Decisions Reached, Says Marshall

Back home from the Inter-American Conference in Bogota, Colombia, Secretary of State George C. Marshall is interviewed by reporters at National Airport. "The conference has reached decisions on most of the fundamental considerations," Marshall said.

BRIDGES FOR 70-GROUP AIR FORCE PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 26 (UP)—Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate appropriations committee said today he would support a 70-group air force regardless of the administration compromise plan for 66.

The New Hampshire Republican said the compromise was better than the 55-group program originally sponsored by the administration but that it still was not enough.

"A 66-group air force would be all right just now, we must get to work on a modern air force with the latest type planes," Bridges said. "The 66-group plan only calls for taking world war II planes out of the mothballs."

He made his statement as his committee began hearings on House-approved legislation to provide $3,198,000,000 for immediate expansion of the air force toward the 70-group goal.

Bridges said he would try to keep the meetings open. However some military leaders may ask for closed sessions.

"I think the people as well as Congress have the right to know what a 70, 66 or 55-group air force means, and what the interrelated problems of the Army and Navy will be," he said.

Week-End Riots In Kobe-Osaka Are Quelled

KOBE, Japan, April 26 (UP)—The Kobe-Osaka area, disturbed during the week-end by Korean riots officially blamed on Communist agitation, quieted tonight as Allied and Japanese authorities banned all further demonstrations.

Ten thousand Koreans dispersed after a demonstration in Otemae Park within the premises of famed Osaka Castle. This castle was built by Hideyoshi, the military dictator who 350 years ago cut off the ears of Korean emissaries demanding homage.

An order by Allied authorities in Kobe averted a large-scale Korean demonstration there today as the U. S. Army declared a limited emergency, the first in the occupation of Japan.

Total arrests in Kobe so far numbered 1,120 persons. Eight Japanese arrested among the Koreans were registered members of the Communist party. They said they were acting on instructions from party headquarters in Tokyo.

Salvation Army Service Unit Is Organized Here

Walter Hayt, field representative for the Salvation Army in Texas, has arrived in Eastland to formulate progressive plans for the local Salvation Army Service unit and assist in the fund-raising campaign which is to take place 26 to 30 of this month.

Mr. Hayt is a radio gospel singer and an ardent supporter of the Gideons but his Salvation Army field work in helping to organize local Service Units has opened up a new avenue of practical Christianity.

No one will ever know how many millions of people have been influenced to lead better lives because of the Salvation Army. Today, the Salvation Army has embarked upon an even greater program called "The Salvation Army Service Unit." The local Service Unit, comprised of men and women selected for their civic-mindedness and prestige in the community, is established to carry on the Salvation Army program in communities through these local citizens representing the Salvation Army and accepting responsibility of distributing local funds for welfare activities. The program can supplement government and private social agencies, meet local emergencies, or finance unduplicated programs developed by the local Service Unit committee.

The Salvation Army is the life line of help and safety for all people in trouble. Give—and give generously to the Salvation Army Service Unit annual appeal.

One of the varied aids given by the Service Unit is the placing of unmarried mothers in the Salvation Army Home and Hospital for the Texas area. Homes for unmarried mothers have been an integral part of the Salvation Army's program since its organization more than eighty years ago. When a girl makes application for such care with any Salvation Army officer, she is assured that her case will remain confidential. Help the Salvation Army to continue the humane work for all people in need by contributing generously to its current fund-raising campaign.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets to the show are used for various civic enterprises.

SAYS ITALY TO NEED 4 YEARS TO WHIP REDS

By Hugh Baillie
President of the United Press Rome, April 26 (UP)—Italy needs the entire four years of the Marshall plan to keep her Communists on the run, and revision of her peace treaty to play a full part in the Western European Union.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi outlined these two aims in his first exclusive interview since he led his Christian democratic party to a smashing election victory over the Communist front.

Despite the victory, he said, Communism will continue as an important factor in Italy "because the party internal machinery is an iron one."

"The Communist front got 8,000,000 votes and many votes are always a danger," De Gasperi said. "But we are working to convert them."

The 67-year-old prime minister whose electoral victory made him indisputable leader in Italy and a leading contender for the best

ACTION TAKEN BY UN AFTER WARNING FROM UNITED STATES

LAKE SUCCESS, April 26, (UP)—The United Nations General Assembly today ordered the drafting of emergency measures to protect Jerusalem, the city sacred to Christians, Jews and Moslems alike.

The Assembly, in a hurried plenary meeting, called on the UN trusteeship council to work out immediately steps for safeguarding the Holy City.

Aware that fighting already was beginning in Jerusalem, the 58-nation Assembly invoked extraordinary procedure to speed work on the emergency program.

Sitting as the Assembly's political and security committee, delegates voted 44 to 3, with 6 nations abstaining, to authorize the trusteeship council to start work immediately on safeguarding Jerusalem and its holy places.

Then, in only three minutes, the committee adjourned, reconvened as a plenary meeting or the Assembly and voted 46 to 0, with 7 nations abstaining, to give final approval to the political committee action.

The vote came after the United States warned the UN that destruction of Jerusalem in the Arab-Jewish fighting would "become the darkest blot on the history of the 20th century."

Alternate American Delegate Phillip C. Jessup supported a French-Swedish formula for protecting the Holy City. But he emphasized that it did not mean the United States was withdrawing or modifying its proposal to place all of Palestine under an indefinite UN trusteeship.

Stake $3,000,000 And Hard Work On Luxury Hotel

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Five times a night two earnest men climb wearily out of bed of the house they are building. When the plasterers, carpenters and laborers arrive at 8 a. m., the two hover around them like anxious mothers, counting the bags of concrete and unloading lumber and steel.

It sounds like two GIs squeezing the last dime out of a government building loan. But the house Ivar Blacker and Sam Cohen are building is a $3,000,000 hotel—the biggest and most expensive ever raised in this glittering playground.

They are giving it plenty of personal attention because it's their $3,000,000.

Blacker and Cohen and two other partners, J. C. Cohen, Sam's father, and Martin Fisher all of New York, have Miami's get-rich quick building industry watching every move they make.

It is the first time in many years that one of Miami's fabulous vacation hotels hasn't been built in a hurry to get the tourist money at once, not next year.

Dozens of hotels and apartments were built in Miami and Miami Beach immediately after the war to soak up the war-time savings and black market spending. The builders paid fabulous prices for labor. Plasters were getting $65 a day to run up their buildings in a hurry. Rates were high to pay off investments.

Hotels were leased at incredible rentals.

One which leased for $160,000 in 1944 was turned over in 1947 for $1,400,000 and the lessors lost money.

Spending in Miami and Miami Beach took a $50,000,000, dive this year and people were saying the days of get-rich-quick building were over for a long time.

Then Blacker, Fisher and the Cohens moved in.

"This is a new kind of operation for Miami Beach, all right," said Blacker. "We're putting cash into this. We've got a check for $3,000,000 in a New York bank that says we're going to finish this hotel. And we're giving ourselves 20 years to get it back. We're here to stay. Nobody runs this hotel for the next 20 years but us."

They're calling it the Sherry-Frontenac. The name is boldly nailed to a rough wooden shack on the building site used for an "office."

When completed some time in November the hotel will rise 14 stories above the white sands. Its lobby, which is the concrete Blacker and Cohen hose down partitioned off by rolling glass walls that give unobstructed vision from the entrance to the sea.

The daily rates will run from $27 a day for a double room to $80 for one of the 36 penthouse suites.

It will be a city in itself, with movies, doctors, dentists, solariums, restaurants and a beach with 100 cabanas for washing the sand

AMERICAN PASSENGER PIGEON MAY STILL BE IN EXISTENCE

TYLER, Tex. (UP)—The American Passenger Pigeon, a bird which ornithologists say has been extinct since the 1880's, may still exist, according to the findings of Arthur Bishop, Tyler newspaperman.

Bishop struck up a conversation with a Smith County farmer in a cafe here recently, and the farmer got to discussing chickens and pigeons.

The farmer, whose name Bishop failed to learn, said he saw a pair of "strange looking birds" feeding with his flock of pigeons. "They were pigeons all right," the farmer said, "but their make-up was different from any pigeon I ever saw."

He said the birds were much longer than the ordinary pigeon, with long tails coming to a point. The breast was of wine color and blended off into white. The neck also was longer and reflected blue and gold.

"They weren't homing pigeons of any kind," he continued, "for I had a good luck at them as they fed with the others."

After nightfall the farmer took his flashlight and went to the pigeon roost, hoping to capture the odd-looking birds, but they were not there. He said he had not seen them since.

Bishop said he forgot about the story until one afternoon recently when looking through a book on American birds in the public library. He ran across a description of the American Passenger Pigeon and noted the description identically fitted that given by the Smith county farmer as the strange pigeons he had seen with his own flock.

But the American Passenger pigeon, the book said, had been extinct since the 1880's, with the exception of a sole survivor which in captivity at the Cincinnati zoo, died in 1914.

The book related that as late as the 1880's the passenger pigeons migrated across the country irregularly in flocks of millions. They flew in such vast numbers that they obliterated the sun. They broke down the trees in which they roosted, so closely were they packed on the limbs.

At night they were slaughtered by the hundreds when men went in among them with clubs. The indiscriminate slaughter became so wide spread that by the early 1880's, the great American Passenger pigeon became extinct.

Said Bishop of the incident: "If the farmer actually saw what he described, he missed a fortune by not capturing the pigeons. If he did not see it, he pulled a good hoax on a gullible newspaperman."

MANILA (UP)—The new $200,000 Manila Elks Club will still be on a foundation of concrete and corpses.

The bodies of an estimated 200 Japanese infantrymen are buried under rubble in the basement of the former clubhouse at the corner of Dewey Boulevard and Luneta Drive. The new club is going up on top of them.

Fears More War May Put End To Our Education

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—The vice president of Brown University fears that if there are many more wars, education may get too costly for anyone to afford it.

"Every war necessitates a rise in tuition fees," said Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow.

"Before the Revolution, tuition at Brown was $12 a year. After the Revolution it was $16. It was $36 when the Civil War began and seven years later it was $100. It was $175 when World War I started and two years later it was $250."

When World War II began it was $350.
Today—$500.

Music In Elevators Keeps 'Em Smiling

CHICAGO (UP)—People stepping off one of the elevators at the Palmolive building are smiling these days. Music apparently has charms to soothe the harried office worker.

Carl E. Olin, building manager, had an experimental music-playing loud speaker system installed in one of the elevators. The music isn't loud; in fact, barely audible.

Olin said the music is so popular with the riders that all the elevators probably will be equipped with the transcribed music, which is piped in over telephone wires.

Daniel O'Keefe, head elevator starter, swears, that a preennial sour-faced tenant stepped out of the musical car the other day with a cheery smile and greeting.
