FRENCH HEAR BLUM ACCUSE COMMUNISTS OF OPEN WAR

PARIS—Premier Designate Leon Blum charged in the National Assembly today that international Communists "have openly declared war on French democracy."

Blum, 75 year old Socialist, appeared before the Assembly to present his program for a new government he was trying to form. The fate of his effort depended on an Assembly vote of confidence in him, to be taken later in the session.

Before he spoke, the French Communists served notice that they were aiming at supreme control of France.

The country's crisis was becoming graver by the hour, with the strike of more than 750,000 workers edging toward the proportions of a general strike. Some 150,000 citizen soldiers had been recalled to the colors.

The Assembly chamber was crowded to capacity when Blum spoke. He looked less careworn than he did yesterday when he was sounding out his chances of forming a government to succeed that of the resigned Paul Ramadier.

Cisco Defeats Eastland Mavs. By Score of 14-0

Approximately 500 Eastland Maverick fans sat through a heavy mist last night at Chesley Field in Cisco, to see the Cisco Lobos defeat the Mavericks to a score of 14 to 0.

On the first play Eastland kicked off to the Lobos 25 yard line to fast running Stanley Williams, who broke loose for the first touchdown for Cisco. Cisco's second tally came in the second quarter when Cleveland drove over center from the 1 yard line. Cleveland's pass to Williams was good for the extra point.

Outstanding Maverick players were Wayne Lambert, Lewis Crossley, Jr., Johnny Hicks and Bobby Elair. Blair gained 104 yards and lost 4 in 20 attempts. Hicks gained 89 yards in 14 tries. Jimmie Matthews gained 64 in 13 tries. Eastland gained 257 yards in rushing, while the Lobos only made 153. 14 first downs was made by Eastland, and 11 was made by Cisco. The game ended when Eastland was only 2 yards from the goal.

The game between the Mavericks and the Lobos was a non-conference game, and will have no effect on the district championship. Eastland plays Gorman here next Thursday, Thanksgiving day, at 2:45 p.m.

Eastland Girl Receives Note Of "Warning"

The Eastland County Sheriff's department has been working for two or three days on an extortion note case, but this morning stated that they have unearthed only a few minor facts and admitted that they were not near a solution, but did have theories which they were not ready to announce.

Miss Rena Smith, 14 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Smith, 1512 South Bassett street, reported to her parents, according to information given the County sheriff, Wednesday that she had received a threatening note which she gave them and which was later turned over to the sheriff's office.

The note is alleged to have warned her to stay away from a certain boy under penalty of having "your pretty little head blown off" if she failed to do as instructed. The note also is reported to have stated that "you have treated me wrong."

With the note handed the girl is alleged to have been a blank check of the Eastland National Bank with the statement that she should fill the check out for $1,000 and sign it and send it to the writer of the note, which was signed, "One you double crossed."

According to the officers the girl gave them the name of a Carbon boy of about her own age, who she said she believed wrote the note.

Just where and how the note was delivered appears to be a little uncertain, officers said.

'GIRL FRIEND' ENTERS INTO MEYERS CASE

WASHINGTON—Retired Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers testified today that he may have told Aviation Electric Corp. where it could pick up some war business. But if he did, he said, it was only because he wanted a former "girl friend" and her husband to prosper.

A Senate war investigating subcommittee looking into Meyers' conduct as a wartime air force procurement officer has heard testimony that he founded Aviation Electric at Vandalia, O., and netted $131,000 in profits from it during the war.

The thickset, 52 year old retired general asserted yesterday, however, that he set up the business and installed B. H. Lamarre as its president solely for romantic reasons. He said Lamarre's wife was his "girl friend" for five years. The Army is investigating this assertion to determine whether it warrants official action against the retired general.

Meyers has denied Lamarre charges that he owned the Vandalia firm and made rich profits from it.

Gen. Bradley To Become Army Chief Of Staff

WASHINGTON—Gen. Omar N. Bradley will succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as army chief of staff, President Truman announced today.

Bradley, who is veteran administrator, will be succeeded by Carl E. Gray, Jr., vice president of the Chicago Northwestern Railway Co.

Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates will succeed Gen. A. A. Vandegrift as commandant of the Marine Corps.

The President at a news conference also announced that the resignation of Gen. Robert Littlejohn as War Assets administrator will be accepted as of Nov. 28.

Bradley will return to the War Department Dec. 1 and take advantage of some accumulated leave and also to make a first hand survey of various army headquarters around the country before replacing Eisenhower.

The President said that Bradley actually would not take over as chief of staff until Eisenhower departs to become president of Columbia University.

Honeymooners In Seculsion

LONDON—A big crowd gathered at the gates of the country estate where Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip were honeymooning today, but they sent out word that they had made their last public appearance until they go to church Sunday.

They awoke at 8:30 o'clock in a red and gold bridal chamber and immediately asked for the newspapers so they could read about their wedding yesterday in Westminster Abbey. There was little else in the papers.

WASHINGTON—President Truman said today that he wants the government to control commodity exchange trading in the same way that it now regulates the stock market and the federal reserve banks.

The President made this view known at a news conference. He said he thought controls over grain, cotton and wool market should be drafted along the same lines of government controls now exercised in stock trading.

The government, through the Federal Reserve Board sets the margin requirements for stock trading. In the commodity markets the margins are set by the exchanges.

Mr. Truman would not comment on criticism of his domestic anti-inflation program by such Republican leaders as Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O. Taft recently called the president's request for price control and rationing authority a bid for "totalitarian" powers.

The President said he had no comment and that if the questioning reporter did not understand his speech to Congress, he should read it again. On the whole, the President said he thought the reception to his message was very satisfactory.

Congressional Republicans, meanwhile, are re-opening the long-standing row over government spending and responsibility for high prices. The issue was not specifically raised at the news conference.

The President said he plans to send his message on the long-range Marshall plan for European recovery to Congress in about 10 days.

This is the program Secretary of State George C. Marshall has said might cost $20,000,000,000 over four years. The emergency program now being considered along with price measures calls for $597,000,000.

On the theory that Congress might grant the President the wage-price controls and rationing powers he requested, a reporter asked when these economic controls would be put into effect.

The President shook his head and said that this would be discussed after the authority was granted.

"Sweetest Girl" Sought
NEW YORK, (UP)—The latest press agent's brain wave is a hunt for the "Sweetest Girl" in America. The Heller Candy co. is sponsoring a contest in which the winner will receive $200 in cash and a free course in modeling and actual assignments at the Barbizon Studio of Fashion Modeling. Among the judges are Klity Kallen, Emanuel List, Florence Pritchard, Helen Fraser and Patricia Shay.

ROME—Striking "peasants" in bloody Puglia province, ambushed 2 truck loads of Carabinieri today and wounded at least 2 officers and about 20 others with a hail of machine gun fire.

The Carabinieri were ambushed at Bitonto, nine miles west of Bari. The Communist-led strikers isolated Bitonto by cutting telephone wires and blocking the roads. Armed forces left for Bitonto as soon as word of the ambush was received by radio.

A United Press correspondent in Bari said the Carabinieri were going to Bitonto to protect farmers who had decided to break the strike and go back to work.

Princess Elizabeth will return to the War Department Dec. 1 and take advantage of some accumulated leave and also to make a first hand survey of various army headquarters around the country before replacing Eisenhower.

Funeral Pending For Mrs. Arthur Preslar

Funeral arrangements were pending this morning for Mrs. Oma Preslar, 36, wife of Arthur Preslar, 705 West Patterson St., and who died about 2:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at her home.

According to information collected by Justice of the Peace E. Wood he was called to the home by neighbors who found Mrs. Preslar ill. Mrs. Preslar is said to have told the neighbors that she had taken strychnine. Neighbors of the family called the sheriff's office and asked that the Justice of the Peace be called stating that they already called a doctor.

Justice Woods stated that Drs. E. C. Ferguson and Murdock responded to the call for a doctor, but found Mrs. Preslar dead, they tried artificial respiration to no avail. Justice Wood also stated that he had not rendered an official verdict in the case.

The deceased is survived by her husband, an Eastland carpenter, and an 18 months old baby girl.

Sending Grain To Europe Favored By Farmers As Self-Preservation

By Glenn Martz
United Press Staff Correspondent
BISMARCK, N. D. (UP)—If you ask the wheat farmer in the Red River Valley of North Dakota what he thinks about conserving grain for shipment to hungry Europeans, he'll tell you it's the only way to avert economic and social catastrophe in America's wheat belt.

Farm leaders and farmers alike frankly admit they're not motivated entirely by a desire to play the part of the Good Samaritan.

Firstly, they contend another disastrous world war can be averted only by supplying Europe with food until it can get into production again.

Secondly, from a purely economic standpoint, they say they are convinced that the only way to prevent a catastrophic slump in farm prices is to preserve the foreign outlet for grain.

With that in mind, and an all-time record $730,000,000 small grain crop already binned or marketed, they are prepared to fight any move which might lead to loss of foreign markets and a return to domestic price levels.

Glenn J. Talbott, president of the North Dakota Farmers' Union, summed up sentiment of farm organizations, by declaring: "From a cold-blooded economic angle, we can't afford to lose our foreign markets. If that should happen, and we continue to produce as abundantly as we have during the past few years, the domestic show window of farm products will be crammed so full that prices will drop far below the cost of production."

"We must preserve the foreign farm market at all cost. For if production should through adverse seasons fall below normal consumption at home, then America must tighten its belt through an enforced rationing program to assure continued shipments of grain abroad. That's the only way we can peg the price of wheat at home at a level where the farmer is assured of a profit."

However, Talbott said he did not believe production would fall below domestic consumption.

"The expanded agricultural plant in the grain belt," he said, "is now geared to produce more than a billion bushels of wheat annually. Normal domestic consumption is slightly less at 700,000,000 bushels a year."

Talbott said the nation should take one more step to make its Food-for-Europe program effective—government controlled rationing.

"It is folly to assume that a nation of 135,000,000 people will observe a voluntary rationing program," he said.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—If Congressman J. Parnell Thomas's House Committee on Un-American Activities can produce one live Communist out of Hollywood, its case will have been made. Such a disclosure would encourage the committee to report out the Sheppard or Rankin bills making it unlawful for any American to belong to the Communist Party.

Number one whipping boy and likeliest candidate for this honor in the current three-dimensional, technicolor and sound-track investigation of Communist infiltration in the moving picture industry is apparently going to be one John Howard Lawson, a writer. He is under subpoena, and unless his lawyers are successful in their move to have it quashed, Lawson will probably be called to the witness stand in the second week.

This will be Lawson's second appearance before the House Un-American Committee. In the fall of 1944 he testified under oath that he was not a member of the Communist Party. That record will have to stand unless the committee can now prove that he was or is a card-carrying and dues-paying member. If it can be proved, he runs the risk of a charge of having perjured himself in previous testimony.

Director Sam Wood, in reply to a query from committee counsel Robert E. Stripling, "Is there any doubt in your mind that Lawson is a Communist?" replied, "If there is, I haven't a mind."

Actor Adolphe Menjou testified, "I have heard he was a Communist leader."

ESQUIRE Magazine's film critic, John Charles Moffitt, told the committee it had been testified Lawson was sent to Los Angeles by a former Communist secretary to help organize the party work there. Moffitt further identified Lawson as first president of the Screen Writers' Guild, a speaker at the California Labor School, an endorser of the Harry Bridges defense movement, an officer of the Hollywood Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions and member of the Hollywood Democratic Committee—the last in no way connected with the "respectable" Democratic Party.

In 1941, Moffitt said, Lawson lectured before a Hollywood School for Acting. He told the young actors it was their duty to further the class struggle. If they were nothing more than extras on a country club lawn, they should appear decadent and be snobs. If in a tenement scene, they should look downtrodden and oppressed.

The John Howard Lawson on whom all this is being hung is a 52-year-old New York playwright. He was graduated from Williams College in 1914. For two years he was a cable editor for Reuter's British news service. In World War I he was a volunteer ambulance driver in France and Italy. Then he was a foreign correspondent.

FROM 1923 to 1937 he wrote nine plays, all produced on Broadway. The worst, "The Pure in Heart," was about a girl who ran away to New York and fell in love with a murderer.

His most successful play, "Professional," ran 98 performances in 1925 and 81 in 1938. It was about "industrial slavery" in West Virginia with all the characters protesting against life in America.

The class consciousness theme runs through all of Lawson's plays. In "International"—27 performances in 1928—some mean old oil man start an uprising which spreads all over the world.

In "The Marching Song"—61 performances in 1937—Pete Russell, the hero, is an exploited laborer who goes to live in an empty factory. He is offered his job back if he will betray the strike leader, but he won't. In the end the strike leader is shot down.

In Hollywood, however, Lawson has done better. His "Action in the North Atlantic," whipped up in jig time for the Maritime Commission to tell the story of Liberty ships against the submarines, was one of the best pictures of the war. But as the "hero" Liberty ship of the picture carried Lend-Lease supplies to Murmansk, it will now probably be considered subversive and used against the author, no matter what his defense.

Better Than tanding Around in the Cold Forever

This Is Happy

By PEGGY DERN

© by Peggy Dern, Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THEY were stopped by groups of friends, so their progress across the wide, tiled lobby was slow. Many of them happy had already met.

An elderly Negro waiter bowed them impressively to a choice table; people kept waving to them from other tables, or stopping at their table for a few moments of gay chatter and gossip.

George said softly to Happy, "You look about five years old, just before seeing your first Christmas tree!"

Happy laughed. "And that's exactly how I feel! This is fun!"

"You aren't finding island life too dull and boring?"

Happy laughed that to scorn. "I've never had so much fun in my life, or enjoyed anything so much."

"I'm glad, Happy. I've worried about you this week because I've been too busy to keep you amused," he confessed. "But now that everything is running smoothly, I'll be able to take some time off this next week. There are so many things I want you to see."

Afterwards, when the dancing began, George danced the first dance with Happy and then surrendered her, with flattering reluctance, to some of the other young men while he danced with Madeline, then with Joyce. But he claimed Happy an hour later and said under his breath, "Let's get out for a bit; it's too perfect a night to spend it here indoors."

He drew her outside with him to where the big maroon car was parked below the edge of the drive and handed her into it.

The chauffeur seemed to have had his instructions, for the big car slid out of the parking space, circled the hotel and swung once more into the road curving to the north.

George reached for Happy's hand and tucked it under his arm and held it there, as he relaxed beside her.

"Happy?"

"Yes?"

"Your name—I meant, are you happy?"

"Of course, I'm Happy—and I'm happy."

"You're a darling, Happy, and I'm getting very fond of you. But that surely must come as no surprise to you. I haven't exactly tried to make a secret of it, have I?" he said very quietly.

Happy's heart gave a little lurch and began to beat very fast. She felt, for a moment, a breath of panic; she had a strange desire to get out of the car and run away from him—and could have laughed aloud at such an absurd idea!

"You do know that I am fond of you, Happy?" he repeated.

"Well, you've—you've been—terrible, nice," she stammered childishly, and the hand he still held made a little frightened fluttering movement, but was held more tightly.

"Happy"—he looked closely at her as the big car reached the end of the road beyond which the laagoon curled toward the ocean—"Happy, you ridiculous infant, you're not afraid of me?"

"How—how perfectly crazy! Of course not," she stammered.

George smiled.

"Oh, well, I'm not going to rush you! I'm a patient sort of guy. But you may as well begin getting used to the fact that I'm going to be around rather a lot from now on, and that sooner or later you're going to have to watch me spread a clean handkerchief carefully on the dewy grass, drop elegantly one knee, a hand on my heart, and proclaim tremulously, 'Miss Brandon—Miss Happy—may I call you Happy? Will you do me the very great honor to be my bride and make me the happiest man in the world?'"

Happy drew a long, unsteady breath. George smiled down at her and said very low, "Take your time, darling, but very soon you're going to have to say yes. I'm not the man to take no for an answer."

Then he picked up the speaking tube and directed the chauffeur to drive back to the hotel.

ATOM BOMB EFFECT SEEN BENEFIT TO AGRICULTURE

CHICAGO (UP)—The atom bomb kicked up a lot of dust in the pea patches of Nagasaki. Some good, some bad.

Dr. Raymond E. Zirkle, director of the Institute of Radiobiology and Biophysics at the University of Chicago, says radioactive peas in the Japanese city may grow to be just as dangerous.

Nagasaki, it may be recalled, was the second Japanese city to be the size of a grenade—and may feel the sting of the atom bomb. The soil in that area, the scientists report, showed increased productivity of 50 to 300 per cent over the normal yield, making little peas grow into strangely big peas.

"Although atomic research offers agriculture tremendous hope for improvement," Zirkle said, "it is going to take time, money and scientific teamwork before beneficial results can be achieved on a practical scale."

"The University of Chicago is investing $12,000,000 in an atomic research program that may pay heavy dividends, not only in agricultural benefits, but in all fields which advance civilization."

The scientist warned that experiments with radioactive plant fertilizers may create a health hazard unless conducted or supervised by qualified scientists.

"Radioactive substances emit rays destructive to living cells," he said. "When these substances are absorbed by plants—such as peas—a concentration of them sometimes occurs in the edible portion."

"If these plants are eaten by humans, the radioactivity sometimes may concentrate further in a part of the body, such as bone or liver. A sufficient amount may cause radiation poisoning, and that is why it is necessary to check each plant that has been used in radioactive experiments."

"Despite the hazard of radioactivity," Zirkle said, "it does not preclude the possibility that agricultural benefits may result from more intensive experiments.

"Through the use of radioactive tracers, we may learn how to obtain improved soils and fertilizers, healthier plants and animals, and food products far superior to those we now know."

"Tracers are being used to help unravel the complicated phenomenon of growth. If the mechanism of growth were well understood, remarkable improvement in crops would result."

"Tracers are making possible a better understanding of the way in which plants actually draw from the soil. This research is quite likely to result in improved fertilizer practices."

Penalty Fits Crime

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP)—Juvenile Judge A. J. Williams decided that four 11-year-old boys who think it's fun to turn in false fire alarms need to learn how a fire department works. He ordered the four boys to report to the fire chief daily for ten days to do odd jobs about the fire house for one hour each day.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—What happened on Baker Field the other exciting afternoon is as old as football itself.

A team, Army, looking ahead to a main objective, Notre Dame, and taking another, Columbia, in stride.

If Illinois, with the remarkable Perry Moss pitching, couldn't score on us via the air, reasoned the unbeaten and unscored-on Cadets, what can Columbia hope to do?

West Point went into the fourth period with the situation well in hand, 20-7, obviously settled back on its heels convinced that another minor chore had been attended to well.

Now for Washington and Lee and the big one in South Bend with the unbeaten streak at 34 and a chance to win.

AND then it happened. Gene Rossides tossed to Charley Olson for two first downs, then faded far back from the Army, 28 and threw a tremendous pass into the end zone.

Everybody in the park, including the West Point defender, John Shelley, thought Bill Swiacki was covered, but, then, they also believed the young men of Morning-side Heights were beaten.

And out of nowhere in a head-long dive came Swiacki to catch the ball close enough to the turf to make it defensible, and the Lions were back in the game.

Thus inspired, Columbia required just one minute and 53 seconds more to annex the points for one of the biggest upsets in memory. Alarmed by the frequency with which Rossides had been clicking with aerials—the Golden Greek completed 18 of 27—Army deployed to check that method of attack. It was then that young Rossides ran the ball.

Army was back on its heels now. The element of surprise was on

ARABS SEE VICTORY IF WAR GRIPS PALESTINE

By Sam Souki
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 CAIRO (UP)—Arab leaders differ about the time it will take their forces to defeat the Zionists in the event of a war in Palestine. They will agree that in the long run they will be victorious. Fawzi El Kawakji, former military commander of the Arab rebellion of 1937, believes he can defeat the Zionist forces in a fortnight's fighting. "Anytime I am ordered to move I can beat any Jew's army in a fortnight," he told this correspondent in Lebanon during the Arab League sessions. Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League and a veteran soldier of previous Arab campaigns, considers that a conflict against the Jews would take longer. He does not exclude an unfavorable start for the Arab forces. "The Jews have been well trained and are capable of inflicting some heavy blows at the start," he said. "But what both the Jews and others forget is that the Arab character is such that a defeat or even a series of defeats would not demoralize them. They are capable of superb comebacks." This conversation took place at midnight after the decision of the Arab states to deliver military aid to Palestine's Arabs in the event of British evacuation of the Holy Land. Tilted his turboush backwards, Azzam Pasha drew illustrations from his personal experiences when he fought the Italians in Libya. He recalled with his years of contact with Arab fighters had taught him of their character. He said: "The Zionists, on the other hand, have so far fought guerrilla action against a British force conducting police rather than military action. The Zionists will not stand long in open battle against an Arab army." Azzam paused briefly, then continued, "I am hopeful, however, that matters will not come to such a stage. I dread to think of the fury of the Arab world and her fighters if conditions in Palestine force them to go into battle." Emil Ghoury, member of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee, believes that the Palestine Arabs alone can take care of the Zionist forces in Palestine. "We are capable of beating the Zionists," he said. "Perhaps we are not as well armed as they, but

Meat No Help To You, Vegetarian Says, Boosting Savings Program

By Don Jennings
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Donald D. Deibler, vegetarian, wants to know why all the fuss over meatless Tuesday.

"People are better off without meat," he says. "It's only a second hand food anyway." Furthermore—and this is where Deibler places the most emphasis—he believes people who eat the flesh of an animal are downright inhuman.

Deibler, who with his wife swore off meat four years ago, considers the vegetarian diet the most healthful and most economical. His recipes read like a government food-sever's dream. He can prepare a tasty "steak" that comes in a can and ready to fry. It can be made from wheat gluten, mushroom broth, extract of brewer's yeast, vegetables, salt water, vegetable protein derivatives and an artificial flavoring made from wheat.

Nothing "second hand" about that steak, Deibler says. The ingredients come directly from nature. Italian spaghetti and chop-suey are other favorites in the Deibler household. Fish or poultry never gets on the menu. The Deiblers class themselves among the higher-grade vegetarians, known as "Vegans," who abstain from animal by-products such as eggs, milk, butter, leather and wool.

One pound of soybeans (grown in his garden) produces eight gallons of vegetarian milk. Deibler found. He points out this is undoubtedly more efficient than feeding a pound of soybeans to a cow and getting only one gallon of milk in return. Deibler's shoes are made almost entirely of plastic. He said he tries to refrain from using leather products wherever possible.

His garden, one of the healthiest in the neighborhood, thrives we are ready to oppose them." Ghoury added that the decision reached by the Arab states to defend Palestine was "inspired" and had heartened the entire Palestine Arab population to feel the united support of 40,000,000 Arabs.

without the benefit of animal fertilizer. He uses ashes and other fertilizer substitutes and says he finds his crops are less subject to plant diseases.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Delfosse returned home to find a living room window broken and called police to investigate a burglary attempt. Police found the "burglar" sitting on top of a picture in the living room. It was a large cock pheasant which resisted arrest by ruffling his feathers and acting quarrelsome. The pheasant was taken to the city jail to be held until its injuries from housebreaking heal, after which it will be released.

 The automobile is useless and harmless without the driver. With the driver it may become most useful but never harmful. GUAM PROBLEM AS U. S. BASTION OF DEFENSE

By Miles W. Vaughn
United Press Staff Correspondent
For Asia

GUAM (UP)—The United States has laid the foundation for a key structure in its projected military domination of the western Pacific Ocean. Actual construction of a great military base here still lies in the future, however, this correspondent found in a tour of the island.

Security prevents a complete inspection of Guam but visiting correspondents are able to see enough to reach these conclusions:

1. An early and final decision is needed on whether Guam will be permanently under the administration of the Navy Department or whether it shall be under some civilian organization such as the Department of Interior. Everything here indicates that the present naval administration will be continued as a permanent policy. The island primarily is useful as a naval base and stationary aircraft carrier—a strategic area for the domination of the western Pacific Ocean and Eastern Asia.

2. Military development, which has been retarded by lack of funds should be speeded up not only for reasons of national defense but also long-range economy. Funds are needed immediately, for example, to build a new gasoline distribution system for the army air forces stationed on the island. The present "temporary" system, hurriedly laid down during the war, is literally falling apart. Wastage from leaking during the past six months is estimated to have been equal to the cost of building a new permanent system. 3. Improved permanent housing for both military and civilian personnel on the island is badly needed. The present temporary huts in some areas are not only uncomfortable but in some cases dangerous in this region of terrific typhoons.

4. Allegations by some American commentators that the Guam administration has been negligent in returning farm lands to the Guamanian people are false. The great bulk of land of all kinds on island is in the hands of the Guamanians. However, the people generally are not interested in farming because of high wages which can be obtained by working for the government.

Americans here generally feel that "New Dealism" has been extended to Guam without much consideration for the realities and that the economy of the island has been thrown entirely out of gear by Washington's generosity. Thus farmers raise no crops because they can make more from "Uncle Sugar"; fishermen have cast aside their nets for the same reason. Household servants are difficult to get and demand wages which are entirely out of the reach of most American housewives.

One gets the impression here that both military and civilian personnel on the island feel they are being harassed by detailed instructions of all kinds from Washington. The instructions have little to do with what presumably is the great and immediate American objective on this island—the early development of a powerful sea and air base which can play a deciding factor in event of war in this part of the world.

The Ball Goes Home

Wallace Wade, left, presents to Frank Thomas the football won by the Duke coach's Alabama squad for its 20-19 victory over Washington in the 1926 Rose Bowl game. The Tide of 1925 was the first of five teams—three at Alabama and two at Duke—to win the Tournament of Roses by Wade. Athletic director Thomas succeeded Wade as the 'Bama coach when the latter moved to Durham. He took three teams to Pasadena. Presentation took place on Thomas' return to Tuscaloosa after three months in Duke Hospital.

GOOD OLD DAYS DIE AS PARIS BLACK MARKET WANES

By James McGlinchey
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS (UP)—Things are so tough for the tourists these days, it's all a man can do to turn over a dishonest franc, one of them said in an interview today.

He was a gray-haired, slight man of 60, rather shabbily dressed, with a most disconcerting set of crossed eyes. He sidled up in the Rue de Rivoli and asked out of the corner of his mouth, "Any money to change?"

He was one of the thousands of touts in Paris who'll do virtually anything for a living except work. They haunt the central districts around the Opera and the Madeleine, buying dollars or English pounds from tourists. They deal in cigarettes, coffee, gasoline coupons, anything with a black market value.

The wages of such sin are pretty poor, the tout said over a coffee and cognac. "I make maybe 2,000 or 3,000 francs a week," he said. "My wife works in a dressmaker's and she gets 2,000 francs."

That gives them a total of 30 or 40 dollars a week to live on, a condition almost worse than being broke with Paris prices what they are. "I had a little savings from before the war and every week I have to draw on them," he said sadly. "It costs us about 500 francs a day for food. Every day I buy a liter of wine for 45 francs. A kilo of meat costs 300 to 350 francs and lasts us for two days."

"Ah, before the war—those were the days. Plenty of Americans. Plenty of money. I take the tourists everywhere. I know Paris like the bottom of my pocket. I show them everything."

He sipped his cognac and became enthusiastic about the old days.

"Suppose you want a night out.

The Chinese government would provide an amount of relief equal to that furnished by the United States, he said. Americans will be responsible for supervision of the program, but the actual distribution will be carried out by the Chinese.

BIG U. S. FLEET ASSEMBLED IN MOTHBALLS IN PACIFIC

By Henry Minard
United Press Staff Correspondent
BREMERTON, Wash. (UP)—The heavy cruiser Fall River has joined the "mothball" fleet here, completing the greatest concentration of fighting tonnage on the Pacific coast.

Should the sleeping giants ever again be needed, it will take but 30 days after the alarm goes off for 26 big ships to file down Puget Sound ready for action.

"Given enough manpower, that is," said Capt. W. M. Moses, commander of the Bremerton Group. Navy Day, 1947, found 23 warships dozing under a weather-proof, time-proof plastic blanket at the Puget Sound naval shipyards here. The inactivated carrier Essex and battleship Indiana were standing by across the Sound to join the Big Sleep as soon as piers are available. The Fall River is now being tucked in.

Actually, it's a possum-like land of nod in Bremerton. For 3,100 officers and men are wide-awake checking interiors of airtight compartments and gun mounts for moisture, rust, etc. The home of a striking force potentially greater than the surprised Pearl Harbor fleet will not be caught napping—if there is a next time.

This hibernating hornet's nest has not had stingers removed, only sheathed. They are in scabbards of aluminum-painted plastic cocoons.

Since the first ship, U.S.S. Pittsburgh, was inactivated March 12 1946, five more heavy cruisers, seven aircraft carriers and five battleships have joined the Bremerton Group.

"The cost of inactivating one ship is one per cent of a vessel's original price," Capt. Moses said. During the last year $1,000,000 was allocated to overhaul the ships and subsequent years should be similar in line with a five year program.

"Security is a bargain at such a price," Moses said.

SPORTLIGHT

Gather around all you guys and girls Hop in the old jalopy and we will whiz out to the football field. This week we are going to have a look at that number 29. Say, there he is! Golly, he just caught a beautiful pass and, flash, there he is for a touch down. Yes, sir, Lewis Crossley is one of the best ends on the team. He is right there to do his bit for offense and defense.

Lewis is one of the co-captains of our wonderful 1947 Maverick team. He has played right end for four years and is a four year letterman. In basketball he plays guard and is a four year letterman. During the spring Lewis is very active in track. He runs in the 440 mile relay and high jump. He has lettered in it four years, also. Lewis plays first base in baseball and second base in hard ball. As you can see, he is quite an athlete, and is plenty good.

And now, kids, here is the low down on this swell guy. Crossley is five feet 10 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. His hair is brown and he has the nicest, kindest blue eyes.

This guy is a supre-special dancer. Just imagine soft lights, a beautiful evening, and his favorite song, "Near You", played by Charlie Spivak. Nothing could be better!

Blue is tops on the color card with Lewis. Algebra is his favorite subject with Coach Seibert as his favorite teacher. Three cheers for Civics.

Lewis is never happier than when he is eating away on fried chicken. Yum-yum! In the movie world Ronald Reagan is the best.

Football is his favorite on the list of sports. With pool running a close second.

Lewis hasn't found "that girl" yet, but he is still looking. We are sure that he will find the right one, and she will be very lucky.

In 1944 Lewis was our candidate for King of E. H. S. and again in 1946. He was duke in 1945. On the 1946 Maverick, Lewis was the sports editor. He is a very active member of the Boy Scouts.

Lewis has been our class president for all four years in high school. In our opinion, the best.

Come on, gang, let's wish the best of everything to a grand guy who really deserves it. Best always to Lewis Crossley.

YEA MAVERICKS!

SENIOR SUPORTLIGHT
I say, old boy, flash that spotlight over there. Why we might find one of the "little people" of the senior class trotting around. Ah! hold it right there. Get the camera ready for action, Joe. This week we're going to interview Merric Dawn Warren. She is that cute little brownette with pretty green eyes who was voted Harvest Queen for the Co-Ed dance. She is really a swell gal.

Merric Dawn just loves to dance and tops on her list of recordings is "A Fellow Needs a Girl" by Frankie Carlo. The song is true, too!

Quite often we see her in orchid which is definitely her color. Any time she hears that some one is having enchilado pie, like a streak of lightning, she's there to eat. It does not take much to persuade her to go see a show if Cornel Wilde is playing. Can't say that I blame her Hubba! Hubba!

Football! Football! America! favorite sport is also tops with Merric Dawn. Boy, I tell you, rain or shine she's right there, too. Yell for our super Maverick team.

Having a good time is her hobby and she is the type of girl who can make the best of any situation. She is a swell sport and a friend to all.

English and "Teach" Johnson are at the top of her list in school.

"That man" in her life is number 21 on the football team, Jack Frost. I think that they make up one of the cutest couples on the hill.

Merric Dawn is an active member of the Sub-Deb Club. She represented our class in the coronations last fall as a duchess.

O. K. kids, let's wish the best of everything to a gal who really deserves it. Merric Dawn Warren.

YEA SENIORS!

JUNIOR SPOTLIGHT

The Junior Spotlight shines on a cut gray-eyed, blond-headed girl. She is fifteen years old, weighs one hundred pounds, and is five feet and five inches tall. Her favorite colors are green and gray. She really looks pretty in these colors. Her favorite teacher is Mr. Seibert. Among her other favorites are typing, drawing and watching the Mavericks play football, sleeping, flying, and going to pep rallies. Her ambition is to fly. She is in the Co-Ed Club and is the Assistant Art Editor on the annual staff. Just in case you have not guessed by now, she is Audrey Brown.

THE SOPHOMORE SPOTLIGHT

The sophomore spotlight this week shines on our pep leader and very popular gal. She is Freshman princess and cheer leader. By this you should know it is the one and only, only that is, Maxine Lambert.

Maxine is a member of the Socialite Club. Among her favorites, these-rate tops. For a pastime she chooses bowling. Her color is maroon, favorite food is chicken and dumplings, band, Tommy Dorsey, teacher, Mrs. Whately, and subject, biology. And I must add that last, but not least, her favorite boy is Glen Garrett.

FRESHMAN SPOTLIGHT

The Freshman spotlight, has found a blonde upon which to shed its mighty beams. She is Margie June Poe, whose other descriptive are blue eyes, a height of five feet, two inches and a neat figure. Her dream man is Lon McCallister, and her man is Bobby Womack. Her favorite actress is June Allyson and Van Johnson. Her favorite song is "The Old Lampighter."

She prefers day-dreaming to the rest of the long and varied list of pastimes, while her pet peeve is practicing on the piano. The top sport with Margie is football, and blue is her favorite color.

This Fish wonders if real fish don't get tired of opening and closing their mouths to breathe. She really ranks socially. She is a member of the Rip and Sip, Double-Seven, and Beethoven Clubs.

To conclude, let me say that Miss Margie June Poe, class of '51, E. H. S., is really swell, and she deserves all of the best.

HOMEMAKING NEWS

This week was spent on teen-studied etiquette which we all certainly needed. Monday we were given a "pop quiz" and on the test we named twenty "do's" and "don'ts" to practice at the table. The majority of the class made good grades. Later in the week we were shown another movie "Getting A Job." This movie pointed out the characteristics that a person must have to secure a job. This was also helpful. Wednesday the class discussed sending Christmas packages to China, and Thursday many of the girls brought beautifully wrapped gifts containing woolen scarfs, tooth brushes, shoes and other necessities. Everyone enjoyed this way of helping our friends in China to have a merrier Christmas.

HOMEMAKING NEWS

This week was spent on teenage etiquette. Bettye Grimes brought a book especially written for the teen crowd and titled "Your Manners Are Showing" the handbook of teen age knowledge written and illustrated by Betty Betz. Miss Morris read the book to the classes and showed the pictures. This book told us how to act at the table, in properly movies, in introducing people, how to properly write formal invitations and many, many other useful subjects. The girls especially enjoyed the part where it explained how a boy should act at school and on a date with a girl. It gave us useful advice on for gifts to boys and girls, (not to give expensive presents) also not to hold hands in public, the proper place for a boy walking down the street is always, always, on the outside. Everyone enjoyed the book after it was finished we were given a pop quiz on which we gave twenty five do's and don'ts which we had learned.

Saturday Miss Morris, Joann Hardin, president of the Home-making class and Bettye Grimes, secretary and treasury left for Stephenville, Texas, at 8:45 to attend an area council meeting.

Around forty schools were represented. New officers for area eleven were elected and it was decided that the next meeting would be in Comanche, December 8, 1947. The officers of our group are expected to attend.

They are: president, Joann Hardin; vice-president, Beth Hurt; secretary-treasurer, Bettye Grimes; parliamentarian, Charlotte Van Hoy; historian, Virginia Wright; and reporter, Shirley Hightower. At this business meeting we will help Comanche get out the December News Letter.

"What is it?" the sergeant asked. "The suspect leaned far over and squinted."

"Heads," he answered. It was, too.

Reyes Performance Cultural Highlight

The brilliant performance of Angel Reyes was truly a cultural highlight to the Concert Goers of the Eastland County Assn., on Monday night, Nov. 17. His performance was an outstanding success and we now believe the Carnegie Hall critics tribute, "Reyes is born to play the violin". The poise and dignity demonstrated in the artistry of this musician was outstandingly admirable. His brilliance and virtuosity never surpassed that quiet calm and repose which he showed so vividly in the rich tones and in the clarity of his musical thoughts.

And not Mr. Reyes alone may we praise, for the accompanist, Mr. Claude Jean Chasson, is due great applause (and received it too). These artists were, together and separately, outstanding in their technical feats and brilliance of execution.

The Community Concert Association of the County has truly had a glimpse at a breadth, dignity and power of music, as portrayed by the virtuoso and his able accompanist, for which it shall be forever grateful.

Congress Will Have to Answer Marshall Plan Question:

HOW MUCH?
$16-$20 billion for Europe, $328 million for France, $42 million for Austria, $227 million for Italy.

WHO WILL RUN IT?
Harriman Committee proposes new agency, headed by chairman appointed by President.
House Committee on Foreign Affairs proposes a corporation with bipartisan board of directors.

WHAT ABOUT U.S.?
Special session of Congress, called by President Truman to act on aid to Europe and the problem of inflation at home, will have to determine the questions above. Secretary Marshall, in a pre-session outline, says the plan will cost between $16 and $20 billion for four years, with an immediate outlay of $597 million in stop-gap help for Austria ($42 million), Italy ($227 million), and France ($328 million). He said existing agencies could administer the program, but other reports favor establishment of a new agency.

Voluntary food-saving program, to avoid waste, is essential part of aiding Europe and fighting inflation.
