Going Forward

Years ago, before automobiles, Mike and Pat were hotfooting it on an Eastern road. Mike was in front and noticed da milestone reading 15 miles to Pittsburg. Mike stopped and waited until Pat approached. Mike says, "Step light Patrie' in the presence of the dead. His name is Miles Pittsburg and he is 15 years of age." —John Dorsett.

Don't think that every sad-eyed woman has loved and lost—perhaps she got him.

"I think I ought to be frank with you," declared the young fellow as he relaxed from his embrace "and tell you that you're not the first girl I've kissed."

"In that case, I'll be frank with you, too," replied the girl, "and tell you that you've got a heck of a lot to learn."

Beautiful weather we have been having the past several weeks, but the cool nights give warning that winter is just around the corner.

The Ranger Bulldogs play Ballinger at Ballinger Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the bi-district conflict. Watched the Bulldogs work out one afternoon last week, and they were really having a scrimmage session. Talk about speed and some good passing, the Bulldogs really had it. I'm betting my coffee money on Ranger to win the bi-district.

When D. S. (Si) Bradford, Strawn 87-year old constable died last week, Central Texas lost one of its most colorful old time peace officers. It was only last July that Bradford observed his 50th year as an officer with congratulatory messages being received from J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Homer Garrison, Jr., head of the Texas Department of Public Safety; and the last Gov. Beauford Jester of Texas.

Bradford won nationwide fame in 1927 when he tracked down and shot three of four Cisco "San Claus" bank bandits in the "Battle of South Bend." A famous man, he and his wife, Mrs. Ada Greason Bradford, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sept. 16, 1944. The couple were parents of four children—three sons and one daughter.

Perhaps someday, an author will write a book on Si Bradford's life. It would make a good one, because he was a good man, as well as a good peace officer.

New Gas Plant Being Constructed

Construction, begun in August at Cities Service Oil Company's new Chico gasoline plant about 45 miles northwest of Fort Worth, Texas, is progressing fast. With construction of all buildings finished, company engineers see the plant completed by Christmas.

The Chico unit is Wise County's only natural gasoline plant and marks a step toward conservation of natural gas in this field, where Cities Service provided the county with its first commercial oil production. The plant is so designed that, with the installation of additional equipment, an ultimate capacity of 22.5 million cubic feet of gas can be processed daily.

The pipeline contractor for the high and low pressure field gathering systems has moved in, and it is estimated that the job will be completed within 30 days.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH IN SALIOR'S WIFE ROLE

VALLETTA, Malta, Nov. 21 (UP)—Princess Elizabeth of Britain took up the role of a sailor's wife today as she rejoined her husband, Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

After kissing her year old son Prince Charles goodbye, she stepped into a Viking of the King's flight in London yesterday and was whisked to the Mediterranean island of Malta via Nice with an entourage of 16 persons. Her husband is stationed here with the Royal Navy.

Their second wedding anniversary was yesterday.

She and the Duke celebrated the event last night at a small party which broke up early to permit the princess a good night's rest after her 10-hour journey.

The Duke, Earl Mountbatten, Gov. Sir Gerald H. Creasy and Navy commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean area Admiral Sir Arthur Power greeted her on arrival.

The princess was expected to remain for three weeks, returning to Britain in time to spend Christmas at Sandringham with King George, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Charles.

Her home will be the beautiful Villa Guardmangia, a stucco mansion at Pieta, which Earl and Countess Mountbatten rent for 50 sterling ($140) a month. Philip, whose destroyer HMS Chequers is being refitted will also stay at the Villa.

Cheering thousands crammed the streets leading to the Mountbatten's Villa when the princess arrived with Philip in a shiny Rolls-Royce.

It marked the third time the princess had left Britain. In 1947 she accompanied the King and Queen and Princess Margaret to South Africa. A year later, in November 1948, Elizabeth and Philip spent a few days in Paris.

The government inquiry also ruled that Canada steamship lines, operators of the Great Lakes cruiser that burned at its Toronto berth, pay the cost of the three-week investigation into the disaster.

Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada released the findings on the ship disaster, the worst in Canada's peacetime history.

The judgment ordered that Taylor's master's certificate be suspended until Nov. 21, 1950.

The 59 year old skipper was on his last voyage before retirement at the time of the fire. He had been ashore the evening before the ship burned and returned aboard three hours before the flames were first seen.

The court's brief statement did not directly blame Taylor, or Canada Steamship Lines for the fire or the fact that it swept quickly out of control.

Taylor was badly burned while fighting the flames. He testified at the hearing that he had little recollection of events after the fire broke out because he was suffering from shock.

He was helped off the ship by firemen, this later led to an accusation by a passenger that the captain was drunk. The accusation was denied by other passengers who testified at the hearing.

M. D. Fox Elected President Of District Agriculture Teachers

M. D. Fox, teacher of vocational agriculture in Eastland High School, was elected president of the Eastland district of vocational agriculture teachers at a meeting held in Rising Star.

The district is composed of teachers from Ranger, Breckenridge, Carbon, Gorman, Moran, Cisco and Rising Star.

Other officers elected were: H. I. Geyer of Rising Star, secretary; Jim W. Wilkerson of Breckenridge, public relations.

Geyer gave a report at the meeting on the Rising Star vocational agriculture department. He praised the Chamber of Commerce of Rising Star, the School Board, the school superintendent and the Soil Conservation Service

Skipper Of Ill Fated Noronic Gets Suspension

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 21 (UP)—A Federal Commission today suspended for one year the license of Capt. William Taylor, master of the ill-fated cruiser steamer Noronic on which 143 persons were killed in a fire last Sept. 17.

The government inquiry also ruled that Canada steamship lines, operators of the Great Lakes cruiser that burned at its Toronto berth, pay the cost of the three-week investigation into the disaster.

Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada released the findings on the ship disaster, the worst in Canada's peacetime history.

But government sources said there seemed no chance that Secretary of State Dean Acheson would favor such drastic action at this time. They pointed out that so far the United States has not even hinted it would consider use of force.

A more probable course, these sources said, would be to ask the Russian government to intervene. U. S. diplomats believe the Soviets may have staged the ward incident in an effort to embarrass this country in the Far East.

Mrs. Tarver Buried Here

Burial services in the Eastland Cemetery were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock for Mrs. Lettie Tarver of Kileen, formerly of Eastland, who died Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, after a brief illness.

Funeral services were held at Kileen this morning at 10 o'clock, with the body being brought overland for final interment here.

Mrs. Tarver was born and raised in Eastland. Mr. Tarver operated a cleaning and pressing establishment prior to their moving to Kileen 10 years ago.

Survivors include her husband, four children; her mother, Mrs. John Norton of Eastland; and a sister, Mrs. Claude Maynard of Eastland.

Outlook For Coffee Shortage Relief Dark

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP)—The outlook "is not bright" for any early relief from a world coffee shortage that has shot retail prices in this country to new all time highs, the Commerce Department reported today.

It said in a special survey that production in Brazil—largest single source of coffee—has been dropping steadily for the past 10 years while the number of world coffee drinkers has been increasing.

"World coffee supplies during the next few years are expected to remain at present levels," the survey said. "The outlook for any sizable increase in production in the near future is not bright."

It said that Brazil, which once had so much surplus coffee it burned it for locomotive fuel, will produce only about 14,400,000 bags of 132 pounds each for export this year compared with an average of 22,500,000 bags during the period 1930-40.

The department said, rising retail coffee prices in this country, which some quarters predict will reach $1 a pound, may encourage Brazilian growers to plant more coffee trees. But it normally would take five to seven years for trees to produce.

By that time, officials said, coffee either will be priced out of the market or consumer resistance will force prices back down.

The department found some bright spots in the coffee picture. It said the two months drought in Brazil has ended and that production there next year is expected to be about as large as this year's crop. In addition, flood damage in Guatemala was less than expected.

SUSPECTS CHECKED IN FORT WORTH ROBBERY

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21 (UP)—Suspects were being checked by City Police today in the daring daylight robbery of a local oilman's west side residence which netted three masked bandits some $15,000 in jewelry and other loot.

The robbery occurred early Sunday, shortly after Charles L. Renaud, president of the West-Texas Oil and Royalty Corp., and his wife had awakened and while they were having coffee in an upstairs bedroom.

After holding the Renauds, their daughter, Sara, 6, her small playmate, Nellie Arthur, and the Renaud's maid, Mabel Wright, at bay for an hour and a half, the trio fled in the oilman's car.

Loot included a diamond bracelet valued at $6000, a $2500 star ruby and diamond ring, a $1200 man's solitaire diamond ring, an $800 engagement ring, $4000 worth of cameras and camera equipment and $64 in cash, Renaud said.

The robbers inspected but failed to take a string of cultured pearls, brought back by the oilman's son from Japan. Renaud estimated the pearls were worth about $200.

Wearing dish rags they had taken from a clothes line in the garage as masks, the holdup men entered the house by boring a hole in the paneling of a side door.

They were met by the maid, who had gone to investigate what

Cisco Soldier Dies In Wreck

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 21—Corp. Billy A. Barron, 19, Cisco soldier stationed at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls was fatally injured near here about 6 P. M. Sunday, when the automobile he was driving figured in a collision with a trailer.

The soldier died about five minutes after he was taken to the Breckenridge Hospital from the wreck scene on Highway 67, six miles south of here.

Highway Patrolman George Caspar said the car driven by Barron was badly wrecked. Further details of the accident were not known Sunday night.

Army identification papers found on the boy's body indicated the next of kin to be Herman Barron of Route 1, Cisco, his father. The youth is also survived by his mother and one sister.

Troop 66 Will Meet Friday

Another in a series of organizational meetings of Eastland Boy Scout Troop 66 was held Saturday night at the First Methodist Church, with Scoutmaster Bob Moore presiding.

It was decided to change the meeting date to Friday nights at 7 o'clock in the basement of the church.

Moore announced two contests to be conducted by the troop. An award will be made by the Comanche Trail Council to the Scout securing the most new members in the troop by the last of December. Through the courtesy of Aubrey Van Hoy, manager, a pass will be given to a 66 Scout at the Majestic Theater for attending troop meetings six consecutive times.

Guests of the troop was Milton Day, chairman of the Charter committee.

Also present were: Dickie Evatt, David Massengale, Landon Jordan, Weldon Harris, and Clyde Evatt.

Menhaden is the commonest commercial fish of the United States. In various parts of the country its names include bughead, bugfish, oldwife, alewife, greentail, chebog, mossbunker, whitefish, bonnyfish and fatback.

Runaways Believed in Texas

Joan Glessner, left, and Sharon Kennedy, right, ran away from their homes in Wheeling, W. She said she went along with the other two as far as Texas and left them there to go on to California. (NEA Telephotos)

CONFERS WITH TRUSTEES OF UNION'S WELFARE FUND

Entries Coming In For Houston Fat Stock Show

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 21—Entries for the 1950 Houston Fat Stock Show and Livestock Exposition, Feb. 1 through 12, are pouring into the show stock office and show officials are now predicting more than 10,000 entries.

Deadline for swine, sheep and cattle entries is December 15 and officials urged potential exhibitors to mail their entries at once. January 15 is deadline for horses, poultry and rabbit entries, however.

At the same time, President W. A. Lee announced that the mail order box office for the Roy Rogers' Championship Rodeo would open on December 1.

Reservations are already coming in and with such outstanding entertainers as Roy Rogers and his entire radio and movie troupe signed for 18 performances it looks as if the 1950 show will be a sell out, possibly before the doors open, Mr. Lee said.

All mail orders should be mailed to Director of Ticket Sales, P. O. Box 2371, Houston, Texas. The orders should give complete information including the number of tickets desired, the price, the date of performance and whether it is for matinee or night. A post office money order or check should accompany the order with an extra 40 cents for mailing and registration cost added to the price of the tickets.

Tickets are priced at $3.50, $3.00, $2.40 and $2.10 for all performances. All seats are reserved.

With more than $40,000 being offered in the rodeo purse, the 1950 rodeo will draw top professional and rodeo cowboys. Along with the thrills and spills of the colorful rodeo will be Arthur Allen and his sheep dog act plus the spectacular entertainment of Roy Rogers; his wife, Dale Evans, Gabby Hayes and Foy Williams and the Riders of the Purple Sage. There will be a world's famous calf scramble at every performance.

Before taking action on the dispute, Lewis had the welfare fund to consider. Sen. Styles Bridges, R, N. H., public member of the board, was reported to believe it illegal to pay out money until new contracts are signed with operators. If the mine owners' representatives, Charles Dawson, agrees with him, the welfare payments probably would be stopped.

The fund became depleted since the mine owners stopped paying into it on grounds that no payments were required when no contract existed.

Although Federal Mediators are attempting to head off a crippling Maritime strike scheduled for Dec. 16, such a walkout—if it developed—might force President Truman to give up his fight for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots Union is demanding a hiring hall system which has been illegal under the Taft-Hartley Act. Congress has plans for revising the law to legalize the hiring hall.

Mr. Truman, However, is believed to be against such piecemeal revision on grounds that it would weaken his case for repeal of the law and replacement with the old Wagner Act.

If the strike actually developed, however, the administration almost certainly would have to let legislation be passed to mollify the Maritime workers whose strike could tie up half the nation's shipping.

Meanwhile, Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey, D, N. Va., promised that as chairman of a House Labor Committee he would attempt to obtain legislation to place farm workers within the framework of the law.

Bailey made the statement after he and another Congressman attempted at Bakersfield, Calif., to bring representatives of the AFL Farm Labor Union together with management officials of the 12,000 acre Di Giorgio Farms. The union has staged a work stoppage against the farms for two years.

The Sub-committee failed in its mediation attempt, however, as the company refused to recognize either union or the fact that it was on strike.

BAYLOR-RICE BATTLE TO BE STAGED SATURDAY

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer
Baylor's confident Bears can't accomplish their goal of bringing the Waco School its first Southwest Conference title in a quarter century, but they get a chance Saturday to grab a share of the crown already stake-claimed by Rice, plus a probable bowl bid.

For the high-riding Bruins bump into the pace-setting Owls next week end in a fitting climax to a typical Southwest Conference season that has had its share of upsets, near upsets and thrills to die for.

They take the center of the stage for the final week end of regular play that will find three other games involving conference members merely engaging in personal grudge scraps on the fringes of the spotlight.

Texas and Texas A&M open the week's firing with their tradition-steeped contest at College Station Thanksgiving Day. Saturday will find TCU and SMU battling for third place at Fort Worth and Arkansas meeting Tulsa in its annual season final at Fayetteville.

But, the dramatic showdown at Houston overshadows the other games.

Rice, which clinched a title tie at Houston by edging TCU 20-14 last week, needs only a tie or a victory to claim its first undisputed championship since 1937 and a sure host team bid to the Dallas Cotton Bowl classic. Baylor, which kept its hopes alive with a six touchdown Avalanche that netted a 35-26 win over SMU last week, must win to claim an equal share of the crown.

But, if precedent is followed, a victory also would move the Golden Bruins right into the Cotton Bowl New Year's Extravaganza. For, in cases of title ties in the past the co-champion which beat the other has been the conference representative in the big Bowl.

However, the loser also was a likely bowl prospect for some other Jan. 2 game, since both boast records on a par with some of the best teams in the nation. Each has lost only one game in nine starts—Rice to Louisiana State, Baylor to Texas.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, which wound up their conference play a week ago, dropped an inter-sectional contest to William & Mary 20-0 at Little Rock in the only other game on last week's card.

SMU's Doak Walker jumped from second into a wide lead in the individual scoring race with three touchdowns and two extra points against Baylor, giving him a total of 82 points, 18 more than Randall Clay of Texas.

32 CLASS A SCHOOL PLAYOFFS DUE THIS WEEK

By United Press
From Wednesday through Saturday 32 Class A Schoolboy District Champions will be battling this week for advancement toward the state championship game five weeks away.

Most of the 16 bi-district tilts will be played on Friday night, a few on Thursday. But one will be settled as early as Wednesday night and another as late as Saturday afternoon.

New Braunfels in the southern bracket and either Phillips or Leveretts Chapel in the northern bracket were the early favorites to reach the Christmas week end finals, with the point a minute New Braunfels eleven favored to succeed Monahans as the state champ.

Here's how they pair off for the opening round:

- Phillips (1-A) vs. Lefores (2-A) at Phillips, Saturday, 2 P. M.
- Spur (3-A) vs. Littlefield (4-A) at Littlefield, Thursday 2 P. M.
- Wink (5-A) vs. Haskell (6-A) at Sweetwater, Friday night.
- Ballinger (7-A) vs. Ranger (8-A) at Ballinger, Thursday 2 P. M.
- Burkburnett (9-A) vs. Bowie (10-A).
- Arlington (11-A) vs. Garland

WHIZ KID—Paddy Hine, 16, won the Brabazon Trophy at Stoneham, near Southampton, England. The youngster's 287 for 72 holes outdistanced his nearest rival by four strokes. Because of his easy, natural swing, experts predict a great future for the new Hampshire County champion.

Tough Life for Bees
LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Bees in Nebraska have had a hard year of it. State-federal agricultural statisticians said the unusually severe winter resulted in a loss of 52 per cent of the colonies on hand last fall. The bees could not leave the hives for water and many starved.

LIZ looked frightened after she slapped Tod. "I'm sorry, Tod!" He rubbed his cheek, and got up from his train seat. "I'm glad you did it." He went out of the compartment and looked up the porter to see about his bags.

He knew now that he had had enough of Liz. He had taken a long, long time and the path behind him was strewn with wreckage. He left the train at Chicago and took a bus back to Capitol City.

That was the end of the Conover Agency job, naturally. He got another job. It wasn't a highly paid one, but it wasn't a "bought" job. Ma, sick and tired of the nursing home, found some rooms in her old neighborhood and moved in with him.

They were the usual sort of rooms Ma picked out. A tavern on the ground floor. A narrow stairway with chipped green plaster walls. A small kitchen with sagging cupboards and an ancient gas stove.

In February Harriet showed up unexpectedly. She'd had an awful time finding time, she said. She'd called Tod's phone number in the book and Jenny had told her they were divorced. She hadn't heard, for she had been living in Chicago.

"Good grief, what a place to live," she said, plumping her suitcase down on the studio couch. Tod was appalled at the change in Harriet. She looked old and weary. She was out of work and they had to let her stay. Ma wouldn't have turned her away for the world. Tod reasoned that at least there would be someone to look after Ma properly while he was at work. But Harriet wasn't home much, it turned out. She used the apartment for sleeping and that was about all.

"Ma says you're payin' for that fine house out on Riverdale Road for Jenny while we live in a dump like this," Harriet said vindictively.

"Sure, I keep up payments on the house, that was the agreement. I pay no alimony or support for the kids."
"She don't need you to buy that house for her. She's makin' money hand over fist in her dress shop. You ought to see the way they've got the place fixed up. Some joint."
"It's nice she's doing well," Tod muttered. He had walked by the shop once on the opposite side of the street, just out of curiosity. He could see that it was a prospering business. If it hadn't been, he might have had the courage to at least try to see Jenny. As it was there wasn't much point in it. He did see Nina, though.

It was one of those windy March days, with papers whirling in the gutters and stray hats cartwheeling across intersections. He was in a hurry, but when he saw Nina he stopped and called out to her.

He thought for an instant he saw a gleam of malice in her eyes as she recognized him. He knew that Nina didn't like him, but he felt an overwhelming desire to talk to her, because she would surely speak of Jenny.

"How's—how's business, Nina?" The wind whipped past them, and the sidewalk was crowded at the intersection, so he took her arm and drew her over to the shelter of a building.

"Fine. The shop is doing even better than we expected. You should see the income tax we just got through paying."
"Uncle Sam takes quite a bite, eh?" He didn't want to know about the tax. All he wanted was to hear about Jenny.

"How are you doing, Tod?" Nina's sharp eyes caught his momentary hesitation. "Still with the Conover Agency, I presume," she said.

"No. I left there about the first of the year."
Her brows went up. "Oh? I hadn't heard."
"I've got a job with a furniture store. Pretty good future in it."
"There was a painful pause."
"I've been expecting to see a layout in the rotogravures about you and Liz," Nina said. "I suppose you'll be getting married soon?"

"You haven't heard about that either? Liz and I are quits." He could feel his face reddening.

"Well, that's news. Did you know that Jenny's made up her mind to marry Rick?"
"No." Something heavy came into his chest. "But I had an idea they probably would sometime," he added.

"I'm happy about it. All Jenny's friends are," Nina rattled on. She tugged pensively at her gloves. "Jenny's such a good kid. She mooned around so long over you, I began to be afraid she was a 'one-man gal.' But we all get over these things, don't we?"
"I suppose we do." His voice cracked a little but he couldn't help it.

NINA went on. "Jenny's thinking of selling out her half of the shop after Easter, because Rick's got that lovely place in Centerville, and his mother says she'll take the cottage and let them have the big house."
"That's fine." He only wanted to escape from Nina now. He pulled up the collar of his overcoat. The wind blew furiously, and he couldn't hear what Nina was saying.

"Well, I guess I'd better be shoving along; it's my lunch hour, you know." He scarcely knew what he was saying.

Nina leaned closer, "I said, is there any message you'd like me to take to Jenny?"
"No. I'm just glad to know she's well and happy."
They parted. The wind seemed colder to him now. He felt cold all the way through, chilled to the bone, as though he would never be warm again.

BARKLEYS HONEYMOON IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Nov. 21 (UP)—The Alben Barkleys honeymooned at the scene of the vice-president's college days today and said they may pay the old school a visit.

The Veep and his bride, the former Mrs. Carleton Hadley of St. Louis, slipped into Atlanta late last night. They granted a brief press conference when word of their arrival got around.

Barkley said they are "as free as the air" and hadn't decided how long they would stay here, but he said he might take his bride today to see Emory University, where he was graduated, and its original site at nearby Oxford, Ga.

He explained that this is Mrs. Barkley's first trip to Georgia. Mrs. Barkley was at the wheel of the convertible which the Veep gave her as a wedding present, and Barkley said she did all the driving on the 260 mile trip from Nashville.

"She's such a good driver that I don't even have a chance to do a little back-seat driving," the jovial vice-president said.

In fact, he said, they hadn't had their first quarrel of any kind, and added jokingly that "things are so quiet that I'm getting suspicious."

In a fine mood, the newlyweds joked with newsmen and cooperated with photographers.

But the Veep refused to talk politics. He would say only that "the state of the nation is good."

They are at a Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner in New York, Dec. 2, a meeting in Boca Raton, Fla., Dec. 7, the gridiron dinner in Washington, Dec. 10, and another J-J Dinner in Miami Dec. 17.

Barkley, natty in a gray suit with a crisp white handkerchief in his breast pocket, did most of the talking. But it was practically all about his bride.

The attractive Mrs. Barkley wore a white silk blouse and blue skirt, with a white sweater and a blue scarf at the neck. During the press conference they sat far apart on a divan but moved together when pictures were taken.
