That Reminds Me
BY FRANK A. JONES

SLOW-DOWN OF THE MERRY-GO-ROUND HAS BEGUN

A friend of mine, recently returned from the East, told me that in large stores there the largest crowds were around the dress pattern counters. Women by the hundreds are going to make their own clothing because they feel they can't pay the prices asked for ready-made clothes. The sum total of this is going to affect the woman's ready-to-wear business in a big way. It can't help it. The same thing is going to happen in other lines. Buying is going to slow down and may even stop until prices come down. We have been operating on the theory not of greater production for less, but on the theory of less production for more and more. It isn't going to work. Everyone else along the line may be forced to pay the uneconomic prices except the ultimate consumer. He will balk, and when he balks the whole merry-go-round stops. It may be the slow down of the merry-go-round has begun.

THEY ARE DUE OUR SINCERE GRATITUDE

Our hand to the fine group of citizens who give of their time and energy and talent to conduct the several drives for funds that come to our community each year. The community owes them their sincere gratitude.

THE PARKING PROBLEM

Every town has its parking problem and it is generally agreed among those who view the matter objectively and dispassionately that it is insolvable. But is it?

Dog, Playmate Of Two Year Old Boy, Given Strychnine

A Eastland resident called the Telegram this morning to report that the family dog, a half breed Cocker Spaniel which was a playmate for a two year old boy, had been found on the lawn of the home almost dead from the effects of poison picked up on the premises. The family lives on North Dixie street.

A veterinarian was called when the dog was stricken, and said he believed the dog had eaten poison. A veterinary at Ranger was called this morning stating that he had saved the dog from what was definitely a dose of strychnine. The dog was being returned to Eastland this morning.

FRESH BRITISH TROOPS POUR IN TO FORCE PEACE ON CITY

JERUSALEM, May 3 (UP)—British reinforcements poured into Jerusalem today and silenced Arab and Jewish guns in the Holy City under a tough "cease fire" order.

The city itself was quiet, only an occasional single shot sounding during the day, and the British were talking with Jewish and Arab officials in an effort to achieve a solid truce.

Sir Henry Gurney, chief secretary of the Palestine government, announced the arrival of the British reinforcements. The swiftly developing chaos in the Holy City had forced reversal of the British withdrawal tactics.

It was understood that considerable units of men were being flown directly to Palestine from Cyprus, where the British have been guarding 30,000 Jews who were interceding they sought to enter Palestine illegally.

The British spokesman said that all 12 members of the Arab higher committee have left Palestine for neighboring Arab states. The last man left today for Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan.

Says Starvation Threatens World Unless Loss Of Soil Is Prevented

By James J. Murphy
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The Chief of the United States government soil conservation service believes the United States—and the world—will begin literally to starve to death within 100 years unless human beings take better care of their soil.

Dr. Hugh Bennett, soil conservation director, told a luncheon here that only about 4,000,000,000 acres of land in the world are available for farming right now.

The world population is now a little more than 2,000,000,000, providing an overall average of about two acres to feed every person.

But, Dr. Bennett pointed out, nutritionists have discovered it takes almost three acres to provide enough food for a "minimum nutritional diet." To add to the already unbalanced situation, he said, world population is increasing at about one per cent per year and available land is being constantly worn away by erosion, wasteful plowing methods, and inadequate care.

"It will do no harm at this critical period in our history," he declared, "to ask ourselves if the world could feed the 2,000,000,000 more people it will have in another 10 years at the present rate of increase."

Erosion, Bennett pointed out already ranks among the top world causes of malnutrition hunger and famine.

Japan, among other nations, is already in the dire straits' the whole world might someday meet, he said. In Japan there is only about one-fourth of an acre per person to feed the population. China has only one-half acre, an India, one-third.

In 100 years, with the world's population doubled and granting that no more land is lost to erosion and other causes, there will be an average of only one acre per person in the world.

The United States is now in a

There Never Was A Time -

... when fire losses, motor vehicle accidents and fatalities of all sorts continue to mount toward all time highs. And there never was a time when the average citizen was more in need of adequate insurance coverage than now. Certainly the public has brought home to it every day, with increasing force, the growing need for protection against all kinds of insurable losses. Insurance is still the cheapest commodity on the market today.

comparatively enviable position Bennett added, with a little more than three acres available for each of its 145,000,000 inhabitants.

But even here, he warned, the situation is growing worse each year. "In the last 100 years—especially in the last 100 years—half or more of our American farmlands has been damaged, chiefly by erosion," he said. "Originally the topsoil in this country was nine inches deep. Now it is six inches deep," he added.

About 460,000,000 acres of cropland is left, almost all of it subject to erosion, flood, and windstorm. The population is expected to continue increasing creating a demand for 8,000,000 new acres of land every year.

"If it is assumed the same rate of population increase continues even for the next few decades," he warned, "we may be even closer to the danger line than we think."

Bennett said the only possibly of the difficulty is immediate, comprehensive crop and soil conservation measures: contour cultiva-

Hermit Likes
Other World
Since Seeing It

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (UP)—Things certainly have changed in the life of Noah John Rondeau, the hermit.

For 30 years, he lived his chosen life as "mayor" of his one-man town of Cold River 30 miles deep into the Adirondack mountain wilds. Now he's an honorary Boy Scout and is amazed at the number of friends he has.

The 64-year-old hermit still makes his home at Cold River. But, if such is possible, Rondeau has turned into a gregarious hermit. He speaks at meetings, appears at sportmen's shows and now and again visits the city homes of hunters and fishermen whom he has come to like.

They have to tramp 18 miles along narrow Adirondack trails from the nearest road to reach Rondeau's home. Within the last year or so, he's been returning the compliment, such as a week-end visit to a friend here recently.

The small man, with silver-rimmed glasses, leathery face and a bushy, uncombed beard, dates his "public life" from Jan. 10, 1947. That was the day a state conservation department plane dropped a note asking Rondeau to "come out" from Cold River for an appearance at the New York sportsmen's show.

The hermit traced out "yes" in the deep snow around his cabin, then spent the next 48 hours ru-ing his hasty acceptance.

His regret stemmed from 1917 when game protectors tried to fine him $9 for a forest fire which started near his cabin. "I had nothing to do with it," Rondeau says. But back in those days, he remarks, "the conservation department figured that any man living in the woods, trapping and dressed in rags, must be breaking laws."

Then the day he was to leave a heavy snow fell, and Rondeau relaxed. He wouldn't have time to keep the engagement. However, the conservation department sent in a helicopter to "rescue" him.

U. S. Scientist
Check Upon
Long Life Serum

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — An American scientist here says he expects to learn the true value of a mysterious Russian life serum within a year.

Dr. Harry Goldblatt, director of the institute of medical research of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, has given in experimentally to many persons during his years of experiments, and has found that it helps heal fractures.

Russian claims of its being able to prolong life, suggested by the discoverer, Prof. Alexander Bogomolov, have not been proven, Goldblatt said.

Animal life in the Grand Canyon includes about 180 species of birds, 60 species of mammals, 25 reptiles and five amphibians.

Here's one Texan who was beaten to the draw! It happened in Honolulu when John Ben Shepperd, Gladewater, president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, visited Gov. Ingram Stainback of Hawaii to present him with a Texas "five-gallon" hat. Gov. Stainback insisted on first presenting the touring Jaycee leader with a flowered Aloha shirt and the traditional leis. Gov. Stainback was the 39th governor Shepperd has conferred with since taking office last July.

CHICAGO (UP)—When the Aulacoccephalodon left the ocean and wiggled onto dry land, it was a "most momentous occasion," according to the Chicago National History Museum.

"Aulie" was one of the early amphibians and his fossil remains are now on exhibition at the museum.

The museum said that "aulie's" adventurous spirit gave rise to the age of dinosaurs. Then came the mammals and finally man.

"Aulie" and the clumsy Cacops and Eryops and Trematops had their heyday about 230,000,000 years ago. Some of the early ones reached a length of six and one-half feet and looked more or less like crocodiles.

CHICAGO (UP)—Leo Knoerzer, Hammond, Ind., drove his family to Chicago for a dinner party in the cloud room restaurant at the municipal airport, where they could watch the big planes take off and land as they dined.

When the Knoerzers reached the airport they found a long line waiting to get into the new restaurant. So Knoerzer, adverse to having a family outing spoiled, bought tickets on the afternoon plane to Detroit for himself, his wife, and their two children, Nanine, 6, and Peter 13.

They had lunch aboard the plane and dinner aboard the evening plane coming back.

Knoerzer kept his word. If his family couldn't eat in the cloud room, they could eat in the clouds—even if the outing did cost $111.
