Kirk Was Responsible For Gorman Field's Discovery

By Buena Van Winkle Telegram Correspondent GORMAN, June 10—Sitting in the lobby of the Gorman Hotel, noting the different people going and coming in and out of the coffee shop, most of them carrying a map in one hand, a pencil in the other, and wearing looks varying all the way from the abjectly worried to the scintillatingly jubilant, one feels much in the center of the oil business which is the hub of all interest in the Gorman area these days.

Frank Kirk, shown above, backed his judgment that the sand dunes of the Gorman area was good for something other than "goobers"—his efforts brought about the development of the Gorman oil field.

— shall we say, just a human—as the rest of our home town folks. Even when we write them up in the news column, we scarcely think of them as being from San Antonio, or Abilene, or Fort Worth, or Alice, or Sinton, or Wichita Falls, or Dallas, or Gainesville, or Colorado City, or Houston—they are all fast beginning to belong to Gorman.

But back of all this activity, and letting our minds go back to the beginning of things, reaching out to see what has caused all this sudden advent into our town of strange faces and elements, we search around for some one person who might have had the vision, or the good luck to have been the "Man of the Hour," who might have set the ball rolling. There is always some one person who can see the possibilities of things—in this case someone who could see something more in barren looking sand dunes and barbed wire fences than just a place to raise goobers. And there was such a man—perhaps among several who had the vision—but the one who had the courage to back that vision with some visible, tangible effort and some honest, good sense.

new faces, and we are finding them to be just as likable, as hateful, as good, as bad, as wise, as foolish, as full of faults or virtues.

EIGHT SCIENTIST ON TRAIL OF CANCER AT HOPKINS

Hope They May Find Cure Or At Least Some Way To Halt Its Growth

By FREDERICK W. JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—A race which it is hoped may end in the discovery of a cure of cancer is going on in the laboratories of the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Eight scientists, attacking the problem from a different approach, are working in their laboratories tracing down leads, any one of which they think may result in a cure, or at least the discovery of some treatment which may halt the process of the dread disease.

"There is no cure for cancer now," one of them explained. "We are just beginning to understand some of the phenomena relating to cancer, and we hope our studies will bring answers to some of the puzzling questions about uncontrolled growth, which is characteristic of cancer."

One of the eight scientists, Dr. Maurice Sullivan, believes the root of the may apple may hold one of the keys to cancer control.

Makes Warts Vanish

Sullivan discovered that the root, chemically known as "podyphyllum," will cause certain warts to disappear in two or three days. But the substance, he said, is highly toxic and cannot be used on cancers without endangering the health and comfort of patients.

Sullivan pointed out, however, that the drug does inhibit cell division and tissue growth, two outstanding characteristics of cancer. Consequently, he wants to develop a substance with the same effect on tumors but one which is less toxic to the human system.

Dr. Perrin Long and his associate, Dr. Emanuel Schoenfeld, are attacking cancer from a different angle. Scores of cancer-killing substances are tested in their laboratory in an effort to find one which will not damage normal tissues.

So far, several have caused temporary regressions in various types of tumors, but all are so toxic that only small dosages can be used.

Results Uncertain

But they warn against over-optimism in connection with their research. They say:

"The fact that some chemicals show remarkable effects in animals is no reason to believe they will be effective in humans."

Animal tissues are being grown in the laboratory of Dr. M. Rosenfeld. He is seeking chemicals that stimulate tissue growth on the theory that the answer to cancer may lie in chemicals made available to body tissue. As part of his equipment, Dr. Rosenfeld uses an ultra-centrifuge capable of 1,000 revolutions per second to separate molecules by exerting a pressure of 250,000 times the normal force of gravity.

Cells, one of the smallest subdivisions of living matter, occupy the attention of Dr. M. M. Mayer. His research is concerned chiefly with the find of a mechanism in cells through which antibodies are produced to destroy disease-causing agents.

Wilkins Studies Glands

If antibodies are produced against cancer cells, Dr. Mayer said, perhaps they could be used to detect the disease in time for effective treatment.

Because glands may have some relationship to cancerous growth, Dr. Lawson Wilkins is studying the relationship of various glands to growth during childhood and adolescence. The adrenal gland is of particular interest to him.

Dr. I. H. Flexner of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, who also is attached to Johns Hopkins, has made photographs under the microscope of the growth of the liver and brain of guinea pigs to find out what factors are concerned with normal growth. The pictures show there is a critical period during the growth of tissue marked by the generation of energy. Flexner is seeking what causes this energy to be generated, how it is stored, and what enzymes are responsible for its release to cause growth.

Seeks Detection Test

Because only three per cent of the prostate cancer patients admitted to Johns Hopkins Hospital

HOMELESS CAYUGAS, WITH STATE FUNDS, SEEK NEW LAND

By BETTY BAUER
United Press Staff Correspondent
SENECA FALLS, N. Y. (UP)—Cayuga Indians have $300,000. They are looking around for a new homeland. But they must produce a new chief before they can do anything about it.

Under tribal law, that is up to the "clan grandmothers."

The Six Nations Council at Onondag reservation, near Syracuse, ruled that the Cayugas must have the necessary number of chiefs before they can vote on what to do with the money allotted them by New York State and on where to set up a new reservation.

report early enough for operations Dr. William W. Scott is seeking a simple test to detect cancer before it spreads from the prostate to other areas.

Certain parts of the body are constantly growing, even in adults. The hair, nails and skin, for example. The cornea of the eyes also constantly is being renewed.

Dr. Jonas S. Friedenwald has been studying the rate of growth and influence of different conditions on this growth rate. He has found that X-ray and ultraviolet rays, certain chemicals, and dietary deficiencies, especially lack of vitamin A, retard corneal growth. He is now trying to trace the mechanism of these actions to the enzymes of the cells.

Learns Fast

With a hot dog in her right hand and an ice cream bar in her left hand, Isabel Yacher looks like a typical American girl five minutes after her arrival from France. The nine-year-old Parisienne was flown to this country to appear on a radio program.

Anyhow, the first move is up to the Cayuga squaws to chose a new chief.

When the Cayugas went west to the Missouri swamps, they had eight chiefs. Five of them migrated; three remained here. Since then, the tribe always has kept three here, but one died last year. Finally, after the Cayugas do their voting, their reservation plan must be ratified at a council session of the entire Iroquois Confederacy.

Dr. Erl A. Bates of Cornell University, advisor to the Six Nations Indians, says between 350 and 400 Cayugas probably will be involved in the move. Resettlement will be further complicated he adds because the Cayugas have intermarried with other tribes and, under their matriarchal system, a majority of the women and children on the new reservation must be Cayugas.

Bates also says he wants to make sure that if and when the Indians do choose a reservation site, it will be kept secret until all negotiations are completed so that on "sharpsters" will take options on the land and advantage of the Indians again.

Minnie The Muskie Lures Anglers

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—Fabulous Minnie is the dream of every fisherman in these parts. Minnie a muskellunge, residing in Lake Chamatqua, has been there some 17 years since the state conservation department dropped in an 18-inch long fish, tagged 230. She disappeared happily into the depths until 1945. Then a giant fish bearing tag 230 was caught in striping nets. Minnie had grown to more than 60 inches and weighed slightly more than the record of 62 pounds eight ounces credited to a take from Lake St. Clair, Mich., in 1907. Minnie was tossed back into the lake, and anglers here are convinced she will prove to be the world's largest muskellunge. The fisherman who catches

Lila Anne Love, Brooks Herring Wed On June 3

Miss Lila Anne Love, daughter of W. C. Love and granddaughter of Mrs. M. B. Love of 603 South Halbray, and Brooks Bumpass Herring, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Herring, Sr., of 1002 South Seaman Street were married June 3, at the First Baptist Church in Eastland. Rev. Herbert Tatum of the Travis Avenue Baptist Church, Fort Worth, officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Greta Cosby of Wichita Falls, Maid of Honor. M. P. Herring, Jr., of Vernon, was best man. The ushers were Murry Herring, Steen Herring and Jimmy Pollard. The candles were lighted by Lowell Herring and Miss Zena Grissom. The traditional wedding march and Liebestraume were played by Mrs. Donald Kinnaird. Mrs. Jimmy Pollard, sister of the groom, played Trumari on the violin and Mrs. John Seelig of Fort Worth sang "Be-cause."

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white eyelet batiste, fashioned with high sleeves which terminated at a round neck, fitted bodice, and point over the wrists. The waist length English illusion veil was held by pearlized orange blossoms. She carried an illusion fan, centered with and orchid, with hem length streamers. She wore the traditional something old (heirloom petticoat) something new (dress) something borrowed (strand of pearls) and something blue (garters).

The bridesmaid wore a yellow ballerina length eyelet batiste dress and carried an arm bouquet of shasta daisies tied with a green satin ribbon.

After the ceremony the couple left for a short week end trip. They are to live at 455 Pine Street in Ranger.

Miss Love attended Eastland High School, Harris School of Nursing, T.C.U. and Baylor University. Mr. Herring graduated from EHS and attended A. & M. College, Cisco Jr. College, Houston University, and served in the Navy.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS
By Boyce House

Women's clothes have "that new look"—but my clothes get "that old look," just as soon as I put 'em on.

A suit looks good on the dummy in the window but not on me. On me, the suit doesn't hang right; it just hangs.

And my knees are knobby, so at once the suit bags at the knees. Or take a hat—

Other men can buy light gray, or even white, hats and they stay spic-and-span for months. But, regardless of what I pay, my hat gets spotted right away and one side of the brim flops.

And ties—mine wrinkle after the third wearing, except when they wrinkle after the second wearing.

And even as little a thing in the direction of neatness as a shoe-shine—within 10 minutes after I get one, somebody steps on my foot in an elevator.

She'll Stay

It looked for a time as though Georgette Bertaud, who came from France to marry P. Graydon Morfit of Houston, Tex., wouldn't be able to stay in America. Morfit didn't have $500 needed to get her off Ellis Island. But a stranger, James Mont, New York furniture designer, gave Morfit the money.

There ain't no justice. The law says that an alien, convicted of two crimes, shall be deported. But a decision of the United States Supreme Court says you can't convict him of two crimes in a row; no, it can't be that simple; you must convict him of one and then he must go out and commit another and then be convicted of that before he can be deported.

Why doesn't Congress change the law so that, if an alien is convicted of one crime, he shall be deported?

Another thing: We have aliens in this country who are Communists, which means they favor overthrowing our form of government but we can't get rid of them because the country they came from won't take them back. Why doesn't Congress change the law so that we will admit people only from those countries who are willing to take them back—and when a country refuses to take one of these undesirables back, we admit no more visitors from that country?

Henry George, the economist, once cynically remarked that if the multiplication table stood between some men and a profit, you'd find "authorities" who would attack the correctness of the statement that two times two is four.

We'll Get That Window, Aging Coach Cries

RICHMOND, VA (UP)—Each afternoon this baseball season the neighbors have watched an elderly gray-haired man pitch to a seven-year-old boy on the 4360 block, Old Brook Rd.

They predict that another Babe Ruth is in the making. But they feel sure, too, that practice on the lawn is nearing an end.

From dribbling grounders to pop flies to healthy whacks, the neighbors have watched the boy's batting eye improve.

One afternoon the youngster leaped into a fast one and poled a long fly that thudded against an opposite apartment building a scant two inches beneath a window.

The neighbors with alarm over heard the elderly gentleman remark as the retrieved the ball: "We'll get that doggone window yet."

Because of the development of a new research tool, rust may be discovered early in its damaging career.

Picture In Paper Stimulates Students

FALLS CITY, Neb. (UP)—High school youngsters love publicity, Principal Ralph Andrews proved.

At the start of school last fall there were 32 youngsters on the honor roll. Andrews asked the Falls City Journal to carry their pictures.

Since then, the list of students boasting an honor roll average in four or more solid subjects for a six-week period has jumped to 63.

Reporter sought to learn the reason for the sudden upsurge of hitting the books. The youngsters weren't a bit reticent in admitting they were studying hard to get their pictures in the paper.

Tank Truck Idea For Rural Fires Found Spreading

SHERMAN, N. Y. (UP)—A system of using tank trucks to carry water supplies to rural fires is catching on throughout the country almost a decade after the idea was put into practice here.

The idea, which has been referred to as the greatest advance in rural fire fighting in a half century, consists of the use of a truck to haul water to places where fire fighters often are forced to run their lines for miles to creeks and other sources.

The nearby fruit farming community of Sheridan was believed to have been the first to have a fire department equipped with a trailer-tanker water truck. The 5,400-gallon tank was bought by the farmers in 1936 after several buildings were burned because of lack of water.

Introduction of the idea at Stanley, N. Y., was carried out on a smaller scale but with more dramatic background.

One day in the spring of 1939, the Stanley hose company was called to the farm home of Roy Colhoun, where fire was out of control because of lack of water.

Firemen went into action with their chemical truck, the only effective method for fighting farm blazes without water. The chemicals checked the fire, but shortly after it was brought under control the chemical supply ran out. With no water within reach of their pumper, the firemen had to stand by helplessly while the nearly extinguished blaze burned anew and burned Calnon's home to the ground.

"Water," Fire Chief Paul Coe said, "is the thing we must have. And we must have it as soon as we arrive, not hours or even minutes later."

It had become obvious that the only thing to do was to tow the engine set by the Sheridan fire department. Within a short time the Stanley hose company stripped the chemical truck of its equipment and had an 800-gallon tank installed along with ladders and other equipment.

The idea since has spread to dozens of other rural fire departments in western New York and northwestern Pennsylvania, and concerns manufacturing fire fighting equipment now are offering special custom tank equipment.

Life-Color Movies Finally Possible Inventors Say

PARIS, (UP)—The world may see real life-colored movies soon as the result of revolutionary new way of making colored motion pictures announced here.

The system, devised by two middle-aged French inventors, Armand and Lucien Roux, is called Rouxcolor.

It consists of using a special spectrum lens attached to an ordinary camera and a similar type lens on the movie house projector. Ordinary black and white film is used.

The new lens has 40 finely ground pieces of optical glass in it, Armand Roux explained.

Roux said he and his elder brother had been working on the idea for making exact-color movies for 17 years. He said they had done all the work themselves, designing the lens, grinding the special prisms for it, and testing out the finished product.

The two brothers worked in a shabby laboratory on the fifth floor of a Left Bank building loft building. There, with the aid of friends who lent them money, they started tinkering in their spare hours in 1930. They made experimental lenses which produced better color movies than present processes.

Just before the war they finally got a nearly perfect color print.

During the German occupation, Armand Roux said he and his brother hid away the new lens the blue prints so the Germans wouldn't get them.

After the war, with the financial aid of Hollywood and some French bankers, the two brothers set to work to produce a practical method of making the complicated spectrum lens. The first lens was turned out only a few weeks ago.

When Marcel Pagnol, famous French screen writer and producer, saw experimental films taken with Rouxcolor, he junked his latest picture, "The Pretty Miller's Wife." Pagnol will reshoot the film in Rouxcolor.

Does A Bank Have Something to Sell? YES

A bank sells itself . . . the sum total of the service it renders to men and women, the business it launches with capital . . . and encouragement; the contributions it makes to community life.

We are Planning . . . Working . . . Building for a Greater EASTLAND AND EASTLAND COUNTY

The Eastland National Bank seeks for itself new goals of service. In your progress toward financial security, perhaps we can help. It is our desire to do so . . . our many services are planned for your convenience and your profit. Our officers will welcome the opportunity to talk over with you any of your financial affairs . . . to get you the benefit of their financial "know how" and their experience . . . to extend every cooperation.

PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

WHEREAS, Milk is Nature's most nearly perfect food and of recognized and vital importance to our national health and well-being; and,

WHEREAS, the care, the preservation and the improvement of the great American Dairy Industry, with its annual sales more than twice the mill value of all steel production and its ten million people who are wholly dependent on the dairy and allied industries for their livelihood, are of transcendent interest to all Americans as a matter of practical living; and,

WHEREAS, the State of Texas, with over one million four hundred thousand milk cows, valued at 150 million dollars, produced for the farmers of Texas a cash income of 110 million dollars in 1947; and,

WHEREAS, the State of Texas has advanced from a rank of 30th place in 1930 to 8th place in 1947 in value of dairy products in the United States; and,

WHEREAS, as a consequence the American Dairy Industry has set aside the month of June as a period in which the health and life-giving values of milk and dairy products may be best indicated to the American public, as well as to indicate the wonderful enjoyment that humans experience in the consumption of milk and dairy foods; and,

WHEREAS, in recognition of the great advancement of dairying in Texas; and as a tribute to the 338,000 farmers in Texas who own milk cows

NOW, THEREFORE, I Beauford H. Jester, Governor of the State of Texas, in full appreciation of the opportunities herein presented for constructive public service, do hereby proclaim the period of June 1948, as

and do urge that the month be fittingly observed, in private and in public, in order to increase appreciation and consumption of milk and dairy products and to improve our standard of health, our enjoyment of delicious dairy foods, and our financial well-being.

BY THE GOVERNOR
(Signed) PAUL H. BROWN
Secretary of State

IN TESTIMONY OF I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of State to be affixed hereto at Austin, this 19th day of May, A. D. 1948
