Robert Nail To Give Version Of Pioneer Women At 8th Fandangle

ALBANY. — "Give a Pioneer woman a scrub-board and she will wash the dirt out of a man's shirt and go on from there to clean up his morals and his politics," is Robert Nail's version of the 8th Fort Griffin Fandangle, telling the story of Pioneer women of old Fort Griffin area.

Pioneer women played an important part in the early settlement of the frontier. Connecticut Cavalrymen came to establish the Fort on a high hill overlooking the country. This makes a rich and romantic history which Nail recounts in the Albany show, June 22, 23, and 24, with the Fandangle parade of frontier scenes set for 7 p. m. Friday afternoon the 23rd.

Robert Nail has had 25 years experience in the theatre. During the time he was in the Army he studied Ballet under George Fierison of Dallas, and studied since he was a youngster in a backyard theatre in Albany.

He went on to Lawrenceville

School and to Princeton University in New Jersey where he headed Theatre Intime group, and followed with practical experience in Little Theatre and study on Broadway. His experience enables him to give a touch of the professional to the performers in the Fandangle, although no one is paid for being in the Fandangle and Nail donates his time and directing talents.

Fort Griffin was a rough and tough town of the 60's when Traders, adventurers and cattle trail cowboys came. York of Pittsburg, Frankel of New York had stores there along with Frank E. Conrad, the famed pioneer who ran the Suter's store at the Army Post. Songs and ballads, old time dances under lights on the June nights memorializes the Pioneers of this area.

100th Derby Entry Arrives Friday Morning

The fire siren and Modern Dry Cleaner's whistle sounded at 10:30 a. m. Friday signifying the arrival of the 100th entry in the 1950 Horned Toad Derby.

R. G. Clark, assistant to the president of the Piggly Wiggly Corp., Jacksonville, Fla., had the honor of entering the 100th frog. Clark's toad is "Lightning" from the Bruce Pipkin stables. Clark's entry came through the efforts of Pipkin of the Pipkin Piggly Wiggly stores of this area.

Herbert Tanner, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce said that the entries were really coming in, and that 112 had been received by 11 a. m. Friday.

The entry figure is only 37 short of last year's total of 149. The goal is to double last year's number with a total of 300 entries this year.

The derby date is August 12.

Lon Palmer Funeral Rites Held Friday

Funeral services for Lon Palmer, 83, of the Flatwoods community, were to be held a 3 p. m. today at the Hammer Funeral Home Chapel.

Interment was to be at Bear Springs, near Carbon.

Palmer died at 5 p. m. Thursday at his home in the Flatwoods community. He would have been 84 on his next birthday, June 24. He was born in 1866.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lon Palmer; two daughters, Mrs. Lela Penny, Eastland and Mrs. Travis Dond Carbon; seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Crestview Is Selected As Name Of Pool

"Crestview" is the name selected for the swimming pool at city park, L. C. Heck, city manager, has announced.

The name was submitted by James Dabney, and was chosen by a committee of five from the Crowley ... hing-awas ... men's Civic League and Garden Club. For submitting the winning name, Dabney will receive a season pass to the pool.

The name was one of 49 entries in the contest. It was chosen because it seemed to be very appropriate, a spokesman of the committee said.

All names submitted were turned over to the committee without the names of the persons who suggested them.

Other names suggested were Shandy Oaks, Sunny View, Scenic Pool, Joy Pool, Hi Spot, Skyview, Pool of Fun, Park Drive Pool, Pleasant Park Pool, Parkville Pool, Park Pool, Smoochin' Hill, The Pool on the Hill, Mermaid's Haven, Paradise Pool, Hilltop, Hill Haven, Summer Playland, Crystal Clear Pool, Sea Horse Paradise, The Jolly Pool.

Carbon, Olden Stage City Loop Cellar Battle At Park Tonight

Carbon and Olden, with one loss each in the City League to date, will battle to get into the winning circle, and to get out of the loop cellar, tonight at 8:30 p. m. at Firemen's Field.

Carbon dropped its first league game to Kilgore and Olden fell before the powerful Lamb Motor team in its first try.

A home run by Walter Maynard paved the way to a 4-0 victory by the King Ford team over Kilgore's Extra Fine at the park last night.

Maynard's blow came with one mate aboard and proved to be margin enough for Ford Pitcher Trout, who baffled the Kilgore batters. Maynard was Trout's catcher.

The defeat was the first of the season for the Kilgore team in two starts. The game was the first loop action for King Ford who moved into a first place tie with Lamb Motor.

The losing pitcher of the night was Ables. Johnson caught for the Kilgore team.

The league began last Saturday night with Lamb Motor winning the first loop tilt from Olden. It is scheduled to end Aug. 18.

Cook Surrenders Without Fight To US Military

MUNICH, Germany, June 16 (UP)—Oklahoma badman Homer Cook, ill with blood poisoning and weak from hunger, surrendered to police without a fight today in the Munich apartment of his German sweetheart.

Two American military police and six German police closed in on the Munich apartment of 21-year-old Anna Sporer at 8 a. m., two hours after German truck driver reported seeing Cook stagger into the building.

Anna was not at home. Police battered down the door of her flat and found the six-foot-one 200-pound Cook sprawled out on the bed. He still wore the same fatigue trousers and undershirt in which he escaped 60 hours before from Dachau prison, 10 miles north of Munich.

The 27-year-old Cook didn't seem to notice the police until one of them prodded him with a cocked revolver.

"You won't have to use that," Cook said quietly.

He appeared to be in great pain, wincing every time he moved his left arm. It was swollen and black almost to the elbow from a wound in his hand. He had ripped his hand when he scaled a 12-foot wall of the jail and fled into the woods last Tuesday night.

Community Singing Set For Sunday

Third Attempt Slated

RENOVO, Pa., June 16 (UP)—A third attempt will be made today to extinguish a pillar of fire roaring from a natural gas well since last Monday at a loss of more than $1,000,000.

Grand Jury Indicts Two

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 16 (UP)—The Westchester County grand jury, in session eight and a half months investigating last summer's Peekskill riots at the request of Gov. Dewey, today returned two secret indictments and a scathing 25-page presentment against the behavior of "misguided patriotic citizens."

Comic Book Seventeen Year Old Killer Says He'd Rather Burn; Doesn't Think He'd Crack Up Like Comic Villians

LIBERTY, June 16 (UP)—A 17-year-old confessed killer mused about his final steps to the electric chair today, convinced that he "can take it—won't go to pieces like those guys in the comic books."

Johnny Deciga, small, beardless and a dalmatian child-like, had barely been in jail an hour when he reconciled himself to the supreme penalty. In a written statement he admitted fatally shooting Louis Cachat, 52-year-old Dayton city nightwatchman and father of seven, Wednesday night.

Prosecution attorneys have not indicated they will seek the death penalty.

The boy, whose family lives in Houston, surrendered without a word to officers last night.

He had hid in the marshy Trinity river bottoms ever since Cachat was slain when he tried to help John Griffiths, a well-known rancher, who was attacked by Deciga and a companion.

Cachat died with a bullet in his heart after the two hoodlums had managed to wrest Griffiths' pistol from him.

Deciga and a 15-year-old boy, also from Houston, were walking into Dayton to get gas for a stalled car when Griffiths befriended them by giving them a ride. The youths attacked Griffiths with knives and Cachat investigated the fight.

"I'm not sorry I killed the nightwatchman and I'm not sorry I knifed the rancher. They were out to get me, but I got them first," Deciga told District Attorney Tom Hightower. "Do you think they'll give me the hot seat? Or will it be life; or 20 years, maybe?"

Then in a voice like a radio crime thriller, the whisper of a boy murmured, "I'd rather burn." His eyes were steady.

"I want to know how it feels to take the last 10 steps to the chair. The comic books have their guys breaking and screaming at the last. But they're nuts. I know I could take it, and I'm not afraid."

When arrested, Deciga was without the $125 cash stolen from Griffiths. "I must have lost it in the bottoms," he said.

Deciga had already been charged with murder and assault to murder, felony theft and automobile theft. He is held without bond.

His young companion was charged with assault to murder and

US Plans To Reject Red Demand Today

WASHINGTON, June 16 (UP)—The United States planned today to reject Russia's demand that U. S. troops leave Trieste.

Russia accused the United States and Britain on April 21 of setting up an illegal naval base in Trieste and mistreating the native population of the international city. It demanded that all U. S. and British troops be withdrawn.

U. S. Officials contend the Soviet note was intended primarily for propaganda.

The Western powers apparently intended to ignore the Soviet charges originally. But Russia forced the issue by refusing to negotiate an Austrian treaty until the West gives a satisfactory reply.

The state department feels the questions of Trieste and Austria are not related and should be handled separately. An Austrian treaty would require all foreign troops to leave the country and department officials believe the Russians raised the Trieste issue only as a tactic to delay signing such an agreement.

Prospects for settling a six-day-old milk strike at Washington appeared brighter as negotiators scheduled new talks today, but a twin strike at Pittsburgh seemed no nearer solution than when it began a week ago.

In Detroit, 1,000 CIO United Auto workers ended an unauthorized walkout at the Herron-Zimmer Moulding Co., a supplier for auto firms. Lincoln motor officials told 1,500 production workers, idled yesterday by the strike, to return to work Monday.

However, more than 4,500 employees of Motor Products Corp., another supplier plant, remained on strike.

Five hundred editorial and business office employees of the New York World-Telegram and Sun went into the fourth day of a strike for pay increases and other benefits. Federal mediators called officials of the newspaper and the CIO American Newspaper Guild to a joint conference today.

Meanwhile, the Publishers association of New York charged that the AFL New York Typographical union deliberately violated an agreement not to support a strike outside of its own union. The printers, together with other mechanical workers belonging to AFL craft unions, stayed away from their jobs yesterday for the third day and executive editor Lee Wood said we cannot get out a paper as long as they stay out."

Mrs. M. Burkett Dies In Kilgore

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hooper of Eastland left this afternoon for Kilgore, after having received a message that Mrs. Hooper's sister, Mrs. M. V. Burkett had died Thursday night in a Kilgore hospital.

Mrs. Burkett suffered a heart attack Thursday morning.

Wesley Hooper of Abilene will join his parents here to accompany them and Wallace Hooper, another son will join the group in Dallas. The funeral will probably be sometime Sunday.

Some people may think because he was helping him as a fugitive. Nothing is farther from the truth. I wanted him to be safe—and right now his safety is in jail, not as a fugitive hunted down by dogs and armed men.

He was hurt and he came to me for help and comfort and I am sorry I was not there to bandage his cut hand. But I would have told him it was best for him—for both of us—that he call the military police and say, "Here I am. Come and get me, I am sorry for what I did and I will not fight."

I hope the police will let me see Chuck in the hospital. He will have to go on trial soon and the charges against him are serious. But I love him. I will

Census Statistics Reflect Trend Away From Rural Living; Big Cities Grow Bigger At Expense of Smaller

By United Press

The 17th congressional district, fifth in the state to complete the new census tabulation, showed an aggregate loss of 4,221 persons since 1940, Preliminary official figures showed today.

Like three of the earlier four districts fully tabulated, it reflected a trend away from rural living. Major cities of the 12-county district headquartered at Abilene made gains, but only Taylor (Abilene) and Nolan (Sweetwater) showed countywide increases.

Virtually complete returns for the Panhandle of Texas showed a gain of about 48,000 persons in the decade. With only Sherman county to be added, tabulations for the 26-county district (18th congressional) showed a population of 287,729. The 1940 figure for the area, including Sherman county was 239,736.

Tabulations were now complete for the first congressional district (Texarkana), down 38,531; third congressional district (Tyler), down 22,538; sixth congressional district (Corsicana), down 35,525; and the 43th (Wichita Falls), up 11,981.

Other reports were scattered in far west Texas. Pecos county gained 1,914 to a total of 9,877 and Crockett county showed a 1,154 gain to 3,963.

Hockley county, in the South Plains, reported a gain from 12,963 persons in 1940 to 20,420 in 1950, up 7,457. Terry county gained 1,914 to 23,074. Stonewall county lost 1,921, down to 3,563 from 5,585.

Complete preliminary tabulations from the Abilene district showed by counties:

Play School Given At High School

A play school, under the direction of Miss Loretta Morris and girls taking summer project in homemaking, has been held at Eastland High School this week.

Fifteen children between the ages of four and six years have been enrolled.

The school was for the purpose of giving the children an opportunity to learn to play together.

High school girls helping with the program had the opportunity to learn more about child behavior as they have observed and directed the children in their play.

During the school year, child care is taught in the homemaking classes.

Divorcee Says "Didn't Know I Was Pregnant"

MEXICO CITY, June 16 (UP)—A 20-year-old Greenwich, Conn., divorcee who "didn't know I was pregnant," was held for questioning today in the death of her new-born baby which police said was strangled by a piece of gauze.

The infant's body was found in a wastebasket among pieces of newspaper in the luxurious hotel suite of Vera June Hunt, daughter of a Connecticut businessman.

Miss Hunt said she did not realize she was pregnant and "remembered very little" about the baby's birth and death.

A medical report indicated the "child strangled with a cord of gauze around the neck," police said.

In a signed statement, Miss Hunt said the child was born unexpectedly after she took some pills prescribed by a physician for stomach pains. "I didn't even know I was pregnant," she said.

The young woman, who was divorced in the Virgin Islands last January from Lucien Blaine Clark also of Greenwich, said she could not remember what she did with the baby nor how the gauze became wrapped around the neck.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Peter Hunt also denied knowledge of their daughter's pregnancy and said they were out of the room when the child was born.

UNKLE HANK SEZ

BAD HABITS ARE LIKE A COMFORTABLE BED - EASY TO GET INTO BUT HARD TO GET OUT OF.

HE reached for it almost hypnotized, but she drew her hand back slowly, just keeping it from his reach.

"On second thought, perhaps it wouldn't be correct," she tore a piece of rind from it with her teeth, spat it out with an emphasis that spot him out with it, and then flatly, as though the whole incident were closed, said, "After all, I don't know who you are."

Don Jose bowed a little, awkwardly shy, and hastened to make up for this breach of etiquette.

"I am Don Jose, just arrived in Seville, senorita!" She threw her head back and laughed with a strident shout. Then she looked at him, her eyes brimming with amusement.

"You have just arrived in Seville. Where did you come from?" "From Navarre,"

As though this explained everything, she said, "Oho! A Navarre." She leaned over as though imparting a mocking secret. "I have heard that the men from Navarre wear little blue berets and tall big black lies and don't know how to make love to a woman."

He flushed.

"I have always wanted to find out for myself whether that is just gossip or—"

The Loves of Carmen

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, has just come to Seville from the countryside of Navarre. He is given 48 hours leave to familiarize himself with the city. Lying on a street corner, trying to make up his mind where to go next, he is startled by a piece of orange peel flying at his feet. He looks up. Seated on a wall above him is an extraordinarily dressed young woman of striking beauty.

The girl looked down at him from her perch, her glittering eyes wide and intent over the orange she held to her mouth. With her eyes fixed on him, she slowly sucked the juice from the orange, squeezing it gently with her hand.

Don Jose looked up at her as though blinded by the sun—as though the thousand lights from her copper-colored hair and flashing teeth had caught him and were hypnotizing him.

The girl removed the orange from her mouth, ran her pink tongue over her lips, closed her eyes, opened her mouth slightly and sighed with real ecstasy.

"Ah, there is nothing so good in the mouth as an orange warmed by the Spanish sun." She stretched her body in the hot sun as she leaned over toward him, smiling invitingly into his eyes. "Hah?" she asked.

He just looked at her, dazed. She kept her eyes on his eyes and slowly put the orange to her mouth again. Then she straightened up, alert and astonished, for in the silence a little chiming bell had sounded from somewhere in Don Jose's clothes.

She said with surprised delight, "Well! Not only is he beautiful but music comes out of him."

Don Jose looked confused for a minute, then embarrassed. Hastily he pulled a big gold watch from his pocket and showed it to her.

"Oho! A Navarre," taunted the girl. "I have heard that the men from Navarre wear little blue berets and tall big black lies and don't know how to make love to a woman."

Her mood broke abruptly and she looked away, her attention drawn by a new kind of music coming from down the street—a twangy guitar, sharply discordant against the other music. Don Jose took his eyes away from her with difficulty and tried to look in the same direction.

DOWN the street came a little wedding procession. The bride and groom were dressed in wedding finery and were extremely self-conscious in this stuffy attire. A small group of pride-stricken family and noisy friends followed them—parents, children, brothers, sisters, cousins. The guitarist walked sideways beside the bride and groom, playing to them. A slovenly woman came out of the doorway near Don Jose. She held a broom and a toddling, dirty child clung to her skirts. Her attention, too, had been drawn by the sound of the guitar and she watched the procession approach.

The red-haired girl watched with a peculiar look of scorn and disgust her face. When she spoke her voice was harsh again.

"Hah! Look at them! They paid out their last peseta to get rid of her. But it was worth it." She made no effort to keep her voice down. "She'll hate him, but she'll cling to him like a leech. And that fine bridegroom—in a week he'll be beating her!"

The woman with the broom turned on her in anger.

"Shut up, you! You talk that way because nobody would marry a gypsy like you!"

The gypsy's voice was soft with fury.

"No! I could marry any man in Seville if I wanted to, old woman, but I would rather be dead than be the stale wife of a spiritless Spaniard!"

As she talked, the wedding procession passed in front of them; the groom had become aware of the gypsy girl and was desperately trying to keep his eyes straight ahead and away from her. She grinned wickedly.

"Hah! Manuelito! Remember me, you stupid pig! I told you she'd catch you, and so she did!"

THE small dignity of the wedding procession dissolved. The music went sour. The bride and the groom halted and wheeled.

Insurance is a Life-Time Affair—and is so considered by those who figure safety as a business and protection as an investment. The fact that a person has carried insurance many years and never had a claim does not mean that he lost his money premiums. Rather has he gained them because he invested in safety, got protection and lost none of his property. If we buy insurance for what it really is a large part of our financial problems will solve themselves.

Mrs. Baker Hosts Stitch & Chatter Club Meeting

Members of the Stitch and Chatter Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. O. E. Baker, South Dixie Street. Each member carried a gift towel for the hostess, as is the custom of the club.

Mrs. Baker presided at the short business session, during which the group planned a trip to Gorman for their next meeting in the home of Mrs. G. L. Whitley.

A refreshment plate of sandwiches, potato chips, cookies and iced lemonade was served to Meses. Kenneth Garrett, G. L. Whitley, Wayne Jackson, L. W. Dalton, Howard Upchurch, Weldon Armstrong, Clarence Penn, Henry Van Geem, Guy Robinson by the hostess, Mrs. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Peek of Houston are expected today to visit in the home of Mrs. Annie Stokes and Mrs. Ida E. Vatt.

Mrs. Florida Cooper of Clyde is the guest here in the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Brashears and Mr. Brashears.

Mrs. Lucy Gristy Host To T. E. L. Class Members

Mrs. Lucy Gristy was hostess to members of the T. E. L. Class of the First Baptist Church at her home at the Lamar Apartments.

One long table was arranged for luncheon seating all the guests together. A white linen cloth covered the table and an arrangement of red roses was used for decoration.

Present were Meses. H. F. Vermillion, J. L. Brashears, Rosa Bishop, W. C. Pettit, Nora Andrews, Crosby, Minnie Love, Nora Vaughn, Ida Morris and guests Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carothers, F. M. Wilhite and Miss Bielefeldt.

Jasper Williams and Dale Langlitz returned Wednesday from a trip which included visits in Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Mrs. E. T. Stearns of El Paso and Mrs. A. E. Soniat of Fort Worth, twin daughters of Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Vermillion visited here this week in the Vermillion home and are now in Brownwood visiting with friends.

Rogers Family Visit Old Home Places, Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Rodgers and granddaughter, Juanita Hager accompanied their daughters, Mrs. W. D. Garrett and son, Jerry and Mrs. Russell Jackson of Pasadena on a trip to Mississippi and Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers had not visited their home places since leaving 52 years ago. They visited with Mrs. Rodgers' brother, J. F. Rodgers and family in Jackson, Miss. and relatives in New Albany and Oxford.

Enroute home the group spent the night in Hot Springs and visited places of interest in Arkansas.

Personals

Mrs. Josephine Brister, has returned from Snyder, where she visited with her daughter, following a stay in a Temple hospital, where she underwent major surgery.

Mrs. Guy Robinson and daughter, Betty Joyce visited in Dublin with her niece, Sandra Sue Kloster, who underwent a tonsilectomy in a Dublin hospital Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Tuckett, of Abilene and Mrs. Florine Miller and sons, Samy and Victor returned Thursday from Houston, where they visited with their daughter and sister, Mrs. E. A. Jaska, and Mr. Jaska.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the Fireman Baseball park and every person attending and contributing for the benefit of my broken leg. I greatly appreciate the money and work in my crop that has been given me.

Twenty Firms In Two Billion Dollar Class

By Alfred Connors
United Press Financial Writer
(Copyright, 1950, by the United Press)

NEW YORK, (UP)—The exclusive billion dollar club of American Enterprises still has 56 members but the club's assets have increased to an all-time peak of more than $135,000,000,000, a survey of the United Press revealed today.

Disolution of Commonwealth & Southern removed that corporation from the list of companies with assets exceeding $1,000,000,000. But its place was taken by New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Though another fatality to the public utility holding company act, American Power & Light still was in the billion-dollar class as of Dec. 31, 1949. However, a plan for its dissolution went into effect early this year.

Total holdings of the billion dollar corporations increased five per cent in 1949 to $125,014,765-

284 from $128,577,169,041, a growth which has worried many of these corporate executives. They fear their size alone will invite attack.

The assets of 44 of the club's members increased last year while those of 11 declined.

The Bell system widened its lead over Metropolitan Life Insurance to more than $1,000,000,000 and maintained its position as the largest business enterprise for the third consecutive year. Its assets increased $775,000,000 to $10,775,234,113.

Metropolitan Life Insurance improved its position by $582,000,000 and extended its margin slightly over third place Prudential Life.

The only change in standing of the top ten, Equitable Life moved into fifth place from sixth, exchanging places with National City Bank of New York.

New York Central had the largest increase in its group. It added $662,000,000 to its assets to move into the $2,000,000,000 class of which there now are 20 such corporations, two more than last year. The other company to make the jump was Mutual Life.

The club's membership comprises 20 banks, 18 industrial corporations, 13 insurance companies and five utilities.

You can haul more loads... more miles...for less... with Chevrolet Trucks

Take time out to talk to some Chevrolet truck users. You'll find it revealing. You'll discover that Chevrolet trucks pay their way by hauling more loads—more miles—for less! And you'll find that this extra measure of value is even more apparent in the new Chevrolet models. Definitely, they're America's first-choice trucks. Heavy-duty units feature a brand-new 105-h.p. Valve-in-Head engine with the power to pull heavy loads and conquer steep grades. They offer new Power-Jet carburetion for smoother, quicker operation. They bring you the fast, safe shifting of Chevrolet's 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission. But whatever your hauling requirements, Chevrolet trucks are our best bet. See them in our showroom. You'll agree.
