Last Rites For Albert Ammer Conducted Today

Funeral services for Albert Ammer of Eastland were conducted this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Hamner Funeral Chapel in Eastland. Interment was in the Eastland cemetery.

Mr. Ammer, father of Jack Ammer of the Leon plant near Eastland, died in the West Texas Hospital in Ranger Thursday, after suffering a heart attack Tuesday.

He was born September 2, 1883 and for the past five years had made his home with his son near Eastland. Prior to that he had resided at Dennison.

Besides his son, Jack, he is survived by another son, Edward Ammer, of Dallas, a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Biles of San Antonio, a sister at Dennison and three grandchildren.

Two Truck Loads Of Explosives Being Sought

FREE HOLD, N. J. — Two trucks, each carrying enough illegal explosives to level a city, were sought by police of eight states today, after a secret Palestine arms ring was broken with seizure of nine men and 20,965 pounds of explosives.

FBI agents captured eight of the men and 71,900 pounds of explosives—described by army authorities as cyclamate, 1-2 times more powerful than TNT—at a lonely New Jersey farm.

Police said that two more truckloads of the explosives were known to have been obtained by the organization yesterday. An eight-state police alarm was sent out to intercept them.

New Orleans Bank Robbed

NEW ORLEANS — Four bandits rushed a mid-city bank at opening today and took an estimated $100,000.

Police said the bandits got into the uptown branch of the Hibernia National Bank by slugging a negro porter as he was letting other employees into the building.

It was reported at least eight persons were in the bank when it was held up. They were herded to one side of the bank, where two men held guns on them while the other two cleaned out the vault.

Margins No Price Curb Head Of Exchange Says

NEW ORLEANS, (UP) — Checking of price rises in commodities cannot be accomplished by fixing excessive margins but must come through a change in supply and demand relationship, Charles S. Wells, president of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange said today.

A change in governmental policies that encourages world-wide inflationary trends also would help to check higher commodity prices, he said.

Proposals to fix excessive margins will not affect the price risk on one pound of cotton but unfortunately "it will have the effect of driving speculation out of the futures markets into the cash commodity."

Speculation in cash commodities, Wells warned, can only serve to check the movement of supplies needed by the world market. This condition, he added, does not occur when such speculation is held to contracts for future delivery.

Wells explained that exchanges themselves have nothing whatever to do with establishing prices, "and only provide a convenient mechanism for the transfer of price risks from those unwilling to carry them to those willing to do so."

U. S. Navy Aiding Turkey's Fleet

WASHINGTON —The U. S. Navy disclosed today that it is bolstering anti-Communist Turkey's naval power with 15 ships, including four 1,500 ton submarines.

The ships are being turned over to the Turkish navy under the 400 million dollar U. S. program to help Turkey and Greece hold out against Communist pressure. Turkey's share in the program, all military, amounts to 100 million.

The navy also is preparing for delivery to Turkey eight motor minesweepers, one gasoline tanker, one repair ship, and one net-laying craft.

Federal District Judge Richmond B. Keech ordered them to trial in separate proceedings beginning Feb. 9. Writer John Howard Lawson will be the first to be tried.

China Needs U. S. Rice

NEW YORK (UP) — China, the "rice bowl" of the world needs rice from the United States. Lady Winefride Elwes of London told a unit of the National Catholic Community Service Center that the children of China are starving and that "fanatic inflation" has sent the price of rice up $634 a sack.

Stassen Attacks Government Men On Speculation

WASHINGTON — Harold E. Stassen charged today that government "insiders" made more than 4-million dollars in profits by food speculation since the war and of this more than 1 million dollars went to Edwin W. Pauley. Other "insiders" named immediately by Stassen as he appeared before Senate investigators inquiring into commodity speculation were Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, personal physician to President Truman, and Ralph K. Davis, wartime deputy petroleum administrator.

Pauley, California oil man, is special assistant to the secretary of the Army.

Graham was scheduled to follow Stassen as a witness before the Senate appropriating subcommittee. But he was not present when the balding 40 year old Republican aspirant made his charge.

Stassen declined to make public the name of any of the other government "insiders" he charged with having profited on commodity market speculations.

However, he said he would be glad to give the committee confidence the "leads and indications of a number" of "insiders" uncovered by his staff.

LIE MAKES PLEA AS MORE FIGHTING ON IN HOLY LAND

By United Press

retary-General Trygve Lie urged the United Nations security council today to invoke all its powers if necessary—including use of military force—to keep peace during the impending partition of Palestine.

The UN chief implied strongly that council action would be needed unless Arabs refrained from their resistance to the UN's Holy Land partition program.

Inaugurating the attempt to split the land between Jews and Arabs, Lie opened the first meeting of the UN Palestine commission with a denunciation of the violence in Palestine and a reminder to the security council that it must back partition with all its strength.

PALESTINE INVADED

JERUSALEM—Arab expeditionary forces perhaps 2,000 strong invaded Palestine from the Levant in a number of border crossings today and storm scattered Jewish towns in the face of strong resistance by British army and Jewish defense units.

Reports from the northeastern tip of Palestine said some 800 Arabs swarmed across from Syria at 8 A. M. today and laid siege to the settlements of Dan and Kefer Seld.

British soldiers from border posts and Haganah groups converged on the area and engaged the Arabs in fighting on a scale not made clear immediately. The British were reported firing into the ranks of the Arabs with light artillery.

Responsible sources in Beirut reported that about 1,000 Arab volunteers struck across the frontier from Lebanon during the night. Advances from Beirut said the invaders were intent on wiping out the 12,000 or so Jewish settlers in the Safad and Tiberias districts, the northeasternmost in Palestine.

The Arabs planned to sweep across the Palestinian thumb jutting into the northeast, and cut off the inhabitants before aid could reach them from other Jewish centers, Beirut dispatches said.

Nazarenes To Observe Parents Day, Sunday A. M.

Parent Day will be observed Sunday, January 11, at the Nazarene Sunday school beginning at 9:45 a.m. Rev. Wm. C. Emberton in explaining, said:

"We are emphasizing the importance of parents attending church and Sunday school and its relation to the welfare of their child in days to come. We are planning on having poems, talks, etc., in keeping with the theme. Special recognition will be given each child who brings their parents, who are not now members of the local Sunday school."

J. Edgar Hoover has said: "It was God fearing men and women who conceived and made this nation. It has been their children guided spiritually through church and Sunday school attendance in the formative years of life, who have maintained this country." Surely the rest of the hour is for the parents to take heed to see that they direct their children properly. Remember our Sunday school is especially made to help you in your task."

Eastland Boy Home From Japan Accompanied By Japanese Bride

By Annie L. Jones

Arriving in Eastland Thursday morning from Tokyo, Japan, were Barnett Wesley Hooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hooper, 506 S. Daughtery, Eastland, and his Japanese bride, the former Jean (Miyoko) Urbe, of Tokyo; and daughter of Toki and Yozo Urbe August 20 in Tokyo in a double wedding with an American man and a Japanese girl. It was a single ring ceremony.

The couple met in Tokyo at a party at the Quartermaster's depot where they were introduced by Col. Brown with the 71st Quartermaster division. The bride was a telephone operator there, when they met.

Mrs. Hooper, is four feet and eleven inches tall, has brown eyes and weighs 100 pounds (5 cons), while the groom is six feet and 8 inches tall, and is a typical blonde. She reads and speaks English fluently, as she was educated in Christian school along with her sisters and brothers. She dresses in American style.

Hooper graduated from Eastland high school in 1944, served in the service of the U. S. Calvary for three years, twenty-seven months of which was spent in Japan, with five months of combat service. He was chief clerk in the office of the Billing Department.

The couple left Tokyo, December 23, and reached Seattle January 3, and arrived in Eastland Thursday morning. When they reached Seattle, they were met there by the Red Cross ladies who gave them a wonderful reception and accompanied them to many places of interest. They were one of three couples of Japanese brides, coming over on the large ship, which made the bride sea sick enroute to Seattle.

Mrs. Hooper, mother of the groom is a charming and considerate mother, who seeks to do everything possible to make her children happy. She seemed glad to talk to a reporter about her daughter-in-law, saying any one just couldn't keep from loving her, with her charming personality.

The bride says this is a wonderful country, thinks it is grand to have the good things to eat, such as the steak dinner with coffee, tea and milk served in the home on her arrival. She asked her husband if they had sugar and coffee, and seemed surprised, at the bountiful food supply we Americans have.

She likes the people in this country, and the groom is sure she will be happy here; he is very proud of his bride. He says he wants to live in Eastland, and is very happy to be home.

When the couple were enroute through Denver the bride remarked what wonderful country, and what her people could do with so much land. The many open spaces with uncultivated land was new to her, as she had never been out of Japan before.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, Wallace Hooper and wife of Dallas, who is the oldest son, and Miss Dora Hooper, attending College in Oklahoma, who is the only daughter, put their Christmas off until the couple arrived, for their Christmas dinner and Christmas gifts. The home is decorated for the event and the tree is laden with gifts piled high. The family will have the Christmas dinner, and distribution of gifts Saturday, January 10.

An announcement was made over the radio at 5:15 January 5 of the arrival of the couple in the States and about Hooper's experiences and marriage. Hooper says officially there are, or were, when he left, about 800 Japanese girls married to American men in Tokyo.

Hotel Rat Race Gives Hotel Sleuth Workout

CINCINNATI, O. (UP)—The life of a detective sometimes has its ups and downs.
A Netherland Plaza hotel detective, Herman Kahn, raced up and down 26 flights of stairs for an hour and a half before finally capturing his quarry with the aid of two city patrolmen.
The prisoner said, "I needed exercise and decided to do my road work on the hotel stairs." Le...

The chase ranged from the first floor up to the 26th—up, down, up, down. There were brief pauses while all caught their breath.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—President Truman's message on the Marshall Plan was sent to Congress on the last day of the special session, along with a State Department 240-page "Outline of a European Recovery Program." The question of just what it's all about has been lost sight of, however. In the meantime, critics of the Marshall Plan idea have been having a field day.

Edson

There will probably be a month of public hearings on the plan before Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committees, another month of floor debate before a bill to authorize the European Recovery Program can be voted on, and then another month of hearings and more floor debate before money is appropriated to carry it out. It is only then that a definite answer can be given on what the Marshall Plan really is. If ECA—the Economic Co-operation Administration—is in business by April 1, it will be a miracle.

In all this fog of millions of words and millions of figures, the real nature and intent of the Marshall Plan are apt to be lost again. It therefore becomes necessary to keep clearly in mind just what the Marshall Plan fundamentals really are.

UNLESS you wish to become involved in a mire of trade statistics, administrative detail and political bickering, there are really four basic questions: Why is it necessary to have any Marshall Plan at all? Can the United States afford to finance it? Couldn't it be done some other way for less money? What would happen if nothing were done?

As to the first question, there are only two big industrial areas in the world—the U. S. and western Europe. Before the war, they made about 95 per cent of the world's manufactured goods. Only one of these areas is now capable of full production—the U. S. It is therefore called upon to produce more than its share. Until the European productive machinery can be put back in operation, the world's shortage of goods is bound to continue. And inflation—far more serious in other countries than in the U. S.—will also continue. The only choice for the U. S. is to restore European production.

Can the U. S. afford to finance this effort? The answer given is that it has made far greater efforts in the past, without harm. Seven items Europe needs worst will pinch the American economy. They are petroleum products, bread grains, nitrogen fertilizer, steel, industrial and farm machinery, and freight cars. Because these items are in short supply all over the world, furnishing them in quantity to Europe may force American prices still higher.

IF it is felt that the U. S. cannot stand the impact of this full burden, it may be asked if the job could not be done for less money—by a smaller Marshall Plan, perhaps. The answer given here is that, as in any new business, the greatest danger of failure is in not giving it enough capital.

If it is then held that the U. S. should do nothing at all, the consequences of such a step must be carefully weighed. Soviet Russia wants the Marshall Plan to fail. Americans who oppose the Marshall Plan are thus playing the Communist game. The reason the Russians don't want the Marshall Plan to succeed is that the Communists want to control the western European productive area.

If the European industrial area falls to the Communists, the effects on the U. S. would be catastrophic. The inevitable result of this would be a major American depression. American production might be cut by a fourth—or $30 billion a year. With that would come severe unemployment. The cost of the relief bills in the U. S. might easily be greater than the cost of the European Recovery Program.

Moreover, if the U. S. stuck to its traditional free-enterprise system, it would have to prepare for another war. And the cost of national defense for America, alone in the world and without allies, might easily outstrip the cost of the Marshall Plan.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

BOSTON, (NEA)—Billy Southworth views the Braves' 1948 chances darkly.

That is to say Dark lights up the National Leaguers' outlook in their battle with the Red Sox for patronage and prestige in Boston.

Alvin Dark, you see, was the recruit-of-the-year in the American Association, and he plays shortstop, which has been the one big flaw in the Braves' armament since manager Southworth switched from the Cardinals to the land of the bean and the cod two years ago.

Donnie Bush, who played considerable shortstop himself, calls the Louisiana State alumnus the best young player of the position he has seen in years. Bill Meyer, who this year steps up as manager of the Pirates, describes him as the slickest to appear in the Association in many campaigns.

WHAT encourages Southworth to an even greater extent is the fact that Dark batted .303, led the circuit in two-base knocks and runs scored and was around the top in practically everything else.

After having had a look at Dark at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last spring, Southworth predicted that he would be one of baseball's all-time fast men.

All Dark has to do to round out the Braves is live up to 50 per cent of his raves and be half as good a shortstop as he was a running and passing back for LSU.

If Dark comes through, owners Louis R. Perini, Guido L. Rugo and Joseph Marney will richly deserve whatever additional success he brings to the soaring Redskins.

The Three Little Steam Shovels ponied up $50,000 for the one-time LSU Tiger's signature, a bonus barely exceeded by the record one that went to Dick Wakefield of the Detroit Tigers.

War Souvenirs Give Bomb Squad Woe

CHICAGO (UP)—War veterans have replaced the Capone gang as business makers for the police bomb squad.

Frank Grady, chief of the squad who was assigned to the detail 18 years ago when the gangland bombings were almost daily affairs, says bombings are out of style.

"It's just those souvenir hand grenades the boys brought back from World War II that give us real trouble now," he said.

Train Service Keeps Truck Line Moving

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Ervin Moritz, owner of a Madison trucking line, knows how to keep his trucks moving.

When Moritz is informed that a truck has broken down on the road, he picks up the necessary repair parts and starts for the scene in his four-passenger plane. He has learned how to put the plane down on any road his trucks might travel.

Moritz also flies relief drivers to change-over points along his trucking lanes. Then he'll pick up the drivers who have driven their allotted number of hours and bring them back to Madison.

time I pass it. Emotions have a great deal to do with the ability to write anything. I often write better when I am furiously angry with someone. I don't write very well when I'm hungry. I write better at times when I am terribly worried. Some of the best things in this column, if any of them are "best", have been written from the depths of my own sadness.

I'm not in the slightest degree any different to you; if anything, I may be a lot more human than you are, because I'm no angel nor do I ever wish to be. I write what I feel... what I think... and sometimes offend. There are more times when I do not.

Writing should be a full time job and someday most of my time will be spent in that manner. But until then, on the days when the words won't come... I am sometimes cheered by a friendly word from you.

Because, after all, you are the real reason behind this column. It would be rather foolish to write just to myself, wouldn't it?

But to you who believe a daily column is written with the greatest of ease...

I assure you it isn't. But I wouldn't trade places with someone who didn't write a column... for the world!

Heartsease

Sincerely Yours
So many people ask me how I am able to write a daily newspaper column. Some of them seem to be consumed with a feeling of awe that that many words could flow from one person's pen. If my words flowed from my pen, there isn't an editor in the world who could read the column. So a typewriter is essentially a part of my equipment.
But to answer some of your questions, I want to tell you this: It isn't as easy as it looks. There are times when it is utterly impossible for me to write a word. There are days when my typewriter is a mocking dead, mute thing that leers at me each
