Former Eastland Girl Advances In State Career

Former Eastland girl, Pat Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Horn, now of Houston, whose career really started in Eastland several years ago, seems to be scaling the last few rungs toward the top of the ladder. For her excellent performance in the feminine lead in "Mooney's Kid Don't Cry", (a Tennessee Williams play) directed by Nina Vance, she was awarded the annual Minerva Black scholarship to the Irvine Studio for the Theatre in New York City as the most outstanding young actor or actress in Houston.

Pat started her stage career in Eastland when she was six years old, doing skits with her brother, Cliff Jr. They were in constant demand over a large part of West Texas for a year or more, entertaining such groups as Rotarians, Lions, Veterans of Foreign Wars, churches, P. T. A. groups, etc.

In 1938, Mrs. Horn took both Pat and Cliff Jr., to Dallas for a year's study. In Dallas, they made quite a name for themselves appearing in reviews and contests which represented some of the largest dance and dramatic schools of the Southwest. Pat and Cliff, Jr., usually won.

When Pat was fifteen years old, she obtained her first important stage role as Miss Penner, in "Damsel Cheek" with the Player's Guild in Houston, under the direction of Nina Vance. Since that time, she has been very active in Player's Guild, the Alley Theatre, and Houston Little Theatre. Some of the roles in which she has appeared are: as Mistress of the Novices in "Cradle Song," (Little Theatre, under direction of Ralph Mead). Butter and Egg Man, and feminine lead in "Mooney's Kid Don't Cry." It was her performance in the latter that won her the Minerva Black scholarship to the Irvine Studio.

For three months of this year, Pat studied at the Actor's Laboratory in Hollywood. She had just returned from Hollywood when she was awarded the Minerva scholarship. She left June 30 for New York where she is now taking a five weeks course.

The deal was promoted by Price Crawley and Nicol Crawford of Ranger.

Eastland Wins Protest Over Dublin Game

The Brazos Valley League game played between Eastland and Dublin at Dublin on July 11 and which, according to the umpire of the game, was won by Dublin, but which was contested by Eastland, will have to be replayed by the two teams, according to a ruling by the league officials.

At one point in the game Dublin had three men on bases with no out. She put the "squeeze" play on. Paul Campbell for Eastland made a wild pitch to home base. The Dublin batter jumped in front of the box and in front of the ball. The umpire called the batter out but did not send the runners back to their starting points at the time the batter was called out. Following is the ruling and state by the commissioner:

"Since the umpire misinterpreted a rule by not sending back the runners when the batter was called out for interference, the commissioner hereby orders the game to be replayed from the point starting with the batter who followed the batter who was called out for interference. The runners must go back to their bases; the score will be what ever it was at that point and the remainder of the nine innings shall be completed. This portion of the game must be replayed when the two teams meet again. I suggest that you start this part of the protested game a 2:00 p. m. and then play a seven inning game afterward. However, you may play a full nine inning game in addition to it if both managers desire."

Burleson Doubts If Congress Will Accomplish Much

ANSON, July 21—Doubtful that much constructive legislation will come from the special session of Congress, but strong in his conviction that America should carry spiritual as well as material aid to Europe if she is to live up to responsibilities of world leadership, she has assumed, Representative Omar Burleson was busy early this week preparing a series of radio addresses to the citizenship of the 17th congressional district. The Anson congressman will be late in arriving back in Washington since he will not start the return trip until after the session is opened. He and Mrs. Burleson were on their way home when the special session was called and Mrs. Burleson turned back.

Burleson said he was disappointed in not being able to get around over his congressional district and visit with his friends as he had planned but circumstances will not permit.

He has been invited to attend a conference for moral rearmament in Caux, Switzerland in September but it is now doubtful if plans can be formulated in time. Moral Rearmament brings together leaders of government, labor, industry and from all walks of life the world over who are willing to admit that their judgment alone is insufficient and who are willing to join together in requesting spiritual guidance.

Some Prices Misquoted In Advertisements

Our readers' attention is called to a display advertisement of the Pullman Store being carried in this issue of the Telegram. In a former issue of this newspaper some of the items mentioned in this advertisement were misquoted as to prices. These items and prices were as follows:

Universal Mixer and Juicer was listed at $35.00 when it should have been $36.50.

Universal Pop-Up Toaster was listed at $19.25 when it should have been $19.95.

Double Compartment Sink was listed at $150.00 when it should have been $15.00.
Mr. Pullman states that he still has plenty of these items.

Identity Of Bomb Dropper Believed Known

NEW YORK, July 23 (UP)—A 13-state alarm was broadcast today for a former B-17 turret gunner, believed to be the pilot who "bombed" the United Nations administration building from a low flying training plane because he wanted to "blast the UN into action."

Object of the intensive search was Stephen J. Supina, of William, Conn., who made an unauthorized landing at La Guardia air port in a plane similar to the one which had dropped a small explosive near the UN late yesterday afternoon.

Supina disappeared from the field a few minutes after he made an illegal downwind landing in a red and yellow Aeronca.

State Police Lt. Gerald B. Vaine said he was "positive" Supina's plane dropped the explosive.

"Supina is a man afflicted with hallucinations about world peace," he said.

The "bomb," dropped at 3:25 exploded.

BERLIN, July 23 (UP)—The American military government said today that U. S. travel restrictions, which Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky said caused the blockade of Berlin, were imposed only after Soviets had taken similar action against the Americans.

Sokolovsky agreed in an informal United Press interview last night that the Soviet highway blockade would be lifted if the Americans opened their zone to the Russians.

The first official American reaction to Sokolovsky's comment came from Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy military governor and commandant in the absence in Washington of Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Hays was described as "completely surprised" by Sokolovsky's charge that the Berlin blockade resulted from U. S. visa restrictions.

Some informed American quarters regarded Sokolovsky's offer as a possible face-saving formula which might clear the way for a new meeting of the big four council of foreign ministers.

For the first time Sokolovsky spoke to a western correspondent about the Berlin crisis in an interview at a supper party at the Polish mission headquarters celebrating a Polish national holiday.

Asked if the Russians would lift their blockade of American traffic if the Americans opened their zone to the Russians, he replied—"If you did that, we would"

VAN WERT, Ohio, July 23 (UP)—One of the two gun-crazed ex-convicts who had touched off one of the greatest manhunts in Ohio history was fatally shot today and the other was captured when they attempted to break through a road block near here.

John C. West, 22 was shot to death when he and his partner-in-crime, Robert Muri Daniels, 24, attempted to shoot it out with police and sheriff's deputies at a blockade northeast of here. Daniels was captured alive and confessed seven murders within the past two weeks, the highway patrol reported.

A Van Wert policeman, Leonard Conn, was seriously wounded in the gun duel. Frank Fremont, a conservation division employe, also was wounded, not seriously.

West was brought to a hospital here, where he died a short time later. Daniels was not injured in the battle and was placed in the Van Wert county jail.

Candidate Capitalizes On Too Many Shirts

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UP)—Sheriff J. A. Purdome thought it might be a good idea if he bought some "T" shirts and distributed them to youngsters this hot summer weather.

He ordered 500. He got 500 dozen.
So Purdome gave a shirt to each boy and girl who called at his office here.
Each shirt bore the name "Purdome." He's running for office again. So the manufacturers' mistake just raised the number of

Airlines Policy Costs Too Much, London Decides

By ROY ROY BUCKINGHAM

times his name will appear on "T" shirts during the month before the primary.

United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON (UP)—Britain's nationalized air lines are finding it hard to "Fly British" and still make money.

All three—British Overseas Airways Corporation (BOAC), British South American Airways (BSAA) and British European Airways (BEA)—are in the red. One of the major reasons is that government dictum insists that, at all costs, they must fly British mailed aircraft to maintain British prestige aboard.

The howl in the press and parliament, however, has caused the cabinet to reconsider. It is believed the "Fly British" policy will be scrapped temporarily until Britain can get her jet engine passenger liners into commercial production, but that is several years off.

Irish Planes Bought
BOAC received special permission to fly Constellations on her North Atlantic route—London-Bermuda-New York—Montreal—and has six in operation. She bought five more (but for sterling, not dollars) from the Irish air line, Aer Lingus, and will put them on the Australian route.

Six Boeing stratoliners are on order, and probably will be delivered next year.
But the bulk of Britain's equipment are home-made Yorks, Lancastrians and Tudors.
Britain's "Fly British" policy has not been dictated solely by nationalism. It also has its economic side.

Constellations, for example, are said to cost around $1,000,000 plus. A few large orders take a big whack out of Britain's shrinking dollar reserves.

Canada in Market
If Britain can be persuaded to change her slogan to "Fly Empire," Canadair Limited of Montreal expects to fill a lot of British orders.

Canadair's president, H. Oliver West, is in London waiting to see what the cabinet will do. He has seen most of the top BOAC and government people.

Canadair is seeking to sell the Canadian Four, a Canadian developed version of the DC 6. It is equipped with Rolls Royce engines and other British equipment, which will enable the Canadians to accept part payment in sterling. West told the government that they could pay about $100,000 of the price in sterling, which will cover the cost of the British equipment.

West says his plane is better and cheaper than the Constellation, besides being an "Empire product."
British airmen are pinning their eventual hopes on the jet-engine-

Representative

DISTRICT 106

Elect a Working Man and Receive the Sympathetic Service Only a Working Man Can Give

To The People Of Eastland County:

Being unable to see many of you in person, I take this method to solicit your vote and to set forth some of the things I believe the majority of the people are interested in. I solicit your vote with the solemn promise to each of you that, if elected, I will stay on the job and work diligently to help bring about the following:

I FAVOR—

1. Legislation that will make it possible for our needy aged to receive full payment of grant as allowed by our Constitution, without any deductions.
2. A law to establish and maintain a home for our homeless old people.
3. Adequate appropriations for our Eleemosynary Institutions so as to make sure never again would an insane person have to remain in jail, but could be committed promptly for treatment.
4. Legislation that will provide adequate facilities for buildings, equalization aid and Teachers' salaries; ear-marking ample funds for salaries so no "cut" could be made as has many times been the case in the past.
5. A Farm-to-Market Road Program, county administered.
6. Rural Electrification Program, tax free, which would make possible lower rates for the rural people.
7. Soil Conservation; with machinery purchased by the county and actual cost prorated on an acreage basis to farm, ranch or drainage project.
8. Adequate building program for our State Prison System, so that segregation of various types of inmates would be possible; thus making it possible to install a merit system that would be more workable.
9. Increased funds for our Junior Colleges and ample provision to make it possible to offer full courses in all Trades and Industries.
10. A law that will give employees of our cities, county, and state a fair salary, making payment mandatory by the disbursing agency.

No one asked me to make this race, and I am asking your vote and support on my merits. I know what it means to work, sweat, and toil, and no person who has never done manual labor can sympathize with or represent all the people—unless he gets down to earth with them. I assure you the voice of the people will be my guide, and I propose to represent all the people, especially that great silent majority whose voice is never heard in the State House and is very seldom represented therein. I'll appreciate your vote and I won't let you down. Thanks a Million.

Double Murder At Sea Mystifies Philippines

MANILA, (UP)—A strange shooting at sea heads the list of current cases in the Philippine constabulary's "unsolved" file. A fishing captain sighted a small, neat sailboat bobbing aimlessly off the coast. Overtaking it, he found the corpses of a man and a boy. The bodies were riddled with carbine bullets. Seven empty shells were scattered about the boat, but the carbine itself was missing.

There were no signs of a struggle. Robbery was dismissed as a motive when $25 was found in one of the dead men's pockets. Their boat which bore the word's "You are always in my heart" in brightly painted letters, appeared on no official registry lists.

Officials said the small craft might have drifted several hundred miles before it was discovered.

Victim Of Booby Trap Says He's Pretty Lucky

By Jack Gates
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW ORLEANS, (UP)—A Japanese booby trap that blew off four fingers and almost blinded him put Joe Hattier, a former plumber's helper, in a "strange and beautiful world I might have never known." It is a world of music.

Joe is a piano player and the people who have heard him in concert say he is good, although he is minus a fourth finger on his left hand, half of his thumb, index and third fingers.

Before the war, Joe was a plumber's helper at a dollar an hour. He had 20-20 vision and 10 fingers.

Now he's going to be a music teacher.

Joe, who is 21 is a philosopher, believes he's better off in many ways for having picked up that Japanese booby trap while serving with a demolition detail in the Philippines.

"If things hadn't happened the way they did, I'd probably still be a plumber's helper at a dollar an hour," he says. "I might never have had a chance to find out I could play the piano, and how much I'd enjoy it."

Recently the New Orleans Opera Guild, which has sponsored many talented young artists, presented

Joe in concert. He was a hit. His success story is that of a guy who forgets the bad breaks and plays up the good ones. The good breaks he talks about are a WAC sergeant who got him interested in music, a training officer who had faith in him and the law that made it possible for him to go ahead in the field he liked best.

When Joe was wounded, they put him in a hospital in Japan, then sent him to California. There he was told he'd never see again. But before he left he regained a little vision in one eye enough to lead the other blinded veterans to chow, and he discovered the hobby that would become his vocation.

Alvina Valles, Joe's teacher, says he has a photographic mind. "I made up special scores for him, white notes on black paper, so he can see them," Valles said. But he can't see so well, so he just looks a couple of times and then memorizes them.

"Only one time Joe gave me any trouble. For a few months before he got married, he couldn't get things straight. Soon as he got married he was okay."

Joe says his marriage has made his happiness complete, but he admits his wife has one complaint. "When we go to the movies," he grinned. "I have to sit in the first row. She says she comes out cross-eyed. But I'm lucky . . . I can't see well enough to be bothered by it."

Rain In U. S. Upsets Ecuador Indians

NEW YORK (UP)—The unseasonably heavy rainfall in the eastern area of the United States during June had repercussions among the Indians of Ecuador. The reason is that the rain slowed up purchase of the straw hats which are manufactured in Ecuador. Where previously the industry relied on steamers to reach the U. S. with their cargoes of hats, the rain upset the schedule and shipments are now being flown in large quantities to meet the belated demand.

Pan American-Grace Airways reports it recently flew out of Ecuador more than 25,000 pounds of Panama hats.

Wing Almost Censors Newspaper Edition

FREDERICK, Okla. (UP)—The Frederick Daily Leader almost missed a press deadline because of an unruly wind.

The wind didn't blow down power lines. It didn't cause the roof to fall in and ruin the presses. It didn't cause the window to fall down on a typewriter and jam the keys.

But it did blow the Leader's news items off a file hook and out into the streets. They couldn't be recovered.

The editor closed the window and the Leader made its press deadline with other copy, just a minute or two late.

Stiff Fines Proposed For Smoking In Bed

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UP)—The city council is considering passing an ordinance aimed at persons who smoke in bed.

The proposal would subject a person smoking a cigaret, cigar or pipe in a "careless, reckless or negligent manner" and causing a fire to a fine of $50 to $200.

"We've had a lot of fires that were caused by people smoking in bed," said Alderman Alga Reece, who introduced the measure. "We think this ordinance will help stop the practice."

Lightning Strikes Once

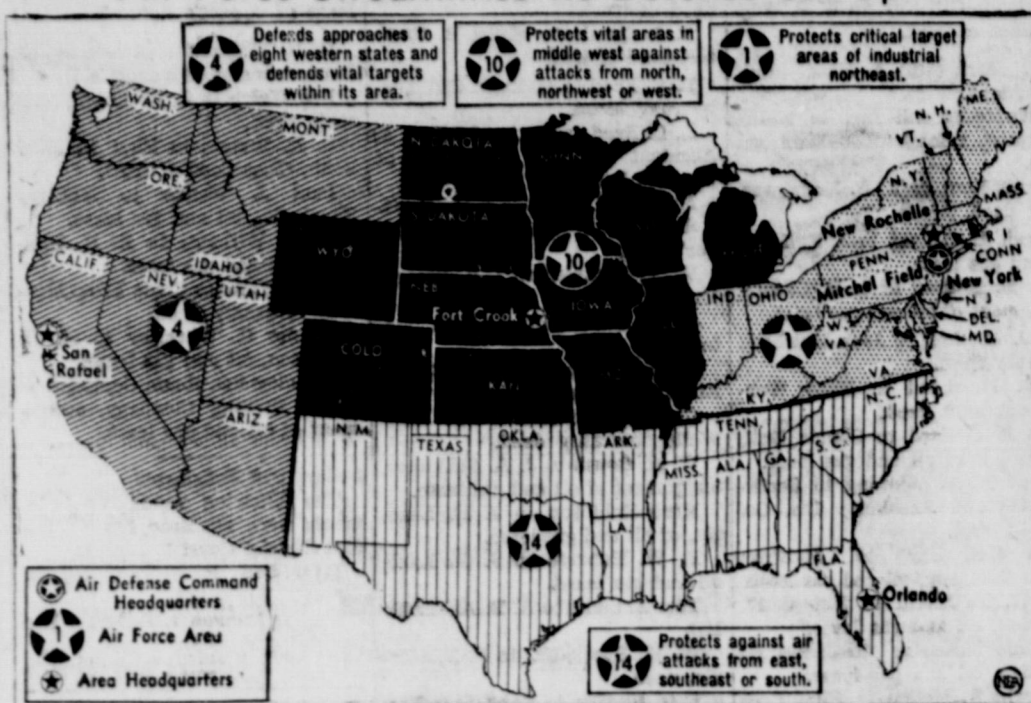

There's a man in that car! He's proving that riding in an automobile during a thunderstorm is safe. Westinghouse engineer John J. Clark felt nothing when 3,000,000 volts of laboratory lightning struck the car, inches above his head. The bolt passed harmlessly into the ground. Experiment was performed in Trafford, Pa.

WEST WARWICK, R.I. (UP)—There was a sudden run on the banana split market, but that wasn't what brothered West Warwick merchants. The puzzle was that their youthful customers were paying off in old-fashioned large-size $2 bills and Indian head pennies. Police took up the case. They found a group of boys had entered a long-empty house where they had discovered a cache of money between the leaves of books in the library. Believed to have been hidden there by its former occupant, a retired letter carrier, the money was said to total about $2,000.

I am led to the reasonable conclusion that we must remain in Europe where we have already made such great investment in peace and not withdraw our defenses to the Western hemisphere.

"However, I feel that material aid alone to Western Europe may not purchase, redeem and reconstruct all we hope, unless we are willing to send along with it a spiritual understanding which is so sadly needed by the whole world. We can build up our defenses, our armaments, strengthen our armed forces and multiply our material resources, but it is my conviction that unless we impart a faith, built upon a spiritual foundation, the only common ground on which all men can meet and believe in God, we may still be lost. This may be our only chance to survive as a nation. Moral rearmament should accompany our physical efforts."

"We, as a nation, find ourselves in a position of world leadership which has been thrust upon us. And never before has foreign policy effected our domestic life as it does now. Everyone, of course, knows the situation in Berlin and the time has come when we must decide to either deal energetically with the problems in Europe, as created by Russia, and form what amounts to an alliance with the countries outside the Iron Curtain, or get out of Europe all together and establish a protective curtain in the Western Hemisphere.

"It seems that the first question to ask ourselves in making these great decisions is whether it is good for America and to predicate everything she does on that. That is not selfishness, it is simply survival.

"Our policy is to remain in Europe, particularly in Berlin where a critical situation now exists, and the indications are that the American people have more or less indicated a willingness to back up this commitment. As individuals I wonder if we realize fully what is involved in continuing such policy. In such policy, it seems to me there are two essential elements involved, the same two which have caused mistaken democracies in the past. The British made promises to Poland and Rumania without the power to back it up. In the case of the United States we soon had the strength in an army and a navy but not the commitment.

"It seems now that the thing we have got to do if we stay in Europe is to make certain that both the power and the pledge are unequivocal. If the Western world is charged, determined and committed I feel that it is entirely possible for us to continue, even though our problems are unsolved, in the present situation without allowing it to lead to actual war. We, as American people, do not like to have our problems unsolved, but having them solved is one of the privileges of living in a closed world and we simply are no longer isolated. Although we may not like it, I think we must make up our minds we are not going to have a peaceful, absolutely certain world, but even with that there is no more reason why we cannot develop a rich and varied life in America anymore than we should

for the UNITED STATES SENATE

FIRST, We all know our A B C s —

- A—That campaign promises and running the other fellow down don't mean a thing.
- B—That what a candidate can and will do after he is elected is all that counts.
- C—That what a fellow is likely to do after election is to be judged mainly by his past record.

NOW —

- * Coke Stevenson makes no campaign promises except honest and faithful service.
- * He is the only man in this race who has a well known record from having served the whole state of Texas, in the legislature as well as in the Governor's office.
- * That record is extra good or you wouldn't bump into somebody strong for Coke, town or country, and all over Texas, every time you turn around.
- * By the record he has done more for highways, farm-to-market roads (to get them started any way), pensions, school per capita, protection of farmers and ranchmen from predatory animals, and on down the lines than anybody else in the race.
- * Coke Stevenson is a man of the soil and always has championed the cause of the farmer and cattleman.
- * He is the only man in this race who seems to attach any importance to constitutional and State rights.
- * He is the only candidate for the U. S. Senate that has a past record to show that something can be done about waste in operating the government, and who wants to talk and do something about the subject.

British Pact Is Prosperous For Irish Farmers

By Charles J. McDonnell
United Press Staff Correspondent
DUBLIN (UP)—A golden era

lies ahead for Irish farmers as a result of the new four-year Anglo-Irish trade pact signed in London. The fact that British now will pay higher prices for fat cattle will put millions into the pockets of Irish cattle raisers. For some time, despite the severity of the meat ration in England, British buyers have had to stand by and see cattle which they could have used go to other countries of Europe. The British would not authorize the higher prices which the continentals were prepared to pay.

James Keogh, chairman of the Irish Livestock Exporters and Traders' Association, said the Eire delegation had obtained everything that the country and the cattle trade could wish for. Britain also is to take as much bacon, butter, eggs and poultry as Eire can supply, so that the immediate future will see a tremendous stepping up of those products here. Opinion in Irish industrial and manufacturing circles is not however, unanimous as to the merits of the pact. Patrick J. Kanagan, president of the Irish Manufacturers Federation, pointed out that it is evident that currency difficulties and the problem of Eire's adverse balance of payments barred Eire from important benefits.

"However," he added, "some of our capacity to protect our industries has been recovered by this agreement." Other manufacturers approve the condition whereby Britain guarantees adequate coal supplies and are relieved that Eire's dollar shortage has been eased. It had been feared that the problem of providing Eire with enough dollars to maintain present imports of petrol, oil and other industrial essentials from America might prove insuperable.

Eire, however, must look forward to a period of austerity for a while. Imports, particularly of luxury goods, must be severely restricted to offset the country's huge adverse trade balance.

Eire now imports from Great Britain ten times as much in goods as the value of her exports to that country. The question loomed large at the London talks, where it was agreed that Eire must cut imports from Britain as well as her trade figures showed a healthier balance.

The Eire government must now decide what form import restrictions will take. The axe must fall on a range of commodities which can be excluded with least hardship to the community, and inevitably will include a wide range of luxury imports, including, possibly, motor cars. Restriction on automobile imports would for the greater part affect trade with Am-

Statistics Show Older Americans May Live Longer

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—The next generation may witness sensational advances in medical work dealing with human longevity. Although life expectancy of the average male child at birth has increased from only 23 years in American Revolutionary times to more than 64 years today, a man of 40 can expect to live only four years longer than he could 170 years ago. But medical science is swinging away from study of infant and child maladies to more intense work on geriatrics—the study of ailments in older age groups. That is shown in an analysis of mortality tables by Northwestern Namerica, since the vast majority of cars used here are from the United States groups.

As yet, Premier John A. Costello has declined to reveal how the dollar crunch was overcome, but he did say that the arrangements were related to the Marshall aid plan.

tional Life Insurance Company. The Wigglesworth life tables, published in 1879, estimated that the average 40-year-old man of George Washington's times would live another 26 years.

The American experience table, issued in 1888 but covering mortality rates of 1843-1858, increased a 40-year-old man's expectancy by two years and two months.

Dated nearly a century later, the insurance commissioners' standard ordinary mortality table covers 1931-40. The table became legal for insurance use in most states last Jan. 1.

The commissioners' table agrees with the U. S. office of vital statistics in giving today's average man of 40 an additional 29-30 years of life expectancy.

That, the Northwestern study points out, represents an improvement of only three to four years for the older age bracket in the last century and a half.

However, recent discoveries and developments in the next 25 years will provide the next major improvement in health and mortality to the middle and older age brackets, the local study predicts.

Current scientific discoveries may take a considerable period be-DeGaulle criticized the six-power German plan as containing "gravest risks for France, for Europe and for peace." He said he is "ready" to step in.

As an example, it said that although insulin was discovered nearly 25 years ago, mortality statistics of diabetics only now are beginning to show substantial effects from use of the drug.
