November 12 has been set as the date for the annual homecoming at Ranger Junior College and invitations are already out to former students of the college. The homecoming falls on Saturday and highlight of the day will be the football game between Ranger Junior College and Decatur Baptist College. A big band parade will be staged at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and at 5 o'clock a sandwich supper will be held in the college cafeteria. At 6:30 o'clock in the college auditorium a business session will be held and officers for another year elected. The football game will be at 8:30 o'clock. Present officers of the Ex-Students Association are Alvis Wood president, and Dewey Cox, secretary. Officers of the college, Dr. G. C. Boswell, president, Mrs. Gladys Hunter, guidance director and G. B. Rush, dean, are assisting in arrangements for the homecoming. Bands that have already accepted an invitation to march in the parade are Mineral Wells, Coleman, Tarleton College, Eastland, Gorman, Ranger High School and Ranger Junior College.

ECONOMIC SITUATION GROWING WORSE DAILY

BY UNITED PRESS
Federal mediator Cyrus Ching was reported ready to launch a new attack on the deadlocked soft coal dispute today and he made a third try at a settlement formula in the three-week steel strike. The nation's economic situation was becoming more critical daily. Two major railroads announced sharp cuts or shifts in service due to coal shortages. President Truman told industrialists last night there was "not a bit of sense in the world" to either of the big walk-outs. He said they could be settled quickly on the basis of the report turned in by his fact-finders who recommended industry-financed pension and welfare programs. The New York Central Railroad curtailed schedules of 89 local, suburban and branch line trains effective tomorrow, in an effort to save coal and warned it would have to do the same throughout its 11 state system if the coal strike continued. Washington dispatches said Ching was ready to invite officials of the striking United Mine workers and the soft coal industry to the Capital Monday in an effort to get their settlement show out of the mire and back on the road. Meanwhile, he met in New York again with U. S. Steel officials for a new attempt at finding a basis for settlement of the CIO Steelworkers strike. Ching showed no optimism but said the situation was "certainly not hopeless." His assistants said they were "somewhat encouraged" after talks with industry and union officials. Meanwhile, the union of one of the four striking unions appeared to be holding up settlement of a walkout that has paralyzed the Missouri-Pacific railroad for six full weeks. It was reported that the trainmen's union opposed a plan, agreed to by conductors, firemen and engineers, to submit 93 remaining grievances of an original 282 to arbitration. At Camden, N. J., the RCA-Victor division of the Radio Corporation of America settled a strike by 5,000 CIO Electrical workers with a 13-cent hourly package increase but a CIO union representing technical workers threatened to walk out unless they gained a similar agreement. A volunteer law enforcement group of townsfolk, cowboys and farmers was alerted for possible violence at the Dalles, Ore., where the CIO longshore union called a strike and set up picket lines to prevent movement of "hot" pineapple shipped from struck Hawaii docks. The labor situation's urgency was pointed up by a government report that 2,000,000 workers would be jobless if the strikes continued another 10 days. A Michigan state official said that lay-offs in the auto industry would give the state "what may be the worst wave of unemployment" since the post-war reconversion period. The Commerce Department warned that big production increases in the paper and board industry were threatened by the steel and coal strikes. More than 200,000,000 packages are transported annually to all parts of the United States by 10,000 daily trains over 196,000 miles of railroad from 23,000 offices of the Railway Express Agency.

Dogies Scalped 38-6 By Braves

The Comanche Junior High Braves scalped the Eastland Dogies, 38-6, Thursday night in a game played in Maverick Field. The larger and heavier Braves scored early in the ball game and went on from there to score in every period. Eastland's touchdown came in the closing minutes of the game with Billy Jordan, Dogie right end, making an almost impossible catch to lug the pigskin over the doubletrips in a 20 yard play. The ball was advanced to scoring position with Jordan making another outstanding catch and run in a play good for 35 yards. Fullback Hill Gaeta did the chunking. Kick for the point was wide. Other than Jordan's moment of glory, the rest of the ball game was all Comanche's. The Dogie line was no match for the stronger Comanche delegation, with the Braves scoring almost at will and the Eastland backs having no interference on offense. Gerald Ables, the Dogie left halfback, appeared to still be stiff from injuries sustained in a recent automobile accident, and did not have his usual bounce and pep. Seaback Jamie Jessop, while trying desperately for yardage, was kept bottled up most of the game.

Goliad Week Proclaimed

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21—Gov. Allan Shivers today proclaimed Oct. 23-29 as "Remember Goliad" Week and urged Texans to support the campaign to raise $200,000 to improve and beautify Goliad State Park. Shivers, in Fort Worth to address a Baptist group, pointed out that the citizens of Texas "owe a great debt to those 330 brave men under Col. James W. Fannin who were shot down at Goliad in 1836 after surrendering under peace terms. The campaign, which officially opens Monday, is sponsored by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. Brig. Gen. H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling, commander, 36th Infantry Division, Texas National Guard, is chairman of the state advisory committee. The name of Goliad shines with equal luster to that of the Alamo as a shrine for all Texans because of the tragic battle fought there in the cause of freedom," declared the governor. The 232-acre park, site of missions, an old fort and a state museum, is over-run with weeds. Plans drawn in 1938 for walkways, drives, patio acres and shrubbery and flowers, have never been completed. The State Parks Board, which also is backing the campaign, now has the money to maintain the park once it is restored. "Remember Goliad" Week coincides with Goliad's bicentennial celebration, planned for Oct. 26-29. All funds are being received by the Goliad Park Restoration Committee at Goliad.

Speaker Forsees Cattle Raising County's Future Main Industry

Cattle raising was forsees as the main future industry for Eastland County, due to government peanut acreage cuts, in an address by E. R. Eudaly of Fort Worth, former dairy specialist with the Texas A. & M. Extension Service, at the annual barbecue meeting of the Eastland County Livestock Raisers Association Thursday night. Eudaly told the more than 400 members and guests of the association that peanut growers are planning to turn dairymen with the coming of spring due to the release of thousands of acres formerly planted in peanuts. He warned cattlemen to watch five "hidden shortages": calcium and phosphorus, "trace" minerals of iron, copper and cobalt, manganese, vitamins A and D, and water. In explaining the importance of these shortages in cattle feeding he stressed the growing of grasses on separate land and the institution of a new thing in Eastland county—silage. Grasses, he said, were the cheapest, best and most beneficial way surplus land can be used. Vitamin A and B, bone and milk producing minerals, are found only in grasses. Winter problems are practically solved with the use of silage he said. The cow uses 50 per cent of her milk where she uses 20 per cent of the water she drinks, receives Vitamin A and D, normal summer and fall vitamins, in the winter months with the use of silage feed. Members of the Eastland County Dairymen Association were guests of the livestock raisers. Judge Clyde Grissom, chief justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, was master of ceremonies for the barbecue meeting, which was held in the Eastland City Park. Judge Milburn Long was in charge of the barbecue and music. Eastland youngsters did some square dancing as part of the entertainment. During a business session new officers of the Livestock Association were elected as follows: Leslie Hagaman of Ranger, president; A. Z. Myrick of Cisco, vice-president; C. M. McCain, of Eastland, treasurer; and J. M. Cooper of Eastland, secretary. New directors named were: Morris Newnam of Ranger, T. B. Smartt of Cisco and Sig Faircloth of Eastland.

FBI BREAKS UP BIG DOPE RING WITH ARIZONA ARRESTS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 11 (UP)—Federal agents claimed today that they broke a $1,000,000 narcotics ring with the arrest of seven men on suspicion of running a major opium and heroin supply line from Mexico to the Pacific Coast. Eight carloads of agents and police closed in on six of the gang and seized them at their alleged headquarters in Yuma, Ariz., yesterday. The reputed ringleader, 25-year-old Manuel Medrano, was arrested last night as he attempted to cross the Colorado River bridge from Yuma. An eighth gang member was sought. Those under arrest were scheduled for arraignment today. Emmett Gleason, a customs official at Yuma, said government agents began searching for the ring four years ago when it was learned that supplies of narcotics were being smuggled across the border from Mexico. "Undercover agents have had the gang under constant watch and have bought more than $13,000 worth of opium with marked money," he said. He said the arrests yesterday came after undercover agents made a purchase of opium from the gang. Later, he said, treasury officials found $2,000 in marked bill on Medrano. No more narcotics were found in the raids, however, officials said. Since heroin, an opium derivative, sells for $600 an ounce in the underworld, agents said, the gang probably had done more than $1,000,000 worth of business selling Mexican narcotics to distributors in Arizona and along the Pacific Coast.

78 KILLED IN HUNTING ACCIDENTS IN TEXAS

By United Press
At least 78 persons have been killed in hunting accidents since Sept. 1 with the nation's main open seasons yet to get under way, a United Press survey showed today. The survey showed that 62 hunters died in gunshot accidents and 16 others due to heart attacks brought on by exertion or excitement. Conservation experts said that, as usual, most of the fatalities could have been prevented had the victims or their accidental assailants displayed due caution. Some hunters shot themselves as they climbed carelessly over fences with their guns loaded and the safeties off. Others were killed as they dressed game which other hunters mistook for live animals. But one Washington State hunter got killed because of the white sweater he was wearing. A fellow nimrod mistook him for an albino deer. A bow-and arrow hunter in West Virginia was killed by an other archer who mistook him for game and sent a clothyard shaft through his body. Three states bore the bulk of land appealed to sportsmen to exercise more care than ever in the woods and fields this year. They said that with game, ammunition and arms more plentiful than ever since the war, America's open areas would be crowded and the slaughter of humans could be terrific. The main deer seasons, usually the most deadly to hunters, were yet to get underway and the big waterfowl seasons on the Illinois and Mississippi flyways also had not opened. Three states bore the bulk of the tragedies. Washington had 11 fatalities since Sept. 1, Colorado 11, and Minnesota nine. Most of the dead lost their lives hunting squirrels. Eighteen persons died hunting the furred-tailed rodent. Eight died hunting deer and at the same number while after duck. The Dakota and Minnesota pheasant seasons claimed 3 lives. The remainder were killed while hunting miscellaneous types of game, many of which were still out of season. In Wisconsin, a 14-year old boy stumbled, his gun discharged, and the load of buckshot killed his 10-year old companion. At Waterloo, Ia., two boys returned from a hunting trip, then scuffled for possession of a gun which discharged, killing one of them. Veteran hunters reserved their sympathy, however, for an Idaho victim who bagged his first deer, then got buck fever so badly that he died on the spot of a heart attack.

ONE KILLED, THREE HURT AS TWISTER HITS ABILENE

ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 21 (UP)—A thunderstorm-brewed twister made a brief stab at a residential section just outside the north city limits of Abilene shortly after midnight today, killing one woman and injuring three other members of her family. Police identified the woman as Mrs. Ruby Lee Persons, 37, a teacher in the Fair Park grade school and breadwinner of a family of four that included her blind husband and two children. The Persons' frame home was the only home demolished by the hit-and-run storm, but it and accompanying rain and hail knocked out an estimated 1,000 to 2,000 telephone circuits in the north end of the city and snapped a power line seven miles north of town leading to Anson. Shingles on other homes were blown off by the wind and an autin stone pylon extending some 20 feet above the building housing radio station KWKC was toppled through the roof of the station's main structure. The radio station is located on the opposite side of town from the Persons' home, but apparently was the only building damaged in that section. One of the two Persons children, Mina La Dell, 11, was in a possible serious condition in Hendrix Memorial Hospital, with a nail from falling timbers which pinned her in the wreckage having pierced her spine. The father, A. H. Persons was treated for a dislocated shoulder and 14-year-old Eddie Earl Persons suffered a broken hip. The Abilene Weather Bureau reported 1.25 inches of rain fell during the storm, which struck at approximately 12:20 A. M. The same area was struck by a windstorm in June causing injuries to three persons and damaging five homes.

TAX HIKE INEVITABLE IF SPENDING NOT HALTED

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (UP)—The United States faces a peacetime tax hike without equal anywhere if President Truman goes through with his latest announcement of revenue policy.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D., N. C., of the house ways and means committee expressed doubt that the people would stand for more taxes unless government spending were reduced.

Chairman Walter F. George, D., Ga., of the senate finance committee indirectly indicated he would be against a tax increase. George said a greater production level in this country would raise all the money needed for legitimate government purpose and permit a tax cut, to boot.

Republicans scoffed at Mr. Truman's new high tax plan. Rep Daniel A. Reed, R., N. Y., said Mr. Truman had refused to cooperate with congress to save money. Instead, said Reed, the president has been spending the taxpayers' money at the rate of $210,000 (T) more than the government take in each time the clock ticks." Sen. Eugene D. Millikin, R., Colo., remarked that congress "never could raise enough money to finance the Truman spending program." Sen. Edward Martin, R., Pa., said the President's tax statement is "further convincing evidence that he has no intention of curtailing waste and extravagance" in the government.

These comment followed Mr. Truman's statement to a news conference yesterday that he would have to ask congress next session for higher taxes to get the government out of the red. He is against reducing government spending and says, in fact, it will be greater next year.

Republicans scoffed at Mr. Truman's new high tax plan. Rep Daniel A. Reed, R., N. Y., said Mr. Truman had refused to cooperate with congress to save money. Instead, said Reed, the president has been spending the taxpayers' money at the rate of $210,000 (T) more than the govonly for a brief period, probably a matter of hours. The idea that habitual drinking produces increased facility to consume whiskey is not supported by scientific evidence, the Journal said.

"Large and heavy persons can consume somewhat more, but merely on account of their bulk and not because of any increase in ability to metabolize (convert into energy) alcohol," Newman's study, the Journal said, provides for the first time an accurate standard of human capacity for the consumption of alcohol.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Tod Duncan has married Jenny Folska on the rebound after his divorce. The wealthy Liz Conover, who has another man. He has told Jenny and tries to convince himself that it is all over with Liz. On the return from a short honeymoon trip, Jenny finds an eviction notice at their home where they had planned to live. Tod suggests that they live with his mother, sister, Harriet and brother Joe. Jenny's friends advise against it, but Jenny goes with Tod. At the first meeting with Tod's family, Mrs. Duncan tells Jenny "Tod made a perfect fool of himself getting married to spite Liz Conover."

ONE day Jenny asked Tod how much the apartment was costing him. "I don't ask you what you do with your money, Jenny!" he said, flaring up.

"But Tod, we ought to pool our resources. You are going back to college this fall. That'll take money. You said Markwood costs more than the State University. I asked about this apartment, because when we moved in you said your mother was looking for something less expensive."

"She is looking. Places are hard to find." They were in the tiny bedroom. Jenny was sure the rest of the family could hear them. She lowered her voice. "Are we going to go on living here, with no privacy and no feeling of permanence?"

"What's wrong with this apartment? I'm paying $150 a month for it. It ought to be good enough for anybody. That's quite a chunk of money!"

"Of course it is, darling, and that's the point I'm trying to make. When you quit your job and start to school, now are we going to pay that much? I only make $40 at the shop."

"I've been thinking about it." "Why doesn't Joe get a job?" "Ma's been trying to get him on at the tire factory. I spoke to her about Joe the other day, if you must know." He walked to the window now and stood there sullenly looking out into the darkened street. His broad shoulders sagged a little and his hair was rumpled.

THE sound of traffic floated up from the street below. The muted blast of Joe's radio came out of the living room, and water was running in the bathroom adjoining, where Harriet was washing out some things.

"If we live here this winter I don't know how you'll be able to study," Jenny said, "and besides—I just hate it!" She really hadn't meant to tell him that, but it had burst out before she thought.

"For heaven's sake," Tod cried in exasperation, as he turned about, "this heat is bad enough without your needling me all the time! Don't you suppose I hate it too!" he shouted. "I despise the cheapness of it all, the whole tawdry commonplace way we live! There's no fun in it anywhere. This wasn't the kind of life I planned to have. I hate my job, this apartment, having nothing to look forward to!"

Jenny stared at him in shocked disbelief, and then she whispered hoarsely, "Go on—say it." She clung with one hand to the foot of the hideous waterbed bed. "You're sorry—"

Jenny's brown eyes swam with quick tears. "Tod's eyes softened and he came toward her and put his arms around her and held her close. "Never, never," he whispered, rubbing his chin in her hair, "think I'm sorry we got married, Jenny. You'll have to forgive my temper. I didn't mean half the things I said. It's the best."

Jenny fell into the habit of staying in town quite often with Nina on those nights when Tod was out of town. They would cook a quick supper at Nina's apartment, and then they'd go to a show, or spend the evening together. If she didn't stay all night at Nina's it would be late when she got home. And one

Sunday morning she heard Ma talking about it to Tod. "Sometimes it's 11 o'clock, and she don't say a word about where she's been or nothin'. And I sometimes wonder when she says she's stayin' all night with that Nina."

"Ma, cut it out. Jenny's not that sort."

"Little you know about what sort she is."

"Cut it out, I said! If Jenny wants to go some place in the evening—"

"Mark my words, you'll find out who kind she is!" Jenny had slept late, but she threw on her robe and came into the kitchen where they were eating breakfast.

TOD shoved back his chair and came around to Jenny, put his arm across her shoulders and said grinning, "Hello, sleepyhead!" He pulled out a chair for her, got the coffee pot and poured her coffee. Jenny felt her anger melting. She had intended having it out with Ma and Tod then and there, but the way Tod bustled around looking after her comfort, and the way Ma got up and flounced into the other room, made it impossible.

They came a Thursday evening in August, and Tod was not due home until Friday. Nina had suggested that she and Jenny really splurge—have dinner at a nice place, and then take in a new show. Jenny even had a new dress, a sheer black crepe she bought cheaply from Max because the summer was almost over. And she had found a hat to go with it, a Dutch bonnet with a lace brim.

They were to dine at Greenbriar, the swankiest place in town, soft lights, dreamy music and wonderful cocktails. They had just been seated when Jenny, happening to glance toward the door, saw Tod.

She thought she must be mistaken, because Tod wasn't due home until the following day. But it was Tod all right, and he went directly to a table in the far corner. Liz was at the table.

Nina saw Jenny's face. "Jenny!" Jenny didn't answer. All she could think of was to get out before Tod saw her.

RICE--TEXAS GAME DUE TO BE CONFERENCE SHOWDOWN

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer
Another big showdown in the heated Southwest Conference football race comes off Saturday, when the Rice Owls take on the Texas Longhorns at Austin.

Coach Jess Neely's Birds already have undergone one crucial conference test—against Southern Methodist last week—and emerged as victors by a tally of 41-27. And because of that big feather in the Owls' bonnet, the renewal of the long standing rivalry between Rice and Texas has taken on added significance.

Neely says his charges are resting too much on their laurels to win. But the chances are, he won't be proved right or wrong until the final gun sounds in memorial Stadium Saturday.

Baylor and Texas A&M furnish the other conference battle this week, with other conference eleven playing outside foes.

The SMU-Kentucky clash at Dallas tops the interconference list. In addition, TCU meets Mississippi at Fort Worth in a night game and Arkansas goes to Nashville against Vanderbilt.

Despite their vicious line play and sparkling all-around offensive power displayed against SMU, the Owls will go against the Steers a 5-1-2 098.5 underdog.

Three years have elapsed since a Rice team has beaten Texas. All indications point toward a high-scoring affair, and a 70,000 crowd is expected for the game.

Each team has won its only conference start, Texas having beaten Arkansas 27-14 last week. Texas' record is marred only by its 20-14 defeat at the hands of Oklahoma, while Rice was whipped 14-7 by LSU.

Baylor, which stamped itself as a definite championship contender two weeks ago when it downed Arkansas, should have little trouble in shading the Texas Aggies, who dropped their conference opener to TCU last week. SMU, with All-American Doak Walker out of the lineup with influenza, will be a definite underdog for the first time in more than two years.

TCU and Mississippi appear to be about evenly matched, as do Arkansas and the Commodores. Those games could go either way without anybody's crying "upset."

Scouts To Watch Kentucky-SMU

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21 (UP)—Two Sugar Bowl Scouts will watch the University of Kentucky's undefeated and untied football team play Southern Methodist at Dalls Saturday, Bowl President Frank Schaub said today.

He pointed out that the Sugar Bowl begins preliminary discussions of its New Year's Day line up after five weeks of the season are past. This is the fifth week.

Files Paternity Suit Against Sports Publisher

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21 (UP)—A former woman employe charged today that Charles C. Spink, vice-president of the Sporting News, fathered her child.

Spink, son of J. G. Taylor Spink, head of the baseball publication, was married Oct. 8.

The accusation was contained in a $50,000 paternity suit filed yesterday against the younger Spink by Miss Mary Malin, formerly a stenographer for the news.

Spink refused to comment on the suit but his attorney said: "We deny all allegations emphatically."

Miss Malin's suit, filed in circuit court, alleged that she became acquainted with Spink in 1947 and was intimate with him following his promise to marry her.

The suit also charged that Spink is the father of a child born to Miss Malin and now living with her.

THAT'S WHAT I CALL REAL SERVICE

And You ALWAYS Get It When You Use McCormick Equipment

One day, right in the middle of harvest, a customer hurried in and asked for a replacement part for his 10-year-old combine. I went to the parts bin, and as I came back and plunked the part down on the counter, he grinned and said: "That's what I like about using McCormick equipment. When I do need a part, you always have it or can get it right quick."

He started to walk out, and I said, "How about letting our service man put that part on for you? Your machine might need a little adjustment here and there, and he can do that at the same time."

He thought it over for a minute, and laid the part back on the counter. "Go ahead," he grinned. "I've got a couple of other things to take care of here in town anyway. The combine is standing in the field south of the house."

He turned to go, and I mentioned, "If you're not at home by the time he puts on the part, I'll have him try the combine and look it over thoroughly and give you a report. Maybe we can get together and arrange to fix it ahead of time for next season and save you time and trouble."

"Go ahead," he agreed again. "That's what I call real service!"

"Just a part of our regular IH 5-Star Service," I said.
