Eighth Kremlin Talk Held Today

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 (UP)—Western envoys met with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today for the eighth time, and U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith said afterwards that no communication regarding the negotiations will be issued tonight. He said the conversations will continue.

Smith declined to comment beyond saying that Vishinsky as well as Molotov attended today's session, that no communication could be expected tonight, and that the conversations would continue at a time to be set later.

But it appeared probable that difficulties had arisen between the western envoys and the Russian officials in framing the wording of a communique which earlier reports had said quite definitely would be issued later tonight.

Eastland Drops Final Game To Mineral Wells

In their last game of the current campaign, the Eastland Mavericks lost to the Mineral Wells, Resorers, Sunday, coming out on the short end of a 9-6 score. The defeat left the team victory-less for the second half of the race, and hopelessly mired in the unique cellar.

After committing four errors in the first two innings of play, to erroneous fielding, their work touching upon brilliance at times. However, earned runs plus early mangers suited for the resor-er triumph.

Nation's Real Income Is Up, Survey Claims

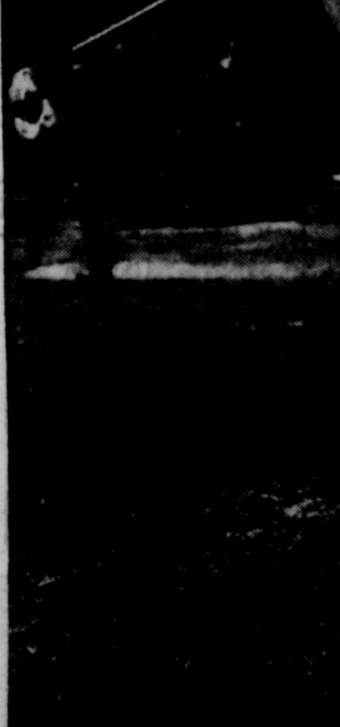

MINNEAPOLIS, (UP)—America's economy continues to look rosy, according to the Investors Syndicate August survey of the average family's "real income." Real income is defined as the relationship of income to living costs.

The survey says the average family has one per cent more buying power than a year ago, despite steadily-rising prices. And for several months, the real income level has been stable, continuing "an unprecedented period of high economic activity."

Expected fall bumper crops may soften farm prices some, says the survey, but world demand and government price supports assure the farmer of continued high income.

Traffic congestion researchers point out that one passenger in an automobile takes up 25 times as much street space as a passenger in a trolley coach, street car or bus.

25-Year-Olds Are Registering Now

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (UP)—Men of 25 fell into line across the nation today for the second military draft in eight years.

From 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. local time, an estimated 1,200,000 men in the 25 year group will check in at 20,000 registration places in the states and territories to answer 16 questions about their occupation, martial status, previous military experience, and their like.

They ushered in the 1948 draft through which the army in coming months will call up some 250,000 men 19 through 25 years of age to swell its ranks to 790,000.

Bradley Says He Will Ask For Initial Draft Of 10,000 Men

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 30 (UP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army chief of staff, told the 49th annual encampment of Veterans of Foreign Wars today that he would ask selective service on Thursday for an initial draft of 10,000 men for peacetime military service.

Bradley said, however, that the Army would not relax its recruiting campaign for volunteers. With the draft and planned expansion of the Army, he said, the United States will have within a year "minimum armed security in balance with the temper of our times."

He warned that the expanded army will be "suffering from the high cost of living as cruelly as any housewife in the country." This year, Bradley said, the Army will cost the American taxpayer "almost six billion dollars."

But he said the national defense cannot be fixed by economic equalities. "Because it is always far cheaper to prevent a war than to fight one," he said, "our military needs must be measured in terms of home security requirements, overseas obligations and in the likelihood of conflict—either through incident or another intent."

Bradley said the United States "cannot safely bluff its way in the chancelleries of other nations without risking all that we have gained from victory in this last world war. There is no economy that can justify the need for some other Omaha beachhead in some future avoidable war."

In 1945, Bradley said, the American people "chose to wreck" the most powerful force for peace in the world by "hasty and hysterical demobilization."

"We put our precious standards of private indulgence before an objective that had already cost us 350,000 lives," he said. "An army that had smashed the best legions of Hitler was routed by the lure of a quick trip home."

He promised to safeguard the "civil and human rights" of the new draftees but said this does not mean "we shall abandon discipline in the army."

Extra Allowances To Water Users Off In September

Harl O'Brien, Eastland City Manager, announced this morning that allowances for city water users, which had been increased for the summer months, will be cut back to the regular minimum of 7,500 gallons in September.

The purpose of the increased minimum was to give people a chance to have gardens and lawns during the hot, dry months.

The fear of a possible shortage of water made it necessary to cut the extra allowance at this time.

One-Family Invasion Of Erie Impending

CHICAGO (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roycroft and their 13 children are ready for a mass pilgrimage to the little town in Ireland where the elder Roycrofts were born.

Travel experts estimated that the family would require a drawing room, two compartments, and two bedrooms to get to New York. Three cabs should get them to the pier where they will occupy two cabins. None of this includes the hand baggage, five trunks, and two bicycles that the Roycrofts are taking with them.

Roycroft, a utility company foreman, has saved $5,000 for the trip.

North Carolina Prepares For Hurricane Today

WILMINGTON, N. C. Aug. 30 (UP)—The storm-scarred coast of North Carolina prepared today for the onslaught of a powerful Atlantic hurricane expected to strike the Cape Hatteras area before midnight tonight.

The season's first hurricane, generating winds of 115 miles of hour, was centered at 9 A. M. CST about 250 miles south of Cape Hatteras and was moving north-northwestward or northward at about 12 miles an hour. Gale winds fanned outward 140 miles.

As a precautionary measure, Navy planes along the entire Atlantic coast were ordered moved inland. The Air Force also alerted all its east coast fields, ordering pilots to stand by for a mass evacuation of planes.

Air Crash May Have Killed 36

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. Aug. 30, (UP)—Officials believed today that a new-type Northwest Airliner which crashed last night and killed 36 persons was struck by a tornado that was just starting to dip to earth.

Search parties worked their way through rugged, snake-infested country south of here today seeking the bodies of crash victims.

Sheriff Henry Rhyner of Buffalo County said several eyewitnesses reported the plane seemed to "fly apart" shortly before it ploughed into Buffalo Ridge, a 550-foot bluff along the Mississippi during a lashing wind and rain storm.

He said shortly after the crash, a tornado-type of wind storm struck St. Charles, Minn., west of here, and unroofed several houses.

The chief killer of children of school age is rheumatic fever.

RETURNS FROM 211 COUNTIES ARE TURNED IN COMPLETE

DALLAS, Aug. 30 (UP)—Former Coke R. Stevenson held a 210 vote lead over Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson at noon today.

The noon tabulation at the Texas Election Bureau gave Stevenson 492,481 votes and Johnson 492,271. It covers returns from all 253 counties which voted Saturday including 211 complete.

Thus Stevenson regained the lead which had slipped to Johnson Sunday night and which the youthful 10th District Congressman held by a hairsbreadth in the first tabulation of this morning.

It was the bitterest finale of a major election in Texas' turbulent political history even eclipsing the breathless windup of the 1941 special senatorial race in which Johnson was nipped at the finish by retiring Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, whose place is the prize in the current contest.

As the election bureau resumed its tabulation this morning Johnson's lead fell to 460 votes at 10 a. m.

When the Bureau stopped counting Sunday night, the former governor was trailing by 693 votes in the smashing windup of Texas' most exciting election 1941 when Johnson lost a senatorial bid to the retiring senator of this year, W. Lee O'Daniel, whose place was at stake in this dramatic primary runoff.

Stevenson led through all of initial tabulations Saturday night. Then Johnson slipped into the lead in Sunday nights reports and there he stayed this morning, by the narrowest of margins.

It appeared probable that Texans would not know definitely until final, official returns are certified which of the two contenders would go to Washington to join their Senior Senator, Tom Connally, in Texas, winning the democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

Johnson, 40 year old Congressman from the 10th district, and Stevenson, Kimble County Rancher who never lost an election in his 30 years of public life, were holding out until the last vote was in.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

U. S. Allowed Any American Stay in Soviet Who Wanted To

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Russian government's hullohaloo over the two Soviet schoolteachers, Kosenkina and Samarin, who don't want to go home and do want to stay in the United States, is in sharp contrast to U. S. government procedure when American citizens want to renounce their country and go all-out Communist. When Anabelle Bucar, of Clairton, Pa., married a Russian musician in Moscow and last February resigned her job in the U. S. Embassy at Moscow, there was no protest from this government. She was allowed to go and do as she pleased.

Russian policy is just the opposite. The Soviet wants to hang on to every last one of its citizens and not let any of them renounce communism. The Russians carry it so far, of course, that they won't even let the wives of some 15 American citizens who married Russian women come to the U. S. The State Department protested to Moscow about this 14 times since the end of the war, and got no action.

In this respect, the House Un-American Activities Communist spy ring investigation has backed on Congress. Whittaker Chambers testified that one elite Communist cell met in the home of Henry Hill Collins, Jr., and Elizabeth Bentley testified that Charles Kramer had been a member of Victor Perlo's spy ring. Both Collins and Kramer have in past years been employed as staff members for congressional investigating committees. So Congress has now learned how easy it is to get suspects on its own payroll, and that the executive branch of the government has a monopoly on employees said to have sympathies with the Communists.

One of the big "secrets" which spy queen Elizabeth Bentley bragged about having picked up for the Communists during wartime was the date of the D-Day for the U. S.—British invasion of France. But the Harry Hopkins memoirs now being printed serially by Collier's magazine say that in May, 1943, the Russians were officially informed by the U. S. government that D-Day would be in May 1944. So Stalin knew this secret before Miss Bentley found out about it.

Chambers and Miss Bentley as having given information to the Communist spy rings are now studying what grounds they may have for bringing libel or slander suits against the informants. Testimony presented under oath before a congressional investigating committee is considered "privileged." That is, it cannot be used as the basis for a suit, the same as evidence submitted in open court. But the character and reputation of many of those named may have been injured or at least opened to suspicion by the allegations made against them. This may impair their standings, their jobs or their future. And if any of these people can prove damage to their careers, it is believed that they may have grounds for action.

Next sport among government employes is comparing notes on how many of the people named in the spy ring case are known to whatever group may be crowded in a bus, seated around a cafeteria table or loafing at a snack bar. Alger Hiss, Lauchlin Currie and Harry D. White were of course top-rank government officials. Lee Pressman, John Abt and Nathan Witt were pretty generally known to anyone who has had anything to do with labor matters. Frank Coe, William Remington, Nathan Silvermaster, Duncan Lee, Harold Glasser, and possibly one or two others, were important enough to rate private offices. All the rest of the 23 people whose names have been dragged through this mire were relatively unknown, the little people of government civil service employment that few outside their own offices even heard of. But they're famous now.

THE SCOREBOARD

Volunteer Firemen's Athletics Are Hair-Raising Yet Amateur

BY JIM O'LEARY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Now that the Olympic Games are over, the International Olympic Committee will get down to business on its broken-time headache.

Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic Committee and vice president of the International Olympic Committee, will be in there plugging for the American ideal of free enterprise in sport, strict amateurism and what not.

Brundage might enjoy a day in the village of Floral Park, L. I., at the annual Volunteer Fire Department Tournament. He'd find a bunch of men not only strictly amateur in competition but also in their work on the village department.

If sport is a game or contest involving individual skill and physical prowess, brother, this is it.

The five-event program starts with motor hook and ladder, class B. This consists of a standard fire engine plus driver and from four to five men on the back end handling a 30-foot ladder.

The starting flag is tripped 50 yards from an archway suspended about 25 feet in height over the street. Just short of the archway, traveling at a speed up to about 25 miles per hour, the crew leaps to the pavement and drives the sharpened ladder prongs into the macadam. Before the ladder is upright, the ladder man begins his climb to the archway. Time is taken when he grasps the top rung of the ladder.

This requires the agility of a gymnast and the brawn of a stellar tackle on the gridiron for the ladder man is usually a third of the way up before the ladder is straightened and put up against the archway.

The real hair-raiser is the motor hook and ladder, class C, which is the same event all over but in a little crash car or quarter-ton wagon and with a start of 250 yards.

The souped-up wagons come into the stretch going close to 70, momentarily slow down so that the boys can leap off at a speed consistent with reason and then continue at high speed to connect at nearby hydrants.

The other three events of a less hair-raising nature consist of different arrangements of coupling hose, turning on the hydrant and tripping a target with the water.

The water pressure hits like George Connor or Ziggy Czaroski and the guys don't get up as fast as if they were hit by these former Notre Dame tackles.

Do you think you could pay men to do stuff like that? Some things have to be amateur.

There seems to be something about being an amateur. Competing for honor and glory has its benefits. It has long been observed in the professional world that many a big-time athlete doesn't have the old college try that once marked him as an undergraduate stickout.

Tablet Found To Keep Men Going In Emergencies

By K. C. THALER

United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON (UP)—A London chemist has developed a drug which is said to be the answer to fear of starvation in emergencies.

Experiments under medical supervision are stated to have proved that man can go without food or drink on a table diet without his physical or mental functions being impaired.

A dose of etagone, which is the name of the wonder drug, occupying in space a vest pocket can keep men alive and working for a period of five days up to a week.

Etagone is no substitute for food and a square meal but it can help in an emergency when food is not available. It is said by its inventors to be able to solve acute starvation in stricken areas, to keep shipwrecked people alive or to help entire armies operating in the field or cut off from their supply bases.

An experiment carried out under the supervision of a medical board with 76 medical students as guinea pigs has shown according to a certified summary, that for five days men had lived on 30 tablets without either food or drink and had emerged fit. Large scale production is being prepared to make etagone available all over the world.

Medical students from various hospital schools volunteered to undergo a five day test, supervised by a medical board. Secluded in an old mansion in a village in Hampshire, the students were required for five days to eat only six tablets of etagone each day, not to drink at all and to shun even the thought of food. They were allowed to move freely in the grounds, to play games and take walks.

All the students completed the five day test and underwent thereafter a thorough medical examination which included vision, mental acuity and general physical condition.

The summarizing statement said "all the subjects were found to be in excellent shape."

There was some loss of weight, but the statement added "the major outcome of the experiment was unarguable evidence that for five days men had lived on 30 tablets, occupying in space a waist-coat pocket, and at the end of that time were as physically and mentally fit as when they had started out on their venture."

Australian smokers and liquor consumers together paid 98 per cent of the total customs and excise revenue received by the federal government in the last financial year.

LAS VEGAS, N. M. (UP)—Las Vegas civic leaders saw to it that a train-load of marooned railroad passengers left with a good impression.

A locomotive derailment tied up traffic through Las Vegas and the California Limited of the Santa Fe Railway had to wait. The chamber of commerce sensed the possibility that Las Vegas might become a sore spot in the memory of the passengers.

So 10 automobiles were rounded up, with drivers. The delayed passengers passed the afternoon touring Las Vegas and the scenic countryside, with a running commentary from the driver on the charms of the city.

Wooden Pistol Deals Death In Siam

BANGKOK, Siam (UP)—Hold up victims in Siam are finding out that a toy wooden pistol can be a lethal weapon.

Clever woodcarvers devised the weapon currently popular with siamese gangsters. It consists of a skillful imitation of an automatic pistol carved from hardwood the color of metal, and it conceals a dagger.

The barrel of the wooden pistol serves as a sheath which can be stripped from the stabbing blade, set in the handle grip.

Jack Webb, Ponca City, Okla., rancher, used to amaze rodeo fans with trick riding and shooting. He's retired, but he keeps his eye with this stunt. His pet rifle is clamped to a converted typewriter stand, and a target is fastened to his hat. Then, a long string, careful sighting and—boom—that's all there is to it!

Miss Dorothy Perkins, who has been attending school this summer in New England, is expected home today (Monday). She will teach again in the Midland schools, returning there in September.

UNCLE SAM'S SELECTIVE SERVICE

(Editor's note: Below is one installment of a series of questions and answers on the second peacetime military training program. It has been prepared under the direction of the Texas Director of Selective Service, Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry.)

1. Q—Who is liable for training and service in the armed forces under the new Selective Service law?

A—All male citizens and every other male person residing in the U. S. who is between the ages of 19 and 26 on his registration day, provided he is not specifically exempt by law.

2. Q—Can the 18-year-old men be inducted?

A—No. 3.—What about an 18-year-old who attains the age of 19 after registering? Is he liable for training and service?

A—Yes. 4. Q—Can the 18-year-old enlist?

A—Yes, he will be accepted for one-year enlistment in the Army of the United States, the Navy, the Marine Corps, and the Air Force.

5. Q—Can these 18-year-old enlistees be sent anywhere?

A—No. Those in the Army cannot be assigned to permanent duty outside the continental United States. Those in the Navy, Marine Corps, or Air Force cannot be assigned to any installation which is located on land outside the continental United States.

6. Q—Can a person be inducted after he has attained his 26th birthday?

A—No.

7. Q—How long will a person 19 through 25 years of age serve after being inducted?

Skeptical Policeman Has To Be Convinced

RED WING, Minn. (UP) — As a night policeman approached an unlighted car parked in an off-limits area here he thought "illegal parking and illegal sparking."

But the officer learned he was one half right. The car was off limits—but the couple inside was not. They told the officer they'd been married 20 years.

Wrote the police officer on his night report: "Remarkable. This woman was really the man's wife."

Woman Photographer, 84, Creates Pictorial History Of "Old South"

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Frances Benjamin Johnston has been a photographer 60 years. Now, at 84, she has so many plans she thinks it will take "about another 60 years" to finish them.

Most of her future plans concern recording on film the buildings of the old South, an occupation to which she has devoted the last 20 years.

"You have to keep right after that, you know," she said in her century-old home in the New Orleans French Quarters. "So many states are letting their best examples of old architecture crumble away. It's nearly criminal."

Right now, Miss Johnston is shuttling between New Orleans and Washington putting the final touches on a book covering Louisiana architecture from the 1920's to the 1950's.

She hopes she and her collaborator, Samuel Wilson, Jr., a New Orleans architect, will be through with their job by October and that the University of North Carolina Press will get the book out next spring. "It's quite possible the book may help Louisiana relive the importance of preserving these early examples of its culture," Miss Johnston said. She is familiar with this reaction, having illustrated books on Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and other sections of the South.

Miss Johnston, who claims to have been Washington's first news photographer and who filmed the White House signing of the document ending the Spanish-American War, has received architectural recognition for her architectural photography.

She has been handed nearly $30,000 in nine grants from the Carnegie Corporation to traverse some 200,000 miles taking pictures of old mansions and old hovels in the South. The Library of Congress, with which she has a semi-official connection, has 10,000 of her negatives in one special collection. The American Institute of Architects has expressed its gratitude for the fact that she shoots her pictures "straight" by making her an honorary member.

Next, she is going to compile some pictures she already has of Virginia and Georgia and then branch out into Kentucky and Tennessee with her tripod ad her chauffeur.

Miss Johnston, who studied art in Paris but switched from writing and art illustration to photography in the '80's becomes a bit crusty at mention of her 84 years. "It's not that I'm sensitive about my age," she snapped. "It's just that it's not important. Experience, yes, but age, no."

All He Did Was Hit 5 Autos In Block

ST. LOUIS, (UP) James Murray was indignant when police ended his pre-dawn joy ride.

When he was arrested for drunken driving, leaving the scene of an accident and destruction of property, Murray floored one of the arresting officers and three more were needed to hold him.

All he did was crash into five autos parked on a single block.
