NEW EDITION OF HIGHWAY MAP RELEASED

AUSTIN, Feb. 16—The Spring Edition of the Texas Highway Department's official travel maps is being released for public distribution, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer has announced.

The new four color map incorporates all changes in the state road system through December 31, 1947, occasioned by the Department's vast postwar road building program.

There is a generous display of color pictures representing a cross section of the State's industrial and recreational assets.

A message from Governor Beauford H. Jester is printed on the cover. Addressing "motorists everywhere," the governor invites all to "see and travel in Texas, revel in its sunshine, its modern cities, and its scenic beauty."

Except for revisions in the road system and the new pictures, the edition is similar to others issued since the war which have been acclaimed among the best of the state road maps published throughout the nation.

Standard highway warning and directional signs are reproduced on the map to familiarize drivers with road markers.

Size of the Lone Star State is again graphically told by a table of comparative distances. The 868 miles from El Paso to Orange is greater than the 815 miles from El Paso to Los Angeles. It is also further than the 760 miles from Laredo to Mexico City.

Included also is a small scale map of the United States showing all state capitals and major federal highways.

The Texas map is published under the direction of R. M. Stene, who performed all the cartography, made the color photographs, and attended to the technical details of production. At 76, Mr. Stene's boundless energy and versatile talent uphold his contention that "life begins at 70."

A registered professional engineer, he came with the Highway Department in 1927. He had previously built dams in Arizona and worked for railroads in Texas.

Copies of the new Spring Edition are available to the traveling public at the Highway Department's main office in Austin, its twenty-five district offices throughout the State, and at its nine information bureaus operating at ports of entry in Texas.

Coke Stevenson Raps Communism In Talk Sunday

DUBLIN, Tex. Feb. 15—Ex-Gov. Coke Stevenson, speaking before a Dublin church meeting which he pointed out could not be held in any country dominated by Communists, Sunday night declared that the basic purpose of Communism is to destroy freedom.

Stevenson appeared before a union meeting of Dublin church congregations at the invitation of Rev. Mr. Oby Nelson, pastor of the Erath County town's First Baptist Church. The former governor, an announced candidate for the United States Senate, did not touch on politics in his address.

"The Communists realize they cannot survive if the people are taught the principles that Jesus brought to man on earth nearly two thousand years ago," Stevenson said. "They know that in any competition with God they are certain to lose. So they are against God. They are against religion."

"The Communists stand for the use, by any means of power over people, that is why they destroyed the churches in Russia, why they eliminated the lodges and fraternal organizations, suppressed newspapers and turned youth organizations into military groups. They allow no human consideration to stand in the way of their unbridled lust for power."

"That is why you and I, and every God-fearing, freedom-loving man and woman, have no choice but to oppose vigorously and unrelentingly the efforts of Communists to gain a foothold in our country."

At New York, the stock market was firmer but quiet. Cotton futures rose at New York.

On the Chicago Board of Trade the sharpest price break in history appeared to have been checked.

Wheat was up 2 1/2 to 4 cents a bushel at the opening, and corn rose 2 to 4 1/4 cents.

Gorman Boys Rate High In Athletics At S.T.S. College

When Graydon Baze and Jack Crawley of Gorman graduate from Southwest Texas State College San Marcos this summer their names will go down as two of the greatest athletes to ever perform for the college.

In the four years which they have attended Southwest Texas State they have compiled two of the most outstanding records in the history of the College. Between the two they have lettered 12 times, and before the years is over they will have probably earned three more letters.

Their athletic careers began when they entered Southwest Texas State in the fall of 1941. That year they turned out for the football team, and although they did not letter they did gain valuable experience that paved the way for the three letters which they both earned in the grid game.

During the winter Baze earned his first letter in college, it coming in basketball. In the spring Crawley grabbed his first letter when he earned his numeral on the track team. In the fall of 1942 they got their first letter in football, and Baze picked up his second basketball letter.

At that time they entered the army air corps, in which they spent a little over three years. Re-entering Southwest Texas State in 1946 they reported for the first post-war Bobcat football team—and at the end of the season they had earned their second grid letter. In the 1946-47 basketball season Baze got his third cage letter, and at the end of the season he was elected team captain.

In February the Bobcat track team began practice, and Crawley was on hand. In competition last year Crawley earned his letter by winning points in every meet in which he took part. In the Lone Star Conference meet he had took second in the discus throw and third in the shot put. For the first time Baze came out for track with Crawley, and it was not long until, he too, began to win points in intercollegiate competition. In his first year Baze won points in the discus throw, javelin, shot put and high jump.

In the conference meet Baze tied for third in the high jump. In the fall of last year both athletes reported for football practice. Crawley had been selected as one of the co-captains of the team, and both players iced away starting positions, and Baze playing tackle. At the end of the season Baze was named to the all-Lone Star Conference football second team, and Crawley was honorable mention. Both received their third letter in the grid game.

The basketball season began with Baze captaining the team. Since the early part of the season he has started every game for the Bobcats at a guard position, and is a cinch to ice away his fourth basketball letter.

The 1948 track and field practice season opened last week, and Crawley was among the thirty-odd hopefuls who reported to Track Coach O. W. Strahan.

Baze will report on March 2 when the basketball season comes to a close. Their first track meet will come on March 12-13 when they will compete in the Border Olympics in Laredo. The Bobcat team will be defending champions in the college division, and Crawley will be defending champion in the shot put in which he set a record of 44 feet, six and three-fourths inches last year.

The present law expires Feb. 29. The committee voted 18 to 5 for the one-month extension, to give Congress more time to assess the economic situation, before deciding on the nature of a longer extension.

Committee Chairman Wolcott said the committee is disposed to continue the control for at least a year in some form but wanted to study the situation further "in the light of any changes . . . that might come about as a result of price cutbacks."

His speculation in cotton and oats has been under investigation by the Senate appropriations subcommittee. Thomas took his new stand in a letter to Chairman Ferguson, R., Mich., of the speculation subcommittee.

Thomas urged subcommittee members to back an amendment to Senate rules which he is proposing. It would require full financial and business disclosure by all members of the Senate.

DENOUNCES COMMUNIST ACTIVITIES IN COUNTRIES

WASHINGTON—President Truman today denounced "ruthless" Communist activities in Greece and notified Congress that he will ask for "additional military assistance" for Greece and Turkey.

Mr. Truman sent to the House and Senate his second quarterly report on the American aid program for the two Mediterranean nations.

In an accompanying letter he said that continued economic assistance for Greece will be provided through the European recovery program if it is approved by Congress.

But he added that ERP will not provide "for any additional military assistance required for Greece and Turkey, which will, at the appropriate time, be sought from the Congress . . ."

In connection with Communist activities in Greece, Mr. Truman did not mention Soviet Russia by name. But his meaning was clear. "Greece has been subjected to even-increasing pressure by the Communist minority, which subservient to the foreign influences from which it draws support, would impose its will on the Greek people by force of arms," the President said.

Railroads Get Right To Jump Passenger Fares

WASHINGTON—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized Western and Southern railroads to increase their passenger coach fares 13.63 per cent.

The increase, which can be put into effect on five days notice, will boost the one-way coach fare from 2.2 to 2.5 cents a mile with proportionate increase in round-trip fares.

The coach fare boost will give 11 southern roads an estimated $4,200,000 additional income annually.

Similar increases were granted to eastern and other southern roads by the commission last year. Today's action makes coach fares uniform throughout the country.

The largest number of coconut palms, 10,000 of them, to be found in one place in the United States are on the upper half of Key Biscayne, near Miami, Fla.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Most political dopsters in Washington probably figure that General Eisenhower's self-scratch from the presidential race leaves the Republican nomination open for either Taft or Dewey. But a few free thinkers here are wondering if there may not be some way for the progressives in the Grand Old Party to grab the elephant goods and go places. It is an interesting, even if extremely long-shot, possibility.

When the Republican National Committee met in Washington in mid-January to discuss finances, there was little or no sentiment in favor of ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, Gov. Earl Warren of California or any of the progressive Republican members of Congress. It was all Taft or Dewey.

Oh, yes—and John Bricker of Ohio. It's a GOP tradition that the party leaders—not the people—pick the candidate. Wendell Wilkie's nomination in 1940 was just a once-in-a-century accident. Party leaders are already dedicated to the sacred cause of seeing that their steam roller is never again wrecked in the ditch that way. So Senator Bricker is the man many party big-wigs would really like to see as the radiator ornament on their machine.

It is exactly this prospect which now encourages progressive Republicans to think about striking another blow for freedom. They take hope in the fact that Gallup polls so far have shown Truman can beat Taft and Dewey—even with Wallace running as a third party candidate. This is why Republican progressives are beginning to hope they can put over a candidate. But who? Here is a real opportunity for the poll-takers. If the voters of the country could express their preferences, the results might startle the paunchy party leaders right off their perches.

It might show, for instance, that the biggest man in the Republican Party today is Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. The progressive label could not have been hung on him in his earlier years, but he can wear it today. He has rather definitely told his Michigan backers he is not interested in the presidential nomination. He will be 64 years old on March 22. That's pretty well along for anyone to start being President—though Harry Truman will be 64 on May 8. But Vandenberg, teamed with Stassen or Warren, would be a hard ticket to beat.

If Vandenberg is out of the race, progressives feel that the country might fare much worse than by settling for Stassen and Warren, if it wanted vigorous young leadership.

WHAT spoils the chances of these two candidates more than anything else is the fact that there is no organized bloc of progressives in the party. There is the making of such a movement in Republican congressional delegations, particularly in the Senate.

If they moved together, it would be impossible to laugh off a combination including Aiken and Flanders of Vermont, Tobey of New Hampshire, Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Vandenberg and Ferguson of Michigan, Cooper of Kentucky, Thye of Minnesota, Morse of Oregon. Others probably belong in this club. Ives of New York, for instance, if he were not pledged to Dewey.

The important point is that there is still a germ of the old Theodore Roosevelt progressivism alive in the party. There are millions of Americans who would like to see the Republicans step out again on the T. R. path. They've been waiting for it for years. They voted for F. D. Roosevelt while waiting. They will never have a better opportunity to rejoin the party, as progressives, than right now.

The one thing that seems to make Harry Truman the winter-book favorite that he is today is reactionary Republicanism. Truman's greatest political assets are men like Taft and Wherry, Taber and Keating—the Republican "leaders."

That's why progressive Republicans are beginning to feel that they have a fighting chance.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Robert William Andrew Feller's new contract, which might even pay the Iowa Farm Boy more than the $87,000 he collected last year, stresses the scarcity of individual attractions in baseball.

Bob Feller is the strongest magnet of them all. To fill Cleveland's huge Municipal Stadium, all the Indians' management has to do is announce that Feller will pitch, and the same is true all the way around the American League.

Feller made the baseball big-wigs forget about concealing the identity of the starting pitchers as a safeguard against gamblers.

Next to Feller in the way of individual cards today are Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio, the Red Sox luminary because of his thump and temperament, the Yankee Clipper for the finesse appreciated by the true fan.

AFTER that, you have to scratch your head to think of another stout-necked bucks office attraction, although the turnstiles spun a bit livelier last season when the mob knew it was the turn of Warren Spahn of the Braves and Ewell Blackwell of the Reds.

Jackie Robinson put many an additional paid admission into National League parks last season, but principally as a novelty—the first Negro to crash the big show, the modern version of it at least. The UCLA alumnus has a chance to remain in the show window, however, with swift and daring brother, Frank, a seaman gunner, was just when the Maine went down.

Special ceremonies honoring the Anders brothers are planned this year as Reading, founded in 1784, observes the bicentennial. OFFICE Nurse

By Adelaide Humphries
© by Adelaide Humphries, Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Janice Hilary, pretty, efficient young nurse to popular and handsome society doctor Eric Holbrook, runs his office for him. Dr. Holbrook's beautiful, goddoubt wife has just left for France to look after some property there. The evening of her departure the doctor, lonely, asks Janice to have dinner with him. It is his birthday, Janice, after a moment's hesitation, accepts—though it means breaking a date with Ben Archer, childhood friend who is very much in love with her. The evening is perfect and both Janice and Eric enjoy every minute of it. Without either meaning it to happen, they kiss. Eric apologizes. Then he adds before taking her home: "You know, of course, that we will have to talk about this, Janice."

THE switchboard in Dr. Holbrook's offices was kept so busy throughout most of each working day that it was tacitly understood by all employees that no personal calls should come through unless absolutely necessary.

There had been several calls for Mrs. McRae during the past week. Miss Willows had made no effort to conceal her disapproval even when Mrs. McRae had explained that Edna Mae, her little girl, was sick. Janice said that Mrs. McRae need not come in until the child was better, but Mrs. McRae said that Edna Mae was not that ill.

"If you ask me," Miss Willows said, "it's she who's not well—not that child. She's worried half to death, and not over her little girl. Didn't you notice how her hands were shaking when she hung up the phone? Her face was white as a sheet of paper, too."

An hour or so had passed before Janice had time to think further about Mrs. McRae. Then, during what the office called a breathing spell, Janice noted that Eileen McRae had gone out. No one ever left the office without letting Janice know.

It was a half-hour before Mrs. McRae returned. And then she slipped in, her pretty plump face the look of fear in Eileen's eyes. She suggested that Miss Willows phone Eileen's home and inquire about Edna Mae.

MISS WILLOWS seemed to consider that a good idea. However she told Janice a short while later that she had been unable to get much satisfaction.

"The superintendent just said there was nobody home at the McRaes," Miss Willows reported. "I told him I knew very well that someone had to be—they'd hardly take the little girl out in a drizzling cold rain. But he just said, 'I don't want to seem like a busybody,' she said, with her warm friendly smile, 'but I couldn't help noticing your going out this afternoon. If something's wrong, Eileen, maybe I could help.'"

"I HAD to meet someone—someone who couldn't come here," Mrs. McRae returned. "There's nothing wrong—nothing you, or anyone, could help."

She did look ill. More than that, there was a frightened look in her eyes.

"I wish you would stay here tomorrow," Janice said. "We can get along."

"I can't stay home!" "But if Edna Mae is sick—" Janice did not mean to insist, or to attempt to pry deeper into whatever lay behind that apparent fear in Eileen's eyes, but she was really concerned. She thought, if I had not been so immersed in my own problems lately I would have known something was worrying Eileen.

"She's just got a little cold," Eileen returned. "The woman I have is keeping her in bed. It isn't necessary for me to stay home. I'll be in tomorrow, Janice."

There was nothing more Janice could say. It seemed odd that Eileen insisted upon coming in, and that she had said so forcefully that she could not stay home.

It was odder still that Eileen did not appear the following morning. There were two phone calls for her that day, one in the morning, another after the lunch hour. Miss Willows reported this to Janice. She did not say so, but it was evident that Miss Willows was worried.

Janice could not help feeling uneasy. She kept remembering

"Yes, yes. Let's go there!" It must be even worse than I thought, Janice decided. Poor Eileen, she looked desperate.

Great Grandfather Turns Painter At 82

MALDEN, Mass. (UP)—A great grandfather, who started painting at the age of 82 to take his mind off family troubles, has attracted the attention of art teachers and students.

Now 83, Everett C. Rea has produced more than 100 paintings in a year. Several of his water-colors have earned the plaudits of the critics.

Rea retired from work in the cutting room of a knitting mill 15 years ago.

Most remarkable, according to the critics, is Rea's ability to depict the coldness of a stone house in a wintry setting and the swirling of water around rocks along a stretch of typical New England coastline.

HoHum, She Says As Home Burns Again

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—Mrs. Fannie LaBorne, 84, believes it's never too late to start again. For the second time in her life, her home went up in smoke.

"I almost paid the taxes on it yesterday. Glad I didn't," she quipped.

Mrs. LaBorne is living in an old shack on her property until she can get her home rebuilt. That was what she did when her first home burned down.

Farm Wife Opens Heart To Europe

FORT DODGE, Ia. (UP)—Mrs. Otto Zimmerman, farm housewife is operating a one-woman organization for European relief.

For the past 18 months she has been sending food and clothing to 25 families in the Russian, English and French occupation zones in Germany. She mailed her 200th package recently.

Recipients are the families of her five sisters and three brothers and of nephews, nieces, grand-nephews and grand-nieces. However, she also sends parcels to several families not related to her.

Mrs. Zimmerman heard nothing from her relatives during the recent war. But in August, 1946, she began receiving letters from her brothers and sisters relating their hardships.

She began sending food parcels through CARE. More than $300 of her butter and egg money went for the packages. Then she began making up her own bundles of food and clothing. In the past year, she has spent more than $1,000 on the packages. Her husband and son, William, 17, a high school student, help pack and mail the 22 pound parcels, which are turned out in assembly line fashion in the Zimmerman home.

In the dedication of the book which deals with history and legends of the original Five Nations, the Mohawks cite Sipe for his "fair treatment of both sides" in chronicling the Indian wars.

Ellen Geue And Wid Crawford Exchange Vows In Valentine Day Double Ring Ceremony Performed At Eastland Church

Wedding-vows were read on Valentine Day for Miss Ellen Mae Geue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester William Geue, 2636 Stadium Dr., Fort Worth, and Wid Phillips Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat L. Crawford, 507 South Mulberry St.

Rev. E. R. Gordon, pastor of the First Methodist Church, solemnized the double ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of white stock gladioluses and Easter lilies, flanked by ferns and white tapers, which formed the background for the wedding at the Methodist Church at 7:00 p.m.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory brocade gown with portrait neckline, illusion yoke and three-tiered skirt with lower one extending into a short train. The bodice of the brocade was outlined with seed pearls and long fitted sleeves came to points over her hands. A brocaded cap held in place her three-tiered English illusion finger-tip veil. The cap of the brocade was also beaded. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, and stephanotis with maine puffs and a white satin streamer.

Miss Catherine Cornelius was maid of honor and Miss Carolyn Geue, sister of the bride, was junior maid of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Kathleen Colle and Mary Rubie of Austin. They wore identical gowns of ice blue faille, off shoulder neck-line flared skirts with bustle backs, and carried heart-shaped bouquets of red carnations.

Best man was Patrick Louis Crawford, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Messrs. Jack Germany, Charles Beskow, Eugene Stiffler, and Donald Dodson of Burk Burnett.

Homer Meek, Jr., organist, and Mmes. Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., Murrell Hancock, and Miss Glenna Johnson of Midland, violinist, played "The Bell's of St. Mary's" and "The World is Waiting For The Sunrise", and wedding marches, "Lohengrin", by Hagres, and from "Mid-night Dreams", by Mendelsohn, before the ceremony. During the ceremony they played "Loves Old Sweet Song," on muted violin strings.

A reception was held after the wedding at the Woman's clubhouse with Mrs. James Horton receiving guests at the door. Mrs. Wid Phillips of Burk Burnett and Mrs. Wilbur Laney presided at the bride's book. Misses Beth Rhineman, Mrs. C. B. Frost, Jr., and Mrs. Hancock and Miss Glenna Johnson poured tea. Mmes. A. Geue and Misses Elsie and Eunice Gist cut the cake.

In the receiving line were the bridal party and the parents; others in the house party were: Mmes. Hubert Jones, Jack Amer, P. J. Cullen, J. M. Perkins, C. K. Beyette, K. K. McElroy, W. B. Pickens, W. D. Maddrey, J. C. Looney, John Sawyer, Andre Bourgeois and Mmes. R. T. Hue-

Mrs. Wid Philip Crawford—who before her marriage in a Valentine Day ceremony at the Eastland First Methodist church, was Miss Ellen Mae Geue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Geue of Fort Worth, formerly of Eastland.

... bres, Sallie Bishop, C. W. Hoffmann and Victor Cornelius bid guests good-by.

The bride's table, laid in white linen cutwork, was centered with the four tiered wedding cake and flanked by white burning tapers.

Following the reception, the guests assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Crawford to view the gift display. Those in the house party were: Mmes. Arnold Smith, James Ward, W. B. White, Carl Jones and Frank Lovett.

The couple left for a short wedding trip and upon their return will reside at College Station, where the groom is a senior at A&M College, majoring in animal husbandry. Prior to entering A&M he served in the Naval Air Corps during the war. Before entering the service he graduated from Eastland high school.

The bride finished Eastland high school and received her Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics in the field of nutrition, from State University in January. While attending the University, she was Upperclass Advisor at Littlefield Dormitory and served as chairman of the group for one year. She was president of the Home Economics Club, member of the Co-Ed Assembly, Oilbelt Club Orange Jackets, was secretary of Mortor Board, and was a Bluebelle nominee in 1947.

JAILBIRD
 You want out, huh?
 Out of the things that are worrying you . . . the boredom . . . the sameness . . . the staleness . . . the everydayness.
 Who doesn't?
 Jailbirds.
 Held fast with a lock and key . . . steel bars . . . there's a living to make . . . a responsibility to meet . . . God! I want out!
 . . . from the shadowed eyes . . . Listen to the voices crying out from shadowed eyes . . . butterfly stomachs . . . pinched faces . . . Surely you want out.
 The tighter you close your mind the harder you're going to be held.
 You've got to get out of yourself.
 You may not be able to run out on the other things . . . you may have to keep on making a living, doing a job you loathe . . . you may have to stay with it.
 But you can get out.
 You've got to free your mind. No one can get to your mind . . . it belongs to you.
 It's possible to go right on . . . jailbird . . . locked behind the bars of jobs not fitted to you . . . held fast by things you can't run out on.
 But you can go scot free, if you want to.
 It's a state of mind. If you've got to do things, do them quietly, as decently as you can . . . keep your own self respect and the respect of others . . .
 But take your mind out of it. It can be done, but you've got to learn.
 Just remember that the you-ness in you is a sacred thing that belongs to you.
 Keep it inviolate.
 And use it for yourself.
 It's the key to unlock your jail. Find your mental freedom

Starts At Bottom But Only Briefly
 HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Young people today lack the drive of their forefathers, says Mary Sachs, the owner of a women's clothing store here.

Too many of them, she said, would rather make their business debut at the top. They forget that the training for success begins in the cellar.

She said that recently one young fellow almost shifted her sentiments. He accepted a job at her place sweeping floors—"because he wanted to start at the bottom and work his way up."

The "dream" didn't last long, Miss Sachs said. He quit after only a short time.

 Chiropractic is based upon the principal that pressure upon nerves, from the brain to the various parts of the body, cause disease. If a nerve has pressure upon it, decreasing its carrying capacity 30% then the organ or gland supplied by that nerve can only function 70% of normal—thus that gland or organ is more susceptible to disease.

Why Hesitate

Anemia, Appendicitis, Arthritis, Asthma, Chronic Boils, Bronchitis, Broncho-pneumonia, Colic, Constipation, Deafness, Diabetes, Diarrhea, Dyspepsia, Epilepsy, Erysipelas, Gall stones, Gastritis, Hay Fever, Headaches, Heart Trouble, High Blood Pressure, Influenza, Jaundice, Migraine, Nervousness, Neuritis, Paralysis, (various types) Pulmonary Tuberculosis, Ulcers, (all varieties, chiefly gastric) Uricaria (hives), Zoster (shingles), and many others.

"Holdup" Proves Friendly Gesture

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UP)—When an Evansville policeman saw a man get out of an automobile, hold his hands in the air and let another man pull something out of his pocket, he went into action.

But after some hurried explanations, the policeman went on his way. The "holdup victim" said he had been eating some home canned beets out of the jar and got his hands all sticky.

When the car stopped he got out and held his hands in the air while his companion reached around and pulled out his handkerchief.

A number of Eastland citizens plan to attend the historical pageant tonight at Caddo. One hundred school children will take part in the various scenes, which will deal with the history of Caddo from its founding to the present. Then "oldtimers" will tell of incidents in the early days. H. O. Tatum, City manager, Walter Hart, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and C. H. Colvin, secretary, probably will attend.

Representatives from the Chambers of Commerce of Gorman, Rising Star, Cisco and Ranger will meet with secretary Colvin of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce and County Agent J. C. Patterson here Saturday for the purpose of completing plans for the Eastland county exhibit at the Southwestern Exhibit and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth March 9 to 16.

Eastland County ranks fifteenth in Texas in wealth, based upon assessed valuations. The assessed valuations of this county are $36,359,530 as compared for instance to $24,116,665 for Taylor county, and $22,092,101 for Lubbock county. In 1928 Eastland county registered 12,442 automobiles and paid $185,508.21 for car licenses. (Info. from Texas Almanac.)

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon for Samuel Wright, who died Wednesday night from injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the highway near Olden. Burial was in Buffalo Gap.

This issue of the Eastland Telegram carries a large display advertisement of the Arcadia Theatre in Ranger advertising Talking Pictures, described as the "wonder of the age"—pictures that talk, sing and laugh. The advertisement boasted that Ranger was the first and only town in Eastland county to install talking-picture equipment.

You Have To Keep Left To Be Right Says Geo. Clarke

You have to keep left to be right, according to George Clarke, managing director of the Texas Safety Association.

"But let me tell you what I mean, before you think I sound mixed up," he said. "A left turn in heavy traffic is one of the most difficult maneuvers in an automobile, and it causes traffic tie-ups and accidents when bungled."

Clarke said that the Texas Safety Association is cooperating in a nationwide "Know and Obey Traffic Laws" program during February, and he cited National Safety Council statistics to show the need for such a program.

 Danny Kaye - Virginia Mayo

At least 3 1/2 per cent of all fatal pedestrian and non-pedestrian accidents involve a turning vehicle, and improper turning was reported in from 4 to 5 per cent of all accidents.

Pointing out that about twice as many turning accidents involve left turns as right turns, Clarke listed five rules to remember in making a left turn.

1. Keep next to the centerline or center of the roadway, so that no car will approach from behind on your left as you turn.
2. Turn around two points, one where the center of the street or road you are, on meets the crosswalk or property line, and the other where the center of the street or road you are turning into leaves the crosswalk or property line.
3. Start to get in the proper lane for turning far enough back, at least a block before the turn.
4. Use hand signals before making the turn and be sure to make a full turn. Don't cut corners.
5. Always respect the right of way of other drivers who are at the intersection or approaching so close as to be a hazard.

I Could Call On You Personally
 But Someone Might Call It
"A Bite"

Frankly, the Teen Canteen needs a juke box. We are keeping your youngsters busy Saturday nights, and intend to continue the Teen Canteen as a year-round community service. But a little phonograph doesn't make enough music in that Big Legion Hall. We need a Juke Box. We can get one for Three Hundred Dollars. Are there community-minded men in Eastland willing to provide this needed cash?

Next Monday this space will carry the names of those who have contributed to the purchase of a Juke Box for the two-hundred Teen Agers who will be our citizens of tomorrow.

We are trying to do our part to help the Community and her young people.
