Jack Crawley Places In Track At San Antonio

Jack Crawley of Eastland paced the southwest Texas State College track and field to first place in a four-way track meet in San Antonio Saturday, March 6.

Crawley scored 12 points toward the total of 82 1-3 piled up by the Southwest Texas team. Trinity University was second in the meet with 42 1-3 points followed by Schreiner Institute with 15 points and Southwestern University with 13 1-3 points.

The 12 points scored by Crawley gave him high point honors of the meet. His points came on a first place in the shot put with a toss of 44 feet, five inches, a first place in the discus throw with a heave of 128 feet, three inches and a third place in the javelin throw.

Community Concert Membership Drive Is Going Forward

The Community Concert drive is off to a very fine start with a turn-in already equal to one-third of last year's complete turn-in of memberships for Eastland.

Artists brought to Eastland county last season were very well received. Among this list of artists were Mona Pauls, The Revelers Quartet, Angel Reyes and Abe Simon.

Those joining Community Concerts are joining an association, and this entitles them to attend any concert of that association throughout the United States. There are 900 cities that have organized community concerts and anyone joining here in Eastland and moves away in the future can use their membership wherever they may move to at no extra cost.

You are again reminded that a membership can be earned by checking in at headquarters in the Exchange Building and picking up the eight names posted there of famous composers and matching them to the eight posters displayed around town.

May Increase Subsistence Allowances

C. E. Allen, Contact Representative, Eastland VA office announced today that plans are being made by the Veterans Administration Dallas Regional Office to automatically increase in most instances allowances to 35,000 veterans taking full time courses in schools, colleges and universities. The higher subsistence rates, applicable April 1, recently were authorized by Congress.

After April 1, a veteran taking not less than 12 hours collegiate work will receive increased subsistence. Veterans in such sub-college training as commercial or vocational school courses also will benefit if they attend classes a minimum of 25 clock hours weekly.

Single veterans in full time educational courses will get $75 monthly subsistence checks. Veterans with one dependent will be raised from $90 to $105.

Non-disabled veterans previously had received no additional subsistence for children. The new law, however, allows $120 monthly for a student with one or more children, or who is the chief support of dependent parents.

VA emphasized that it had a tremendous job ahead in changing its records to conform to the new law and that veterans could be of great assistance in processing the increases. This can be done, said VA, if veterans who have no dependents or only one refrain from writing the Dallas Regional Office about their new pay rate. Allowances for these veterans will be automatically increased from information already in VA files.

If veterans want subsistence for more than one dependent, they must apply for it. Certified copies of birth certificates for children are necessary to establish dependence. If parents are claimed as dependents, VA Form 509 should be completed by the veteran and forwarded to the regional office. Contact representatives will be glad to assist veterans in completing their information.

Veterans now in training will receive retroactive payments at the new rate back to April 1, 1948 if they submit dependence documents prior to July 1, 1948.

VA emphasized that only veterans enrolled full-time in a school, college or university and whose incomes fall within the ceilings set by law are entitled to the increase.

Pius Directive Given Italians For Elections

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius directed the Catholics of Italy today to vote in the April 18 parliamentary elections for candidates who offered guarantees for the "protection of the rights of God and soul."

The papal pronouncement applied specifically to the forthcoming national elections, in which the dominant issue is Communism against Non-Communism.

The Pope addressed 300 parish priests representing the Catholics of Rome. But he made it plain that he was speaking as the leader of 350,000,000 Catholics throughout the world.

Barker Brothers Indicted At San Antonio

Paul Dean and Houston Barker of Eastland were indicted on seven counts Monday by a Federal grand jury at San Antonio. Bonds for each were set at $20,000.00.

The two brothers were indicted four times on charges of transporting guns across a state line after they had been convicted of other alleged crimes; two indictments charge them with transporting stolen automobiles across state lines and one true bill alleged they had fled from Texas to Mississippi to escape prosecution for the offense of burglary at Leakey.

Paul Dean Barker, according to the Eastland county sheriff's office, is under seven indictments in Eastland county. His parole from the Texas penitentiary was recently revoked at the request of the District attorneys of Eastland and Tarrant counties, who acted jointly in the request, according to District Attorney Everett Graham of Eastland.

Paul Barker was taken into custody at Ranger by Sheriff J. B. Williams' men and placed in the Eastland county jail. The next day he was released to Fort Worth City detectives who requested him for questioning there in connection with an attempted burglary. He was released in Fort Worth without the knowledge of the sheriff's office at Eastland.

The Barker brothers are also under federal indictments in California.

College Field Representative To Speak Here

Reverend Lyman P. Wood, field representative for Bethany - Penile College, of Bethany, Oklahoma will speak Sunday night at 7:45 at the Church of the Nazarene. Reverend Wood was pastor for several years of Central Church of the Nazarene, Waco and has done a splendid job in his present position at the college.

Rev. William C. Emberton says, "Reverend Wood is a very capable speaker and all would profit to hear him. We urge you to come."

Regular Services At Presbyterian Church, Sunday

Sunday is regular preaching day at First Presbyterian church, 11 a. m. Rev. M. P. Elder doing the preaching. At 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon there will be speakers from Abilene, Albany and Breckenridge. A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Good Attendance At Brotherhood Meeting

Around 60 men attended the Brotherhood meeting of the Eastland Baptist church Monday evening. After supper the men heard an inspiring message from R. A. Springer, Treasurer of the Baptist General convention of Texas.

Mr. Springer emphasized the program necessary for a church to be alive. He said: "The church must be missionary or it will die." His remarks were interwoven with unusual wit and humor.

Another outstanding feature of the Monday night program was the spontaneous raising of $275.00 by W. D. R. Owen, chairman of the Board of Deacons. Mr. Owen presented the needs of a crowded Sunday school and showed where by some re-arranging, another nursery department could be organized immediately and perhaps another Sunday school class.

Owen's remarks appeared to "set on fire" the members of the audience and Pastor L. M. Chapman experienced difficulty in keeping up with the names of contributors, the money was coming so fast, Edgar Alton, Sunday school superintendent, was all smiles and ready to go to work immediately.

The affair last night was another step in the enlarging program of the Eastland Baptist church. The Sunday school is seeking to have 600 in attendance on Sunday, March 28.

After the Monday night meeting, Mr. Springer was invited to come back in March of 1949 and accepted the invitation.

J. D. Pittman is brotherhood president.

Out-of-town guests at the Monday night meeting included: Rev. W. R. Ivey, pastor of the Necessity Baptist Church; Rev. C. K. Roberts, pastor of the East Cisco Baptist church, and Shobel Houston of Cisco, Cisco Association Brotherhood president.

Eastland Woman Accepts Position With I-H Company

Mrs. Ben Clyatt, the former Miss Gwendolyn Jones, daughter of Mrs. Ora B. Jones 511 South Seaman St., and who with her husband live at Palestine, has accepted a position with the International Harvester Company as Home Demonstrator of the Freezing Units.

Mr. Clyatt is a traveling veterinary with the A&M College. Mrs. Clyatt formerly was with the Home Extension service of A&M College.

Of the 325,000 Minnesotans who were in World War II service, 300,000 have been discharged under circumstances that give them a right to readjustment allowances.

Cotton Growers Invited To Meet In Eastland

Eastland County cotton growers are invited to a pink bollworm and quarantine meeting in the courthouse at Eastland Friday afternoon, March 12 at 2 o'clock according to word from the County Agent's Office.

A representative from the Bureau of Entomology and plant quarantine will be on hand to explain quarantine regulations and to answer questions concerning treating the cottonseed before planting.

According to word received from E. L. Wilde, plant quarantine inspector a cotton seed treating machine is now moving North in the new pink bollworm area. It started Monday at Lampasas. The treatment will not affect seed germination it was said. The pink bollworm was found in Eastland county last fall.

Although only a small acreage of cotton is grown in the county such growers as are interested are urged to attend the meeting Friday where the quarantine regulations will be explained in detail.

Czech Minister Takes Own Life

PRAGUE — Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, 61, one of Czechoslovakia's distinguished statesmen, killed himself today by plunging three stories from the bathroom window of his official residence in Cernin Palace.

Members of his family said the suicide of Masaryk was in protest against the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia. The son of the founder of the republic, while calling himself a political independent, had accepted reappointment to the foreign ministry.

Interior Minister Vaclav Nosek told the opening session of the purged parliament that Masaryk went from his bedroom to the bathroom about 6 a. m. and from there leaped into the courtyard. He said the body was found about 30 minutes later.

A close friend of Masaryk said he appeared to have died instantly when he leaped from the window. Some hours after the suicide, the government issued a formal statement which said Masaryk evidently decided in a moment of nervous breakdown to end his life. The statement mentioned illness and insomnia, but did not elaborate.

A member of his family, however, said he had been desperately depressed since the Communists seized power two weeks ago and named him to carry on as foreign minister.

HELP CHINA OR FACE WAR GENERAL SAYS

WASHINGTON — Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault said today that failure to give China adequate military and economic aid quickly will lead to another world war.

The former American air chief in China flew here from Shanghai to testify on the administration's $570,000,000 China air program. He joined other military men, with the notable exception of Secretary of State George C. Marshall, in pleading for accompanying military assistance to China.

He said failure to provide such aid would lead to Communist control of all Asia.

Meanwhile, friends of Senate president Arthur H. Vandenberg expressed belief he would make no further move to take himself out of the presidential race. Not at least until Congress cleans up the foreign aid program.

Until then, his friends said, he is an excellent bargaining position.

Miss Drago's Condition Grows Gradually Worse

Miss Wilda Drago, who is very critically ill in a San Angelo hospital, is gradually growing weaker. However not as fast as she was Sunday and Monday. She is rational and her mind is alert. Her vitality has held up well, according to a telephone message from Mrs. C. B. Beall, sister of Miss Drago.

No hopes are held for her recovery.

J. L. Bradford Of Breckenridge Dies There Today

Funeral services for James Lee Bradford of Breckenridge will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Mount Zion Church north of Ranger with Rev. A. J. Morgan officiating. Interment will be in the Mount Zion cemetery.

Mr. Bradford died at his home in Breckenridge about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. He was born April 28, 1872 in Tennessee and was 76 years of age. He moved to Stephens county when eight years of age and with the exception of the years from 1932 to 1947 when he was at Stanton, had resided in the county the remainder of his life. He was a retired rancher and farmer and was a member of the Baptist church.

Survivors besides his wife, Mrs. Bradford of Breckenridge, the following sons and one daughter survive, Louis Bradford of Hobbs, New Mexico, E. A. Bradford of Bastrop, J. W. Bradford of Odesa, J. B. Bradford of Ranger, O. E. Bradford of Breckenridge and Earl Bradford of Bastrop and Mrs. Ida Stephens of McCamey. Twenty-nine grandchildren and nine great grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters also survive, Porter Bradford of Mineral Wells, John Bradford of Weatherford, Tom Bradford of Dallas, Richard Bradford of Graham, and Mrs. Ida Kamey of Lacombe, Mrs. Allie Gardener of Brownwood, and Mrs. Lulu Newham of Ranger.

Another brother, Henry Bradford, preceded his brother in death on February 28, 1945.

Youth Revival At The Harmony Baptist Church

There will be a Youth Revival March 12, 13 and 14 at Harmony Baptist church, Morton Valley community.

The Youth team from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, composed of Grady Allison, Harry Grantz and Joe Haynes, will conduct the services.

This short series of services, according to the Pastor Maurice B. James, will be especially attractive to young people regardless of their church affiliations, and all are invited.

While it is to be a youth meeting it will also be attractive and beneficial for all ages.

STASSEN'S HOPES GIVEN BIG SETBACK BY DEFEAT

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey won six of New Hampshire's eight delegates to the Republican national convention on the basis of nearly complete returns from yesterday's primary.

It was a two-man contest between the New Yorker and Harold E. Stassen for the state's eight seats at the nominating convention.

By winning only two New Hampshire delegates, Stassen suffered a sharp setback in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. But Dewey, with six delegates, is off to a better start toward the nomination this time than in 1944 when a New Hampshire victory also started his band wagon rolling.

Stassen said at Chicago that his showing in the New Hampshire primary was a strong one and that it has not affected his national campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

"If we had just 2,000 more votes we would have won five out of eight delegates instead of two," Stassen said.

"That's how close it was."

SS Officers Convicted Today

NUERNBERG — Eight former SS officers were convicted by an American tribunal today of carrying out the Nazi program of mass extermination of races, and were sentenced to prison for terms of 10 years to life.

The convictions resulted in the war crimes trial of the case based on the Nazi genocide program. It was aimed at strengthening Germany by weakening the people of neighboring states.

Six defendants, including one woman, were acquitted. The five men found innocent of war crimes were convicted of being members of a criminal organization, the SS.

Greek Guerrillas Stage Attacks

ATHENS — Greek guerrillas struck suddenly by land in four scattered sectors today and were reported preparing for sea and air attacks in an attempt to shatter the government's spring offensive before it starts.

Guerrilla operations coincided with a rebel radio report yesterday that the Greek army had launched its long-awaited offensive. Greek officials, however, said the offensive still was in the "planning stage."

President's Housing Message Lost in Political Slums

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—President Truman's special message to Congress on housing was one of his more spectacular failures. It was sent to the Hill while the President was touring the Caribbean. In Congress it was greeted with supreme indifference. It wasn't that there was anything wrong in what the President set for his goals. They were a million housing units a year for 10 years, plus slum elimination, more rural housing, more rental housing, tighter rent controls till the housing shortage is relieved, allocation of scarce materials like nails and plumbing fixtures, more research and some new financial gimmicks.

Intent of the message was to get the government's housing business out of the postwar emergency status and to start looking at it on a long-range permanent basis. The trouble was that the message had to be read by a lawyer and a housing expert to understand it.

WHERE the President broke new ground was in some of his fancy government financing proposals. They were six in number:

1. Put the government into the business of guaranteeing construction loans. This would enable builders to borrow money before the house was completed and ready for a mortgage loan. Some government construction loans may be obtained from Reconstruction Finance Corporation under restricted conditions. The President apparently wants this authority broadened.

2. On prefabricated housing, the President proposes that the government's present power to guarantee mortgage loans be extended to cover construction, right from the time assembly begins in the factory. There is only one government loan in effect on such housing now.

3. The President wants the government's present, so-called "Title VI" insured mortgage loan authority extended by another $2,000,000,000 on top of the $3,500,000,000 authorization granted since the war. Half of the new authority should be earmarked for rental housing, says the President. He wants this rental housing to get preference through more liberal terms. He doesn't say what these terms should be.

4. The President then calls for the government to provide a "secondary market" for home mortgage loans. This is tricky. Since the war the government has guaranteed a lot of GI and Title VI loans. In some areas these loans have soaked up all the loose money. People wanting to borrow under such conditions have to pay higher interest. To relieve this situation, the President says the government should be authorized to buy up a lot of these mortgages in areas where there are still acute housing shortages. The people who sold the mortgages would then have fresh money with which to make new loans.

5. The President proposes that the government provide an incentive for private enterprise to build large-scale housing projects. He would do it by insuring them an adequate return on their investment. This idea is lifted from the Taft-Wagner-Elender housing bill.

6. Finally, the President wants the public housing act of 1937 revised to allow for today's higher construction costs. This would enable more low-rent housing to be built for the lowest income families. The government would subsidize the rent.

WHAT all this amounts to is that the President is for the Taft-Wagner-Elender bill, plus rent control, plus secondary market for mortgages, plus more government aid. The President's message didn't mention the Senate housing trio by name even once, though the last two of the authors are Democrats and it's supposed to be a bipartisan measure.

That's the main trouble over doing anything about housing now. It's bogged down in the political slums. The big scramble is over who is going to get credit for what. The President's message does not seem to have helped straighten out the mess one bit.

Soviet Yen For U. S. Dollar Makes Stamp Collecting Big Business

By Robert D. Graff
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Stamp collecting in most countries may be an innocent hobby but so far as Soviet Russia is concerned it is a grim international business involving national honor and lots of money.

Selling Russian stamps to foreign collectors is a big business for Socialist Russia. Collectors who want the bright-colored stamps put out since 1917 must be ready to pay through the nose for them. They also must put up dollars on the line or black market equivalents for dollars in soft money countries like France.

The Russian government has a monopoly on stamp sales to collectors both inside the country and out. Inside Russia special government stores provide philatelists with full sets of the latest Lenin commemorative issue, for example. In other countries of Europe and in the New World it is the local Soviet Purchasing Commission that handles the job.

For the Russians, selling stamps outside the U.S.S.R. is a sure-fire way to get needed foreign currencies. Russian stamp catalogues even now continue their pre-war practice of quoting prices in terms of the American dollar. Anti-American feeling in the Kremlin these days hasn't changed business considerations. If a collector wants a series of, say, four stamps with a face value of five rubles, he will have to pay twice or three times that much in dollars or the black market equivalent in pounds, francs or lira.

This monopolistic price control by purchasing commissions has bred a big black market in Russian stamps. Philatelic dealers in Bulgaria, Rumania, Finland and other countries bordering the U. S. S. R. have bought up thousands of stamps at bargain prices. So have visiting diplomats and travelers.

The dealers or the diplomats sell the stamps to Western European or American experts, who in turn advertise the latest series for sale to collectors. But as a collector you pay even for that back-alley route.

Stamp dealers in Paris say it's Russia's commercial approach to stamp issues that makes them expensive. The dealers claim the Soviet government prints stamps not for letters but for collectors. For example, dealers say, there have been 12 separate commemorative issues for Lenin in the past 30 years.

Lt. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell was the founder of the original Boy Scout movement.

Martin May Outstrip Others Red Sox Bought From Browns

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

SARASOTA, Fla.—(NEA)—The Red Sox were not content with buying the better Browns—Junior Stephens, Kramer, Kinder and Galehouse, with infielder Billy Hitchcock thrown in. Joe Cronin drafted another, Babe Martin, from the St. Louis club's Toledo subsidiary, and the husky outfielder who became a catcher easily could be as valuable as any one of the costly purchases. He'll be given every chance, for the Sox need catching.

Boris Michael Martinovich, which is his square moniker, hit .319 for the Mudhens last trip in 110 games, 89 of which he caught. Martin, now 27, and whom Luke Sewell, then manager of the Browns, hailed as the find of the year in 1945, may have just found himself a proper place.

Bill DeWitt of the Browns signed young Martin while he was in a Seattle high school, there being no law against it in those days. Martin, a right-hand smacker, was discharged after 18 months in the Navy in 1944 in time to hit .350 in 114 games for Toledo, hammer the Hens into the play-offs, and be adjudged the most valuable player in the American Association. All this despite a variety of ailments that included a hernia, stomach ulcers and sinus.

ONCE discharged from the Great Lakes hospital, however, and back on his pins, the young man quickly demonstrated that there was nothing wrong with his batting eye. With an arm to go with either outfielding or catching, Martin's extra base blows in 1944 included 27 doubles, 10 triples and 14 home runs. Finishing with the Browns, he made four hits in two games.

"When he's at the plate, he's mad at the ball—the sign of a good hitter," remarked the veteran Sewell.

The Browns played Martin in right field, and it was to the fact that American League pitchers cooled him off that Sewell to a considerable extent attributed the Browns' fall from first to third place. He has been in professional baseball since 1940, so it's now or never, and it's a grand opportunity.

The Red Sox have only four catchers, and will carry three. Birdie Tebbetts is 33. Eddie McGah hit only 218 in Louisville. Mat Batts is a steady hand from Toronto, but no stickout.

It is safe to say that Martin was carefully scouted by the Red Sox, for even that affluent outfit isn't paying $10,000 for a player to plug some hole in their chain. The Boston Americans have plenty of ball players, are searching only for those capable of helping the parent club. If Babe Martin, the outfielder turned back by the lowly Browns, turns out to be the ritzy Red Sox' catcher, another chapter will be added to the book of remarkable comebacks.

Bird Business Turns To Hobby

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—An idea that started out to be a business but deteriorated into a hobby has turned into a bird-filled headache for the Roy C. Lee family of Dallas.

They deal in tropical birds—a venture that started when Lee and his wife were on their wedding trip to California last year. They planned to sell the birds, but Mrs. Lee has become so attached to her merchandise that she can't part with them.

Their birds consist of scarlet Macaws from South America, Mexican parrots from the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, a giant sulphur crested cockatoo, native of Australia, a pair of African love birds with yellow bills and a dozen or more parakeets.

Something must be done soon, however, to relieve the situation, Lee said. Their home rapidly is being overrun with bird cages, big perches and a small indoor aviary.

Mother, Daughter Wed
JASPER, Ala. (UP)—A double wedding in which a mother and daughter were participants, took place at the office of Probate Judge Cecil Gray. Mrs. Minnie Lucille Estelle, 32, of Nauvoo, married Bertie Stephens, 43, of Grove Hill. Her daughter, Ida Estelle, 18, was married to Herbert A. Barker, 21, of Hackleberg.

Chinese Troops En Route to Japan

A contingent of 40 Chinese gendarmes undergo final inspection before heading for Japan. The soldiers, about to leave Shanghai on the ship in the background, will do guard duty for the Chinese Military Mission, and look after the interests and safety of Chinese residents in Japan.

INDIAN CHIEF TO SHOW HOW TOTEM POLES MADE

Vancouver, B. C. (UP)—Totem poles bearing advertising signs dotting the Texas landscape may seem a trifle incredulous, but a full-blooded Indian Chief is going to see that very thing done. Chief Joe Matthias of North Vancouver's Capilano Indians will soon be going to the Lone Star state to demonstrate publicly how totem poles are carved. His piece de resistance will be a 30-foot high totem pole which he will present to Gov. Beauford H. Jester on behalf of the Canadian Indians.

Gov. Jester made Chief Matthias an honorary citizen of the state last March, presenting him with a scroll, ten-gallon hat and chaps; and this is the chief's way of returning the compliment. Maurice Angly, British Columbia's representative of shingles in Texas, made the arrangements for the chief to attend the annual ally for that purpose. The other whittlings will possibly be made from either native Texas lumber, or other British Columbia wood sent to the Galveston Lumberman's Association.

The Angly firm, which markets British Columbia shingles under the tradename of "Thunderbird," has ordered 100 such emblems, to be used as advertising signs throughout Texas.

The only thing Chief Matthias hopes about the emblems is that they will not carry incongruous signs such as: "Ugh! Eat Joe's. Heap good food."

Where Do We Go From Here?

... would be a hard question to answer if asked by a family whose house has burned down or has been blown away by a tornado. There are few, if any, houses to rent, and who wants to pay present market prices to build a home? Even though one has enough insurance to cover the loss, the situation is still tragic, but not as tragic as that of the poor fellow who had no insurance at all. Are you insured?

City Council Given Packaged Garbage

BUTLER, Pa. (UP)—Citizens of this community have been caught in the middle in a year long dispute between the city council and the Butler Refuse Collection Co.

Garbage complaints jumped from 37 in 1946 to 1,097 in 1947. One irate housewife solved the problem of garbage disposal, at least to her own satisfaction. She stalked into city hall council chambers, plunked down a ribbon wrapped package and departed saying, "Maybe you know what to do with it. I don't."
The package contained garbage.

Anti Freeze

The human thermometer in lots of people has already dropped below the freezing point. Without a shot of some good anti-freeze, I really don't know how some of them are going to survive the long trip through life.

A quick, hard shot of the milk of human kindness would help some of them.

Of course, if I believed in Hell in the literal sense of the word, I would know that large numbers of the breed would thaw out rather quickly.

How about you?
Are you the cold kind?
If so, I hope I never meet you, because I am sick to the teeth of cold hearted people.

Are you going to the race?
What race?
The human rat race.

Where everybody runs to get there first... trampling on anybody... anything that gets in the way. The race where the swiftest wins the pot o' gold... no matter how many damaged hearts are left strewn all over the bloody race track.

All you have to do is jump in... anytime... any place. There's no particular schedule.

Lots of rats are running... tall ones, skinny ones, fat, pompous ones... swift little cunning ones.

And the poor devils are freezing to death and they haven't wits enough to know it.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

It has been said that there are only 14 people in the world who can understand Einstein's theory. Well, here is an explanation of that theory, in Einstein's own words:

"When you sit with your girl an hour, you think it's a minute. When you sit down on a red-hot stove for a minute, you think it's an hour."

"That's relativity."
A good many years ago, traveling with a candidate for governor was a group of newspapermen representing their respective papers and one of these newspapermen looked like the candidate. This reporter however was for the other candidate. So, after a speaking, he would go into a beer parlor, drink a schooner, then come out and stand right in front of the door for half a minute so that anybody on the street could see him.

Next day, it was all over town that Candidate Zilch had been seen coming out of a tavern and wiping his mouth on the back of his hand—and so all the "drys" voted for the other fellow.

Which was exactly what that newsman had wanted to happen, of course.

A friend was telling me about going to a city and the hotel room he got was so small that if you dreamed it would have had to be about midgets.

Some weeks back, this column made a favorable reference to that great guy, Jimmy Durante. Well, sir, soon afterward, here came a letter of thanks from Durante. Such appreciation is one of the reasons why he is where he is today, a top favorite of screen and radio.
