WE DISCUSSED in our last column how the Texas Tech Lady Raiders, who won their first-ever Southwest Conference Championship, and advanced to the West Regional playoffs in Seattle, were basically a home-grown team, paced by players from this area.

The team's head coach, Marsha Sharp, is a native of nearby Tulia. Tech's assistant women's coaches are also local products. Linden Weese coached at Floydada and Stratford prior to coming to Raiderland, and Roger Reding coached at Whitharral and South Plains College.

This Tech women's roster reminded Ye Editor a lot of the makeup of the Tech men's team, back when he enrolled at the Lubbock campus during the fabulous

Two players from tiny Sudan--Leon "Podd" Hill, and Charley Lynch, both were starters for the Tech freshman team that year. Hill and Lynch had led the Sudan Hornets to the state tournament their senior years. Bovina fans no doubt remember this Sudan team-we watched the Mustangs, paced by Darrell Read, compete in the state tournament in 1955, the same year Sudan made it to the state meet.

Joining the Sudan duo on the Tech freshman team that winter was floor leader Gerald Myers, who made quite a name for himself as a starter for the Tech varsity later on, then led Monterey High School to a state title prior to becoming the alltime winning head coach of the Red Raiders in a 20-year career.

Then there was Gene Arrington, who had led a newly-formed school in Amarillo, named Palo Duro, to the state meet as a senior. If the three-point rule had been in effect in the 1950s, Arrington, who scored a lot of points as it was--would have had almost 50% more than he did meeting were mailed ballots and

We had seen virtually all of these guys play high school hand-picked all-star team move up to the Red Raiders.

This particular group almost won the Southwest Conference basketball title as juniors, the very first year Tech competed in the SWC.

Things have changed in the basketball recruiting department, and these days it's unusual when the Tech men's team even has a starter from the area, and more's the pity.

Exceptions have been the careers lately of Clovis' Bubba Jennings, and Paducah's Will Flemons. A member of the current Tech team, Flemons was chosen as the SWC's Most Valuable Player for the 1991-92 season. Not bad, coming from a high school with less than 100 enrollment.

Maybe if Tech had more Panhandle-South Plains grads back on its roster, it would help them to once again fill up the Coliseum for their home games.

It seems to have worked for the women's team. And you sure can't fault their record, either.

Team Scores At Sudan

The Mustang track and field team had some good performances in the meet at Sudan last Friday.

Cain Neal placed second in the discus, and also second in the shot put at 49-6. The shot put effort was a new school record, breaking his own record of 49-0 set in 1991.

Benji Chison won the triple jump event, with an effort of 39-2, another new school record. The old record in this event was 37-9.

Corey Kirkpatrick placed third in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles with a time of 40.7.

Area Gets Rainfall Damage

'And the rains came" or rather it seemed that way but actually the town of Bovina didn't get as much rain seemingly as other areas.

Maggie reported the measurements in town as being two tenths on Monday of last week, five tenths on Friday and four tenths on Tuesday morning. The rains last week and this week have covered most of the Texas panhandle, some light and some heavy.

In the town of Bovina marble size hail came down with hard winds and rain on Friday evening and residents reported seeing a tornado west of town that did some damage to the roof of the office building at Caprock Feeders about four miles west on Highway 60.

A trailer house was overturned near Farwell and limbs were broken as the 70 mile and hour winds blew for a short time.

The heavy rains between Bovina and Hereford have delayed construction on the new highway.

Nice Crowd Attends Meeting

Over 700 members and guests attended the 38th Annual Meeting of the West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative at the Bull Barn in Hereford last Thursday evening, March 26.

The members and guests enjoyed a barbecue dinner catered by K-Bob's Steakhouse of Hereford.

During the business session, two directors, board chairman Carl Strafuss representing the Milo Center exchange, and Jimmie Cockerham from the Tharp exchange, were re-elected to terms on the board. However, in the third race, candidates Ernest Brown and Ernest Flood received exactly the same number of votes.

All of the members attending the asked to return them, in an effort to Rounding out the starting five break this tie for the spot on the was Wade Wolf, who had been the board of directors representing the Westway exchange.

WEATHER FORECASTER Weldon Crim of Lazbuddie is shown making his annual crop forecast. Crim, whose family has been doing this annual ritual since the early 1900s, has predicted a bumper crop for 1992.

"Indian Crim" Predicts Bumper Crop For 1992

By SCOTT ROBINSON

In these tough economic times, people in this area are looking for anything that might point to better conditions ahead. Weldon Crim has just the answer.

"The hard north-northeast wind is calling for a bumper crop this year," says the Parmer County weather forecaster.

Using this annual Indian-style forecasting system, Crim is predicting a bumper crop for the area this year. And the local farmers should not take this news lightly considering the past history of the forecast.

Crim has been conducting the "fire burnings" for ten years, and the custom has been in his family since 1910. And the record book will show that the prediction is correct around eighty per cent of the time.

The "burning" is done by stacking wood in a tepee-type shape, and the direction in which the wind blows the smoke predicts the weather for the coming season. The custom is always carried out at sunrise on March 22. Crim is calling for good crop conditions after watching the wind blow out of the best direction possible. The bumper crop will come on the heals of a tough year last year, which Crim also correctly called as he forecasted a dry spring at last year's "burning."

Weldon's grandfather, Taylor Crim, worked on the railroads near Van Horn, Texas, in his early years. He observed the Indians and their rituals during this time, and actually began the forecasting when he later went into farming.

Taylor Crim died in 1937, and his only living son, J.W., carried on the tradition. Three years after J.W.'s death, his youngest son, Weldon, picked up the custom in 1983.

Attending this year's "fire burning" were Weldon and his wife, Alma; Greg and Sherry Crim and their son, Cody, of Dallas; Kirk and Mary Crim and their daughters, Kimberly and Megan, of Dallas; Rodney Crim of Lazbuddie; Scott and Vickie Robinson of Canyon; and Earl and Johnnie Monroe of Clovis.

So, if you need a little good news, just remember that the forecast for the spring looks good. And the source is more reliable than the local television weatherman.

Invent America! Contest Scheduled Here April 6

five will be participating in an "Invent America! Invention Convention" on Monday, April 6 at p.m. in the Bovina Schools

Cafeteria. Students will be displaying their original inventions, which will be judged for the contest. A local winner from each grade level will be chosen and those inventions will be sent to Washington, D.C. to compete in the state and national

Several students in grades two- come view the inventions and meet the inventors.

The local contest is coordinated by Brenda Wilson, a teacher in the Bovina school system.

Meeting To Organize Parmer RCD

There will be an organizational meeting of all sponsors and interested organizations and individuals of Resource Conservation and Development (R.C.&D.) in Parmer County.

The meeting will take place on Tuesday, April 7 at 2:30 p.m. in the Friona State Bank Meeting Room.

The agenda is as follows: welcome--Thomas Reed, S.C.S.; purpose of meeting, Thomas Reed; elect officers: chairman, vice chairman and secretary; select an alternate to the Area Council; and generate ideas and determine needs.

Daylight Time To Debut On Sunday

If you have been enjoying the longer days on these spring mornings, we have to tell you that it is coming to an end.

Daylight Savings Time will begin its run on Sunday, April 5, this year, instead of the last Sunday in April as it has been in the past and some had hoped it would be returned this year, but

At 2 a.m. local time Sunday, residents will observe the "spring forward, fall back" rule, which will give everyone except residents of Arizona, Hawaii, most of Indiana and Puerto Rico an extra hour of daylight in the evening, but in order to get the same amount of sleep Saturday night, you will have to retire earlier.

Daylight Savings Time has been virtually a national phenomenon since 1966, when Congress passed a law setting Daylight Savings Time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

Prior to 1966, Daylight Savings Time had been invoked in some localities during the summer months, beginning as early as 1920. This made it a bit confusing, however, as to what time of day it was in various locations.

Congress tried to first pass the Daylight Savings Time back in 1918 legislation but it was repealed a year later.

Between 1920 and World War II, various states and cities passed their own Daylight Savings Time rules, and the practice continued after the war. During World War II, DST was observed nationally, and during the 1974 and 1975 energy crunch, Daylight Savings Time was instituted earlier in the year, although it was debatable how much energy was saved. due to businesses and schools having to start up in darkness in some parts of the country.

At any rate, change your clocks Saturday night--and grin a little, because in just six months and three weeks, we'll get that hour of sleep back.

SECRETARY.....Josie Alonzo is the new LOAN loan secretary replacing Arla Waters at First Bank. Josie has lived in Bovina all her life and has two children, Deolando, seven, and Elizabeth, five. She has worked at the House of Fabricks in Clovis and taught as a substitute at Bovina School.

Looking By Richard L. Grisham

When the wind blows, several worship that day in the local tumbleweeds always end up in my yard. I'm not sure how that happens since we have several houses around us, except that they blow down the highway and up the streets. You wouldn't suppose that Galen throws them over the fence, would you? Or perhaps, J.T. points them across the street! (Just kidding, fellows! Really!) Seriously, tumbleweeds dry up, become uprooted, and roll wherever the wind blows them. The Bible states in Ephesians 4:14 that "we are no longer to be children....carried about by every wind of doctrine." That simply means we ought to know what we believe and why we believe it. We should live by our convictions and not just by our conveniences. There are a lot of "tumbleweed believers" in our world. And too many folks, of whatever faith or church preference, have never

what they believe. It is important that we have strong roots of faith that keep us constant. That is why we need strong churches in our community to encourage us. That is why we ought to attend them regularly. The way I figure it, on any given Sunday here in Bovina, there are perhaps at the most 500 folks who attend our local churches. This means that out of a local population of 1,500, that as far as public

Let me end by urging you not to be or to become a dried up tumbleweed in your faith! If you do, the winds of this world will gladly blow you along! You need your church and your church needs you. And by attending faithfully you will be constantly encouraged to keep looking up!

LCU Chorus To Sing In Bovina

The A Cappella Chorus of Lubbock Christian University will present a program of choral music at the Bovina Church of Christ on Friday evening, April 10 at 7:30

The LCU A Cappella Chorus is widely acclaimed for its standard of choral excellence as well as for its outstanding group spirit and loyalty. The chorus has performed in states from California to Florida, plus Hawaii, Alaska and seven European nations since its origin in

In addition to concert tours, the LCU A Cappella Chorus releases about one recording each year. Both concert and hymn albums by the chorus have received very fine acceptance.

According to Dr. Wayne Hinds, director of the A Cappella Chorus and chairman of the Music Department at LCU, the repertoire for the Bovina performance will include hymns, concert religious numbers and American spirituals. Two ensembles will be featured during the program: a men's quartet and a women's octette.

Lubbock Christian University has five major organizations--the A Cappella Chorus, the Meistersinger Chorus, a jazz band, Forte and chamber ensembles. Approximately 20 per cent of the LCU student body participates in one of these organizations. The Music Department presently offers a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Music.

turned home from Phoenix, Arizona, where she spent a couple of weeks with her grandson, Brandon, who has had his tonsils and adenoids out and also tubes put in his ears. He is getting along fine and is the son of Staci Salem. Jack and Ona Patterson have enjoyed having their daughter and grandson visiting. Sandra and son, Donny, who is seventeen, spent time in Bovina and they had dinner at Furr's Cafeteria. Sandra teaches second grade in Amarillo.

Joe Looney underwent surgery in Deaf Smith General Hospital in Hereford, Monday morning. She was hospitalized several days in Parmer County Community Hospital in Friona before being transferred to Hereford.

Buck and Freda Lloyd are back home in Bovina and said it sure was good to be home. Buck was hospitalized for a few weeks in Amarillo and then the couple spent time with their daughter, Patricia, before coming home. They are getting along

Our sympathies to the family of Art Vineyard, who died on Thursday of last week. Services were held Saturday in Glen Rose. He was Amos and Leona Steelman's son-inlaw and was survived by his wife, Evelyn Joyce, two children and four grandchildren.

tumbleweeds always end up in my yard. I'm not sure how that happens since we have several houses around us, except that they blow down the highway and up the Galen throws them over the fence, would you? Or perhaps, J.T. points them across the street! (Just kidding, fellows! Really!) Seriously, tumbleweeds dry up, become uprooted, and roll wherever the wind blows them. The Bible states in Ephesians 4:14 that "we are no longer to be children....carried about by every wind of doctrine." That simply means we ought to know what we believe and why we believe it. We should live by our convictions and not just by our conveniences. There are a lot of "tumbleweed believers" in our world. And too many folks, of whatever faith or church preference, have never clearly thought their way through what they believe. It is important that we have strong roots of faith that keep us constant. That is why we need strong churches in our community to encourage us. That is why we ought to attend them regularly. The way I figure it, on any given Sunday here in Bovina, there are perhaps at the most 500 folks who attend our local churches. This means that out of a local population of 1,500, that as far as public worship is concerned, only onethird practice their faith regularly!

I understand that about twenty years ago the ministers of our community got together and planned a "Challenge Sunday." All the folks in Bovina and the surrounding area were challenged and urged to attend their church. The goal was to have 1,000 people in

Sr. Citizens Meet Here

The Senior Citizens met on March 25 for their regular meeting and had lunch, a short business meeting and played games in the af-

Those present were Clifford and Julia Leake, Howard and Minnie Kelso, Charlsie Eubank, Edna Scott, Ethel Johnson, Dorothy Ellison, Oma Lee George, Sid Lloyd, Edna Woelfel, Hattie Burnett and a visitor, Mary Rejino.

When the wind blows, several worship that day in the local churches. This goal, according to my sources, was met! All the churches benefitted, and many individuals and families were blessed and helped to break the chains of streets. You wouldn't suppose that inertia which kept them out of Sunday worship. Perhaps we should try it again!

Let me end by urging you not to be or to become a dried up tumbleweed in your faith! If you do, the winds of this world will gladly blow you along! You need your church and your church needs you. And by attending faithfully you will be constantly encouraged to keep looking up!

Excel In Safety Award

Mark Neill, Safety Director at Friona's Excel Corp. Division, attended the state conference of the TSA (Texas Safety Association) in Houston the week of March 8.

The conference has a long schedule of events that include sessions involved with changes in health and safety issues, training sessions involving all major safety programs and also an exposition that is represented by over 200 exhibitors of safety-related products.

The highlight of the conference is attending the OSH (Occupational Safety and Health) Awards luncheon. The luncheon is attended by over 300 TSA member organizations of which Friona is a

Each year, the section presents Awards of Honor, Awards of Merit, and Awards of Achievement to member companies whose on-thejob injury rates show significant reductions when compared with previous performance.

"I am proud to say that for the second consecutive year we are receiving the Merit Award of Achievement for our reduction in injury rates. I am proud to be able to receive this award for the employees of Friona Excel. They are the ones that made it happen,"

Also during the month, the plant received two other awards. The maintenance department and the night shift slaughter departments received awards for Safety Achievement from the parent corporation. The awards are based on a four-month period with all Excel plants competing for the honor. The other three departments were so near to almost making it a complete runaway in the awards for the Friona plant.

"The employees of this plant are using Total Quality Principles and fitting them into our safety program. They believe in this facility and believe in making this the safest company in this industry," Neill concluded.
