WINTER TAKES LATE SLAP AT MID-WEST STATES

CHICAGO, March 8 (UP)—The winter's worst storm flung mighty blizzards across the mid-west today and raised the greatest dust storm since the 1930's. From the Canadian border south almost to the Rio Grande, gusts up to 100 miles an hour lashed cities and farms. The northern snowstorm hurled the Mississippi river and plunged eastward leaving the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota staggering under its sudden blow. A U. S. weather forecaster at Chicago said the storm would diminish as it pushed toward the Atlantic seaboard. A towering "duster" ranged eastward across Texas and Oklahoma. It fanned prairie fires and caused damage estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. In the parched Texas Panhandle, a newspaper editor said "This might be the worst disaster ever to strike the Texas North Plains." An earthquake added variety to the weather map. A sharp single shock rocked the San Francisco Bay area last night. Anxious residents flooded police and newspaper switchboards with calls, but there were no reports of damage. At Minneapolis, a Northwest Airlines two-engine Martin 202 airliner, struck a flagpole in the blizzard and plowed into a house. Ten passengers and three crew members died in the crash. Two small children perished in the flaming wreckage of the home, and a man died of a heart attack as he rushed to the scene. The blizzard struck Iowa with such fury that even snowplows were taken off the highways. Telephone line damage in Nebraska was greater than during the record blizzards of 1949, Northwestern Bell said. The Dakotas were virtually isolated from the rest of the rest of the world.

Sixty five students and 15 motorists, marooned in the storm, spent the night in the school gymnasium at Blencoe, Ia. School bus driver Art Brown of Bronson, Ia., put in at the Woodbury County poor farm with his 25 passengers. At Sioux City, Ia., an ice encrusted stray team of horses took shelter on J. W. Washburn's front porch. He tried to "shoo" them away but they refused to budge. Gusts up to 75 miles an hour tore sections of roofs off the Creighton University Medical School and the Union Pacific Railroad building in Omaha, Neb. At Huskerville, a suburb of Lincoln, Neb., the wind was so strong that firemen couldn't open the firehouse door. They answered an alarm in private cars and returned to find the garage wall caved in on the fire trucks. In the Southern Plains, winds up to 50 miles an hour swept up dry powdery soil and sent it billowing in yellow clouds three miles into the sky. Visibility was cut to one half mile in some sections of Texas. The Dallas weather bureau said the "duster" would sweep all the way to the Gulf of Mexico, and described it as the worst dust storm since "Dust Bowl" days. The Panhandle wheat crop was in the balance. Elevator manager H. B. Hankins of Amarillo, Tex., said "We've got to have rain this month or there will be a lot of abandoned acreage."

McCarney was program chairman for the day. During the business session with President Wes Harris presiding, Larry McGraw announced plans for the ladies night meeting which will be held Friday night, March 24, at 8 o'clock in the American Legion Hall. The Lions and guests will be attired in hillbilly clothes with an old-fashioned box supper and square dance to be held.

Two Killed In Truck Accident

HUTTO, Tex., March 8 (UP)—Two youths were killed and a third critically injured last night when the pickup truck in which they were riding plunged 45 feet off a bluff into Brushy Creek one and a half miles south of here. The dead were identified as Ben Kruger, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kruger, and Otto Schiller, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schiller. Johnny Brinkmeyer, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brinkmeyer, was admitted to a Taylor hospital where he was under treatment for head and chest injuries. A hospital spokesman described his condition as "very critical." The three were enroute to a future farmers of American meeting at Norman's Crossing, near here, when the accident occurred.

SAYS NASH CASE CLOSED SO FAR AS COUNTY GOES

District Attorney Elzo Been, stated today that so far as Eastland County is concerned, the case of Mrs. Margaret Wilma Nash, self-confessed murderer of Jimmie Daniels of Ranger, is closed. Been stated that the grand jury did not take any action in the case and that he had wired the Chief of Police in Los Angeles, California to that effect. He said that he had received no further word from California authorities and the presumably the woman has been set free. She was being held in Los Angeles pending action of the grand jury. The district attorney stated that the grand jury held that they could not secure a conviction of the woman on her own testimony alone and that since corroborating testimony was missing, they felt that they could take no action.

The case came to light on Feb-12 when Mrs. Nash walked into a Los Angeles police station and stated that she wished to confess to the murder of Policeman Daniels in Ranger on February 8, 1925. Officers there heard her story and then contacted Chief W. G. Pounds in Ranger to learn if such an unsolved murder had taken place. Through several days of questioning, Mrs. Nash stuck determinedly to her story and even repeated it to a brother of the slain man, Frank Daniels of California who said that the woman's story could "possibly" be true. Chief W. G. Pounds stated that after conferring with the district attorney on the grand jury's reaction that he had left the matter of notifying the California authorities up to Been.

CONSTRUCTION ON NEW ORPHANAGE STARTS SOON

DALLAS, Tex., March 8 (UP)—Construction of a new $175,000 to $200,000 Baptist orphanage at Round Rock will begin immediately, with completion expected within seven months. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henna of Round Rock offered the money and a 11 acre plot. The executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas announced acceptance of the gift yesterday. The board said the Hennas offered to erect buildings to care for at least 50 children. Voluntary contributions will be used to operate the new orphanage, as soon as it is completed. The board also adopted a resolution setting a limit for indebtedness at 25 per cent of current asset for any of the nine Baptist colleges and hospitals in the state. The rule on indebtedness had no fixed limit formerly, but prohibited borrowing more than 10 per cent of the asset value without board approval. Other actions included: Approval of request by Baptist Hospital in Dallas to increase indebtedness to $500,000 for completion of a campus building program. Approval of a request by East Texas Baptist College at Marshall to increase indebtedness to $300,000 for completion of a campus building program. Authorization of an advance of $49,000 to San Antonio Memorial hospital, rounding out its drive for $400,000 and enabling it to accept a $200,000 conditional grant from the Southern Baptist Convention. The $600,000 will finance an expansion program.

Troop 66 Plans Overnight Trip To Possum Lake

Plans for an overnight camping trip to Possum Kingdom Lake Saturday afternoon were made at a regular meeting of First Methodist Boy Scout Troop 66 Tuesday night in the basement of the church, with Scoutmaster Bob Moore presiding. This will be the first outing of the newly-organized troop, which will receive its charter Sunday night, March 19, at regular services of the sponsoring institution, the First Methodist Church. The camping trip will be modeled after the District Jamboree, which will be held at Ringling Lake March 25 and 26. Cooking and camping will be by patrols and the schedule of the Jamboree followed as closely as possible in preparing the troop for the District event. The Institutional Representative, Rev. J. Morris Bailey, visited briefly at the meeting and announced the sponsoring organization was financially unable at the present time to purchase tents badly needed by the troop for its camping excursions. He extended the hope, however, the sponsors might be in a position to do so at some future time. Moore announced that pictures of the group would be made at the next regular meeting Tuesday, March 14, with each Scout requested to be attired in uniform or at least wearing the official handkerchief. Opening ceremonies were by Weldon Harris and Hill Gaeta, with approximately a dozen Scouts in attendance.

Those going will include: Derrell Black and Dick Evatt, sprints; Bob Womack and Harold Justice, mile runners. The fifth man will be selected by the flip of a coin between the third place men in the try-outs, which will be Edwin Aaron, sprints, and Bob Burdick, mile. Headquarters at Laredo will be the Boys Club. Registration will be Friday morning, with qualifying to follow. Finals will be held Saturday in the high school division, and finals that night in the University division. Siebert stated that most of the Southwest conference schools are entered in the University Division and the local track boys will have an opportunity to see them in action.

Independent Oil, Royalty Owners Open Meeting

DALLAS, Tex., March 8 (UP)—The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association opened its two-day annual meeting here today with one member charging that certain oil purchasing companies are discriminating against Texas. Maston Nixon of Corpus Christi said he would report his findings at the group's business session Thursday. "I am thoroughly convinced that Texas crude is being discriminated against," Nixon said. Certain companies, he said, "in their nominations in Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico, are not making the same proportionate cuts as to the cuts they are making in Texas." The cardinal is the official bird of seven states—Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and North Carolina.

Reclamation Estimate 6 Times Higher Than One By Private Firm

Representatives of five Eastland County towns planned a joint meeting tentatively set for Thursday, March 23, following a preliminary meeting Tuesday in the Eastland County Courthouse, when Bureau of Reclamation outlined to construct a water reservoir to cost $6,432,000 on the Leon River. Location for the second meeting has yet to be designated. The proposal was submitted by Harry P. Burleigh, area engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation, at the special session which was attended by about 60 Civic leaders from Eastland, Cisco, Ranger, DeLeon and Gorman. The reservoir project, if approved by the Eastland County Water Supply District, would be built on the Leon River above the junction of Colony Creek, Burleigh said. Burleigh, who conducted the survey at the district's request, said the reservoir would contain 32,000 acre feet, assuring excellent water both in quantity and quality. At least four years would be required to obtain federal funds and to complete the reservoir, he added. The engineer, here from Austin, was accompanied to the meeting by Henry Seipt, Leland Weathers and William Koppleman, representatives of the Bureau of Reclamation. Also attending the meeting were D. A. Bandeen of Abilene, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and H. F. [unclear] assistant manager, who pledged that the chamber would back the project 100 per cent. Another guest at the session was Fred Brown of Mineral Wells, formerly of Eastland, member of the Brazos River Authority board. C. B. Pruet of Ranger, vice-president of the Eastland County Water Supply District, presided at the session in the absence of President P. M. Kuykendall, also of Ranger, who was ill. Under the reservoir plan, cost of the raw water would be 17 cents per one thousand gallons at Ranger, 18 cents at Eastland, 24 cents at Cisco, 23 cents at Gorman, and 32 cents at DeLeon with a 50-year supply assured, Burleigh said. The Reclamation engineer said an alternate plan to the Leon Project had been considered but it had proved unfeasible. Burleigh said the other plan was to enlarge the watershed to the Battlereck area which empties into Lake Cisco, which has a natural gravity flow to Eastland and Ranger. Scientific test proved the Cisco reservoir would be unable to supply sufficient water to meet the long-range needs of the communities. Burleigh warned the delegation that fight through congress for appropriation of funds for the Leon and other West Texas reservoir projects would be necessary. He said, however, that West Texas legislators were highly favorable to the proposed plans to meet the water needs of the area. A copy of Burleigh's report was given to some of the representatives from each of the five towns for study, but none was made available to a reporter from the Eastland Daily Telegram. A request for a copy of the report after the meeting by the reporter from Burleigh was refused because the supply was exhausted. The district is still considering a proposal made last fall by Freese and Nichols Engineering Firm of Fort Worth to build a similar reservoir at a cost of less than $1,000,000.

FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie

By Rupert Hughes
Copyright 1950 by Rupert Hughes
Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: After Azalea Palmer found her father, Wendell Palmer, murdered at his home, she takes the following scene: Paul Moody, Azalea's fiancé, enters the room and asks her to leave. Azalea refuses to believe Paul's guilt, asks private detective Martin Queripel to clear her sweetheart of the charge. According to Azalea's story, Palmer opposed Paul's plans to marry Azalea, and interfered with Paul's "offer by vetoing an important document which would have Azalea entering the Palmer home shortly before the murder and witnesses said he forced his way in. Paul denied any violence, and she denied touching the telephone that was used to call Palmer's skull. Yet police say his fingerprints were found on the phone. Queripel has listened attentively to Azalea's story.

XVI
AS Azalea Palmer finished her story, she knew she had finally convinced the detective Martin Queripel at least of the possibility of Paul Moody's innocence in the death of her father.

At last Queripel smiled and said: "You haven't a license to practice law, I suppose?" "Me? A lawyer? Why do you say that?"

"I was thinking that, if only you could be allowed to tell the story as you see it to a jury, Paul Moody would be acquitted. "I could kiss you for that," Azalea gasped. "I'll ask no other fee," said Queripel, glowing at the prospect. But big Timothy O'Hea, Queripel's assistant, who had been listening at the door to as much of Azalea's words as he could overhear, broke into the room with: "Here! Here! What goes on here? How are you going to pay me wages out of kisses? And what would my Nora say if I brought her home my share of this little lady's—er—oscarlatins?"

GIVE-AWAY PROGRAM RUNNING INTO MILLIONS

By VINCENT J. BURKE,
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 8 (UP)—The government's expanding food give-away program has become a multi-million dollar operation.
The agriculture department said today that up to now it has arranged to give away for distribution to needy Americans in 47 states surplus foods which cost it more than $3,000,000 under price support programs.
The foods given away so far are:
Dried eggs — 1,173,200 pounds (equivalent of 43,000,000 shell eggs) which cost the government about $1,600,000.
Dried milk — 2,747,960 pounds equivalent of 11,000,000 quarts of skim milk, when reconstituted with water. This cost the government about $340,000.
Potatoes — 34,894,650 pounds, which cost about $1,300,000.
The potato give-away can't be measured in dollars and cents, since the spuds might have been "dumped" if they weren't given away. Furthermore, the government wouldn't expect to get back its full cost for milk and eggs, even if it could find a foreign market for these items.
This stockpile of food has been, or will be, distributed in every state of the union except Arizona. It represents only a small fraction of the stocks of these foods which the government is holding under price support programs.
New orders for the three free foods are pouring in daily from welfare agencies. Officials said Arizona is the only state from which no orders have been received.
The food is free at storage points to public and private welfare agencies, including the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the national school lunch program. These agencies must pay transportation charges.
The states and their orders, which already have been delivered or will be shipped this week included:
Arkansas — 22,400 pounds of eggs, 684,000 pounds of potatoes, 40,000 pounds of milk.
Colorado — 866,400 pounds of potatoes.
Iowa — 2,340 pounds of eggs; 809,300 pounds of potatoes; 3,150 pounds of milk.
Kansas — 90,000 pounds of potatoes.
Louisiana — 288,000 pounds of potatoes.
Missouri — 35,000 pounds of eggs; 1,026,000 pounds of potatoes.

She said, "My father's lawyer is big, pompous old Judge Colburn, the corporation lawyer. I begged him to save Paul, but he believes him guilty and said that he could hardly do anything for the murderer of his own client, my father."
"The court set Paul's bail at $25,000. I implored Judge Colburn to let me put up the money, but he said that the will hadn't been probated yet. He's the executor, but he wouldn't advance the money, and so poor Paul has to stay in jail. It's driving me insane."

"That old dodo of a Judge Colburn dared to rebuke me. He said, 'Instead of trying to save this fellow you're infatuated with, oughtn't you to be mourning for your poor father?' "I struck back at him: 'You let me mourn my father my own way. I loved him. He loved me. He hated Paul, but that was because he didn't want to let anybody take me out of his lonely life. Some horrible person killed my father for some mysterious reason. I'll keep on trying till he is found and my father's death revealed.' "Judge Colburn answered: 'You'll regret this my child. And I said 'Somebody else will regret it more, if there's any real justice in the world.'"

SHE spoke with the fierce conviction and the unwavering faith in life that only the young and the little-experienced can cherish. Queripel loved her for her ferocity and hated to bring her back to the harsh realities, but he said: "Still, my dear, the only way to use the law or escape it, is by way of a lawyer. Had you thought of engaging Harry Hodges to defend Paul Moody?"

By this time Queripel was so enlisted in her cause, so determined to save Paul Moody for her sweet will sake, that he was already a partner of hers in a conspiracy to defeat the police, if not justice itself.
After some thought, he said: "I think I know just the man you need. He's young; he's brilliant; he knows the law, its loopholes and its knots. His name is Harley Kenyon. He's a fighter. And he needs the money and the practice."
"Nice name," said Azalea, with a womanly logic of instant decision. "Please engage him, and tell him the situation. I'll pay his fee, whatever it is."
". . . ."
QUERIPEL, still the gallant, and hardy recognizing himself in this new mood, decided that, if Harley Kenyon once looked into those diamonds behind Azalea's eyelashes, he would turn the world upside down to get her heart's desire—unless, perhaps, the young lawyer should decide to get Moody out of the way and take Azalea herself for his fee. He said: "I think I'd better let you talk to him yourself. I'll see if I can get him to come here right now. His office is in this building."
He dialed Kenyon's telephone and caught the young lawyer "just dashing out to an important appointment."
Azalea heard Queripel say: "Break that appointment. Come here at once. It's a matter of life and death."
He put down the receiver and smiled at Azalea.
"He's half way here by now."

... and one of the things that has helped to make it so is insurance. In one particular at least the average American is unique in that he buys a lot of insurance. This means that he doesn't have to carry his own risk and the worries that go along with it. He just insures himself, his family, his property—everything—because it is good business to do so. Yes, it's American to be insured and insurance is typically American!

DISASTER SERVICES

During 1949, the Red Cross gave assistance to 228,515 persons in 330 disaster relief operations across the country. —GIVE TO THE RED CROSS—

some of the horsemeat was not under federal inspection. It is illegal to ship meat which has not received federal inspection into another state.

Texas State Health authorities joined the inquiry because the state legislature passed a law last year levying jail sentences and fines on persons selling horsemeat as beef for human consumption.

The Texas legislature passed the "anti-horsemeat" act after Houston children had been victimized in 1948 by unscrupulous wholesalers who peddled horsemeat to school cafeterias.

The horsemeat impounded yesterday was destined for counters in the more prosperous residential sections of Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston.

Invoices showed that the horsemeat, intended to be passed off as filet mignon at $1.25 to $1.50 per pound, wholesaled at 97 cents. Horsemeat, labeled as such, retails at only 15 cents per pound. Dr. J. W. Bass, Dallas City Health officer, announced that 5,689 pounds of horsemeat had been confiscated at one wholesale house. He said the meat was seized after the wholesale house reported it suspected the meat came from dobbin instead of bossy.

Houston Attorney Will Sears said 1,911 pounds of "beef tenders" had been padlocked, and Dr. W. V. Bradshaw, Fort Worth's City Health Director, disclosed he had impounded more than 3,600 pounds of "suspicious meat."

STOCKHOLDER?

WEST HARTFORD, Conn.—Eight-month-old Cathy Andrasik, youngest of the 116,000 stockholders of Packard Motor Car Co., is a contender for the title of "America's Youngest Stockholder." When her ownership of five Packard shares was brought to light recently, company officials sent her a toy Packard convertible. Roy Abernethy, the company's New York Zone general manager, does the honors. Cathy's father, Joseph, is a mail clerk on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. A great-great uncle, Daniel Parcell, Westport, Conn., gave Cathy the Packard stock shortly after her birth last June 23.

Dallas News In Television Field

DALLAS, Tex., March 8 (UP)—The Dallas Morning News went into the television business today.

The newspaper announced that the Federal Communications Commission had approved its purchase of Station KBTU from Tom Potter of Dallas for $575,000.

It will televise programs from the National Broadcasting Company, the American Broadcasting Company and Dumont Television

Network, and also may add two more network programs later.

The Morning News announced it had purchased KBTU last January after obtaining an option in December.

Martin Campbell, general manager of WFAA, the news' radio outlet, said there would be no radical changes in personnel of KBTU.

He said the call letters later would be changed to WFFA-TV. "We will be integrating the two operations, radio and television, and making permanent changes and improvements in the technical equipment and augmenting the present staff of KBTU with personnel from WFAA in the immediate future," Campbell announced.

KBTU now operates with a radiated power of 27,100-watt video (picture) and 13,500-watt audio (sound).

Publisher E. M. (Ted) Dealey said the Morning News was "in the field of mass communications and we've got to keep abreast of the Times."

"We have a newspaper, radio FM and AM, and now television," Dealey said. "Television has a tremendous future. It's coming awfully fast."

The University of Illinois college of agriculture reports that lamb and mutton consumption in the U. S. dropped to four pounds per person in 1949—the least in any year "since early Colonial days."

Baby Sounds Alarm
