Lone Star Gas Names Abilene Sales Supervisor

Appointment of James A. Ratteree of Abilene as sales supervisor for Lone Star Gas Company's West Texas distribution territory has been announced by Joe C. Darrow, division superintendent. Mr. Ratteree succeeds Hubert C. Davis who has been named manager of Lone Star's Marlin district.

As sales supervisor, Mr. Ratteree will be in charge of merchandising and new business activities here and in more than seventy-seven other communities comprising Lone Star's West Texas territory. He will have headquarters in Abilene at 1266 Butternut Street.

Mr. Ratteree joined Lone Star as a junior salesman in the Abilene district on October 6, 1947.

He was appointed specialty salesman the following May and named Abilene district sales supervisor on November 16, 1948. A month later he was assigned the duties of specialty salesman for the West Texas territory. His appointment as sales supervisor for this territory was effective October 16.

Born at Stigler, Oklahoma, Mr. Ratteree entered Baylor University at Waco in 1939 and received a degree in business administration in 1947, his college career being interrupted by military service. He entered as a bandsman on June 13, 1942, at the Waco Army Air Field and twelve months later went to Officer Candidate School at Camp Barkeley. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in September, 1943, and assigned to the William Beaumont General Hospital at El Paso. He was promoted to first lieutenant in March 1946 and served in the Philippines.

Mr. Ratteree is a member of the board of stewards at St. Paul Methodist Church in Abilene; chairman of the music committee of the Abilene Lions Club; president of the Baylor Ex-Students Association for the Abilene area, a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national music fraternity. He has been active in Red Cross, Community Chest, cancer drive and various other civic and welfare projects. His hobbies are photography and music. Mrs. Ratteree is the former Sue Wilson of Memphis, Texas.

Students Chip In Change To Aid Stricken Baby

WACO, Tex., Oct. 18 (UP)—Baylor University students chipped in nickles and dimes today to pay hospital expenses for the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Franks, both war veterans attending school under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

The baby, 15-month old Eddie Wayne Franks, was near death in an oxygen tent, the victim of abdominal cancer.

"His case is completely out of our hands," said his mother, Anna Ruth Franks. "It will truly be an act of God if he gets well."

The parents' fellow students at Baylor were determined that the boy should have every possible means of treatment.

They threw small change, and, when they could afford it, dollar bills into a fund to pay medical expenses for Eddie.

Already the fund had swelled to $200.

Waco merchants joined the scheme. They fostered a downtown campaign to raise additional money for the family.

An ice cream company planned to donate 20 per cent of one day's receipts to the fund.

Doctors said the type of cancer that struck Eddie was highly malignant and rare in a child of his age group. They have already operated on him for the ailment, they said, and he is responding "well" to X-ray treatments.

Baylor students suggested that their fund be used to send the boy to a nationally-famous medical center specializing in child cancer but the parents said "we have complete faith in the Waco doctors."

Makes Long Haul For Log House

JACKSON, Wyo., Oct. 18—A little bit of Jackson is being hauled away to Oklahoma.

H. C. Groendyke of Enid, Okla., became so attached to the log cabins typical in the Jackson Valley that he brought in five semi-trailer trucks to haul out some 300 house logs and 1,000 poles. He said he plans to build his own log house in Oklahoma.

Phantom Murders Clue Discarded

TEXARKANA, Tex., Oct. 18 (UP)—A rusty gun found by a child near the scene of the first of Texarkana's phantom murders was discarded today as a clue when officers said it was of the wrong caliber.

"We are looking for an automatic gun of a different caliber," Bowie County Sheriff E. G. Henslee announced. He based his theory on ballistics tests made in 1946 after the brutal slayings of Polly Ann Moore, 17 and Richard Griffin.

Two empty cartridges were in the gun, discovered yesterday one-fourth of a mile from where the bodies were found March 24, 1946.

SOME TIRES DO THIS

LOOK OUT — A BLOWOUT! High speeds build-up excessive heat—number one enemy of tire safety — along tread shoulders of some tires.

At 60 miles per hour car travels 88 feet per second — gives you precious little time to prevent an accident.

SEIBERLING Safe-Aire Tires do this

RELAX — THEY RUN COOLER. Patented Heat Vents in tread shoulders help reduce heat build-up. Heat Vents open and close as tire rolls, breathe-out hot air—suck cool air into the area where most blowouts start.

Hot Air Goes Out
Heat Vent closes as wheel turns, expels hot air.

Cool Air Goes In
Heat Vent opens, sucks in cool air as tire resumes normal shape.

Extra Low Pressure
New SAFE-AIRE design gives you 14% lower air pressure! Has 21% larger "foot-print" for greater traction, easier steering, softer riding!

New "Claw Grip" Tread
Amazing new Seiberling "Claw Grip" tread has 23% more "stapability" than conventional rib treads... gives you more non-skid mileage!

THE STORY: Tod Duncan's fiancee, Liz Conover, has eloped with another man. Jenny Poleska, an old friend of Tod's who has a crush on him, tries to restore his self-confidence. Tod tells Jenny that Liz's father had offered him a job, in spite of the fact that he married someone else, but Tod turned it down. This one day Tod goes on a picnic with Jenny and proposes to her because of Liz. Tod says it is not "on the rebound," and asks her to accept.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART

"YES, Tod." Her voice was a husky whisper. "I'll marry you."
A strange gasp caught them both. They tumbled things into the picnic basket helter skelter.
"We'll get our blood tests tomorrow," Tod said. "I'll pick you up during your lunch hour."
Jenny nodded, her eyes lustrous.
"I'll see about the license, Jenny, and then, let's see, the three-day wait would make it Thursday. Would Thursday be the day for you?"
"Thursday will be wonderful, Tod. Oh darling, I'm so incredibly happy!"
Tod had a crazy idea they ought to go somewhere and celebrate their engagement, but Jenny wanted to go home. She had so many things to do.
Jenny had picked up the Sunday morning paper from the porch and brought it into the house with her, and, as she thumbed idly through it after Tod had left, her attention was caught by a large picture in the society section. It was a shipboard pose of Liz and Tod Courtney. Liz, as usual, looked sophisticated and charming.
"Mr. and Mrs. James B. Courtney, III, whose surprise elopement took place in March, will return next week to their new home in Shawnee Place."

All day long he had been haunted by that picture. Liz's smile, her dark, mocking eyes had obsessed his thoughts.

He knew that Jenny was in love with him. In the beginning he had felt regret at the knowledge, but now he was glad. Jenny's attractiveness lay more in her charming ways. She had none of Liz's petulance or poutiness. He would not be a slave to Liz, as he would have been to Liz, but he was sure they could be happy together.
His mother and Harriet and Joe would not be pleased, because they used to think the Poleskas, Pop and the motherless Jenny, were high and mighty acting in the old days when the two families lived in the same neighborhood.
Ma used to disapprove of his being at the Poleskas so much. She had been pleased when he quit seeing Jenny altogether. Ma had always bragged about him when he was in college, and she had worked hard and deprived Joe and Harriet of things to send him extra money. They'd kept a scrapbook of clippings from the sports pages and showed it to everyone they knew. When he became engaged to Liz Conover, Ma had been half hysterical with joy.
Monday evening he came home to find Ma all up in the air. "Tod, Mr. Conover phoned you. He wants a definite answer about the job he offered you. You're going to take it, ain't you, hon?" Her voice was shrill with urgency. "Besides there's always the chance that Liz—"
"Look, Ma, I've got a job, and I've got other plans, too."
"What plans, son? Why do you be so stubborn when somebody tries to be nice to you?"
"There was a lot more. Ma even cried. She made him so mad he almost blurted it out that he was going to marry Jenny, but he didn't. He just smoothed things over and jollied Ma up the best he could. And he was sure now it was best not to tell her."
He lay awake a long time that night, torturing himself with conflicting thoughts about Jenny and Liz and the job with the Conover Agency; how he would get through that last year of college; how horrible it would be if he made a mistake marrying Jenny, hurting her. He must never hurt Jenny.

TEXAS-RICE GAME TO BE TUSSLE OF THE WEEK

By United Press
If there was uneasiness at Austin today, the Rice Owls were to blame.
Scouts who watched the Owls do wrong by SMU last Saturday night at Dallas came back to the state capital with woeful news that Rice would be just as vicious against the University of Texas next Saturday.
So coach Blair Cherry scheduled an intensive scrimmage for today after running the Longhorns through a light workout yesterday.
Cherry said that his squad could "only hope for mercy" in the coming southwest conference headlines that may well decide who will be the 1949 league champion.
At Houston, where the Owls resumed practice yesterday, there was no denial from Coach Jess Neely that Rice would look to championship status.
Southern Methodist's Mustangs, still suffering shock from the Rice beating, began the job of preparing for their interconference joust with a Kentucky team that may be even tougher than the conquering Owls.

Coach Matty Bell gave the first string a light workout yesterday and then sent his reserves into a scrimmage against the frosh.
At College Station, Coach Harry Stiteler started preparing a defense he hopes will stop the deadly Baylor passing combination of Adrian Burk to J. D. Ison when Texas A&M meets the Bears Saturday.
Stiteler told his squad they could look for bruising practice sessions every day.
From the Texas Christian camp at Fort Worth came the sad news that tackle Clarence (Red) Marable may be out for the rest of the season, and certainly against Mississippi next Saturday night.
The big 220-pounder, described as the Horned Frog's best all-around lineman, was snatched yesterday as the result of an injury last Saturday at the TCU victory over Texas A&M.
Regulars went through light practice, avoiding light contact while reserves scrimmaged with freshmen.

Militia May Be Called Out In Houston Strike

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 18 (UP)—Gov. Allan Shivers may be asked to call out the state Militia if strike violence at the Mathieson Chemical Corporation plant persists, the foreman of the Harris County Grand Jury said today.

David C. Bintliff, the Jury foreman, made the statement following the disclosure that violence at the struck plant would be investigated by the grand jury.
"We believe the deputy sheriffs can keep order there," he said. "But if they can't, we will ask that the Militia be called out."
Violence has flared intermittently at the struck plant for several days. I. D. Maedgen, 43, a paint worker, was injured in an affray Saturday, and the company posted a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of his assailant.
Hurling stones and mud balls greeted some workers crossing the picket line yesterday.
The plant was struck Aug. 2 because of a disagreement between the firm and the oil workers international union, local 227.

The custom of chewing cloves to sweeten the breath is more than 4,000 years old. The earliest record of this spice comes from ancient China.

They Forgot One Thing—

... in the rush of other duties in setting up housekeeping—they forgot how large a part of their home investment was in the furnishings. After they had the big fire, insurance rebuilt their house, but lack of funds to replace the contents left them a long way from having a liveable home. Don't make this mistake. Provide adequate insurance to cover your household effects.

Beethoven Music Club Have Most Important Meeting Of Year Mon.

One of the most important meetings of the club year for the Beethoven Junior Music Club was held Monday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cooper, South Daugherty Street with their daughter, Sally as hostess.

Marilyn Morgan, president, presided and heard minutes by Jana Weaver and Club Reports.

Mrs. A. F. Taylor counselor announced the appointment of Marilyn Morgan as vice president of the Junior Division of the sixth district Texas Federation of Music Clubs, to replace Miss Veda Merle Sneed, who served in that capacity for two years, before leaving to become a student at Baylor University.

Jana Weaver was elected delegate to the convention which will be held in Brady Oct. 29th, and Sally Cooper was chosen to represent the club on the Fine Arts Program, Junior Day, Saturday at 2 P. M. All three members will attend the convention, accompanied by the counselor and other club members.

Babeth Quinn was program leader for the afternoon and presented a program on Chopin, opened with ensemble singing of "America, The Beautiful," with Sally Cooper at the piano.

Taking parts on the program were Jana Weaver, Marilyn Morgan, Margie June Poe, and Sallie Cooper.

A musical test was conducted by Mrs. Taylor, counselor. Present were Jana and Herby Weaver, Alan Vermillion, Harvey Wilson, Margie June Poe, Babeth Quinn, Marilyn Morgan, Margie Lane, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. T. L. Morgan, and Mrs. Cooper.

The group will meet again November 21, in the home of Babeth Quinn.

Zeta Pi Sorority Honor Three At Sunday Tea

Mesdames Bill Leslie, Jim Murphy and Bill Brown, candidates for membership of the Zeta Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority were the honorees, Sunday afternoon at a "Presidential" tea in the home of Mrs. Gayland Poe, 506 South Seaman Street.

Guests were greeted on arrival by Mrs. J. T. Cooper and registered by Mrs. Oscar Avera.

Mrs. Milton Perry, president presided at the tea table, which was laid with a white Maderia linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses, sorority flower, in a brass container. Matching brass candles sticks flanked the centerpiece, holding white and yellow candles.

Assisting Mrs. Perry were Mesdames Gayland Poe and Everett Grisham and Miss Gay Poe, daughter of the hostess. Tea, cookies and nuts was served.

Present were Miss June McKee Terry Barrett, Bob King, Glen Boyd, Bill Walters Jr., R. D. Estes, Jimmie Harkrider, R. N. Whitehead, Jeff Chenault, Frank Sayre, Mattie Doyle, Pat Miller, Bill Collins, Mrs. Art Johnson, sponsor and the honorees, and hostess group.

South Ward PTA To Sponsor Book Fair

In observance of National Education Week, Nov. 6 to 12th the South Ward PTA will sponsor a book fair at the South Ward School.

Books from John C. Winston Co., McGraw Hill Book Co., Texas Book Store, Bobs Merrill Book Co., and many others will be on display. The public was invited to examine the books, which are to be displayed and are especially for children. They will be on sale or orders may be given for any book on display.

"By attending and ordering books for children for Christmas gifts you will be helping us teach the children appreciation of good literature, and help us make the Book Fair a joyous thing."

Watch for our Book Fair date Mrs. Harold Durham, principal said.

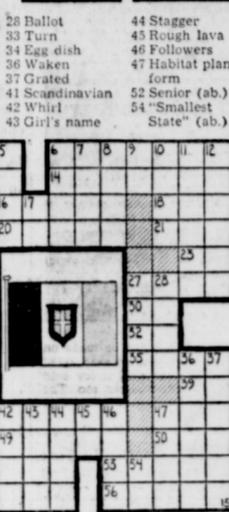

CHICOPEE, Mass. (UP)—Anthoni Kavalec's bald spot cost him $50 but he's not sorry. When a neighbor twitted him about it he hit the man in the eye. The $50 was a fine he paid for assault and battery.

TEXAS News Briefs

EDINBURG, Oct. 18 (UP)—N. S. McWhorter, Weslaco attorney, had the backing today of the Hidalgo County Bar Association and the Hidalgo Democratic Executive Committee to fill the judgeship vacancy in 92nd District Court.

McWhorter was named by the Bar Association three weeks ago as vacation relief judge for James Bryce Ferguson, who died last week.

Both organizations recommended McWhorter to Gov. Allan Shivers after a vote on the vacancy yesterday.

MCALEEN, Oct. 18 (UP)—United Citrus Growers today awaited word from state commissioner of agriculture C. E. McDonald on highway inspections of oranges and grapefruit leaving the valley.

The group of independent valley growers yesterday asked McDonald to install the citrus inspections.

President J. J. Daniels said fruit was leaving the citrus belt "right and left with no inspection at all." He said the highway inspections had been conducted in years past but understood the department of agriculture claimed it had no money this year.

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (UP)—The Mexican boys choir, composed of 20 youths ranging in age from 8 to 14, continued on a concert tour of Texas today after a special serenade for Gov. Allan Shivers.

Shivers heard the musical presentation in his reception room yesterday, then addressed the boys in Spanish.

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (UP)—The death of Edward G. Grounds, 19-year-old Dallas sophomore student at the University of Texas, was held as suicide today.

An inquest verdict of "death due to injuries sustained in voluntary fall" was returned by Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee yesterday.

There were no known witnesses to the Saturday suicide leap of the young arts and science student.

other communities and requested that they be installed in Mineral Wells, to replace the old style standards and lights. While the light company offered the City the same rates it now has, the increased cost of electrical current and maintenance of the new lights due to increased candle power, will add between $500 and $600 to the annual cost of the City's street lighting bill. However, we felt the added beauty and brighter lights would be worth the additional cost. Our next problem is to find the funds with which to pay the added costs. Perhaps the increase in revenues of the parking meters will help."

It is our understanding that Texas Electric Service Company has the same policy along this line as Texas Power and Light Company. We have a beautiful courthouse and with a well-lighted, inviting looking square, Eastland couldn't help but attract more people and give motorists a better impression with the installation of the vapor lights. Perhaps it isn't financially feasible here at the present time, but it is certainly something to think about. Understand that at one time Eastland had the most modern street light

Rites For Tulsa Publisher To Be Held Wednesday

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 18 (UP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Eugene Lorton, publisher of the Tulsa World for more than three decades.

Lorton, former telegraph editor and one-time farmer who became one of Oklahoma's most influential men, died yesterday at the age of 80.

Although his condition was critical two weeks ago, he showed considerable improvement last week and it was believed he was out of danger until he suffered a relapse.

His body will lie in state at the residence today and tomorrow before services at Trinity Episcopal Church.

Lorton moved here in 1911 as managing editor of the World then in its sixth year of publication. In 1917, he bought the paper and remained its sole owner until his death.

He was determined from the outset of his career to bring about an adequate water supply for the young city of Tulsa. His newspaper campaign eventually overcame heated opposition and led to the building of the present
