Mrs. Van Geem Is Nominated Good Neighbor

Mrs. C. M. (Mammie) Van Geem has been nominated for Eastland's best Good Neighbor by Mrs. Raymond McCord in the contest sponsored by the Quarterback Club for the breakfast in Hollywood show to be held Tuesday night.

"Mrs. Van Geem came to Eastland during the oil boom and was head waitress at the Connellee Hotel Coffee Shop for several years. During this time she trained many young girls to be courteous and efficient waitresses.

"Fifteen years ago she married Charlie Van Geem and has been a very competent helpmate. She gracefully accepted the responsibility of raising her step-grandson and became a wonderful mother to him.

"They have eight acres surrounding their modest home and for years they kept a cow, raised a garden and chickens, thereby being able to furnish many people in Eastland with fresh milk, butter, buttermilk, eggs and vegetables of many varieties.

"She also raises peonies and has furnished many people with the delicious and rare squab, saving the precious meat points during the war, too.

"She rents a furnished apartment to people with children and has nursed several mothers at childbirth because help would be scarce. She would break ice off of frozen tubs of water and wash for the babies. She would prepare meals for the mothers and help keep them in a happy and cheerful mood. No task ever seemed disagreeable to her. She has helped many frightened parents and calmed them when their baby would be fretful or ill. She has gone for a doctor in bitter cold weather and would go have prescriptions filled after the doctor left. That alone is a very high tribute to a landlady.

"She makes and sends peanut pies and fruitcakes to a homesick sister-in-law in Washington D. C. She visits elderly people on their birthdays and always remembers to take a cake with jellies, jams, flowers and maby a gay apron of hot pan holder.

"For years she has taken an elderly aunt every month to pay her bills and do her shopping.

"She is active in church work when a cripple knee permits her to climb stairs. She has donated and cooked many a hen for church dinners during the past years.

"A volume could not hold all the nice things she has done for me personally, but I will mention a few—bringing in hot meals on moving days before the water and gas was connected. Bringing groceries from town when my husband was in the service. We had three small children and no car at the time. Helping nurse my aged grandmother during her last days. And while we were on a vacation this summer she sent a note in my name to one of my neighbors when there was a death in the family.

"If every neighbor in Eastland would strive to be as good a GOOD NEIGHBOR as Mrs. Van Geem, then Eastland would be a paradise indeed."

Eastland To Clear Bond Debt In 1971 At Present Payment Rate

Information concerning the bonded indebtedness of the City of Eastland, has been announced by City Manager I. C. Heck.

Records reveal the total amount of bonds issued by the city on the first issue of March, 1911, amounted to $1,429,650.

Total amount of refunding bonds issued was $731,295.

Refunding bonds issues were: water and sewer, 1941, $307,775; tax refunding, 1941, $357,370; and tax refunding, 1946, $66,150. These were issued at the rate of 85 cents on the dollars of total bonds outstanding.

The city had paid on these refunding bonds the amount of $127,487.50 as of Sept. 30, 1949, leaving an unpaid balance of $603,807.50.

Approximate amount on hand and set aside for bond retirement is $11,000 to be paid in Oct. 1949, and $14,000 in April, 1950 making a total of $25,000. This will leave an unpaid balance of $578,807.50. Present budget payments will find the city clear of payments on refunding bonds in 1971.

In addition to bond payments, interest has been paid since 1941 at the rate of 3 per cent on water and sewer refunding bonds and 2 percent through 1951 and 3 per cent thereafter on tax refunding bonds, Heck stated.

Requirements for bond retirement and interest are: water and sewer, $18,000 annually, and tax refunding bonds, 40 per cent of all taxes collected for the tax year 1941 and subsequent years.

American Art Week Observed In Eastland With An Exhibit

The Thursday Afternoon Club celebrated American Art Week on November 3rd, with the 1920 Club from Ranger and the Twentieth Century Club of Cisco as guests. An art exhibit of 32 canvases, well hung and lighted, was one of the features of the afternoon's entertainment. All of the pictures were owned by club members and many of them were done by members themselves. An exhibit of Point Lace, made by Mrs. Ruth Horton, sister of Mrs. Frank Castleberry, exquisite Majolica and Royal Bohemian and Meissen China, added to the interest of the afternoon. French Bisque figurines, exhibited by Mrs. James Horton were in contrast to the modern Ceramics, made and exhibited by Jerry and Horace Horton.

The theme of the afternoon was "Budding Signs of Genius." The guests were welcomed by Mrs. W. F. Davenport, president, and the program was introduced by Mrs. Earl Conner Sr. Brief biographical sketches of the five participating Eastland artists, introduced their varied talents.

Mrs. A. B. Cornelius composer and poet played and sang a group of her own compositions. Her songs were melodious and she has the ability to create the proper mood for the lyrics and possesses a delightful contralto voice for interpretation.

Elsie Glenn, author and columnist, read from her unpublished book "Wilda Dragoon." Her descriptive style proves that one can paint with words and can create vivid and illuminating portraits.

Art in the schools was presented in an entertaining and artistic fashion by Charlene Baker. Miss Baker illustrated with tangible evidence that "Art is fun and Art is for everyone." Her canvas "Restful Tree" was the center of interest during her opening comments.

Tax Collections Up By Eastland

Tax collections by the City of Eastland in 1949 will show an increase of $4,085.82 as compared with last year, City Manager I. C. Heck, announced. Taxes in 1948 amounted to $55,150; as compared with $59,238.85 this year.

Heck pointed out this does not mean that taxes have been raised, but that the increase is due to the growth of the city in new business, new buildings and homes and additions to building and houses.

Collections during the last week of September and month of October this year were 60 per cent or $36,078.71, as compared with 56 per cent last year, or $31,016. The increased four per cent collections reveals better business and trade conditions in 1948 than in the previous year, Heck said.

Claims Must Be Filed For Benefits In Social Security

Social security benefits to 65 year old workers and to the families of workers who die are not paid automatically, Ralph T. Fisher, manager of the Abilene social security office, cautioned.

In every case where payments are due, a claim must be filed with the social security office to start the ball rolling. The law places a limit on the number of backpayments that can be made when a claim is not filed promptly; no more than three months' back benefits can be paid.

When a 65 year old worker stops work, he should get in touch with the social security office without delay. When a worker dies, someone in the family should make it a point to inquire about possible benefits to the survivors. In either case, if action is delayed more than three months after death or retirement, one or more monthly payments might be lost.

To assist local residents in filing claims for social security benefits, Glen McNatt from the Abilene social security office visits Eastland regularly. Mr. McNatt will be in Eastland at the Army Recruiting Office again on Thursday, November 10, at 10:00 A. M.

Full Evening Of Fun, Prizes Assured At Breakfast Show

When Eastland citizens attend the Breakfast in Hollywood show Tuesday night at the high school auditorium, they may be assured of a full evening of fun, entertainment and valuable prizes.

Sponsored by the Eastland Quarterback Club, it is not the practice of the organization to do things in a halfway measure. This fact is revealed in two of their projects—the Maverick Stadium and the Eastland Golf Course. Those who have attended their annual Minstrel shows are aware the Quarterbacks can really tickle the funnybone and entertain you.

The Breakfast in Hollywood show promises to be even better than the Minstrel, which is one of the entertainment highlights of the city each year. The club has been very fortunate in securing the services of Father Jim McClain, local Episcopal minister, who is the former Dr. I. Q. of radio and stage fame. Father Jim will handle the master of ceremonies duties made famous by the late Tom Brenneman of the

NAVY AGREES TO GIVE AIR FORCE MORE GRADS

By WILLIAM F. MCMENAMIN, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (UP)—The Navy disclosed today it has agreed to give the Air Force more than three times as many Annapolis graduates next year as it has in past years.

The agreement was hailed immediately in military circles as a big stride forward in unification of the armed forces.

Under the new arrangement, 25 per cent of the 690-member graduating class at the U. S. Naval Academy may volunteer for transfer to the Air Force. Of these, half will draw flying assignments and half will be attached to ground units.

The previous agreement stipulated that only seven per cent of the Annapolis graduates would be eligible for transfer to the Air Force.

The Air Force has no service academy of its own. It must rely on West Point and Annapolis for its academy-trained officers. Others come from civilian schools.

The Air Force has an agreement with the Military Academy at West Point whereby it receives 40 per cent of its graduating class and the Army gets the other 60 per cent. A few arrangements between the Air Force and Army is expected to be announced shortly.

From last year's classes, the Air Force received only 230 academy graduates—175 from West Point and 55 from Annapolis.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, has said his service is short of the academy-trained military men it needs to meet its challenging world task.

The Army has slightly more than 6,000 academy graduates, and the Navy has 9,000. The Air Force has only 2,100 on its rolls.

The Air Force has had trouble attracting enough college men from civilian schools. Of some 1,400 applicants now awaiting entry into flying cadet training, only 27 are college graduates. About 75 per cent have not completed two years of college.

Roughly one-third of the officers of the Air Force have college degrees but the percentage has been decreasing every year.

The Air Force eventually wants to build an Air Academy. When the late James Forrestal was defense secretary, he had a committee study the project. Later, Forrestal said he would support legislation to set up a separate Air Force training school similar to those at Annapolis and West

Brazoria County First Daily Rolls Off The Presses

ANGLETON, Tex., Nov. 5.—(UP)—First issues of Brazoria county's first daily newspaper rolled off the presses Friday afternoon.

The Brazoria County Daily Review, an afternoon tabloid, marked a journalistic milestone for the county. It was the first time in history that this area had a daily newspaper published by county residents.

Publisher W. D. (Dick) Johnston noted that his paper represented a consolidation of county-wide weeklies, including the Brazoria County Review in Angleton, an Alvin edition of that same paper, the Brazosport World in Velasco, and the West Columbia Light in West Columbia.

The Daily Review came off a new web press capable of printing 3,500 papers an hour. Ten thousand copies of the first issue were rolled off.

Charles K. Barnum of West Columbia is managing editor. Advertising manager is Lester W. Hammer of Alvin, and society news is assembled and edited by Mrs. F. L. Dorrell of Angleton.

The paper has branch offices in West Columbia, Alvin and Freeport.

There has been considerable interest among congressmen in such legislation. However, it is generally agreed that it will be some time before such an academy is in operation.

NEW NAVY BOSS?—Informed sources in Washington say Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, above, may soon replace Adm. Louis E. Denfeld as Chief of Naval Operations. Denfeld's testimony on unification is said to have practically disqualified him from representing the Navy on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Sherman, 53, is commander of the Sixth Task Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Jenny's marriage to Tod Duncan has nearly bogged down with ill-will, but the issue being the arrival of twin sons, and Tod's inability to forget Liz Conover, who filled him. After Tod's graduation from college, they live in the guest cottage of an old chum Rick Morris, who Tod commiserates. Tod suspects that Rick is in love with Jenny. Meanwhile, Tod's mother, who dislikes Jenny, suggests that Tod stay in the city all week, returning home at week-ends. Then Tod, says away one week-end. Jenny borrows Rick's car and heads a squall basement apartment in the city—she can live with Tod. Tod thinks it's all right for something "temporary."

put on his coat and went out, muttering something about cigarettes. Tomorrow, she decided, she would see Mrs. Duncan. She could ask the landlady to sit with the twins for an hour.

TOD walked briskly down the shabby street, guilt washing through him in sickening waves. He couldn't stand to have Jenny turn those brown eyes of hers on him so sympathetically, asking what was troubling him.

For months now, ever since he had gone to work for the firm, he had been seeing Liz Conover. She was working for her father's advertising firm, which handled Tod's company's business. He saw Liz nearly every week. She brought over the advertising copy personally, instead of sending it by messenger.

He had thought he would tell Jenny casually to Jenny now. He was stirred up. And that was what Liz wanted. He was sure of it the day his boss, Mr. Freytag, said, "Duncan, Miss Conover from the advertising agency says you ought to be handling our advertising layouts. She told me you were good at that sort of thing, that her father had tried to get you into their firm."

He admitted he had been interested in advertising, and from then on it was settled. He had conferred with Liz over the copy. Each meeting had been more tense and filled with undercurrents than the one before. Liz knew her power over him.

As he walked along now through the night he wondered if it wouldn't be best to make a clean breast of it. Why not say, "You see how it is, Jenny—having been in love with her once I feel upset over the contact. But I'll get over it. She doesn't mean anything to me really. Just be patient with me, Jenny."

No, that wouldn't make sense. He'd been married to Jenny for a year and a half now, and if Liz still had the power to tear him to pieces inside, there wasn't any use trying to explain it to Jenny.

No wonder Jenny knew something was tormenting him.

THE next day Jenny put the babies to bed with bottles for their naps at 2 o'clock and asked Mrs. Slatery, the landlady, to sit in the apartment while she took a taxi to the Madison street apartment where Tod's mother lived.

Mrs. Duncan didn't seem to be home. One of the neighbor women in the building talked to Jenny about her.

"She's always takin' nerve medicine, Miz Duncan is. She goes around to different drug stores gettin' that prescription filled."

"She does?" Jenny was shocked.

"Yeah, she's always doped up with it. I said to her the other day, 'Miz Duncan, why do you take so much of that nerve medicine. You know it ain't good for you. What if the doctor found out?' And she said, 'Nobody's gonna tell him!' And I says, 'But why do you take so much of it?' and she says, 'Because it makes me feel like I'm floatin' on a cloud. I forget my troubles. I forget I don't feel good and none of my kids come to see me no more.'"

Jenny escaped after a while. After she had told Tod he went that night to see his mother. But there was little he could do. Three weeks later, in December, she fell down a flight of stairs and was taken to the hospital and then to a nursing home.

Tod was relieved in a way, because he knew the medicine habit would be broken, but on the other hand with money being paid out each week to the nursing home his financial situation became more and more desperate.

SOUNDS OFF—Maj.-Gen. Elard A. 3 In Hospital After Game Riot

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 5 (UP)—Three persons were hospitalized today with injuries received when a Suburban High School football game ended in a riot.

A woman, 34-year-old Mrs. Viola Higgins, was "knifed pretty badly," a physician said. She was reported in serious condition.

The riot broke out at the end of a game between Melvindale and River Rouge High Schools last night. The game was won by River Rouge 6 to 0 at the Melvindale Field.

Spectators said that tempers on both sides were short throughout the roughly played game, which was to decide the Twin Valley Conference championship.

They said that as the teams started off the field, a River Rouge player jumped the back of a rival team member.

Police said that most of the 3,500 fans swarmed out on the field.

Scattered fist fights were broken up by police and game officials, but about 40 youths appeared at the opposite end of the field and began swinging fists. It was 15 minutes before police could halt the melee.

LAST LAUGH—Adolph Cohn got a real kick out of his 96th birthday because he had put one over on the insurance company. But Cohn read the fine print—and learned the policy paid off at age 96, dead or alive. He collected.

Electrical Firms Pay Big Fines

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5 (UP)—General Electric, Westinghouse and eight other electrical firms paid a total of $40,000 in fines today for a conspiracy to fix prices.

The companies pleaded no contest to the anti-trust charges. They also agreed to a consent decree enjoining them from carrying on the alleged illegal practices.

Federal officials said the cases involve sale of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of disconnecting and grounding switches to the Metropolitan Water

Miss Steel, Chief Warrant Officer Skarda Are Married In Pearl Harbor Ceremony Recently

Miss Fay Dell Steele and Chief Warrant Officer E. J. Skarda were united in marriage on October 2, 1949 at three o'clock P. M. in the Submarine Base Chapel at Pearl Harbor with Chaplain A. C. Boyer of the Naval Air Station, Barber's Point, Honolulu officiating, in a double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. Joe B. Steele of Ringling, Oklahoma. She attended the State University of Oklahoma, is Organist of Lelani No. 8 of the Order of Eastern Star, Honolulu and a member of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at Pearl Harbor Chapter.

Prior to duty as Assistant Communications Officer, Electronics and Telephone Officer at the Naval Air Station, Honolulu, Mr. Skarda was Electronics Officer at the Naval Operating Base, Adak, Alaska.

She carried a white Bible, gift of her sister, draped with pink strands, each tipped with an orchid. At the neck of her holoku, she wore a pearl ornament, previously worn by her mother and a sister on their wedding gowns. Mrs. Marie Cundiff, 130-A Bates Street, Honolulu was her only attendant. She wore a grey satin holoku with a lei and crown of white carnations.

Mr. Skarda wore the white formal uniform of U. S. Navy and Lt. Comdr. A. E. Smithson, Communications Officer at Naval Air Station, was the best man.

The music was rendered by Jack Coale, popular radio artist of Honolulu. The music included the traditional Hawaiian Wedding Song, Ke Kali Nei Au. The entire service was recorded.

After the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of Warrant Officer and Mrs. Thurston McCrary, 506 Center Drive, NHA-1, Honolulu, where the couple cut the cake with the traditional sword and served with Champagne punch.

The couple will spend their Honeymoon at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel on Waikiki Beach and on the big Island of Hawaii, after which they will be at home in Navy Officer's Quarters aboard the Naval Air Station, until spring when Skarda will retire from active service and will make their home in Fortuna, Calif.

Midwest livestock scientists are developing the "pig of tomorrow" . . . a plump porker that will supply two extra pork chops and won't know a hog wallow from a pool table. The experiments are working with Yorkshires, and the squealers are getting top drawer treatment. The animals will be born in a "hog hatchery", and they will not be allowed to wallow in the mud. It seems like sort of a dirty trick when you think how happy the hog usually looks while taking their mud baths. They'll have air conditioning and radiant heat, and they're expected to turn out more meat and lard. Or else.

There is hardly an Eastland home that was not affected one way or another during the last war. Friday, Nov. 11, has been set aside as Armistice Day to pay tribute to the boys which gave their all during the last two terrible World Wars. On this day as we pause in memory to these boys, let us all re-dedicate ourselves that "they shall not have died in vain". Here in Eastland and communities like it all over the United States, among the homefolks, the hope of a lasting peace is to be found. Let us meet that challenge in our everyday living.

Prophets Taught Tragedy of Rejection

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

BENEATH and above everything that the Hebrew prophets thought, said, and wrote, was their conception of God, and their faith in Him.

God was not for them an abstraction, nor even an object of worship, distinguishable from the idols their idolatrous neighbors worshipped, only because He had life and intelligence. It was the righteous and holy nature of the life of God in which their vision and their faith centered. The living God was the creator and upholder of the universe.

His laws guided the planets in their course. The heavens declared His glory, and the firmament showed His handiwork. Integrity was in the laws that governed His world.

And, corresponding to that integrity of the laws governing the world was the moral law of God for the souls of men, and for the governing of their relation with one another. These prophets were as sure of the moral law, and of the spiritual nature of man, and of the laws of the world of the spirit, as they were of the sure foundations that they observed in the physical world.

With this conception of a holy God was that of a holy people—people called and chosen of God, and responsive to His will and purpose. Why did they believe that God had chosen Israel? Was He not the God of other nations and peoples? One gets in the Old Testament some indications of belief in a tribal God, but these soon pass into belief in the God of the whole earth, of whom Job asked, would He not do right. The conception of a national religion in isolation passed before the vision that the later prophets had of Israel as a spiritual nation in which all the nations of the earth should be blessed.

With faith in God, and the worship of God, the prophets associated integrity of character, and righteousness in word and deed. God meant a standard of living, as well as an object of worship. "Be ye holy, for I am holy," was the word He spoke through His prophets.

WITH that conception, faith, and vision, it was inevitable that the prophets should react as they did to sin in the individual life, and to evil in the national and social life. They saw tragedy in the refusal of the people to accept God's choice and call. They spoke in denunciation and in words of solemn warning. They made their indictment of evil most specific. Because they rebuked the nation they were charged with disloyalty, though their hearts burned with a patriotic zeal for Israel.

But their message was not all of denunciation and warning. In times of distress, when trouble had come, as in days of destruction and exile, their message was of hope and comfort. There was hope for a people repentant and seeking again the ways of truth and right that they had neglected. The prophets were spiritual physicians who were deeply concerned with prevention. But when the illness of sin assailed they were physicians of healing.

And the record is not all of darkness, and ruin, and tragedy. The light of Israel shone again in the exile in Babylon, and religion broke forth into joy and song, as the Psalms so gloriously testify.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 6.

The Golden Text is: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Ephesians 5:14).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Whoso walketh uprightly shall be saved; but he that is perverse in his ways shall fall at once" (Proverbs 28:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual man is the image or idea of God, an idea which cannot be lost nor separated from its divine Principle" (page 303).

Bride-To-Be Ill, Barkley Flies To Bedside

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 5 (UP)—America's romantic vice-president, Alben Barkley, flew to the bedside of his ailing sweetheart to hold her hand today as she fought off the effects of a slight case of flu.

Barkley flew here last night as soon as possible after he learned that his bride-to-be, Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, had entered St. Luke's Hospital for rest and treatment.

Hospital attendants said the pretty 38-year-old widow's condition was "very satisfactory" and that she probably would be recovered in time for her wedding to Barkley on Nov. 18.

However, her indisposition caused the nation's most prominent pair of lovebirds to cancel any plans they may have had this week end for purchasing her wedding ring.

The couple had spent several days recently hunting in St. Louis jewelry shops for "something special" in the way of a ring.

Her illness also forced Mrs. Hadley to interrupt her shopping for a trousseau. Physicians said they expected Mrs. Hadley to be released from the hospital in several days. They said she principally was in bed of rest.

Mrs. Hadley's mother, Mrs. E. H. Rucker, said her illness apparently resulted from extreme fatigue. "She's been extremely busy, you know, ever since the engagement was announced," Mrs. Rucker said. "It's just been one task after another."

"And the phone has been ringing constantly with people calling their best wishes and so forth. She hasn't had a minute's rest." Mrs. Rucker also said that her daughter had attempted, meanwhile to work at her job as secretary to the general counsel of the Wabash Railroad.

American Artists—

The tea table was a masterpiece of art, decorated with a fall arrangement of fruit and leaves. Copper and brass appointments and tall olive green candles welcomed the guests from Eastland County, who were served by Mrs. W. F. Davenport and Mrs. W. W. Linkenhogger. The decorations and tea plate for sandwiches, candy and cookies were arranged by the hostesses, Mrs. Frank Castleberry, Mrs. Frank Lovett, Mrs. Grady Pipkin and Mrs. Dan Childress. It is interesting to note that the dishes used on all occasions in the Women's Club are personalized and were made especially for Eastland by the Horton Ceramics. Fall berries and chrysanthemums were used in profusion on the piano and throughout the room.

The art exhibit was hung by Mrs. D. L. Houle, Mrs. Arthur

Murrell and Mrs. W. W. Linkenhogger. The prevailing mood seemed to be that of Autumn and ranged from small to very large canvases portraying the vivid color of Colorado, New Mexico, the Ozarks and New England. Seascapes ranged from a large canvas done in 1897 by Myrtle Shannon Tracy, then of Eastland, and exhibited by Mrs. Earl Conner, Sr., to a modern water colored Sea Scope by Jessie Kalmbach Chase of Wisconsin. Three canvases by the same artist, exhibited by Mrs. D. L. Houle, portrayed "Studio House," "Birches and Blue Water," and "Lake Michigan." Her treatment of blues and greens is restful and peaceful and her technique flawless. Exquisite detail was observed in the architectural water color by the English artist Crawford O'Gorman. Two oval Still Life studies were exhibited by the artist, Tully Beth Conner. Another club daughter, Nell Lovett Cates exhibited a flower arrangement in oil, the property of her mother, Mrs. Frank Lovett. Mrs. Ben Hamner exhibited two flower studies by Mrs. N. L. Smitham and a Pastoral Scene by Josephine Massey.

Another interesting sidelight of the exhibit came in the information that the two paintings "Three Wise Men and "Roses", exhibited by Mrs. Frank Castleberry, were obtained by her sister, Mrs. Ruth Horton, who exchanged some of her Point Lace with the artist Minta Tunnell of Cross Plains. Fires Sweep Through California

All residents of an exclusive densely wooded area, Flintridge, Calif., near Hollywood Rose Bowl, have been ordered to evacuate their palatial homes as fires spread with terrifying swiftness through the hills. Clouds of smoke were visible for 20 miles, and firefighters were handicapped for lack of hydrants in the area. (NEA Photo)

Afternoon Study Club, Mrs. Homer Brelsford, was represented by a canvas, entitled "Blue Bonnets on a Hillside." The picture is owned by Mrs. Earl Conner, Sr. Mrs. Cyrus Frost loaned two French Costume Studies in soft coloring by F. Ballard Williams. "Magnolia Blossoms," painted by Mrs. L. C. Heck and Still Life by Miss Etta Beckam of Alabama, were exhibited by Mrs. Pearson Grimes. Mrs. Dan Childress exhibited her own painting, "Blue Shadows in the Fall", rich in coloring. The fall motif was further demonstrated in "Aspens near El Capitan" by Lewis Teale and by "Purple Beeches," done in tempera by Harry Spears.

Eastland is fortunate to have several paintings by Jenkins, who was the father of a former club president, Mrs. Victor Ginn. His paintings hang in two state capitols and in many museums. The canvas "Fall in the Ozarks" was displayed by Mrs. James Horton. Three paintings from the collection owned by Mr. and Mrs. Grady Pipkin, by Earl G. Hammock of Gunnison, Colorado were shown. "White Sand," "Henson Creek" and "Autumn on Gold Creek" were typical of the brilliant and versatile coloring used by Mr. Hammock.

The change in seasons was illustrated in the painting "Squaw Winter" in Montana by J. Sharp of Taos, New Mexico. The first snow on autumn leaves and on Indian tepees was painted when Mr. Sharp was executing a commission for Smithsonian Institute of Washington. Another New Mexico artist, Ila McAfee Turner of Taos was represented by a small but excellent canvas "Indian in Turquoise." Winter was portrayed in "Texas Snow" by Mary Hollingsworth Smith of San Angelo. An unusual picture was a water color original "The District School," which has been reproduced in the book Singing Wheels. It is one of a series of paintings by two sisters, Florence Hoopes and Margaret C. Hoopes. The book is used in Texas, 6th grade as a reader. The last named picture are the property of Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, former National Honorary Vice Chairman of American Art Week, 1944-47.

Tough Life for Bees
LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Bees in Nebraska have had a hard year of it. State-federal agricultural statisticians said the unusually severe winter resulted in a loss of 52 per cent of the colonies on hand last fall. The bees could not leave the hives for water and many starved.

Almost Run Over
FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Dee Roberts, city water department employe, was working in a fourfoot deep hole in a street repairing a broken main when he straightened up and banged his head on something. It was an automobile that had stopped momentarily astride the hole.
