufacturing plants.

The Ford Motor Co., now making about 21.4 per cent of the nation's motor vehicles, also has expanded its operations to new areas in a drive to regain top position in its field, now held by GM's Chevrolet division.

Chrysler Corporation lagging less than two per cent behind Ford's over-all output, centers all its manufacturing operations in Detroit and its auto-making is the least scattered of the "Big Three" companies. It has a parts plant at Kansas City and one parts and two assembly lines in the Los Angeles area.

The "Big Three" companies make nearly 79 per cent of all the cars and trucks produced in the United States and they have large operations in Canada and other countries.

AUTO MAKERS GET READY FOR ERA OF COMPETITION

Studebaker, Hudson, Willys, Nash, Packard and the newcomer, Kaiser-Frazer Corporation, account for 13.4 per cent of the car and truck output, but their operations are important to many sections of the country.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association points out that the auto industry is one of the nation's most important. Its statistics show that more than 500,000 business firms, employing 8,200,000 persons, center around the manufacture, sale, service and use of motor vehicles.

Since the first of the year, Ford has been seeking new vendors on the west coast to supply its California plants locally with a wide variety of parts, including bulky items such as wheels and gasoline tanks. Ford plans to increase its West Coast purchases from $15,000,000 annually to $65,000,000.

All the steps by the car makers are aimed to the coming competitive market when dealers are forced to get their profits from their regular 25 per cent discount — after absorbing losses on trade-ins. At present, the dealers are riding high on the seller's market and profits are no problem.

Football Whoopie Ends In Jail Term

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP) — A Georgia Tech student, J. M. Haas of Alexandria, La., ran "interference" for police cars to celebrate Tech's football victory over Tennessee. His tacklers, the police, charged that he:

1. Sped 90 miles an hour for many miles along the city's busiest streets.

2. Was under the influence of intoxicants.

3. Ran 13 stop lights.

4. Ran two stop signs.

5. Resisted arrest by speeding from police cars and then taking a poke at one of the patrolmen.

6. Added injury to insult by letting his car roll into the patrol car when he finally stopped.

He was sentenced to a "semester" in jail, including 10 days for each red light, four days for each stop sign and 30 days for speeding, for a grand total of 168 days.

He started last April 15 with three pair. They doubled by Sept. 1 and should double again by Christmas.

"Since good chinchillas cost from $1,000 to $1,600 a pair, you can see that my potential profits are adding up rapidly," Dr. Green said.

He keeps the pets in a spare room in his office suite and feeds the babies goat milk from a bottle.

Heartsease

by Elsie Glenn

Suddenly, I am actually conscious of my body.

What do you think about yours? Or do you think about it? It's just dawned on me that my body and I are not very good friends; or rather my body has been a superb friend to me and I have not cared enough to return the gesture.

I've always taken it for granted but it is because it has given me so little trouble.

That's a pitfall in friendship... taking so much for granted. But all of a sudden I am possessively proud of my body.

Because I realize that I live in it; that I can't escape it, and like any other treasured possession, its value has become priceless.

Therefore I shall care for it as it deserves to be cared for.

And that doesn't mean I am going over the deep end about it. Because I want my body and me to be friends.

Real friends. The enduring kind. The understanding kind. The comfortable kind. For after all, do we not live together?

We certainly do. How's what you're living with? Your body. Friends—or enemies?

Half Dry, Half Wet Tavern Does OK

CHICAGO (UP) — James Fiochi got his new tavern all set up and going before he discovered what he had done.

He learned so his dismay that legally half of the place was in Highwood which by local option allows a man to sell intoxicants. But the rear end of the tavern is in Highland Park, which is dry.

So Fiochi did what any smart operator would do under the circumstances. He started selling drinks in the front end and sandwiches and pop in the back part.

Mrs. G. W. Stowe, Cor.

LONG BRANCH, Oct. 30—Rev. Lee Fields of Carbon, and pastor of the Long Branch Baptist church, preached here at 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning. Since the electric current was off there were no services at the evening hour.

Much interest is still being manifested in the harvesting of the light, but thanks be, well priced peanut crop.

A fine rain Friday afternoon drenched the late feed, the remaining under and over ground gardens and the few fall gardens.

I ain't no itinerant Methodist preacher—the kind that used to be on the wild frontier—but sure had a kindred feeling for those saints of by-gone days, when, prior to the glorious rain was (not pounded) replenished by cream cans full of good Texas well water hoisted onto the front porch by Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Reed, Miss Lucille Furr, Mrs. Bessie Mitchell, Mrs. Eddie Hastings, V. G. Ghormley and "tired old peanut picker" George Stowe. God bless 'em all.

Fire Fighting In Rural Districts Is Organized

Jack county farmers saw pastures destroyed by fire this summer; watched a neighbor's barn burn to the ground. They didn't like the helpless feeling they had while fire raged and so they decided to do something about it.

They organized into the Jack County Rural Fire Fighters and J. W. Hulsey, county agricultural agent, said that all farmers, ranchers and businessmen in the county "went all out to put the project over and they went over the top."

Over $3,300 has been collected to buy a fire truck and other equipment that will be necessary to fight rural fires. Each land owner in the county was assessed 2 cents an acre to raise the money. At the last meeting of the organization, it was decided to buy the latest type of rural fire-fighting equipment as soon as it is available, and the possibility of insuring the equipment and the lives of the fire-fighters was discussed.

It's a project that has been badly needed in Jack county, Hulsey said. In fact, it's something that farmers and ranchmen all over the state might be interested in.

Peanut Marketing Slowed By Rains

Rains interrupted peanut picking at many points in the Southwest during the past week, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Rainy weather discolored hay and slowed marketing, but no material damage to the crop was reported.

Much of the current movement of farmers' stock peanuts went to Commodity Credit Corporation at the government support schedule of prices.

Markets for shelled Spanish peanuts continued sluggish, with relatively few mills operating. Some mills made deliveries on previous bookings, and some held for higher prices or later sale. In scattered spot sales, prices ranged mostly from 16 to 16 1/2 cents f.o.b. shipping points.

Peanut crushing was limited to meager government offerings. Peanut oil and meal markets held barely steady to slightly weaker. Mills quoted oil at 23 to 23 1/2 cents per pound in carlots, basis prime crude, and meal at $85 to $88 per ton.

Blames Buyers, Not Farmers, For High Food Costs

AMES, Ia. (UP) — R. K. Bliss of the Iowa State College extension service thinks he has nailed down the "culprit" responsible for the high food prices.

He blames the consumer. Consumers bidding against each other in the open food market raised the prices. Open market prices work that way, he said.

The extra competition in the food market comes from the previously low income group. They now are working for good wages and can buy the food they want. He termed that encouraging. He estimated that people are eating 15 per cent more meat, milk and eggs than before the war and said those were the high-price foods.

Bliss pointed out that even when rationing was enforced, meat consumption increased about 15 pounds per person in this country.

Government farm price supports for certain commodities have had nothing to do with present farm prices, he said. It wasn't the farmer who hoisted prices, Bliss contended, although he did his best to produce. Any slackening of farm production is due to drought, he suggested.

While admitting food shipments abroad had something to do with high prices, Bliss said it was just a subordinate cause. He cited meat which is not exported in large quantities.

"The consumer is the only answer to high meat prices," he concluded.

Underground Water Resources To Be Surveyed

PLANVIEW, Tex., (UP) — Plans for the first complete survey of underground water resources on the High Plains are being laid here by the Texas Board of Water Engineers and the U. S. Geological survey.

Work will be supervised from a new joint field office here. The High Plains embraces 23 counties bounded by the Canadian river on the north, the Caprock on the east and south and the Texas-New Mexico line on the west.

Officials of the two agencies explained that, while they have accumulated considerable information over a period of many years on the underground water in the area, they have little more than "scratched the surface" of the job to be done.

This is the first time, they said, that money has been available to start the job with assurance that it can be done thoroughly.

The information which they expect to obtain will enable residents of the region to know what they have and can depend on in the future in the way of underground water.

Let us demonstrate the 'Jeep' on your farm—no obligation!

We cordially invite every farm owner to ask us for a free demonstration of the famous Universal "Jeep" on his own land. We want you to see for yourself how this versatile vehicle, with both 2- and 4-wheel drive, performs on every kind of farm job—tractor work in the field, hauling and towing around the farm and on the highway, operating equipment with its power take-off. See for yourself how easily the "Jeep" handles—how much more comfortable it is for the driver.
