4 Sanitation Problems To Be Discussed

CITY COMMISSION MEETING TONIGHT ON VITAL PROBLEMS

Four vital sanitation problems will be discussed at a call meeting of the Eastland City Commission tonight at 7:30 o'clock, with businessmen and other citizens urged to attend, City Manager I. C. Heck stated.

The meeting will be held on the lawn at the south side of the City Hall, because of warm weather. In the event of rain, the meeting will be inside.

Mystery Killer Sought In Death

MIDLAND, Tex., July 8 (UP)—Midland authorities today were confronted with their second murder mystery in less than 15 months as they sought last night's slayer of Homer A. Stillwell, 28, an oil scout.

Stillwell, employed by Stanolind Oil and Gas Co., was shot to death in his front yard about 9 P. M. as he stepped outside the house to investigate a commotion raised by the family dog.

Stillwell's roommate, also a Stanolind oil scout, was shot to death under equally mysterious circumstances in March of last year as he was reading a newspaper at night.

Included in the sanitation problems is one dealing with having vacant lots cleared to eliminate a mosquito menace. Despite a recent campaign conducted, with Boy Scouts offering their services, many vacant lots in Eastland have not been cleared.

Another problem to be discussed will be a proposal for twice a week garbage pickup in the residential section without charge. Instead of the one pickup a week schedule now being maintained without charge. Twice a week service would cost the city $500 to $5,000 a year more than the present one time a week service. The twice a day pickup service in the business area, with a fee assessed, would be unchanged.

Raw sewage is presently seeping into the Leon River, instead of following the route to the sewerage disposal plant, and the disposal plant is considered inadequate.

The city dump, located at the southwest corner of Eastland, should have trash buried as it is dumped, city officials believe.

With the health of the citizens at stake, the city officials are urging civic-minded persons to be at the meeting and advance their ideas on how sanitation may be improved and financed.

Light-Fingered Cab Driver, Girl Friend Rob Man

HOUSTON, Tex., July 8 (UP)—A visitor from the Rio Grande Valley complained to police today that he arrived here with $360, but had to borrow a dime a few hours later after a talk with a light-fingered taxi driver and the driver's girl friend.

Merced Solis of Edinburg said he met the cabbie at the bus station, and asked him for an inexpensive place to sleep. Instead, Solis claimed, the driver picked up some bottles of beer with Solis' money "at 50 cents each," and then got his girl friend.

The driver and the woman together escorted Solis to a tourist coter. Not until later in the morning, after a few hours sleep, did Solis examine his pocketbook. It was empty.

A 33-year-old taxi driver was arrested and was being held at the county jail on a vagancy charge for investigation.

Blazing Cotton Train Races For Houston Stop

HOUSTON, Tex., July 8 (UP)—A blazing, 80-car freight train carrying a valuable cargo of valley cotton sped into Houston while a firey comet early today while fire trucks raced to meet it.

Only one car was destroyed with a loss of $3,500, including a $2,000 box car.

The Missouri-Pacific train left Olmita yesterday with $15,000 in cotton aboard. Near Mykawa about 1:30 A. M., Newmen spotted a few wisps of smoke sifting from a car in the middle of the train. The engineer wired ahead of the danger and summoned the Houston Fire Department. As the train whipped along, the smoldering fire was fanned into a mass of flames.

Firemen met the train at Griggs Road and Long Drive. The blazing car was cut loose and volunteers stretched hose some 3800 feet from the nearest plug. It was extinguished in a matter of minutes.

District Fire Chief M. Schlutz said the cotton was consigned to the George McFadden Co., of Galveston, and was due for overseas delivery.

Chief Schlutz believed a spark from the rails may have caused the blaze.

Department Store Sales Show Drop

DALLAS, July 8 (UP)—Department store sales in the four major Texas cities continued their downward trend last week.

The weekly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas on such sales showed that sales in 21 stores were off an average of four per cent last week, by comparison with sales in the corresponding week of 1948.

Houston and Dallas sales were down 7 per cent, with Fort Worth and San Antonio each up 5 per cent.

For the month of June, 1949, as compared with June, 1948, sales were off an average of 5 per cent. Dallas was off 11 per cent, Houston eight, and Fort Worth was up 10. San Antonio sales were virtually unchanged.

Rites Held For Eastland Infant

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Campa of Eastland.

Services were held at the graveside in the Eastland cemetery where the baby, John Campa, Jr., was interred. Morris Funeral Home of Ranger was in charge of services.

The baby was born in Eastland July 6, 1949, and died July 7.

GENEROUS-HEARTED CITIZENS RALLY TO AID OF GRAHAMS

Generous-hearted Eastland citizens have rallied to the aid of the N. A. Graham family, who had their home and possessions destroyed by a recent fire, with total of $38 in cash, and a large amount of clothing and furniture donated.

Following an appeal by the "Going Forward With Eastland" column and a drive launched by the Eastland Daily Telegram, the response has been splendid.

In behalf of the Graham family, Bob Moore, editor of the Telegram, has stated appreciation to everyone who has contributed. He urged citizens to make a last minute rush with donations to bring the campaign to a successful close.

In addition to the official Telegram drive several citizens, including the Rev. L. M. Chapman, pastor of the First Baptist Church where Graham formerly worked as a caretaker, have gone "all out" to help the fire victims.

Through the efforts of the Rev. Chapman an additional $6 in cash has been donated as well as clothing and furniture.

The Grahams have purchased a house to move to the site of the burned home at 103-East Burkett Street, and will soon be ready to resume housekeeping. Anyone desiring to help the family, should do so as soon as possible.

During the informal entertainment, the group inspected the miniature "little Red School house" in Mrs. Perkins' back yard.

Mexican Planes Patrol Border

MATAMOROS, Mexico, July 8 (UP) Newspaper reports today indicated that the Mexican government was augmenting its Border Patrol forces along the Rio Grande with airplanes.

The daily newspaper, El Regional, said Bernardo Iturrigarai, Director General of Customs, Mexico City, had ordered planes to the border.

They were expected to assist soldiers and secret immigration and customs agents in curtailing heavy migration of Mexican laborers to the United States.

Radio-equipped vehicles and soldiers details already were on the lookout for consumer goods entering Mexico which recently were placed on a restriction list.

They also were watching for cotton, leaving Mexico for the United States. Mexico has an export tax on the product.

WTCC TAKES WATER RIGHTS FIGHT TO NATIONAL CONGRESS

ABILENE, July 8.—A campaign to take the West Texas municipal water fight to the National congress has been activated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, with a series of letters to national and local officials, Chamber of Commerce managers and editors.

The letter accompanies a report just made by WTCC Manager D. A. Bandeen on the West Texas water shortage damage, under application of the Hoover Commission domestic water recommendations.

"In support of your Recommendation No. 1 on priority of use of multi-purpose reservoirs as contained in your Commission's report to the Congress on Federal Business Enterprises—the enclosed analysis and report on 'West Texas Water Shortage Damages and Application of the Hoover Commission's Domestic Water Recommendations' has been made' Bandeen wrote to Mr. Hoover.

"The report is an effort to show that lack of domestic water is truly a menace to public welfare equivalent to flood damages and that the adoption of your recommendation would certainly contribute greatly to the welfare of our people everywhere, including municipal corporations.

"There is widespread and militant support in this Texas territory and all of Texas of your municipal water priority formula and our purpose is to campaign in Washington for the adoption

Going Forward With Eastland

By Bob Moore

Bear that in mind, when you go to support a newspaper with your news items, subscription and advertising dollars, and you will have made an investment that will not cause you regret.

The first annual Eastland Old Rip Horned Toad Derby is getting publicity in some unexpected ways.

Bob Latham, who operates an amateur radio station, W5-OFN on South Bassett Street, has been having a lot of fun talking with other ham operators over the state about the Derby. Some of the "hams" live in areas where horned toads are practically unheard of, and are eager for all the information that Latham can supply on toads and the Derby. Many of them have told Latham they plan to enter toads and come down for the Derby. So, if you happen to tune in on the short wave and hear a lot of "frog talk", you will know that it's a result of Latham's fine work in helping to publicize our race.

J. D. Pittman, city mail carrier, advises that his brother-in-law, James L. Hudson who operates a grocery store in Rome, Ga., was here on a recent visit and took back eight specimens of Eastland County toads and one of the posters publicizing the Derby, to exhibit to Georgia folks. Seems he never saw a toad before in Georgia.

Helena Clark, representing Station KRBC of Abilene, was in Eastland Thursday afternoon to record a 15-minute program to be broadcast over the station in the near future about the Derby. H. J. Tanner, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was out-of-town on business and her visit was unexpected. For some reason or other, Miss Clark seemed to think this Derby was something of a Derby authority and talked us into having an interview with her to comprise the program. While this scribe was more at home in front of a typewriter than a microphone, the actual play-back of the recording made for us didn't sound too good. She is to let us know the day of time the interview will be broadcast, and we will pass the information on in the Telegram, if all you folks can listen in.

V. W. Williams of Amarillo, is visiting his son, Silas Williams, was a welcomed visitor at Telegram this morning. Williams was a printer's devil on the Eastland Anchor, back in the 0's, when the city was just a place in the road. A retired town formen, with 40 years of roading, Williams' father was one of the first settlers in Eastland. He has many interesting experiences to relate about old Eastland.

Don Dorsett tells this: When the Creator had made good things, it seemed there still some dirty work to do. He made the beast and the reptiles and the poisonous insects. When he had finished, He still some old scraps left over that too bad to put into rattlesnakes, the hyena, the scorpion and the snake. So He put all these

Gorman Farmer Has Complaint Regarding Peanut Allotment

By Buena Van Winkle
Telegram Correspondent

J. J. Brown, who owns and operates two farms in the Gorman and New Hope Communities voiced what seems to us a justifiable complaint this noon about his peanut allotment. Mr. Brown has been practicing the row stripping of his peanut acreage for several years because it was recommended first by the government agencies, and then because after he had tried it out he found that it certainly was beneficial to his land. The strip crop help to hold this rolling blow sand after the peanut are harvested and the land is left bare and so the mercies of the high winds until another crop is planted. So often, the hot dry summers here will not allow another crop to be planted until the following spring, so that without the strip rows there remains about three or four months for the farmers' land to be lifted and deposited across the fence, out into the road, or over in neighbors' field or pasture. There goes what is left of his fertilizer which he had applied the preceding year, and also what of stubble & chaff that may have been left of the peanut crop he harvested, and he is faced with the task of building within the short time of early spring and until planting time to build his peanut land up to where it will grow anything at all. Well, as we said, Mr. Brown is through with the idea of strip cropping.

The new AAA allotment program Brown believes penalizes farmers who have been planting along this line for very many years. This briefly is the way it works. A farmer who has been planting his peanuts solid without regards to whether his land rolls or blows away, or without caring if a legume such as peas planted in strip rows might be building his soil sufficiently to pay for cutting down his peanut acreage to give space to the strip crop, that farmer is only cut the basic 22 per cent on his allotment. But, the farmers who have been using the strip crop practice are cut off the strip crop before the allotment cut is taken and that cut back amounts to about 25 per cent, since they plant 2 rows of strip to 8 rows of peanuts. Then after the 25 per cent is deducted, then the farmer is given his regular 22 per cent reduction on his remaining acreage. That amounts on a 200 acre farm to about 83 acres off, whereas, if the farm had been planted solid to peanuts, the reduction would only amount to 44 acres."

To provide a place for the hot iron and to keep the ironing board cover from being scorched, tack a piece of asbestos paper on the ironing board where the iron is usually placed.

Fruits and vegetables may be seriously damaged if left in the hot sun after they are harvested.

Caution Urged In 2.4-D Use

COLLEGE STATION, July 8 — Reports continue to come in from different sections of the state that show proper precautions are not being followed in the use of 2.4-D.

Orchards have been defoliated, tomato and other truck crops have been and are being hurt, and cotton is being damaged in almost every section of the state says M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist of Texas A. & M. College. The users of 2.4-D must remember, he adds, it will not only kill the weeds that are objectional but may also damage desirable plants around the house and farm.

Here are some precautions that should be followed by every user of 2.4-D, as worked out by a committee of Texas A. & M. College research and extension workers for your protection. They say don't use 2.4-D dusts under any conditions. They drift easily and far. Ester forms of 2.4-D are not recommended because they give off fumes readily. Small liquid spray particles may drift in air current and delayed drift effects may occur following changes in direction of the wind. For ground sprayers, use nozzles producing coarse spray particles and use pressure below 40 pounds per square inch. Do not apply 2.4-D with ground equipment in wind velocity greater than 5 mile per hour when susceptible crops are within 1/2 mile downwind or 1/4 mile upwind.

Better Get Rid Of Lazy Hens

COLLEGE STATION, July 8. — It is a direct loss to the poultry producer to feed non-layers during the summer months, says W. J. Moore, associate extension poultry husbandman of Texas A. & M. College, and it's also one of the reasons poultry producers are not doing a better job of maintaining high egg production during the summer months.

He advises poultrymen to sell the non-producers just as soon as they are noticed. Chances are they'll not come back into production until late fall or early winter, and during this time, feeding them is a dead loss.

Hens that show a shrunken, dried-up comb, yellow beak, new feathers, yellow shanks and yellow vents should be culled and sold. Hens that lack vigor and spend their time loafing should also be removed from the flock. A good produce has to eat good feed and drink lots of clean cool water and they can't do this unless they rustle. Of course, the poultryman must do his part by supplying this feed and water, added Moore.

The poultry producer who does a good job of culling continuously will be well paid, and at the same time he'll be following one of the important practices of efficient poultry farm management, concludes Moore.

of your commission's majority recommendation."

To other officials Bandeen pointed out that although the WTCC report expresses the organized thinking of West Texas territory on surface water problems, it now is expressing a national viewpoint because of the Hoover recommendations.

In activating the program local chambers have been asked to study it and pass resolutions calling upon a revision of the federal dam building criteria, which would permit construction of dams with municipal water as the motivating factor.

As co-chairman of the WTCC Water Resources Development Committee R. M. Wagstaff has called on all West Texas mayors to give support to the program. Wagstaff was one of the authors of the Wagstaff-Woodward bill passed in 1931, giving domestic water users first priority in Texas.

"This is a challenge to you to give us your personal and official endorsement of this report and do something big for your town," Wagstaff wrote the mayors.

President John D. Mitchell of WTCC called upon the organization's directors to "act together as we did in the freight rate parity campaign and it is not at all impossible for us to secure this change in federal policy."

M. C. Ulmer, former WTCC president and now chairman of the Public Expenditure and legislative commission, has written all members of the West Texas legislature "the remedy is legislatively to correct these things both in our state and national water development policies."

"Issues raised in this report are appropriate for editorial comment," L. A. Wilke, WTCC service director wrote to Texas editors, in pointing out high spots of the report. They range from the menace of inadequate water for domestic use to the question of the relative value of big power
