Bovina, Texas

VOL X, NO. 48

WHITTLIN'

By DOLPH MOTEN

Because of Bovina voters' fine turnout at the polls in the Democratic Primary Election early last month, they were handed a word-painted bouquet in this space last week.

The turnout here, while always better than average, was spectacular in the just-past election.

We would, of course, like to see that many or more return to the polls in Saturday's runoff primary which features one state-wide race as well as the Justice of the Peace race here.

One of the candidates in the attorney general runoff has done some research into who voted and who didn't in the first primary.

The figures tend to make you proud you live in a rural area.

This candidate had high praise for the rural voters of the state for the interest they took in going to the polls. His survey, based on a county-by-county returns in the first primary, showed that 63.2 per cent of the eligible voters in rural counties went to the polls and cast a total of 569,277 votes.

"In the 23 so-called metropolitan counties," his report says, "which have more than 2,000,000 eligible voters, only 23.2 per cent bothered to vote." The big-city counties had a total of 576,723 votes.

That proves to us that the metropolitan people aren't necessarily going to rule state politics just because they have enough potential voters to do it. They will need some encouragement and information to go along with their numbers. Until that comes about, rural Texans will continue to play an extremely important role in the overall state political picture.

The aforementioned source went on to say that "the rural people of Texas traditionally take a deep interest in their state government."

That sounds good from here even though we'll probably vote for our source's opponent.

Gary Cox, who is principal of Bovina Elementary School, also serves as director of the boys' summer baseball program. In addition to those duties, and others he is coach of the high school baseball team.

On the latter, we had a few minutes of conversation with him recently.

Though he's just completed a baseball season that netted only one win for his team, he has high hopes for next year. The Mustangs will advance into Class A for the next round of baseball as they will for other sports.

Cox says that only Farwell "and possibly Silverton" are expected to compete in baseball in that district next year. That gives Bovina a pretty good chance of winning the championship, the way he figures it.

Bovina has fielded a youthful team during the past two years and the bulk of the mainstays next season will be only juniors then. This year's team had just two seniors and most of the team was made up of sophomores, those who will be juniors in '67.

It's Cox' opinion that with the experience and maturity which next year's team will have "they can win the district if they want to."

That's encouraging, optimistic thinking we thought and we wanted to relay it on the heels of the just-completed losing season.

If you're in a hurry, don't stop by the baseball field here during a Little League game. We made that mistake the other night and it was an hour later before the game had developed far enough that we were satisfied we could determine the winner. And we only meant to stay a minute . . . or two. Definitely no more than five.

We'll be among the first to admit, though, that it isn't overly hard to detain us at a baseball game.

We were sorry to hear that the Boyd Gilreaths are moving from Bovina.

Though his business had kept him from it for the past couple of years, Gilreath was one of the

Rain Falls; Need More, Farmers Say

Rain, that natural source of moisture which Parmer County farmers talk about a lot but get little of, fell here in small amounts last week.

The total was considered in the neighborhood of half an inch in some parts of the area. Most of the moisture fell Wednesday night with other showers coming later in the week.

The rain was encouraging to farmers but they were in agreement that more is needed.

Last week's amount added to the previous total for the year leaves the overall amount at less than two inches.

There was no damage during the thunderstorms from high winds or hail in this immediate area.

C of C Slates Bible School

Bible School at the Church of Christ has been scheduled for June 6 through 10 from 9 to 11:30 each morning.

Classes will be held for all age groups -- nursery through adults. Study material will be "Stand Up For Jesus."

Church Of Christ --

Don Stone Resigns As Bovina Minister

Don Stone, minister of Bovina Church of Christ since July of 1961, has resigned his position here effective June 20.

He has been named student director of the Church of Christ student center at New Mexico State University at Las Cruces. He will teach Bible and religion courses there and direct activities of the student center.

One of the highlights of his ministry here was the completion of a new church building at a cost of $100,000. The structure was finished in the fall of '62.

Active in community affairs, Stone served a three-year term on the board of directors of Bovina Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. He was president of the chamber last year after serving as vice president in '64.

During his stay in Bovina, he has acquired two college degrees. He received his bachelor's in history from West Texas State University in Canyon in '62. He has completed work for a masters degree in religion from Eastern New Mexico University at Portales and will be graduated at exercises there Thursday night.

Stone has been interested in better communications between ministers of the community and has helped to create an informal organization of ministers.

Also, he was instrumental in establishing the church page which appears weekly in The Blade.

Stone has served as master of ceremonies at various occasions during the time he has been here.

Named to replace Stone as minister of the church here is Lavern Stewart of Joplin, Mo.

Stewart will begin his new duties the third Sunday in July. He has served as a local minister for a number of years. He is married and has two school-age children.

The supporting church of the student center at NMSU is the College Church of Christ. Stone will be the regular minister at that church during the summer months--until a minister is named in the fall.

"We very heartily thank the people of Bovina for making life so pleasant for us during the past five years. It has truly been a rewarding experience to live in Bovina," Stone commented.

The address of the Stones in Las Cruces will be 2110 Turrentine, Las Cruces, N.M. 88001.

Killough And Charles Seeking 4-Year Term

Attracted by a runoff between two Justice of the Peace candidates, some 300 voters are expected to go to the polls here Saturday to mark ballots in the second Democratic primary.

The election, which will feature only two races for decisions to be made on by voters here, will be in the American Legion Hall. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Candidates for the Justice of the Peace position are Lucille Killough, the incumbent, and Wilbur Charles. Charles gained a place on the runoff election ballot with a successful write-in campaign in the first primary.

LUCILLE KILLOUGH

Keep Cotton Acreage

Parmer County cotton producers voted against the transfer of cotton acreage outside the county in the recent referendum.

Of the 942 votes cast, 414 votes were in favor of cotton transfers and 528 votes opposing transfers, according to Prentice L. Mills, ASCS office manager.

The balloting was conducted by mail with the votes being tabulated Friday. "Cotton producers responded extremely well," Mills says.

More than 70 per cent of the eligible voters in the county cast their ballots.

A two-thirds majority of votes cast would have been necessary to rule in favor of the proposition.

"The result of our referendum vote," Mills says, "is that we will not (cannot) lose any of our county cotton acreage to another county thru the sale or lease of allotments."

Another such referendum will be conducted a year from now. If the vote had favored transfer of the acreage, it would have been for a three-year period with no referendum being held during that time.

There is only one state-wide race in the runoff primary. That is for attorney general, Crawford Martin of Hill County is the favorite over Franklin Spears of Bexar County.

In a three-man race in the first primary, Martin almost received a majority of the votes to keep a runoff from being necessary. He has continued into the second primary with a strong campaign and a win by Spears would be a major upset.

A total of 433 voted in the Bovina box in the first primary. That was considered an extremely good turnout and the JP race was given most of the credit for the higher-than-average vote total.

Charles was the leading candidate in the first primary with a total of 209 votes. Mrs. Killough had 174. Harley Sherich, who was eliminated in the first primary, had 103.

In the Rhea box, Charles had 18 votes, Sherich 12 and Mrs. Killough six. In Bovina, the totals were 191 for Charles, 144 for Mrs. Killough and 89 for Sherich.

Absentee votes were in Mrs. Killough's favor, 24-2.

Tuesday was the last day for voting absentee in the runoff election.

Annual meeting of the board of tax equalization of Bovina Independent School District is scheduled for Tuesday.

The equalization board will be in session from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the school tax office on Main Street.

Mrs. Pearl Dodson, school district tax assessor-collector, says she expects the meeting to be routine. There has been no change in the tax rate during the past year.

Serving on the board will be J. D. Kirkpatrick, Wendol Christian, Richard Vaughn, Tom Caldwell and Jim Ware.

Formal announcement of the equalization board meeting appears in this issue of The Blade.

Former Mayor --

Gilreath Sells Business Here

Boyd Gilreath, former Bovina mayor, has sold his business, Northside 66 Service, to Charles Oil Co. effective yesterday (Tuesday).

The Gilreaths have been Bovina residents since February of 1958 when they purchased Bovina Dairy Freeze and moved here from Sudan. They sold the drive-in restaurant in April of last year and purchased the service station.

The Gilreaths will move to Renton, Wash. June 15. He will be employed by Boeing Aircraft there as a mechanic.

Gilreath served as mayor for two two-year terms, from April of '62 until April of this year.

Art Mast has been named manager of the station by Harry J. Charles, owner of Charles Oil Co.

The winner of the Saturday's JP race will be the Democratic nominee in the general election in November. However, no Republican or independent candidate is expected to compete. For all practical purposes then, the winner Saturday will be elected to the office.

Friona voters will also decide on JP candidates in the runoff there. J. W. Roberts and Walter Lovelace are candidates for the judge's post in Precinct No. 3.

Cemetery Working Success

Decoration Day brought a large number of people from out of town as well as from Bovina to the Bovina Cemetery, Monday.

This event, which is an annual occurrence in Bovina, shows the interest there is in maintaining the graves in the cemetery.

Included in the day's activities were lunch and visiting at the Church of Christ Fellowship Hall. Bovina people furnished the basket lunches.

Formal announcement of the equalization board meeting appears in this issue of The Blade.

4-H Horse Show Here Saturday

The Second Annual Parmer County 4-H Horse Show is scheduled for Saturday in the Bovina Roping Arena. All entries are due in by 9:30 a.m. and the show is scheduled to start at 10 a.m.

"We expect around 30 members to participate in the show," states Joe VanZandt, Parmer County Agent.

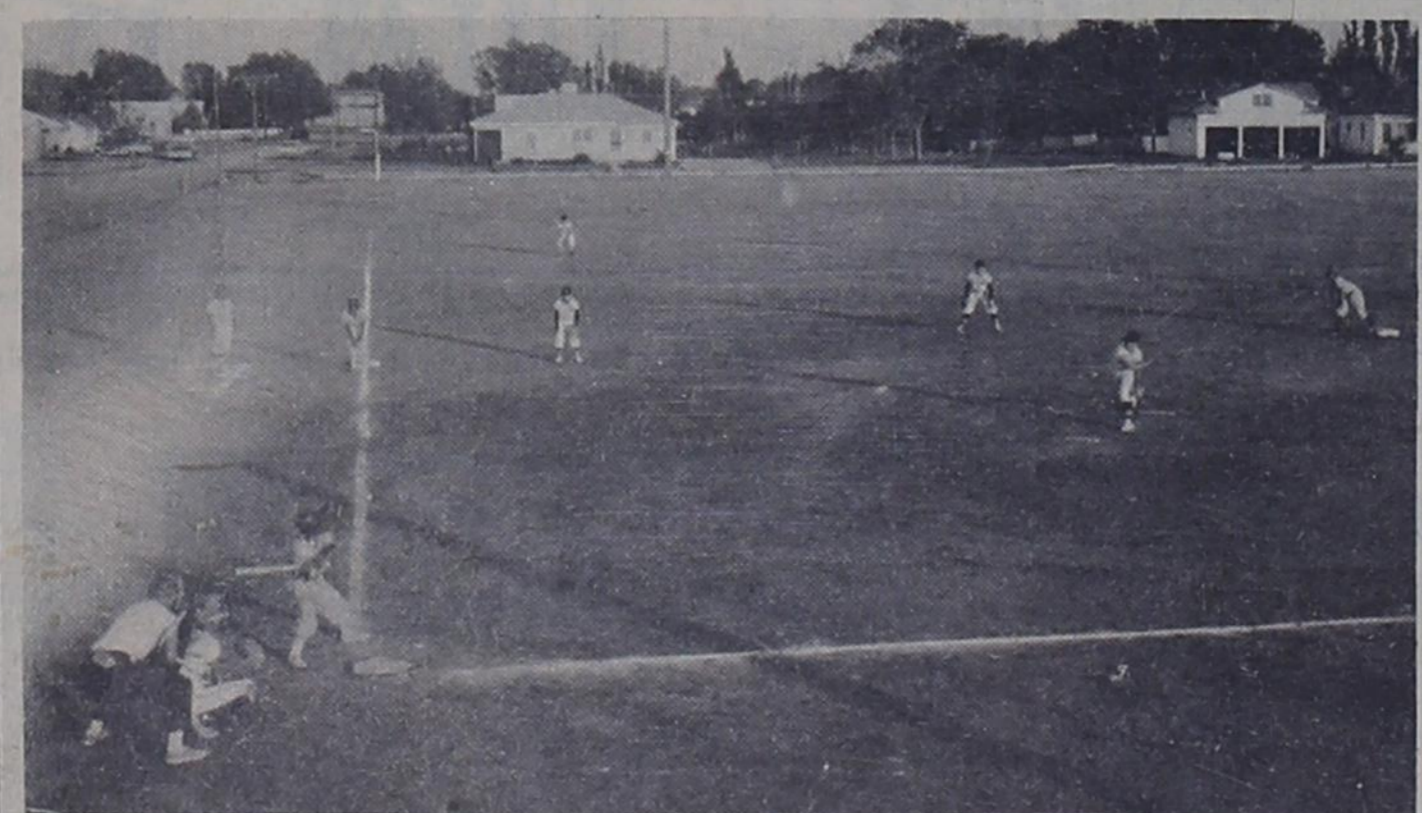

Entries in the 4-H Horse Show are limited to Parmer County 4-H members who have been participating in the 4-H Horse project group activities.

There will be halter and performance classes in the show. Trophies, rosettes and ribbons will be awarded to the winners in the show. Also members will be competing for the privilege of representing Parmer County in the District Horse Show in Dumas July 14. Contestants in the district show compete to earn the right to go to the State 4-H Horse Show in San Antonio.

The judge for the show is Jack Streun of Summerfield. The show superintendent is Homer Linderman, Friona 4-H adult leader. Other 4-H adult leaders who are working with the 4-H Horse program in Parmer County include C. E. Trimble, Wendol Christian, M. H. Carson, from Bovina; Delbert Garner, Frank Doshier, Jr., Pike Jordan and Mitz Walling of Farwell.

"The public is invited to come out Saturday to the Bovina Roping Arena to see these boys and girls put forth their best efforts to climax several months work in the horse program," Joe VanZandt, county agent, says.

BALL GAME VIEW -- This is a scorekeeper's-eye view of action in the boys baseball program here. This scene is of a Monday game from the pressbox. Gene Pruitt is the umpire. Bovina Gin-Generalgas is the team on defense. First State Bank-Lawlis Gin players are at bat and on the bases.

Technical School
Opens This Year

The James Connally Technical Institute, located near Waco, a part of the Texas A&M University System, will offer courses in 15 areas of study when its doors open for the first time in September, 1966.

The Institute was created by an act of the Texas Legislature in April, 1965. The legislation authorized the board of directors of Texas A&M University to establish "a coeducational institution which may offer courses of study in vocational and vocational-technical education for which there is a demand within the State of Texas."

Information on the new educational facility is now available at the offices of all county agents. According to Parmer County Agent Joe Van Zandt, agents have been supplied with a copy of the Institute's general catalog for the 1966-67 session.

VanZandt said the instructional programs of the Institute are designed for training and retraining youth and adults so they may join the state and nation's work force as skilled workmen or technicians. A major objective of the Institute, he added, is to provide occupational training needed by Texas business and industry and for which there is sufficient demand by students.

The County Agent said that persons desiring to enroll must submit applications for admission. High school graduates can be admitted as regular full time students. Mature individuals who have not graduated from high school will be permitted to register if they furnish evidence that their preparation is substantially the same as required of other applicants and have the ability and desire to profitably pursue their desired course of study.

A copy of the publication is available for review at VanZandt's office which is located in the Courthouse at Farwell. Copies may also be obtained by writing Roy W. Duggar, Director, James Connally Technical Institute, Waco, Texas 76703.

Annuals
Arrive

Students of Bovina Schools received their annuals Tuesday. The annuals were shipped from Alabama on May 17; however, they didn't arrive in Bovina until Saturday morning. Nobody seems to know where the year-books were.

All students who have not picked up their annuals should go by the school to get them.

SENATOR
Ralph Yarborough

Dear Fellow Texan:
 I want to tell you about this country's needs for more trained medical technicians to help with our health problems. Many of us have heard of a shortage of trained medical personnel, but the problem is worse than most of us know. Not only do we lack enough doctors and nurses, but we also need trained medical technicians of many kinds, for example, to help operate many gauges and devices used in complicated operations on the heart and the brain. These technicians are absolutely essential in assisting doctors and nurses to do a good job.

We once relied on a doctor assisted by a nurse for many of our health problems, even many of the operations. Now we find that over one hundred medical specialists are needed from beginning to end for an operation on a baby's heart. Jobs exist in the health care field that we had not heard of five and ten years ago, and many new ones will appear in the next decade with the improving of machinery for the care and repair of the human body. We now have people trained to take X-rays, others who train patients to resume jobs or how to take new ones, and still others who teach patients to learn how to use artificial arms and legs.

Where we once had only the doctor, and later the doctor and the nurse, we now have the doctor and the nurse plus -- with the help of other medical specialists, just as support troops now outnumber those in "front line" battle operations. All -- both technicians and doctors -- are necessary in the "front line" of efforts to keep us healthy.

This vast explosion in the need in the allied health professions has left us short-handed, we lack enough medical technicians. We need at least 50,000 more graduates a year at present from college and junior college programs preparing people in the allied health professions. If we include jobs requiring shorter training periods, the figure rises to 100,000.

The administration here in Washington proposes to remedy this shortage through the Allied Health Professions Personnel Training Act which would provide basic improvement grants and funds for student loans and construction of buildings to schools offering programs in medical technology and related areas less than medical training, as well as grants for advanced training. Only colleges which offer a four-year program would be eligible under the administration's bill. The improvement grants would be $500 per student and $5,000 per program to schools which qualify. The money would be paid to the schools to teach the courses rather than to the students.

The bill now excludes two year programs offered by junior colleges and community colleges. I am offering an amendment to the administration bill to include junior colleges and community colleges. Students graduating from these two year programs are fully qualified to take many jobs in the allied health professions, jobs which will assist in relieving the present shortage of trained personnel. This means that if my amendment is adopted, students going to junior colleges could take courses in medical technology, in X-ray technology, in physical therapy, the federal government would help the colleges pay for the cost of this training.

The junior colleges are qualified to do this work. An increasing number of them are offering substantial programs in health fields. The students who graduate from these programs are fully qualified to take many jobs which help relieve the shortage of trained personnel that we have seen.

The junior and community colleges of this State and of this country are a vital part of our system of higher education. They are helping greatly in training people in the health fields. They should be provided with the means to help even more.

Harper Joins Theater Cast

Joe Wayne Harper, Bovina Schools band director, has been chosen, from a field of 200 applicants, to take one of the 45 parts in the Palo Duro Amphitheater's production of Texas, by Paul Green.

Harper will play stringed bass in the orchestra. Mrs. Harper will also work at the Amphitheater as a greeter.

Although the production will not commence until July 1, rehearsal will begin immediately. The Harpers moved to Canyon Tuesday. Both will attend summer school at West Texas State University besides working at the canyon.

Texas is an outdoor symphonic drama especially written for production at the Amphitheater. It will be completely different from the production at the canyon last year, in which Harper also had a part.

Friday night's game between Bovina Gin-Generalgas and Bovina Wheat Growers-Bovina Insurance was rained out. It is scheduled to be made up Saturday.

In last Tuesday night's game, Bovina Gin-Generalgas blanked Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply, 11-0. The OL Eagles got on the winning track Thursday, however, as they outlasted the Rhea Tigers in a slugfest, 13-12. Monday night, First State Bank-Lawlis Gin slugged Bovina Gin-Generalgas, 20-7.

Cicero Smith Lumber Co. jumped into an early lead in the peewee division, picking up wins in its first three games.

The Cicero Cats downed the Oklahoma Lane Eaglets, 7-4, in the season opener Tuesday of last week and trimmed Big Nick Machinery, 11-9, Monday night.

Roy Donaldson In NAIA Meet

Roy Donaldson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Donaldson of Oklahoma Lane, will be participating in the National Amateur Intercollegiate Association (NAIA) Meet at Sioux Falls, South Dakota June 3-4. Roy is a 1964 graduate of Farwell High School and is presently a sophomore at Wayland Baptist College.

The participants of the NAIA National Meet must run a qualifying time set by the NAIA officials as well as a recommendation from a NAIA official. Roy ran a 9.6 in the 100 yard dash at the District 8 NAIA meet held in Plainview, May 14. The time was good enough to meet the qualifying time set for the 100. The other qualification was met after he received a recommendation from the head official of the District 8 of the NAIA. The only other runners accepted in this area are all Wayland participants, Danny Murphee, also qualified in the 100 yard dash as well as the Mile Relay team which have been clocked several times in 3:20.

Roy has missed practically all of this season due to a foot and leg injury. Roy was hospitalized because of a slight case of appendicitis almost immediately after he recovered from his leg injury. He got out of the hospital three days before the District meet with only three days to get into shape in which he met the qualifying time of 9.6. Donaldson, along with the other Wayland runners to go to Sioux Falls have been meeting twice a day for workouts before the Championship Meet.

Several outstanding runners of the United States will compete in this meet, James Hines of Texas Southern University and Clyde Glosson of Trinity University both have run a 9.2 in the 100 yard dash which is only .10 slower than the World's Record set by Bob Hayes, The Wayland Mile Relay team will also compete against Texas Southern's Mile Relay team which have previously been clocked in 3:06. Donaldson and the Wayland runners will also have their hands full with several other 1968 Olympic prospects competing in this Meet.

TV PERSONALITY

One of the most familiar faces seen on TV belongs to a personality whose name is never announced. He is Teddy Quinn, who became famous overnight with the phrase: "Mothers are like that...yeah they are."

Teddy appears as "Mike" in the Bayer Aspirin for Children commercial. The company receives hundreds of letters praising the commercial and asking about "Mike". Many have even offered to adopt him, which is hardly possible since he is one of four children of Mr. and Mrs. James Quinn, who went to Los Angeles from Indiana.

Only four when the commercial was made, Teddy is now seven. Despite his sudden fame, he is a happy, normal boy who does well in school. His allowance is $1 a week.

Bonnie Morris, Tommy Scaff Exchange Wedding Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Scaff were married in a double ring ceremony Sunday at First Baptist Church of Bovina. Mrs. Scaff is the former Bonnie Morris, daughter of Mrs. Jack Morris. Mr. Scaff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Scaff of Matador.

Rev. Ralph Aday, pastor, officiated the ceremony before an altar centered with candelabra accented on either side with baskets of white stocks.

Given in marriage by her brother, Delbert Morris, the bride wore a white chapel length peau de soie gown with long pointed sleeves. Accenting the round neckline was applique lace, seeded with pearls and sequins. The veil of illusion was gathered around a prayer cap of seed pearls. White carnations with mint green net arranged atop a white Bible made up the bridal bouquet.

For the bridal traditions Mrs. Scaff wore her father's ring, for something old; pearls, for something new; her bridal veil was borrowed; and a blue garter. She also had a penny, from the year of her birth, in her shoe.

Brenda Pruitt, maid of honor, wore a mint green dotted swiss dress with rounded neckline, cap sleeves, and street length bell shaped skirt. Her hat was a pillbox with mint green tulle veil. She carried a nosegay of white mums.

Bridesmaid, Krita Morris, sister of the bride, wore an identical dress of mint green dotted swiss. She also carried a nosegay of white mums.

Hope Hollar, of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Her dress was mint green with an overlay of white lace. She wore a green pillbox with tulle veil and carried a basket of white mums.

Roger Scaff, of Lubbock, served his brother as best man. The groomsmen were Horace Taylor, of Odessa, brother-in-law of the groom.

Jerry Strawn and Fred Acker, of Nazareth, brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

Mary Dane sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Twelfth of Never", accompanied by Zella Donaldson, who also played the traditional wedding march from Lohengrin and recessional by Mendelssohn.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Morris chose an aqua three-piece linen outfit with bone accessories and white chiffon hat. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Scaff, mother of the groom, wore a black and white checked tow-piece linen suit with black accessories and white straw hat. She also wore a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church hosted by the bride's mother.

Martha Snodgrass and Carolyn Damron served traditional wedding cake and punch. The serving table was decorated with a white lace tablecloth underlaid with mint green.

Mrs. Delbert Morris, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the guest register.

For the wedding trip to points in Texas, the bride wore a two-piece green suit accented with white accessories. Her corsage was taken from the bridal bouquet.

After the honeymoon, the couple will be at home in Bovina.

Mrs. Scaff is a 1966 graduate of Bovina High School.

Mr. Scaff is a graduate of Matador High School and attended Texas Tech. He is employed at Sherley Grain Company as bookkeeper.

MR. AND MRS. TOMMY SCAFF

Off DiCuffa By Pat

For some, the transition from teacher to reporter isn't painful; however, we have found that telling someone else how to write and writing one's own stories are two entirely different propositions. For the battered English students of Bovina High School, there is one consolation--teacher gets her papers returned with as many slashes and corrections as she ever made on yours.

Speaking of B. H. S. reminds us to commend the community, school, and parents for the fine group of young adults that you graduated from school this year. Complaints are often heard about this younger generation--maybe they are true elsewhere--but we can sincerely say that the values, talents, and ambitions of the Class of 1966 makes us proud to send them anywhere.

This column's name may be interpreted in many different ways: (1) considering the mental condition of the writer, the title explains itself; (2) thinking aloud is sometimes referred to as "off the cuff". We will leave the reader to his own feelings about the whole matter.

We would appreciate any report of woman's news (or any other news) throughout the summer months because things may get a little dry around the news office. Clubs don't meet; people quit playing bridge; school is out; and news is slow; therefore, we will welcome any help we can get.

Once a young college girl wrote to the editor of a correspondence column: "I am only 19 and I stayed out until two the other night. My mother objects. Did I do wrong?"

The answer published in the paper the next day: "Try to remember."

The bridegroom, who was in a horrible nervous condition, appealed to the clergyman in a loud whisper, at the close of the ceremony: "Is it customary to cuss the bride?"

The clergyman replied, "Not yet, but soon."

"My own mother helped advise me on today's Mother's Day sermon. She said to stand up straight, don't fling my hands around, and keep it under twenty minutes!"

ALL ARE CALLED - SOME ARE SENT

There is an important distinction between mission and missions. Mission is the total task of the church to proclaim the gospel of God's redeeming love as revealed in Christ. Missions (with an s) is a central and indispensable part of the mission. It is the pioneering advance of the church into new areas of unbelief.

Similarly there are two kinds of missionaries. In the general sense every Christian (no exceptions) is called to be a missionary, that is to witness for Christ and serve him in whatever he does. The church is a witnessing fellowship in which every member has the same responsibility to work for Christ wherever he is.

Then there is the career missionary, the person called by the Holy Spirit and especially sent out by the church for Christian witness across boundaries of race, culture, language, and nation. Such missionaries are still very much needed both in the United States and everywhere in the world. This is important to understand in a day when there is talk of "mission fields closing."

In 1964 the churches in Africa, Asia, and Latin America asked for an increase of many more missionaries above those now serving overseas. Lack of funds and personnel have made such a sharp increase impossible, but a slow steady growth in the number of overseas missionaries is anticipated.

In the struggling, confused world of today all Christians are called to be missionaries, but some are sent as missionaries in a special way to carry the gospel literally "to the ends of the earth." All are called -- some are sent!

4-H ADULT LEADERS TRAINING

Seven 4-H adult leaders attended training meetings last week in clothing project guides one, two and three. These leaders were: Mesdames C. M. Phipps, Friona; Hurschel Harding, Joel White, W. T. Magness, Farwell; Robert Read, Bovina; Roy Farley, J. M. McDonald, Lazbuddie, Mrs. Earl Hise of Bovina will work with a group. Several girls in Friona are wanting to take clothing project, but leaders are not available. These groups will have only about 5 weeks of clothing project work. The County Dress Revue judging will be held July 12, at which time garments and projects will be finished.

Leaders are asked to let the home agent know about meeting dates and place of groups. A visit is planned to each group while working if this can be arranged.

COUNTY PROGRAM COMMITTEES

The Family Living Committee has a Sub-Committee on "Consumer Education". County programs in this area of study was given priority for study in Parmer County for 1967. This committee and chairman of the Food & Nutrition & Clothing Committees will meet with two specialists in management of the A & M Extension Service on June 20th at 2 p.m. They will assist this committee in planning programs to be given in 1967. All clubs in the county are invited to send a representative if they are concerned with problems in areas of Management and Consumer Education.

CONSUMER CREDIT
Do you know that the total consumer credit at the end of February in the United States amounted to $84.6 billion and only $17.5 billion of this was non-installment.

This means a big per cent, in fact 67.1 billion, is of installment credit.

A continuous educational program on guidelines for using consumer credit seems to be in order. Actually, much emphasis on consumer behavior and education for consumer competencies will be needed in years ahead. Anyway that's what some young families think in this county.

Program plans will be developed to include programs in the area of consumer education for 1967. The Family Living Committee has made a start in this direction and if any of you can contribute in this effort by sharing ideas of family needs, please contact the chairman of this committee, Mrs. James Mabry of Lazbuddie, or the Home Agent in the County Extension Office.

Watch for announcement of these county programs.

YOUR GARDEN-- A GOLDMINE?

Mr. Burpee and Marigolds

The story of the girl who spun straw into gold is only a fairy tale--but turning seeds into cash can be a reality if you have a "white thumb" when it comes to growing marigolds.

Ten thousand dollars is being offered by the W. Adede Burpee Co., Philadelphia, Pa., to the first person who sends them seed that will produce a pure white marigold 2 1/2 inches or more across.

More than 4,000 people from all over the world have made the attempt. David Burpee, head of the 90-year-old seed house, began the search in 1955. "We've really made progress since then," he said. "People are coming closer every year and I wouldn't be at all surprised to find myself signing that $10,000 check pretty soon."

So, while money doesn't grow on trees, it may be possible to grow $10,000 on a marigold plant in your own garden.

All you have to do to get the world to beat a path to your door is decide that you want to take a nap.

"Why did you encourage your wife to give up the piano and start playing the clarinet?"
"She can't sing while playing the clarinet."

The staid old couple from the Middle-west were paying their first visit to New Mexico. They happened upon an old Indian brave one day who was riding a beautiful horse down a desert road. A heavily-burdened squaw, evidently his wife, trudged silently along behind him, on foot.

The sight of such uncivilized treatment of womanhood was too much for the lady from Iowa.

"Why doesn't your squaw ride?" she demanded indignantly.

The Indian brave eyed her patiently for a moment. Then in tones which indicated that the reason was obvious, he said: "She's got no horse."

Wheat and small grains will be the main topic of discussion at the agricultural field day set for 1:30 p.m., Friday, June 3, at the North Plains Research Field at Etter.

The program calls for 90-minutes of short talks and a tour of the facility.

The discussions of research projects will provide useful information that should be of particular interest to farmers in this area.

Lead-off speaker at the field day will be Dr. Allen Wiese who will discuss weed control in grain sorghum, wheat and soybeans.

John Shipley, who coordinates research at the field, will discuss the economic implications of current irrigation research projects. His assistant, Cecil Regire, will present a short report on the overall research program at the field.

Other topics to be discussed by researchers are response of fertilizer applications on wheat and grain sorghum, small grain improvements and hybrid wheat possibilities, and principal insect pests and related problems on the North Plains.

The North Plains Research Field, located one-mile east and a half-mile north of Etter, was established in 1964 primarily to study farm production problems of the area north of the Canadian River.

However, the information presented at the field day will apply in large part to our area we feel like. If anyone wants to go attend the field day Friday, contact your County Agent.

COTTON INSECTS

Cotton producers need to be checking their cotton for thrip damage. We can expect to see some thrip damage show up in cotton about now.

For thrips begin control measures as soon as damage is apparent on seedling plants. Damage is characterized by wilted, deformed and blackened leaves. Silvering of the lower leaf surface also is common. Apply sprays at 7-day intervals if infestation persists.

Insecticides recommended are listed below and the pounds per acre of actual insecticide to be applied as a spray follow each insecticide recommended: Dieldrin + DDT @ 0.2 - 0.25 +0.5 lb; Guthion @ .125 to 0.25 lb;

Strobane - DDT (2-0 mixture) @ 1.25 to 2.25 lbs.; Sevin @ 0.5 to 1.0 lb; Toxaphene-DDT (2-1 mixture) @ 1.25 to 2.25 lb.; Heptachlor + DDT @ 0.25 -0.375 + 0.5 lb; Endrin + DDT @ 0.2 - 0.3 + 0.5 lb; and Bidrin @ 0.1 - 0.25 lb.

We encourage growers to come by and pick-up a new 1966 Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects. This publication lists the latest recommendations for controlling all kinds of cotton insects for the High Plains area.

SPRAY RIGS

It's a good idea to have two spraying rigs. One should be used for applying herbicides and the other for insecticides. To be extra safe, mark the herbicide sprayer in some way so you'll be able to tell it at a glance.

Without careful decontamination, there will always be herbicide traces left in the sprayer which can retard or kill your crops. If you must use the same sprayer for both herbicides and insecticides, the following steps will usually rid your sprayer of herbicide.

Rinse sprayer system with either 2 to 4 pounds of washing soda or 20 quarts of household ammonia in 30 gallons of water. Circulate mixture through sprayer and allow to stand several minutes before draining.

Repeat above step. Remove all rubber hose connections.

Repeat step one, and allow mixture to remain in sprayer for several hours. Drain and rinse with clean water.

Fill tank with clear water and spray on tomato plant. If tomato plant does not wilt, you can be relatively sure the herbicide effect is gone from the sprayer -- for the present at least. If the sprayer tank is rusted, the herbicide will show up each time rust is flaked off the sprayer tank.

It's a lot of work to clean the sprayer after a herbicide--but it is necessary especially if 2,4-D has been applied with the sprayer.

We have been seeing and hearing of a few problems in our wheat crop lately. Ever since the hard freeze several weeks ago, people have been asking me about freeze damage. Previously, freeze damage had not shown up until lately.

In the past week or two, a few white heads or the top part of some scattered heads has shown up. Also, a few scattered stalks are falling down after bending over in usually the second joint area. The freeze apparently damaged the cell structure in the area where these stalks are bending over. I'm afraid that more of this type of damage may continue to show up.

We're also beginning to see a little foot-rot also show up. As harvest nears, more foot-rot may continue to show up. Near maturity, one or more tillers or entire plants are killed and appear as white heads throughout the field. Affected plants may occur singly in small circular spots, or in large areas in the field. These white heads could be confused with freeze damage already mentioned. However, with foot-rot, the base of each stem has a dark, rotted appearance as well as the roots. Dead plants can be easily pulled up while normal, healthy plants are hard to pull up.

If you suspect that you have foot-rot in your wheat, I encourage you to get in touch with me. I will be glad to inspect your field and determine for sure if you have foot-rot. You need to make plans to plant cotton or soybeans on foot-rot infected ground next year and keep it out of wheat production for as long as possible.

Another small problem beginning to show up is some awn trapping which is characteristic of wheat streak mosaic. The mosaic pattern on the leaves is not exactly characteristic of the streak mosaic; however, some of our specialist have said that they thought it was wheat streak mosaic.

Now then, we have discussed four different things that are beginning to show up in a few scattered wheat fields. These problems are all very minor at present when you consider our entire wheat crop and we don't believe any of these problems are serious enough yet to affect our wheat crop to any extent. Just be on the look out if you see any of these symptoms and feel free to give a call at Farwell, 481-3619, if you are in doubt about a particular problem.

CATTLE HEEL FLIES

Cattle running across the field with their tails held high in the air or standing in water are pretty good indications that heel flies are busy. The animals try to protect themselves in these ways from the egg-laying flies.

Heel flies, the adult stage of cattle grubs, neither sting or bite. Instead, they merely attach their eggs to the hairs on the legs and lower body parts of cattle. As the eggs hatch, the small maggots bore through the skin at the base of the hair, enter and migrate through the leg muscles, through the abdominal and chest cavities to the esophagus and neural canal for further maturation.

During the late summer and early fall, the larva move to the animal's back and each forms a pouch under the skin. After a few weeks, it cuts a breathing and emergence hole through the skin. A month or two later, the full grown grub emerges through the breathing hole and falls to the ground. It develops into a heel fly within a few weeks.

15 Per Cent --

'67 Wheat Acreage Allotment Increased

By Prentice Mills
 Farmer County ASCS
 Office Manager
 Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced a 15 per cent increase in the national acreage allotment for wheat for 1967 crop. This represents a regular allotment of 55 million acres plus small farm increases to make an effective allotment of 59.3 million acres.

Secretary Freeman said this means U. S. farmers will be permitted to plant an additional 7.7 million acres wheat this fall and next spring for harvest in 1967.

He forecasts a "substantial increase" in farm income as a result. Effective allotment in 1966 was 51.6 million acres. The 1967 allotment is the largest in six years. It will mean that wheat acreage on most farms in 1967 will be at level equal to period of 1955 through 1961.

"The strong demand for wheat exports both for dollars and for food assistance programs has reduced our stocks sharply," said secretary Freeman. "For the first time in 13 years, our June 30 carryover will be under 600 million bushels." Six hundred million bushels is about one year's supply for domestic food consumption and seed.

"Stocks will be further reduced during the coming year despite good crop prospects," the Secretary said. "With continued strong demand in the market, and more acres of wheat, farm income will be substantially increased." Production in 1967 is expected to range between 1.5 billion and 1.6 billion bushels, depending on yields and other program features to be announced later. This compares with a 1966 wheat crop presently estimated at about 1.4 billion bushels.

Secretary Freeman said the allotment announcement is being made earlier than usual this year so wheat producers will have every opportunity to make their plans for 1967 crop. Action came also in response to suggestions by members of Congress, during debate last year on four year Agricultural Act of 1965, that early announcements be made once a long-term wheat program was enacted.

As in previous years, eligibility for price support loans and wheat marketing certificates is contingent upon a producer planting within his allotment and complying with other conservation or program provisions. However, because of increased allotments, no acreage diversion will be required for 1967 crops.

Further details of 1967 wheat program, including states and farm allotments, price support, and marketing certificates will be announced shortly, but no later than June. Farmers can expect to have their 1967 farm allotment notice by July 1.

age allotment applicable to most wheat farms in major wheat-producing states is 55 million acres, compared with 47.8 million acres this year. Another allotment of slightly more than four million acres will be available to producers who planted small acreages under previous legislation which gave farmers opportunity to plant wheat in excess of their farm allotment, up to 15 acres. Comparable total in 1966 was 3.8 million acres.

WHEAT TEST -- County Agent Joe VarZandt is talking with Bill Wheeler in a wheat demonstration at the A. L. Reznik farm north of Friona. The demonstration features eight varieties of wheat.

Combine Needed -- Wheat Demonstration Has Eight Varieties

County Agent Joe VarZandt has a wheat variety demonstration with A. L. Reznik, located eight miles north and two miles east of Friona. There are eight varieties in this demonstration planted on September 30. Each variety is planted on two 40-inch beds.
 The eight variety plots are located about 1/4 mile east of Reznik's house and he is glad for visitors to come by and inspect these varieties. The varieties are Scout, Kaw, Warrior, Lancer, Tascosa, Caddo, Improved Triumph and DI-23, an experimental short wheat which may be released soon. The DI-23 is supposed to reduce the height about one foot from present varieties. This factor could be a definite advantage to irrigated wheat.
 "We hope to get some yield data from these different varieties and we will if we can obtain a five-foot combine to harvest this demonstration," said VarZandt. "If anyone has a five-foot combine that is in working order please let A. L. or myself know," stated VarZandt.
 Scout, Warrior and Lancer are relatively new Nebraska varieties adopted to Texas. They have resistance to race 56 of stem rust but are very susceptible to leaf rust and loose smut. Warrior is very late in maturity but has performed well in High Plains tests. Scout has done well in High Plains tests also. Lancer has produced only fair yields and has no advantage over present varieties. Warrior has good quality but the Scout and Lancer are acceptable.
 Kaw is an established Kansas variety which is recommended for this area of Texas.
 Improved Triumph has been sold in Texas for several years and is superior in many respects to the original Triumph. Triumph wheats are strong gluten wheats.
 Caddo and Tascosa are Texas developed varieties. They are good and very good respectively in shatter resistance and have very good straw strength, test weight, and baking quality.
 "We encourage you to go by and observe these eight wheat varieties side by side," said the county agent.

HOW TO MAKE DRY WEATHER HURT LESS

Ask any farmer worth his salt and chances are he'll tell you that the best time to do something about dry weather is before it happens.

slope and following grass-legume sod was more than cut in half with wheel-track minimum tillage.
Apply more fertilizer. Root systems develop better and explore more for water when crops are fed plenty of high analysis nitrogen fertilizers, like Ammo-Phos fertilizers by Olin. In Iowa experiments, corn fertilized with such high analysis fertilizers pulled four extra inches of water out of the soil compared to unfertilized corn.
 A man is not old until regrets take the place of dreams.

Control Weeds. These culprits drain off tons of water that would otherwise be available to crops. Where weeds are generally a big problem, applying a pre-emergence herbicide will provide good control. Or, you can use a post-emergence herbicide to control those weeds you can't cultivate out.
Reduce Evaporation. One good way to do this is to plant in narrow rows. Plants shade the ground sooner, keep soil cooler, and less water is wasted. Mulches will help hold moisture when it rains, too. In addition, they reduce run-off and erosion.
Minimum tillage on contour-farmed land may store from two to three inches of water during a rain, compared to less than one inch on conventionally tilled soil, according to W. E. Larson, soil specialist at Iowa State. In Wisconsin, run-off on a cornfield with a 15 per cent
