PARIS, Oct. 15, (UP) - Russia defied the United Nations Security Council today, serving notice that it would not answer questions on the Berlin crisis.

Andrei Vishinsky broke his sit-down strike in the Security Council to announce the Soviet intention of ignoring any council interrogation on Berlin.

The chief Russian delegate, who had announced he would have no part on the council debate of the Berlin case, asked for the floor after the renewal of the hearing on western charges that Russia threatened the peace

Then he definantly rejected a council request to answer two questions about the Berlin crisis. The council was seeking more information about the gravest issue yet to some before the UN.

Vishinsky denounced as a trick a plan to ask each of the big four powers for more information. Disdainfully he an-

"It is useless to think that the Soviet delegation will bite on this bait, get stuck in this glue."

Vishinsky spoke after little members of the council had ap-pealed to the big four to settle the Berlin crisis among themselves. They professed fear that if such a solution was not reached very soon," war would break out

'sooner or later." The council formally requested the big powers to submit detailed information on the breakdown of their negotiations in the Berlin crisis. It showed no inclination to hurry a judgment, as the west-ern big three desired. Chairman Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, whose conciliation effort failed, reopened the door for a further delay in the hearing by posing two specific questions for each of the big four.

"Firstly," he said, "we request the representatives of the United States, the United Kingdom, France and the U.S.S.R. to explain the initial imposition of restrictions upon communications. western Germany and the Soviet zones, the details of the present status of the restrictions.

"Secondly, we request them to kindly explain the agreement in-volved in the instructions given to the military governors of the four powers in Berlin, and to give the detailed reasons that prevent-

Bramuglia urged the big four to answer those questions, "out loud, here."

In turn Philip Jessup of the United States, Alexander Cado-gan of Great Britain and Alexandre Parodi of France sole mnly promised to prepare careful answers to the questions, and regretted that they could not reply mmediately. Then it was Vishinsky's turn.
