Carbon Woman Nominated As Good Neighbor

Mrs. W. R. Usery of Carbon has been nominated as Best Good Neighbor in the contest sponsored for the Breakfast in Hollywood show tonight at 8 o'clock in the Eastland High School auditorium. The nomination was made by Mrs. Orla A. Jordan of Carbon.

The letter follows: "If all who know her were present and I could make the nomination at your show the applause would be so long in sincerity we would stop the show. For many know her. Her deeds of kindness and charity have been known by people in various adversities—financial reverses, social dilemmas, sickness, sorrow, the down-and-out-power, and the moral discrepancies that all neighbors are here to. Even you and I."

"I am her closest neighbor and to recount the times when one of our family was sick and she came to cheer, but stayed to cook and clean would take too much space. Babies mean extra laundry to anyone, but on most farms that extra has to be dealt with by tried husbands, relatives or a good neighbor. Brides all a-dither because HIS folks are coming are put at ease by our good neighbor who bakes several superb pies, takes them to her neighbor and helps lay out the best linen, arrange furniture and flowers—and often dispenses advice on "in-law etiquette and treatment", along with sage words of encouragement that make a bride feel capable of coping with any problem and tired work-wives able to laugh over oft-repeated set-backs and aggravations."

"She is one of our spiritual leaders. The church is the medium through which she directs most of her time and interest in promoting and adding honor and love to being a good neighbor. Roads have seldom been too bad or nights too long for her help in times of sickness and death."

"The unexpected gifts of flowers, beautiful handwork, delicious pastry vegetables and other products from a well-managed farm we take for granted after the pleasant initial surprise, but to see her carrying letters from people in foreign countries thanking her for neighborly gifts, one realizes that there are no geographical boundaries to her neighborhood. Having her share of neighborly curiosity she can quote verbatim the published accounts of the activities of our good neighbors, the Republicans and United Nations. But the button-holes and extra baking, words of cheer and gifts from her heart and hand have made many people feel that they were better neighbors—whether they were cotton pickers from Mexico or one of our Senators eating a plate of her fresh cookies."

"It is said that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Didn't that hand grow tired and become rather stern if a good neighbor didn't help relieve the constant rocking with the touch of a different hand and the lilt of a different lullaby?"

"Having her for a neighbor I know that I am a better one."

PILOT CLAIMS HE WAS CLEARED FOR LANDING

By JAMES F. CUNNINGHAM United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (UP)—Eolian pilot Erik Rios Brioux has told friends he reported engine trouble and was cleared for an emergency landing when his P-38 collided with an Eastern Airliner here last week, it was learned today.

Rios, who is hospitalized with injuries suffered in the crash that claimed 55 lives, said he told the control tower at National Airport that his plane was losing power. He got instructions, he said, to come in for a landing as soon as another plane touched ground. He began his approach after seeing what he identified as a "twin-tailed Cessna" hit the runway. He said he took it for granted that that was the plane he was ordered to follow in.

Rios said he did not see the Eastern Airliner until a split-second before the collision. Though he did not completely rule out radio failure as a cause of the accident—worst in civil aviation history—he said he remembered being in radio contact with the control tower shortly before the crash. Airport control tower operators have said they warned Rios by radio to circle the field before trying to land, but that he failed to comply and came right in on top of the landing airliner. Rios was reported ready to make a full statement on last Tuesday's crash to federal investigators.

Guillermo Gutierrez, Bolivian Ambassador to the organization of American states, said the flyer may be able to talk with investigators today or tomorrow. The Civil Aeronautics Board begins formal hearings on the collision tomorrow.

Rios' condition was described as "satisfactory" by attaches at nearby Alexandria, Va., hospital. He is under treatment for a broken vertebra, three broken ribs and multiple lacerations.

Contact Dealer Now For New Car

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Persons who want to be sure of delivery of the delivery of a new car before the holidays were advised today to get in touch with their automobile dealer at once. This advice came from M. Robert Deo, Managing Director of the National Automobile Dealers Association, who said:

"Although the production of new passenger cars in 1949 has been of record proportions, the current coal and steel strikes coupled with preparations for new models by some manufacturers, may again result in delayed deliveries by dealers before the holidays."

"Most dealers have some new cars available now for early delivery, but this condition may not continue even though current strikes may be settled at an early date. It possibly may be a number of weeks before the hundreds of suppliers of numerous parts, necessary for the production of new cars, will be in a position to start the regular flow of deliveries to car manufacturers."

"Therefore, persons who want to be sure of securing the delivery of a new car before the holiday season should see their automobile dealer now."

Quarterback Club Nominated Good Neighbor

The Eastland Quarterback Club has been nominated as best good neighbor in the contest held in connection with the Breakfast in Hollywood show tonight at 8 o'clock in the Eastland High School auditorium. The nomination was made in a letter signed by Cpl. Billy J. (Chili) Johnson, United States Marines Corps.

The letter follows: "Being friendly is being neighborly. And certainly there is no more friendly or neighborly organization or person in Eastland than the Quarterback Club. "It would be impossible to list all the various things that the Quarterback Club has done for the young people of our community to provide them with better recreational facilities in order that they might grow up to be happy, useful citizens. Perhaps, two projects stand as monuments to this young organization—the Maverick Stadium and the Eastland Golf Course."

"Activities of this group of young businessmen has been such that mere mention of the word 'quarterback' brings a warm glow of pride and warmth to the listener, because that word is synonymous with neighborliness."

"The Quarterback Club has earned through its sincere and wholehearted efforts such a place in our hearts that it would be almost impossible to imagine Eastland without the Quarterbacks. If through a great misfortune, there should be no such thing as the Quarterback Club tomorrow, we would feel like we had lost a neighbor—in fact, the best good neighbor we ever had. But such a misfortune is not likely, as the Quarterbacks will continue to serve, more than ever, in the years to come as Eastland's best good neighbor."

"This marks a new era in dairying in the county and spurs us on to greater achievements and we are mighty proud of this little bull calf", said A. Z. Myrick, Cisco, President of the County Dairy Association who saw the young calf along with others shortly after it was born.

Total passenger car units produced in November will be allotted to dealers on the basis of planning potential percentages, with no units set aside for the fleet pool, and distribution to dealers will be made on this basis.

"Susie" Mother Of First Calf Artificially Bred

"Susie", seven year old Jersey cow of S. G. Brown, Bullock Community, dropped the first artificially bred calf in the County last Sunday November 6, according to officials of the Eastland County Dairy Association, sponsors of the artificial breeding program.

Brown who has three cows said that "Susie" was born in Oklahoma and that he purchased her five years ago from a man in Montague County. She is purebred but not registered and gives four gallons of milk a day when fresh. The bull calf was nicknamed J-6, Jr. The cow was artificially inseminated on February 8 of this year which was the first day the breeding program was started in the county.

"The artificial breeding program is much more convenient and cheaper than owning a bull. In fact I could not afford to have my cow bred to a good bull any other way except under your program", commented Brown when asked of his opinion concerning the service.

"This marks a new era in dairying in the county and spurs us on to greater achievements and we are mighty proud of this little bull calf", said A. Z. Myrick, Cisco, President of the County Dairy Association who saw the young calf along with others shortly after it was born.

Contest judges, in addition to Mr. Kaiser, include Walter Winchell, columnist and radio commentator who is treasurer of the Runyon Cancer Fund, and Columnists Leonard Lyons and Dan Parker, officers of the fund.

FIRST FORMAL MEETING DUE TOMORROW

PARIS, Nov. 8 (UP)—Secretary of state Dean Acheson arrived today for big three talks that may end the formal state of war between Western Germany and the western powers.

Acheson landed at Only Field at 1:30 P. M. (6:30 A. M. CST). Less than 24 hours earlier he conferred in Washington with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

He said Vishinsky had not mentioned any proposal for a meeting of President Truman and Premier Josef Stalin at Berlin.

The first formal meeting of Acheson, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Great Britain will be held at the French foreign office tomorrow. The talks were expected to last two days.

No formal agenda for the talks had been fixed. The topics to be discussed were expected to include:

1. The possibility of ending the formal state of war with Western Germany to enable the Bonn Republic to play a growing part in rebuilding Western Europe.
2. American and British wishes to end the dismantling of West German industry.
3. Allied Reparations policies.
4. Admission of the Bonn Republic to the Council of Europe.
5. Economic unification of Western Europe.

Acheson refused to comment on the appointment of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky of Russia as Polish defense minister.

Schuman got an official go-ahead from the French Cabinet today to act as France's spokesman in the talks. He told the cabinet that insofar as France was concerned the major issues would be German requests for relocation of the occupation statute and the halting of dismantling of West German industries.

He said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany a week ago wrote the Allied high commissioners suggesting a meeting of experts to investigate the whole question of dismantling and reparations.

Schuman promised not to agree to any binding decision on the admission of West Germany to the council of Europe without prior approval by the French cabinet and National Assembly.

Quarter Horse Show Changes Will Be Made

FORT FORTH, Nov. 8.—There were more than 350 entries last year in the quarter horse show, setting a record for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show and the Fort Worth Exposition is looking forward to another outstanding show. General dates are Jan. 27 through Feb.

The name, quarter horse, goes back to early days and comes from the speed that this horse displayed at a short distance, usually a quarter of a mile. A quarter horse's temperament adapts him to the handling of cattle and to rodeo contests and general pleasure use.
Quarter horses will be in two classes—halter and performance. Performance, in turn, has two divisions—cutting horses and roping horse competition. This is an innovation which was begun last season.
Roping and cutting will be

THE AMERICAN WAY

divided into two classes, junior (foals of 1946 or later) and senior (foals of 1945 or before), another innovation made a year ago.

There will be the usual halter classes for yearlings, two-year-olds, three-year olds, four-year olds and older, for stallions and mares. There will also be a halter class for geldings. All geldings are required to show in the performance class.

A new procedure will be instituted at the 1950 show: the division into two class of aged mares—a class for maiden mares and a class for mares which have produced one or more foals. In halter classes, in response to requests from a great number of exhibitors, all stallions and mares 3 years old and older (except mares that have produced one or more foals) must be brought into the arena under saddle and shown at walk, trot and canter and will be judged on way of going and manners. No penalty will be given unless the entry is very fractious or has a poor way of going. Then the entries will be called to the center of the arena, saddles removed and judging for conformation will take place.

a bit run down at the heels, the too short skirt.
Rick noticed her quietness. "The babies okay?"
She nodded.
"Tod?"
She nodded again. He grinned and gave her arm a squeeze. "Remember that other time all the crazy things we bought, and when Tod got home I was wearing one of your aprons cooking up some crazy thing?" He opened the door and they went into the market. Rick got a cart and began pushing it.
It was so good to laugh with Rick. Now if Tod would only get an early bus home, the three of them could have a wonderful evening together.

RICK was delighted with the twins, tottering about now on unsteady legs, and making delightful though bubbly efforts at conversation. He was glad to take over from Mrs. Slattery.
A hilarious time ensued, with Rick crawling about on all fours from behind chairs and the twins making the room echo with laughter.
"I'll never get them to go to sleep," Jenny cried happily. It wasn't often they had such a romp. But Rick helped her get them into their sleepers, and he washed their faces while Jenny got their milk ready.
It was now 6 o'clock and no sign of Tod. Rick's gaiety did not diminish. He insisted on going out to the kitchen to help prepare dinner. Jenny kept running to the front windows of the living room every time a bus was due.
At seven still no Tod. The potatoes, delightfully fluffy half hour ago were stiff now. The gravy, made by Rick's own recipe, with sherry wine, had congealed a trifle. Jenny filled two plates, while Rick poured the chilled wine. He held Jenny's chair for her. "Don't worry so, Jenny. Nothing's happened," he said, smiling down at her.
They had just unfolded their napkins when the door opened and Tod saluted them from the doorway. He came unsteadily into the room.

Full House At Russian Party

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (UP)—Nobody is snubbing the Russians this year, at least not among the Diplomatic set.

Practically everybody who is anybody in official Washington showed up at the Soviet Embassy last night for a Gala reception, marking the 32nd anniversary of the Russian Revolution. Cynical diplomats suggested it might also have been put down as marking the first year of the Russian atomic bomb.

More than 1,000 guests shook hands with Soviet Foreign Minister A. Y. Vishinsky, who came here especially for the occasion, and with Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin.

The Ambassadors of China and Dixieland Petroleum Corp. v. Fred Brown, et ux, mandate.
 Floy Speed v. John H. Speed, judgment of annulment.

Yugoslavia were not invited. The Yugoslavs said they envoy was in New York anyhow. A Chinese spokesman said, "we really didn't expect an invitation."

Just about every other Embassy and Legation in Washington was represented.

It was one of the few times since the beginning of the cold war that the imposing gray stone embassy had been opened to the public, and everybody was curious to see just what went on inside.

A police detail was on duty outside the embassy, but except for directing the heavy traffic the bluecoats had nothing to do.

AT LEAST 310 DIE IN WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

By United Press
At least 310 persons died violently in accidents across the nation during the past "non-holiday" weekend, a United Press survey showed today.

The death toll was sharply below the count of 804 killed during the fourth of July weekend last summer, which the National Safety Council said was the worst in history.

The 310 included 225 highway deaths, three dead in plane crashes and 82 from other causes, including several drownings and hunting accidents Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The count almost doubled on Sunday. The toll for the two days up to midnight Saturday was only 174, of which 128 were in highway accidents, two in airplane mishaps and 44 from miscellaneous causes.

Only three states recorded no violent deaths over the three days - Wyoming, Montana and Louisiana.

The total over the last Fourth of July was 321 dead in highway crashes, 18 in plane accidents, 277 drownings and 188 dead from various other causes.

New York, which had the worst toll of any state over the Fourth of July, was second highest over the "average" weekend with 20 dead.

But California, which was sixth over the Fourth of July, was by far the highest this past weekend with a total of 32 dead - 23 in road mishaps, one in a plane accident and eight in other mishaps.

After California and New York were Pennsylvania, with 18 deaths; Wisconsin, with 16; Illinois, Texas and Tennessee, 14 each; Georgia and West Virginia, 11 each; and Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and North Carolina, 10 each.

In Ohio, a young woman was killed and her escort hurt seriously when they fell from a fire escape during a school homecoming party.

A Wisconsin man was injured fatally when a buzz saw broke loose and struck his head.

James W. Taylor, 28, of Tooele, Utah, was drowned when he tried to rescue a dog from a reservoir. The dog, which became panicky after diving in to retrieve a pheasant, pushed Taylor under the water and afterward saved itself.

World-famous race car driver Rex Mays lost his life Sunday when his car spun out of control in a 100-mile AAU race at Del Mar, Cal.

One of the worst weekend accidents was a car-train collision near Cincinnati Saturday in which five persons, all between 20 and 23 in age, were killed when their car was hit by a fast New York Central passenger train.

Town Poised For Gold Rush

CASTAIC, Cal., Nov. 8 (UP) —Gold fever struck this mountain hamlet today as prospectors and residents stood ready for an assayer's report that might be the strating gun of a gold rush.

Charles V. Allen said he discovered a "yellow metal that looks like gold" in buckets of muck hauled up from a well behind his restaurant. While assayers in Bakersfield tested the metal, Allen and about eight neighbors filed mining claims.

"I found there was enough metal in each bucket of muck to fill a quarter inch in the bottom of a water glass," former prospector Allen said.

The metal, which the cafe owner —panned "just for a lark," resembled brass in color and reacted like gold when given on the -spot tests, he said.

Old-timers recalled that Allen's screwball cafe is 10 miles south of Placerita Canyon, site of a gold strike in 1842.

Rex Mays Killed In Track Crash

Racing driver Rex Mays, well-known racing figure, hurls through the air as his racing car hits the guard rail in the 13th lap of a championship race at Del Mar, California. Mays' car apparently struck a small hole in the dirt track, spun out of control, veered into the infield and sheared off several rail posts. Mays was pronounced dead on arrival at a nearby hospital.
