HENRY G. VERMILLION

One of the first rounds of golf, you could call it that, on the Eastland Golf Course was held the other evening by Jimmy Harkrider, his daughter Betty, Jimmy Mathews, erstwhile Eastland High stellar athlete.

The fairways were anything but ready for play, since they had not been mowed, and the soil was cloddy, and the greens were unplayable, they all had been shaped there is no sod and putting impossible in the loose dirt if there had been cups to putt Harkrider, who had never played golf, had a rough time, as did the other beginners. The two Jimmys were basing their game on who drove onto the green first. I left too soon to see who won.

The golf course is coming along well, even though it still has a long way to come before it reaches its fullest possibilities.

Winson Cotton and Jack Chamberlain, with voluntary assistance now and again, have done a bang-up job out there, and the whole town, golfers or not, owes them a vote of thanks.

Identically, if you haven't been to the golf course site, drive out some late afternoon.

Chamberlain and Chamberlain have it that the lower limbs have been cut off all the trees, the trunks have been white-washed six feet high. When you see the scene and imagine it, the fairways are covered with smooth, rolling turf, you can see that the course is going to be of great beauty, as well as one of the best small courses in the section of the world from a standpoint.

White says if you are on your putting and need advice up before the golf ball opens, to come play at the F. W. Miniature Golf Course at Main Street.

Of the 18 holes are tests of skill rather than of luck, the course has been completely renovated for play this

Navy Men Hurt In Car-Truck Crash

Navy men were injured and a third escaped with injuries when the new automobile in which they were riding was demolished in a collision with a truck just east of Eastland Highway 80.

They were here for severe injuries then sent to a Fort Worth hospital were Horace L. Reynolds of Leesburg, Texas, and Tabb of Colquitt, Ga.

Reynolds of Overt, Miss., of the 1949 Chevrolet, was in the back seat, and was hurt much. He said he had the car new only 18 days and it had less than 3000 on the speedometer.

Driver of the truck, William Tyler, was charged with assault with a motor and released under bond. He assertedly was driving the wrong side of the highway.

Three Navy men had been in San Diego. The two injured men were on their way home on leaves, and the car was on his way to a new at Norfolk, Va.

and Patsy Crowley are home this week end, where they have their aunt, Mrs. C.

Parking Meters Return $188.50 On First Collection

First complete round of collections from Eastland's new parking meters resulted in a take of $188.50, it was revealed Thursday.

H. W. Dunlap, former Eastland Taxi operator who has been employed by the city to look after the meters and to give tickets to overtime parkers, has been "robbing" the meters since last Friday, a certain number each day.

The first figure does not give a true picture, but next week's collections will represent exactly a week's revenue from the meters.

City manager I. C. Heck said that some of the fringe meters, which collect little revenue, will be taken up. He said the meter installation crew came while he was in an Abilene hospital for treatment of an eye infection, and some meters were set up which he would have vetoed had he been here.

Under the city's contract with the Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Company, half of the revenues are kept by the city and half are paid to the company until the meters are paid for.

City Commission members said they were being approached every day by persons who were against the "free" parking zone around the Courthouse.

There seemed to be growing sentiment in Eastland that if there are to be parking meters on the other parts of the square, they should be installed also next to the Courthouse. Such feelings were expressed this week both by those who had welcomed the meters and those who opposed them.

Watermelons Pay Off After Vetch, Rye Crop To Tune Of $77 Per Acre In County

Do watermelons pay off following a crop of vetch and rye?

L. E. Davis, TVA farm unit demonstrator of the Nimrod community of Eastland County, says they do to the tune of $77 per acre.

He told County Agent J. M. Cooper that on a 33-acre field that was sown to vetch and rye in the fall of 1946 and 1947, he decided to add 61 per cent phosphate and try for a volunteer crop last fall. However, after putting out 100 pounds of the 61 per cent TVA phosphate, he had to quit to attend to some other work. One thing led to another and he never got around to distributing it on the other half.

The latter part of March of this year, he put down 100 pounds of 5-10-5 commercial fertilizer per acre on strips where he would plant the melons. He planted the melons on April 6 with the rows 22 feet apart. Later on he disked and used a stalk cutter to chop up the remainder of the volunteer vetch and rye.

Up to Aug 15 he had sold $2550 worth of melons off of the 33-

G. I. Insurance Claim Forms To Be Available

World War II veterans who had or have National Service life insurance policies may obtain forms for "dividends" being paid on the policies at the office of Service Officer H. J. Tanner in the Eastland Chamber of Commerce beginning Aug. 29.

The Red Cross and Post Office also will have the forms.

Claims may be filed Aug. 29 or afterward, and payments are to be made after Jan. 1. Tanner has been advised. He was to receive 1000 of the payment claim forms.

Season Grid Ticket Sale Begun Here

Season reserved seat tickets for Eastland High School football games are on sale by Ross Rucker, school business manager, at his office in the Exchange Building.

The season tickets are $4.50. Reserved seat section will be in the same location as last year, in the center of the west side stands at Maverick Field.

Rucker said those who had reserved seats last year have an option to purchase the same seats this year, but the option will be good only until Monday.

Football Practice Shows 'Crying' Need For Backs

"Where's my crying towel?" Eastland High School Coach Wendell Siebert asked Monday afternoon after his first 1949 practice session with the new Maverick football squad.

There were about 45 football aspirants on the practice field, a good many of them husky specimens, but there wasn't a backfield man among them. Those, Siebert would have to develop.

He was experimenting with Doug King, Edwin Aaron and Wendell Reed, the latter one of the new Morton Valley boys, at the quarterback position, and was planning to do a lot more experimenting before the season opens.

The Mavericks' first grid game with Coleman will be played at home on Sept. 9, and that date was rushing up on Siebert and Assistant Coach James Alexander like a jet fighter.

Alexander, whose chief job is with the linemen, was not quite as worried as Siebert, since he has an all-letterman line unless Siebert drafts too many of them for backfield duty. Glenn Garrett, a co-captain and one of last year's guards, was running with the backs.

Next Monday, the real football workouts will begin, after this week's sessions of dummy drill, of calisthenics, and of other body and mind conditioning exercises.

Data Obtained On Vet Farm Program

Answers to questions on the Texas Veterans Land Program, under which Texas World War II veterans may purchase farm lands valued up to $7500, were available this week in the office of H. J. Tanner at the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

The program is only for Texas veterans, that is, those who were residents of Texas when they entered the service and those who are residents of Texas now, it was stressed.

Such veterans who wish to purchase farms may do so with a minimum down payment of five percent, with 40 years in which to pay the balance, with a three percent interest rate.

Complete information on the program also may be obtained from the executive secretary, Alvis Vandygriff, at the Veterans Land Board, General Land Office, in Austin.

The program is being financed by $25,000,000 in state bonds.

Cafe Operator Fined On Gaming Charge

One of the fanciest punch boards ever seen in Eastland County, called the "Super Duper," with combined elements of a slot machine and marble table, rested in Sheriff J. B. Williams' office Thursday after it had cost Cisco Cafe Operator Charlie Rice $40 in Justice of the Peace W. E. Brown's court in Cisco.

Rice entered a plea of guilty to operating a gaming device and was fined $25 and costs Wednesday.

Williams said he was going to file charges for every punch board, slot machine, or other such device he finds operating in Eastland County.

Grass To Be Subject Of Kokomo Field Day

A soil conservation meeting and field day will begin at the Kokomo Schoolhouse at 10 a. m. Friday with a speech and exhibit of grasses by Henry Turney, grass specialist with the Soil Conservation Service of Dublin.

Turney will speak until about noon, when a barbecue will be served, through courtesy of chambers of commerce and other organizations of the towns of Eastland County.

Following the barbecue, the group will make a tour of pastures to study grasses and get a demonstration of what Turney is to tell them in the morning.

The field day program has been arranged by L. R. Higginbotham of Kokomo, district supervisor for the Upper Leon Soil Conservation District.

Program To Give Dairy Calves Urged

An explanation of the youth dairy program for Eastland County under sponsorship of the Eastland County Dairy Association was made by the organization's president, A. Z. Myrick of Cisco, at the Eastland Lions Club Monday.

Myrick urged that civic organizations get behind the program, under which quality dairy calves will be given to farm youths of Eastland County whose families cannot afford to buy the calves.

Under the plan, first heifer calves born to the youths' animals will be returned to be given to another boy, and so on.

But the first calf must be bought by someone, and Dr. Kenneth Cowan, president of the Rotary Club, said the club will help sponsor the program in Eastland to the limit of its ability.

The general program is the same as has been quite successful in Johnson County, of which Cleburne is county seat.

Calves given under the project must be shown in all dairy shows in the county. Donations for purchase of calves may be for any amount, or may be a calf selected by the donor.

Permission Given For Vision Survey

Permission for a survey of the vision of children in the Eastland schools was given by the Eastland School Board at a meeting Friday night of last week. Board Secretary Ross Rucker told members of the Lions Club Tuesday.

The club had proposed sponsoring such a survey, and had requested permission of the school board to do so.

Dates and details of the survey are to be arranged later by Dr. E. A. Adelsten, chairman of the club's sight conservation committee, and Dr. Jim Whittington.

In the survey, eyesight of all the school children will be tested, and those who need glasses will be given slips to take home to their parents notifying them of the fact.

Where parents cannot afford glasses, the Lions Club proposes to furnish them if possible.

Principal speaker at the club meeting Tuesday was Ira Moore of Hamilton, deputy district governor of the Lions Club, who told of his experiences in attending the recent Lions International convention in New York City.

Fine Paid After Crash In Olden

An automobile driven by William W. Gladden of Kermit was sideswiped Monday in Olden by a car driven by Paul A. Paulos of Waco. The accident occurred as Gladden was turning. He was visiting in Olden.

Paulos later entered a guilty plea in Ranger justice of the peace court to a charge of following too closely behind another vehicle, and paid a fine of $10 and costs. Paulos operates a cafe in Waco.

Betty Collins is spending part of her vacation visiting in Odessa and San Angelo.

Okra Gets Paved Outlet As New Road Completed

Okra, in the Eastland County hinterland between Carbon and Rising Star, finally had a paved outlet to the world Tuesday when the topping of the farm-to-market road to Rising Star was completed. The topping actually connects Okra with paved Highway 36, which goes from Rising Star to Comanche.

The newly paved strip is about four miles long, and is a section of the paved farm-to-market road that later will connect Rising Star directly to Carbon, and thus to Eastland, by hard-surfaced road.

County Judge P. L. Crossley said a contract is to be let in January for topping another 3.7 miles of the road south of Carbon, and another contract later in 1950 for about the same distance north of Okra. That still will leave one unpaved gap, he said.

Topping of a farm-to-market road north of Ranger toward Caddo also was due to be finished soon. The section crosses the Stephens County line. A later section due to be topped will hard top the road all the way to Caddo, and will connect U. S. Highways 80 and 180.

A contract is due to be let in January for topping several miles of farm-to-market road north of Gorman toward Alameda. This section ultimately is due to be part of a hard-surfaced road from Ranger to Gorman.

Steele To Take Boys To Week's Camp

Assistant County Agent W. E. Steele, Jr., will leave Monday to attend the annual Texas Conservation Camp at Trinidad, near Corsicana.

He will take with him 4-H Club boys from five counties in this area, including James Horn of Olden. The camp will last a week.

At the camp the boys are taught conservation measures of various kinds, and learn handiwork.

Alameda Club Has Display Of Members' Skills, Including Handwork, Canning

A display of the year's achievement of members of the Salem Home Demonstration Club was set up at the Alameda Community Center Aug. 9.

Invited guests were members of the Flatwood Home Demonstration Club and businessmen of Ranger. In addition, several members of the Cheaney club attended.

Central attraction was the bedroom exhibit which won second place at the Gorman Indian Trail Festival recently. The exhibit was made of print and plain feed sacks, and a small kerosene lamp converted into an electric lamp by adding wiring and a ruffled dimity shade.

A pansy doily and numerous other crocheted items were admired, along with stenciled pillows, cup towels, pillow cases and dresser scarfs. There also were crocheted rugs, quilts, aprons, bedspreads and curtains.

Twenty varieties of canned vegetables, fruits and pickles were shown.

In the hobby section, Mrs. Bill Tucker showed a collection of 300 buttons, including leather

Both Measures Carry In School Election

Approval of both measures submitted to qualified voters at last Saturday's school election in Eastland was by heavy majorities, election officials announced.

Election Judge J. C. Allison said the vote for a $1.50 tax rate over the entire enlarged Eastland School District was 131, with 17 votes against.

The voting on the entire district assuming bonded indebtedness of each part was 116 for and 25 against.

Rancher Promised Relief From Bobcats

N. C. Gailey of the Tudor community of eastern Eastland County, Thursday was promised some relief from the Bobcats which have killed 57 head of his goats in the last three weeks.

Gailey appealed to County Agent J. M. Cooper for some sort of help against the bobcats. He said he had seen two or three of the cats at a distance, but had been unable to kill any.

Cooper obtained the promise of a special state bobcat trapper and hunter who is scheduled to arrive at Gailey's ranch from Nocona in the next day or two.

New Look Given To City Dump

Adoption of a trench fill system for garbage at the Eastland City Dump was disclosed Thursday by City Manager I. C. Heck.

Under the system, a trench is bulldozed at the dump and all garbage is dumped into the trench until it is full.

Then the garbage is covered and another trench started. Eventually, Heck said, the garbage in the first trench decays to the point where the same ground can be used again.

Initial work of getting the dump in shape to begin the system cost about $300 or $400 in bulldozer hire, Heck said, but after this the cost for an entire year should be around that figure.

He asked the public to cooperate by putting any trash or garbage carried to the dump into the ditch.

Penalty for complying with the request is $5 per offense, he said.

The sanitary fill system, as the trench fill operation is known in many places, has been adopted by most of the larger cities of the nation, and is widely recommended by sanitary officers.

The method eliminates breeding of flies and mosquitoes in the dump, and also wipes off the spot as a feeding and breeding place for rats and other rodents.

Offenses Charged To Man On Bond

Roy L. Mears, who was freed under $2000 bond after being indicted twice on check charges by the last Eastland County Grand Jury, Thursday faced the need for making $2000 more in bonds if he is to go free soon.

Charges of forgery in four separate cases were filed in Justice of the Peace E. E. Wood's court in Eastland, and Sheriff J. B. Williams said he could file 13 more charges if necessary, all on different checks allegedly passed by Mears.

Wood set bond at $500 in each case in a hearing Thursday.

Williams said all the checks he has now were passed in Eastland County after Mears was freed on bond in the other cases, which grew out of a check given to the King Motor Company in Eastland.

Williams said the checks all were signed with Mears' name, and were given on De Leon and Dublin banks.

Mears in the hearing Thursday entered a plea of not guilty in each of the cases. He was held in the Eastland County jail. He had been re-arrested earlier in the week in Comanche by Comanche County officers.

Values Of Oil, Gas Properties Hiked Under New System

Eastland County's tax rate will remain at 60 cents on the $100 valuation next year, the same as it has been for two years, the Commissioners Court decided Tuesday after an annual budget hearing attended by no one, as usual, except the court.

The budget adopted, while not final because some of the county's tax valuation figures have not been compiled, was not markedly different from last year's.

However, there is one big difference. The county's taxable valuation will show an increase of over $3,000,000, from $20,818,610 to over $24,000,000.

It was revealed that the bulk of the difference came in new assessments of oil and gas and utility properties in the county, and county officials said the new valuations largely were due to a contract with Thomas Y. Pickett of Dallas.

Pickett, a valuation engineer, long has handled oil, gas and utility valuations for a great many Texas counties. His two-year contract with Eastland County was signed last spring.

Pickett's services are paid for by the county on a number of different formulas. It was estimated that this year's fee to his firm will be close to $4,000.

The county will receive about $18,000 in additional taxes through the increased valuations, at the 60 cents rate.

In addition to Pickett's work, quite a bit of oil development has come in the county since last year's valuations were set, making for larger tax values.

Ex-G. I.'s Offered College Courses

World War II veterans living in and near Eastland will have a chance to take college extension courses under the G. I. Bill of Rights in Eastland High School during the next school term, it was announced Thursday by Dr. G. C. Boswell of Ranger Junior College, which will sponsor the courses.

Those interested in enrolling for the courses were asked to attend a meeting in Eastland High School at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Dr. Boswell and R. F. Webb of the Ranger college staff said the establishment of the courses in Eastland is "a great step forward in the field of education," and the Eastland School Board and School Supt. W. G. Womack are heartily in favor of the movement.

The school officials said that it was important for veterans who wish to enroll to be at the Friday meeting.

However, enrollment may be made as late as Sept. 6. Those who enroll later than Friday may receive first month subsistence checks later than the others, it was explained.

Crowell Lumber Co. Building Renovated

The entire building housing the office and display rooms of the lumber firm has been renovated, and the office space has been greatly enlarged and modernized. A new hardwood floor, new plate glass show window, new interior fixtures, new wall and ceiling board, and rearrangement of the interior space are among the most noticeable features of the project.

Bigger, Better Fair Pledged For 1949

A bigger, brighter, gayer, more fantastic and original spectacle is the promise which the world's largest state fair holds to the two million visitors expected for the gigantic 16-day exposition starting Oct. 8 in Dallas, W. H. Hitzelberger, vice president and general manager of the State Fair of Texas, has announced.

"The 1949 Fair will be the best-balanced show in the history of the exposition," Hitzelberger said. "This year we will see to it that sprawled over the 187 acres of fair grounds will be more of everything which fairgoers like, and that quality-wise all phases of the giant show will be at least two cuts above anything ever before seen at the fair."

Commercial exhibits such as foods, agriculture, automotive, home show, and farm implements, will feature more interesting displays than at any time since the war. This is attributable, Hitzelberger said, to new market conditions and increased competition for public interest.

Two new foreign exhibitors—the British and Belgian government—will add a new international flavor to the Fair by presenting the best of their articles in a serious bid for Southwestern favor.

More money for livestock premiums has resulted in a heavier flow of entries than for any previous fair. Headlining the 1949 livestock exhibits will be the National Aberdeen Angus show, Oct. 8-13. Herds from all representative Angus-producing states and from Canada are expected. Other breeds in the beef cattle show include Herefords, Shorthorns, and Brahms. Breeds in the Dairy Cattle show are Holstein-Friesians, Jerseys, Milking Shorthorns, and Guernseys.

Othel major shows of the livestock division will be swine, sheep, Angora goats, Quarter and Palomino horses, and an outstanding junior livestock show. Premiums total $65,235.

Three major football tilts—Texas vs. Oklahoma, SMU vs. Rice, and SMU vs. Kentucky—top an impressive nine-game gridiron schedule in the Cotton Bowl which is being increased in capacity from 67,431 to 75,347 by addition of a second deck on the east side. The fair's parking lot is also being enlarged at a cost of $25,000 to accommodate 1,000 additional cars under all weather conditions.

Most breath-taking event of all, however, is expected to be Rural Youth Day, Oct. 15, when 75,000 4-H Club boys and girls, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers will be the honored guests of the fair. "Interest in this day alone is a good indication that the 1949 Fair will be the most successful ever staged," Hitzelberger said.

"Groundnut Shaker"

Pictured here is the Turner Peanut Shaker and Dropper, now being used extensively in the cultivation of peanuts. It is the first Machine of its kind imported into South Africa to save time and labor for "Groundnut" growers in the Free State.

They May Be 'Groundnuts' In Africa, But Peanut Still Is Climbing In World

Call it groundpea, earth nut, ground nut, pindar, or goober—depending on where you live—but showing how the lowly peanut has risen to a state of increasing importance in other regions of the world is seen in a recent news story from Johannesburg in South Africa.

In the United States, peanut cultivation has spread as far west as New Mexico, and from 697,350,000 pounds picked and thrashed in 1939, the annual crop soared to 2,075,880,000 pounds in 1946. Rich in food elements—Fats, carbohydrates, and protein—peanuts are being made into large and increasing quantities of peanut oil and peanut butter and regularly used for food. Americans consumed six million pounds of the shelled variety alone in 1946.

The peanut, an annual plant of the pea family, is remarkable in its manner of fruiting. When the petals have fallen, the flower stalk bends downward, pushing the growing pods which replace the flowers into the ground, where they develop and ripen below the surface.

In South America, the peanut has been cultivated since prehistoric times for its nutritious seeds. About 1500 it was introduced into Africa, where it is extensively grown by the native peoples.

And from the Johannesburg Star, in the Orange Free State of South Africa, comes an intriguing story of how the peanut shaker and dropper, made by the Turner Manufacturing Company of Statesville, N. C. is helping the peanut framers in that faraway place save both time and labor.

The South Africans call them groundnuts and measure their land in morgens, an old Dutch term for about 2.1 acres, or the amount one man can plow in one morning.

The Star's story reported the demonstration of the "New Groundnut Lifter in the Free State," the first machine of its kind imported into South Africa, and the success of the venture is readily apparent from the account which reads in part:

"The first groundnut lifter and stacker to be imported into South Africa from the United States was most successfully demonstrated on Mr. Cecil Whitfield's farm near Viljoenskroon a few days ago. "Groundnut farmers who saw this machine at work were unanimous in their praise of its simplicity and efficiency. They estimated that it would save the farmer growing groundnuts in loose, sandy soil as much as 70 per cent in labor and growing costs in the reaping of his crop while it would improve his yield by as much as five per cent. . . .

"The demonstration proved that the machine, drawn by a light tractor, could lift about 12 morgen of groundnuts a day . . .

"To me it is not so much a question of labour saving as time saving," said Mr. Rhys Evans, well known Viljoenskroon farmer, after the demonstration.

"Now I have to start lifting my crop weeks before I should really start, to get the crop out of the ground before the first bearing starts sprouting. With the aid of one or more of these machines, I shall be able to lift my crop in much less time than can be done with manual labour and that should improve my yield considerably."

"Mr. Evans ordered one of the new machines half an hour after his arrival at the demonstration. . . . "To the little town of Viljoenskroon, the discovery that groundnuts can be successfully produced in the sandveld is of great importance. Since groundnuts were first produced on a large scale in this area, this town has gone ahead by leaps and bounds and the groundnut mill, erected by a large co-operative concern just outside the town, is today the pride of the district. . . .

"The production of groundnuts in the north-western Free State is, however, not confined to the Viljoenskroon district. Groundnuts are rapidly ousting maize from a large area because the yield per morgen has in normal years been as much as four times greater than that of meales. This year it will be very much greater because the groundnut has stood up to the drought very much better than the meale (maize or Indian corn, plural for ears of corn)."

Thus the peanut has not only traveled far, but has also enhanced its social standing considerably among the agricultural aristocrats of the earth.

Carpentry Learned Out Of Books Now

AUSTIN.—Carpenters' apprentices who have had to depend upon experience only to learn their trade will soon be supplementing it with "book learning" under a program prepared by the University of Texas Industrial and Business Training Bureau.

A standard course of study with instructional material is being readied. The Associated General Contractors of Texas and the State Council of Carpenters each chipped in $1,000 and asked the Bureau to do the job. State and

Domestic Water Use First, Is Cry Of WTTC Chief

ABILENE.—A further examination of the facts of upstream water development in the light of domestic water may change conclusions of the Department of Interior, D. A. Bandoen, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has written Secretary J. A. Krug.

The statement follows the 38 page letter written by Secretary Krug, in transmitting a Texas water study to Senator Lyndon Johnson. In this letter Krug said, "It is doubtful that the repayment ability of the water users of many of the upstream developments in Texas will ever be found to be sufficient to equal the reimbursable costs."

This statement was challenged by WTCC.

It called upon Secretary Krug to apply the formula of economic loss to lack of water as well as flood damage to criteria upon which multi-purpose dams may be built by the federal government.

"A further examination of this conclusion, we believe, will produce a wholly contrary result," the letter said.

"You will note in our report several new approaches to the facts on this water resource development problem, which I am sure will intrigue you."

They were listed: First, that West Texas has wholly insufficient water for domestic and industrial needs, which can only be overcome by upstream development.

Second, a new approach to the water problem in computing the economic loss from lack of water as well as from flood damage.

Third, is the possibility of the government obtaining more reimbursable revenue from the sale of domestic and industrial water from small dams on the upper tributaries than under the present multi-purpose dam policies.

Bandoen also urged Secretary Krug to lend support to the Hoover commission recommendation that domestic water be given priority of use in multi-purpose reservoirs.

Meanwhile the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has continued its hammering for more domestic water in West Texas and is advocating the construction of multi-city dams for the purpose of supplying municipalities with water.

The latest efforts on behalf of the Bob Baskin Dam Assn., for the construction of a dam on the Double Mountain fork of the Brazos which would supply water for 25 or 30 drought stricken West Texas towns. The State Water Board at Austin has been asked for recovery of some 300,000 acre feet of water from the Brazos River Authority for this project. A meeting will be held with the BRA in the immediate future to further prosecute this request.

Texas U. Entrance Gate Is Lowered

AUSTIN.—Beginning this fall, Texas high school graduates who finish in the third or fourth quarters of their classes will be accepted on probation as university freshmen.

But the probation will be removed immediately if such students rank in the top half of the group taking the psychological test or pre-engineering inventory test required of all entering freshmen.

Indication that the University's facilities are catching up with the tremendous postwar enrollment increase is also shown in the relaxation of restrictions on admission of out-of-state students.

Non-resident transfers from other colleges will need a 1.5 grade average (midway between "C" and "B") instead of a 2.0 "B" average required since 1946, and non-Texas high school graduates will need to rank only in the top half of their class instead of the top quarter.

federal vocational funds brought the grants-in-aid up to $8,000.

The program is being prepared in cooperation with the State Board for Vocational Education.

Texas Employees, Wages Multiplied

AUSTIN.—A recently completed University of Texas Bureau of Municipal Research survey of salary and wage scales in Texas cities shows more people working and getting higher pay over the period of the past six years.

A study by Research Associate W. Terrell Blodgett of 61 Texas cities with a population over 5,000 indicated annual salary-wage totals have almost tripled and the total number of employees doubled in the past six years.

In January, 1942, the salary totals of the cities studied was $2,377,000 and the employee total 19,682 non-school workers. By Oct. 1948, the figures were $6,542,000 and 38,312 respectively.

Symptom Hunting Decried By Cox

AUSTIN.—Among a certain rather extensive group of centered persons symptom hunting unfortunately is rather popular. Because of a too detailed study of so-called health literature of the alarmist type or account of a recent death in the family, introspection develops a morbid degree. The result is entirely unfounded fear for sorts of disease possibilities. Many becoming victims of this warped psychology develop brain and nerve exhaustion and in extreme cases even become affected mentally, stated Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Of course, it is entirely proper to have a normal regard for personal well-being. To maintain vitality and to prevent disease a logical pursuit for every one. It most decidedly must be kept within bounds. When one becomes obsessed with the subject, concern for health has overstepped its limits.

For all practical purposes, giving reasonable attention to personal sanitation, sleep and exercise, and assuming that bodily limitations are defined, the family physician are appreciated, the average person can miss the subject of health. Plus the annual physical examination should be adequately of the situation.

On the other hand, conditions are bound to arise where disease symptoms manifest themselves. It will then be up to a doctor to decide what the truth is, and for the patient abide by his judgment.

In short, symptom hunting hobby is a dangerous matter. It should stay away from it. Neither safe nor healthy otherwise.

Half the cities have made of-living wage increases in the past two years. Return benefits and group insurance have been added or expanded and overtime schedules and overtime systems have been set up in places, the survey indicated.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Hollworth and daughter are in Jita, Kans., where Mr. Hollworth is attending a corrodemonstration. He is employed the Schlumberger Well Logging Corp. in Eastland.

minute, or some such unbelievable figure.

That is, unbelievable until you see it doing it.

The machine was sold to the city with the parking meters and on the same terms. Actually, the counting of coins is slowed down a good deal because of the ever-present human factor.

The person operating it has to stop and roll up the money in coin wrappers, although the machine puts them into the wrappers.

Because of this slowdown, it takes several minutes to count the hundreds of coins taken in every day by the parking meters.

Oh, yes—the machine stops if a bent or distorted coin is fed into it. So save your plugged nickels for something besides the parking meters.

You'd better watch where you walk with a gun in your hand or otherwise after Oct. 6, says State Highway Patrolman Oscar Avera.

Of course you'd better be careful all the time anyway, but a new state law goes into effect on Oct. 6 that will make precaution doubly valuable.

After that date, anyone in Texas caught trespassing on another's property for the purpose of hunting, fishing, or even picking pecans, without the express permission of the owner, will be subject to a stiff fine, and may be arrested on the spot by any game warden or other officer without a warrant and without a complaint from the owner of the land.

The fine and possible jail sentence for a second offense is a good deal stiffer, and the third offender just shouldn't have done it, in Avera's opinion after a study of the law.

The property trespassed upon must be enclosed by a fence or natural boundary.

Incidentally, Avera is going to continue to patrol our highways and byways, and says he does not consider it among his duties to seek out trespassers on private property—he has his hands full trying to keep the human race from committing suicide with automobiles.

My wife and I attended the convention of the West Texas Press Association in Brownwood Friday and Saturday, and saw a lot of old friends and met a lot of new ones.

Among the old friends was Attorney General Price Daniel, with whom I worked on the school newspaper at Baylor University some 18 or 19 years ago, and whose path had not crossed mine since until the other day. He had in the meantime been making his way mostly at Liberty while I was at El Paso, and those places are a long way apart, even for Texas.

I also saw Doc Sellers of Rising Star, Wayne Sellers of Fort Worth, who told me of his 1938 race for the Legislature from Eastland and Callahan Counties, Frank King of Dallas, Bob Moore of Eastland, and various and sundry other newspapermen and politicians I have known at various places.

Hiram Childress of Sweetwater told me something I had not even known, which was that his father, Dan Childress of Eastland, had contracted Malta fever and was just now getting pretty well over it.

All in all the convention was very nice if you like conventions, but the weather was too hot for comfort, and I was glad to get home, even if the weather here was no cooler.

Have you ever asked yourself how much you'd pay for water if you didn't have any?

The man dying on the desert for lack of water would pay anything he had or hoped to have. The person living in a town without a sufficient water supply will pay what he has to to get water for domestic purposes. The only person who thinks water rates are too high is the person who is getting plenty of water.

That's the reason I'm for the proposed Leon River dam, if it can be built for a reasonable figure. Right now Eastland and Ranger and Cisco all have enough water, thanks to a kind nature that has given us a year's supply in a little over seven months.

Lake Eastland is full to the brim, and perhaps it's a poor time to be promoting more water.

But there will be other dry years—there always have been, from time to time—and we were perilously near having to ship in water a few months ago.

And the time to fix a leaky roof still is when the sun is shining, despite the belief of the optimists to the contrary.
