County Races Hold Heavy Interest For Primary Voters

County races hold a majority of the interest in the Democratic primaries in Eastland county tomorrow. Decisions in seven county offices will be made by the voters, and several precinct offices are to be filled. A possibility of three run-offs looms in county races. Four other races will definitely be decided in the primaries tomorrow, and three present county office holders are unopposed.

Run-offs are possible in the races for county judge, sheriff and floridal representative, 107th place.

These races have been marked with increasing campaigning during the past weeks as the election approached.

There are only two candidates in the races for county treasurer, county tax assessor-collector, representative 106th District and district clerk.

H. C. Elliott, county school superintendent, Elzo Been, county attorney, and W. V. Love, county clerk are unopposed in the primary.

The race for county judge has been one of the most heated. John Hart and C. S. Eldridge are opposing incumbent P. L. Crossley in the race.

In his statement for candidacy, Eldridge stated, "I want to be your county judge because I want to see just how good a judge can be." Crossley said, "If I am re-elected, I promise continued low tax rates, low valuations, assisting in every way possible the needy aged, including hospitalization and every possible help to the indigent of our county, and strict courteous, qualified attention at all times."

Hart in his campaign declared, "I stand for lower tax valuations. Compare the tax valuation of Eastland county to that of other surrounding counties, and decide for yourself."

Observers believe that a run-off will be necessary to decide the victor in the race.

In the race for the sheriff's office, John Barber and J. F. Turner oppose the present sheriff, J. B. Williams.

Barber commented, "I have but one promise to make, and that is that I will always be on the job and will try to the very best of my ability to enforce the law and do what I believe is right."

Turner said, "I invite anyone who is not acquainted with me to personally investigate my character and record." Williams in his statement observed, "I believe that I am well qualified for this office, and that my record will speak for itself, and I invite anyone to check it at anytime."

Another tight race is expected in the representative, 107th floridal district campaign, where O. O. Odom, Jr., Charles H. Dawson and L. R. Pearson are seeking the office.

Odom stated, "I am seeking this office because I am a young man who firmly believes that the future of Texas depends on good management policies by the state government. Certainly, I am against new taxes."

Pearson commented, "I have yet to vote for a tax bill of any kind. I will strive to preserve this record." Dawson countered, "I am opposed to a state sales tax—a state income tax—a state gross receipts tax and other unnecessary levies."

Four "sudden death" decisions will be made in the election.

Roy L. Lane, present district clerk, is opposed by Buena Van Winkle.

Lane stated, "I believe that my record while serving you as district clerk will speak for itself, and it will show that I am qualified to render you the service that you are entitled to have."

In Buena Van Winkle's statement, she said, "I am running for the office of district clerk solely on my qualifications and ability

ARMED FORCES RUSH CALLING OF RESERVES

WASHINGTON, July 21 (UP)—The armed forces indicated to a fastmoving congress today that they want at least 600,000 to 700,000 more men in a hurry.

Their spokesmen did not give figures, except to say that the present legal limit of 2,005,000 will be exceeded. It would take 550,000 to reach the limit.

The military men testified before the senate and house armed services committees. After hearing their brief explanations of the situation, the committees in rapid-fire order approved bills to remove the present 2,005,000-man limit on the size of the armed forces and to extend all expiring enlistments for one year.

The military spokesmen said their mobilization plans call for a hurry-up expansion of the armed forces from the present 1,458,000 officers and men to well above 2,005,000.

They said the Air Force may ask authority to draft some World War II combat veterans. If it fails to get enough men from its reserves or through enlistments. Most veterans are exempt from the draft under existing law.

The two bills approved today were the manpower measures asked for by President Truman in his Korean crisis message to Congress Wednesday.

The house will vote on both next Tuesday. The senate schedule was not disclosed immediately, but early action and passage seemed certain.

Senate committee approval of the two bills was unanimous. In the house group, Rep. Harry L. Tower, R. N. J., cast a lone vote to oppose them "until they (defense officials) say what they are going to do."

Brig. Gen. C. V. R. Schuyler, chief of the Army's planning branch, told the house committee the call for more fighting men was decided upon by the joint chiefs of staff. He said the joint chiefs also agreed that possible developments in Korea or elsewhere could mean a further "up-

Scramble Winners

5,000 TURN OUT FOR THURS. NIGHT RODEO; EXCITEMENT

A larger crowd than the 5,000 at the rodeo arena Thursday night is expected for the Jaycee rodeo tonight.

A greased pig scramble among 4-H and Future Farmer boys in the county for six registered Jersey heifers valued at $200 apiece furnished the extra excitement last night. Six losers in the event and six more county boys will chase after more greased pigs tonight to win registered gilts.

Last night's winners were Tom Moody, Ranger junior high 4-H club; Byron Gailley, Ranger FFA club; Jerry Jones, Ranger 4-H club; J. L. Barnes, Ranger FFA club; Marvin Turner, Strawn FFA and James Pruitt, Strawn FFA.

The self-perpetuating event is sponsored by Ranger business men.

Calves, horses and bulls proved a little tougher for the cowboys last night with no one breaking the top times of Wednesday night, the opener.

Booger Red Dixon of Breckenridge and Harold Watson of Belton possibly made the best rides in the bareback bronc riding contest. Guy Weeks, Abilene, Bud Hull, Snyder; M. H. Walters, Fort Worth; Red Walker, Belton, all stuck to their ponies.

The cowboys were having trouble last night in breaking the barrier too soon in the calf roping contest. Amy Gambin of Ben Brook set a near record time of AMARILLO, July 21—A power company lineman died twice after receiving an electric shock of 2900 volts yesterday.

A pulmotor squad managed to revive James D. Castleberry temporarily after 45 minutes of work. Castleberry was electrocuted while at work on a pole of the Southwest Public Service Co. He was rushed to the Northwest Texas Hospital when pulmotor squad-men detected a pulse flicker. However, he was pronounced dead an hour after arrival.

CLAUDE, July 21—Dr. Robert Lee Lowrance, 81-year-old retired dentist well known in this area, died yesterday.

NEW YORK, July 21—Texas had received $45,875 to aid in its battle against polio last week, the national foundation for infantile paralysis reported today. The largest grant, $80,525, went to Massachusetts. The foundation helps polio patients who cannot meet full treatment costs.

DALLAS, July 21—Test pilot Howard Mabey walked away from the smash-up of his F6U1 Cutlass jet plane which collapsed yesterday on a runway at the Chance-Vought aircraft plant.

Mabey, landing the plane after a test flight, was unhurt. Officials said the single-engine navy-type jet plane escaped serious damage.

EL PASO, July 21—A retired Australian Army officer told a luncheon club yesterday that the land down-under has agreed to send ground forces into the Korean fight.

Col. N. F. Wellington, who served on Gen Douglas MacArthur's staff during World War II, said his information came from a weekly newsletter issued by Lt. Gen. P. K. Smart of the Australian consulate in New York for all Australian citizens in this country. Wellington, here to visit relatives, did not mention the number of Aussie troops involved.

WASHINGTON, July 21—Construction of a 215-mile Texas to Denver pipeline by the Colorado Interstate Gas and Canadian River Gas companies was authorized yesterday by the federal power commission.

The FPC ordered construction to begin within a year after work gets underway.

Colorado Interstate also asked the commission for permission to buy the facilities of Canadian River. However, the commission postponed action on the request.

WASHINGTON, July 21—A bill providing for the appointment of an additional federal judge for the Eastern district of Texas was approved by voice vote yesterday in the house.

The measure, which now awaits senate approval, would create a temporary judgeship in order to speed up the court's work. The post would not be re-filled when the first vacancy occurs.

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 21—Walter Hamilton, 5, of Annville, drowned late yesterday when he slipped off the bank and fell into a deep hole in the Nueces river near the Calallen dam. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hamilton.

Thugs Crack Cisco Safe Wednesday

Sheriff J. B. Williams and his deputies are investigating the burglary of a safe at the Thornton Feed Mill in Cisco Wednesday night.

The exact loot was not determined. It was not believed that there was any cash in the safe. A strongbox containing some papers and bonds was taken, officials said.

The thief or thieves broke into the building, and then cracked the safe.

YANKS OF COURAGE WRITE TAEJON, KOREA INTO AMERICAN HISTORY BY FIGHT FOR TIME AGAINST FOE HAVING FIVE TIMES MORE MEN

EDITORS NOTE: Here is the battle of Taejon, as written in the pages of the history of the Korean campaign by the embattled 19th and 34th infantry regiments of the 24th division. A United Press War Correspondent reports that the valiant American stand at Taejon won valuable time for the building of the Allied counter-offensive to throw the Communists back across the 38th parallel border into North Korea.

By Rutherford Poats
United Press Staff Correspondent
SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, July 21 (UP)—A game bunch of Yanks wrote "Taejon, Korea" in to American history this week.

On the approaches to Taejon, and in the muddy streets of this city of clapboard shacks and jerry-built houses, the U. S. 24th Infantry Division fought its heart out against overwhelming odds and claimed a deadly price in blood for each yard it yielded.

When they finally lost burning Taejon to the Red invaders of South Korea, the thinned ranks of the 24th had won the chief ingredient of eventual Allied victory—time.

Three weeks ago these young Americans left carefree occupation life in Japan.

Then for two weeks they took a bloody pounding. They gained time for two fresh American air divisions and strong American air and naval forces to get in action.

They fell back to the Kum river line before Taejon and there, for six days, they fought off well armed Communist forces at least five times stronger numerically.

By all the books of military science they'd have been justified in pulling out without a fight for Taejon. They were in desperate need of rest, regrouping, and reinforcements.

The Red radio boasted that the invaders would march into Taejon—for a time the temporary South Korean capital—with bands playing and with "loyal Koreans" welcoming them in.

They were welcomed, all right—by a hail of bullets and mortars.

Yank generals and colonels took up rifles, machine guns and bazookas and fought beside their tired doughboys. Maj. Gen. William Dean, division commander, held his key headquarters staff in Taejon and personally led reconnaissance sorties. He even bagged a Red tank.

If courage were the only factor, Taejon would still be ours. But there were other factors—ammunition, communications, and thousands upon thousands of North Korean infantrymen who kept filling the holes the red-eyed Yanks knocked in their ranks.

The battle of Taejon opened one week ago today, when North Korean troops wearing peasant dress and captured American uniforms infiltrated across the Western Kum river line into and behind the U. S. 34th Infantry Regiment.

By dawn Sunday the regiment was forced to fall back from the river line to within 15 miles of Taejon.

Under cover of darkness the Communists streamed through a 20-mile river front North of Taejon which the thinly spread 19th Regiment had held against a three-day assault by the Red divisions.

The 19th was engulfed and fell back but it had done its work well. It took the Reds four days to patch up those two divisions. The Taejon attack was held up until a completely new division—believed to be the last the Reds have in reserve—was brought up.

At 5:45 a. m. yesterday Communist artillery, tanks, and infantry opened an all-out attack. North Korean troops disguised in American uniforms infiltrated the city and tried to cut off any American withdrawal.

The outnumbered Yanks fought from house to house in the burning city, twice broke through encirclements, knocked out more than a dozen enemy tanks, and withdrew to the Southeast around midnight without heavy losses.

Royce Sewalt of Brownwood with an 8; and Doyle Cobbler of Fort Worth with an 8.9 placed second and third.

The bulls were tough and mean last night—and lots of the cowboys were lucky that the Stein-ers had thoughtfully blunted the Brahmas horns. Only four out of 12 stuck the distance. Perhaps Bill Williams of Clarksville did the best job. Roland Davis, Angelo McAnally of Monahans and Monk Russell of Ada, Okla., all did spectacular jobs riding the bulls.

Howard Oliver of Fort Worth and formerly associated with the local Jaycees in building the rodeo telegraphed best wishes.

Greer's Boot shop is offering a $50 pair of boots to the best all-around cowboy picked after the fourth night. Pulleys Jewelers are offering the best all-around cowgirl a $65 watch; the hardluck cowboy another $65 watch.

Royce Sewalt of Brownwood set the best time—13.5. In second place was Jim Bob Altizer of Del Rio with a 15.8.

Perhaps H. McDermott of Coleman turned in the best ride in the saddle bronc contest. Certainly he got the biggest hand from the audience as he stuck to devil twisting Hard Tack, Monk Russell of Comanche, Okla., also turned in a good ride.

Other riders that lasted the eight seconds follow: Othel Dockery, Killeen; Tex Lewis, Dallas; Johnny Stewart, Fort Worth; Bob Ferguson, Tulsa; Bill Agee, Ada, Okla.; Buster Butts, Texhoma; Oklahoma; Bill Proctor, Belton; G. K. Lewallen, Hico.

Even the ladies were a little slower than those of last night. But the hand was a little bigger as teenagers came out to try for the barrel race. One of the better times was set by very young, very small Janelle McGilvray of Merton—14.3; Wynona Barnett, Gatesville, another pretty miss, scored

Too Critical

CHICAGO (UP)—Mrs. Lois Mays, 22, told Superior Judge Rudolph Desort that her husband, Carl, 22, came to her home for and attempted reconciliation and saw some dust under the bed. "What a way to keep house," she testified he told her, and then walked out and didn't return. Desort granted her a divorce on grounds of desertion.

The following written and paid for by a group of service men of World War One and Two.

We are supporting Clabe Eldridge for County Judge for several reasons: First, we have done our part keeping Judge Crossley in office for the past three terms and feel that to be fair that we should pass it on to another worthy buddy and friend. Second, we think Buddy Eldridge well qualified to handle the affairs of the office in a business like and dignified manner that will be above reproach. We think it a good policy to elect one who has been successful with his own affairs to care for the important office of County Judge. We know him to be just, fair and courteous in all his dealings with fellow men.

Third, he is a veteran of World War One and a true, tried and sympathetic friend to all, more especially comrades and buddies. We believe that he will at all times grant us our just dues and see to it that we have a voice in our local affairs. And lastly we are supporting him because we have known him to be a clean man, fearless and tireless worker, at all times striving to do the right thing. We believe in and trust him. That's why we are supporting him, Will You Support Him Too?

You have been told that a lower county valuation and a HIGHER tax rate will save the County money in that the taxes that now go to the State would go to the County.

In 1948, THE PEOPLE voted a Constitutional Amendment ABOLISHING all State Tax for General revenue purposes, beginning January 1, 1951. There CANNOT BE any State Tax beginning next year. There are other reasons. Constitutional and Statutory why this cannot be.

Your property HAS NOT been raised. Lands are on the roll for $54.50 and $9.00, as for many years. FOR COUNTY JUDGE

I will greatly appreciate your support in my race for re-election as County Judge, next Saturday at the polls.

I hope you will consider QUALIFICATIONS and the matter of QUALIFICATIONS is important and is reflected in every act of a county judge. In trials of CIVIL and CRIMINAL cases, it is only natural that if you, your relative, or neighbor were being tried or if you were suing some one or being sued, that you would want some one who was to some extent QUALIFIED to sit as judge in the case.

I promise to continue to handle the affairs of the office as I think the people want it handled, bearing in mind that we are handling the people's money, and will endeavor as I have in the past, to be as economical with the peoples money as we should be in our own personal affairs.

I trust you will not be swayed by last minute statements which cannot be substantiated by facts, and that you will weigh all the facts. Do not let anyone tell you that a 60c tax rate is not better than $1.16 tax rate. One does not have to think to figure this out. Check the taxes you are paying and see for yourself.

If I am re-elected, I promise continued low tax rates, low valuations, assistance in every way possible to the needy aged, including hospitalization and very possible help to the indigent of our county and strict, courteous, QUALIFIED attention at all times to all county business coming before me.

SINCERELY,

King Ford Advances To Finals In District Tourney, Downs Abilene

King Ford of Eastland slugged its way into the finals of the district softball meet being held here, by outscoring Wooten's of Abilene, 6-4, in the first game of the tournament at firemen's park last night.

Lmb Motor of Eastland will try to make it an all-Eastland finals tonight when they play Cisco Junior College at 8 p. m. at the park.

King's victory assured that team of a place in the state tournament at Brownwood in August.

The Eastland team took an early lead, and was never headed. They scored two runs in each of the first three innings, and coasted to the win.

An Abilene uprising in the fourth produced four scores for their total number of runs. The third and seventh innings were the only others in which an Abilene runner reached first base.

Maynard was the winning pitcher, with Bowers charged with the loss. King batters collected seven hits off Bowers, six of them in the first three frames, when all the winner's runs were scored.

Maynard allowed five hits, three of them in the fifth when the Abilene team made all its runs. He struck out four batters. Four King batters also whiffed.

King will meet the winner of tonight's game in the finals Saturday at 8 p. m. for the district title. Both teams which play Saturday night will compete in the state tournament.

Winner of the state tournament will be eligible for the world meet in September, in Austin.

Shivers—Caso March Furnish Only Real Election Year Color; Voters To Tell Wishes Saturday

By O. B. Lloyd, Jr.
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, July 21 (UP)—Democratic voters from West of the Pecos to East of the Sabine go to the polls tomorrow, taking their pick of 48 primary candidates vying for 12 state offices. Momentarily, the Korean war will take a back seat. Politics, at least while the ballot is being pushed into the box, will come to the fore.

Even with the blessings of good weather, voter turnout was expected to be comparatively light. Rain in the rural areas would cut the potential even more. Estimates of the total vote ranged from a low of about 700,000 to a high of perhaps 900,000. Virtually all observers believed the vote would be less than 1,000,000, far under the 1,205,257 votes cast in the first primary of 1948. However, that was a presidential election year, a politician's bank night in bolstering the ballots.

Political interest hit the lowest tide in more than a decade in the current campaign. The customary seasoning of at least one hot issue was missing from the start. What little voter interest remained was smothered with the opening of the Korean war.

Of the 48 candidates, seven are seeking the top spot of governor. That field is paced by Gov. Allan Shivers, 42 and seeking his first elective term as chief executive of Texas.

Shivers has staged a relatively quiet campaign, steering clear of controversial issues and relying on a series of radio talks sandwiched between a steady schedule of personal appearances.

His platform was summed up as "conservation of water, soil and human resources." His prime opponent is Caso March, former law school professor now making a third bid for nomination as governor. March, traveling in a campaign cottage mounted on a flat-bed trailer, has promised increased pensions for the old folks, decreased taxes for the home owner and increased taxation natural gas. He claims wide labor backing.

Others in the gubernatorial race include Mrs. Benita Louise Marek Lawrence, 34-year-old Brenham school teacher and the only woman to file in this year's campaign; Wellington Abbey of Houston, business manager for the Cotton Digest; Gene S. Porter, a Houston insurance man; Charles B. Hutchison, a Dallas contractor; and J. M. Wren, Houston oil drilling contractor.

Mrs. Lawrence has been ill and has not actively campaigned for the office. Shivers, former lieutenant governor, succeeded to the governorship with the death of Gov. Beauford Jester a year ago. He goes into the election holding the natural advantage of an incumbent.

The lieutenant governor's race was crowded with 12 contesting candidates.

Of that field, seven have had experience in the state legislature. One is a retire Houston banker, two are former gubernatorial candidates, one is president of the Texas safety council, and another is a Negro preacher.

Those with a legislative background included Kyle Vick of Waco, G. C. Morris of Greenville, Fred (Red) Harris of Dallas, all state senators; and W. O. Reed of Dallas, former secretary of state Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, Roger J. Evans of Denison, one-time gubernatorial candidate, and Preston Smith of Lubock, all present or former members of the house.

Others seeking the lieutenant governor's post included Virgil Arnold of Houston, making his third race; R. B. McAshan of Ingram, retired Houston banker; Arlon (Cyclone) Davis, Jr., of Dallas, former gubernatorial and U. S. senatorial candidate; P. E. Womack of Austin, Negro minister, and Pierce Brooks of Dallas, insurance man and president of the Texas Safety Council.

Attorney General Price Daniel,

Railroad Commissioner William J. Murray, Jr., and State Treasurer Jesse James are unopposed.

James L. Alford, 31-year-old Mansfield publisher and no kin of former Governor James V. Alford, is opposing Bascom Giles for reelection as general land commissioner.

Clifford E. Butler of Houston, making his second race for the office, is opposing Robert S. Calvert, seeking his first elective term as state comptroller.

J. E. McDonald, at odds with the Democratic party leadership and victor in recent court action where the executive committee attempted to oust him from the primary ballot, has drawn three opponents as candidates for state agriculture commissioner.

They are John C. White, Wichita Falls, vocational agriculture teacher at Midwestern University; T. A. Fairley, manor farmer; and Charles S. McLennan, Eagle Lake, legislator.

McDonald, elected to 10 consecutive terms, has held office since 1931.

Candidates for court posts include:

Criminal Appeals—W. A. Morrison, district judge and former legislator; G. H. Nelson, Lubbock, former legislator; Robert A. Lattimore, Dallas, former assistant attorney general; James Hill Letts, Houston attorney; Joel W. Cook, Houston attorney; W. E. Myres, Fort Worth, former assistant district attorney; David Wuntch, Tyler, former assistant attorney general; Cecil Storey, Longview, state representative.

Supreme Court, place 1—Fagan Dickson, Austin, former assistant attorney general; Will Wilson, Dallas, district attorney and former assistant attorney general; Walter L. Wray, Dallas attorney.

Supreme Court, place 2—Robert W. Calvert, Hillsboro, former speaker of the house and former chairman of the state Democratic executive committee; Alfred M. Scott, Austin attorney; R. H. Harvey, Atlanta, appointed by the

Hadacol Helps Lady With Weak Stomach Who Couldn't Digest Her Food

Relieved the CAUSE of Her Stomach Disturbance Due to Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in Her System!

Everyone is talking about the great new HADACOL. And why shouldn't they? HADACOL is one of the greatest blessings of the times. The relief it's bringing to thousands upon thousands of men, women and even children who suffer from such stomach distress caused by these deficiencies is simply wonderful!

A very charming woman, Mrs. R. W. S., who lives at 910 North 20th Street, Fort Smith, Arkansas, sent the following letter to us and gave us permission to publish it. She writes:
"I've just finished taking my first bottle of HADACOL and just that one bottle did something for me that other things failed to do.
"I've had a weak stomach and my food did not digest properly. My tongue was covered with a thick coat which kept me sick to my stomach most of the time.
"After taking about half the bottle, I could see that the coat on my tongue was leaving. Now it's almost gone, and I'm getting over the sick stomach feeling which bothered me.
"My nerves are getting better gradually and I'm not nearly so tense. I'm beginning to enjoy my food for the first time in a long time."
Many Doctors Recommend HADACOL

stomach distress from coming back to torment you.
Know the joy of eating the foods you like without belching and suffering gas pains, heartburn and torturing indigestion afterwards when they are caused by such deficiencies.

Big Improvement Often Noticed in Few Days
HADACOL not only supplies weak, run-down, deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin but also beneficial amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—so vital to help maintain good health.
And these vitamins and minerals come in special liquid form so that they can be more easily and quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood—ready to go right to work at once. HADACOL even reinforces your red blood cells (when iron is needed) to carry these healthful elements to every organ in your body—to the kidneys, lungs, liver and heart.
Start taking HADACOL at once. HADACOL costs only a small amount a day. Trial-size bottle, $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.

Representative 107th Dist.

L. R. PEARSON

To the Voters of the 107th Representative District:

We are addressing you this brief note about a very important matter—the 107th Representative District, comprising Eastland and Callahan Counties.

The office of Representative, as you doubtless know, is one of the lowest paid, but one of the most important in our State. The kind of state government we will have for the next two years will be determined, in a large measure, by the kind and character of men we elect to the Legislature on July 22nd.

The Legislature runs Texas. It not only makes our laws, but levies our taxes and spends the money. The Texas Legislature has grown until it is now a billion dollar institution.

We are convinced that Mr. L. R. Pearson is the best qualified man for this important job. He served us ably in the 49th and 50th sessions. He is sound and experienced. He knows state government. He does not favor spending the State into hopeless debt or high taxes. Whatever Pearson does, he does well. We will need his ability and good judgment in the 52nd Legislature which convenes next January.

We believe his election is in the interest of good government.

American Diplomats Try To Win Peace While GI's Win The Wars

By Harry Ferguson
United Press Foreign News Editor

Strange things happen in this strangest of all wars in which the United States has been involved.

At a time when Americans are locked in battle in Korea and calling for more and deadlier weapons, an American representative in the United Nations rises and pleads for disarmament. He does not mean that we should take away the guns, tanks and planes that are being used in Korea, or that we should not send any more weapons to the battle fields.

But Frank C. Nash, American delegate to the U. N. conventional armaments commission, did state that it was the long-range policy of this government to disarm and to try to persuade all other nations to do likewise.

The explanation of this paradox is that America is really fighting two wars, Lieut. Gen. Walton Walker and his troops in Korea are fighting one war, Nash and Secretary of State Dean Acheson are fighting another one—at the council tables—and before the bar of world opinion.

Too many times the United States has won the war and lost the peace. This time we are going to try to win both of them.

It is the job of Acheson and Nash to maintain America's moral position in the eyes of the world. They must keep hammering home the idea that the United States does not want war, does not covet any nation's territory, does not want to bear the burden of perpetual armaments and still cherishes the hope that some day nations can live in peace.

That is the reason we kept the record straight through every step that led to the fighting in Korea. We had the United Nations endorse our "police action." We formally asked Russia to intervene to halt the fighting. And yesterday we took two more steps: Nash urged that the U. N. continue to discuss disarmament and Acheson issued a white paper that set forth the facts of the Korean crisis. What the white paper said was that the Russians converted the technicality of dividing Korea by the 38th parallel into a device for splitting the nation into Communist and non-Communist parts.

Many people, including Winston Churchill, believe our present troubles in Korea were caused because we became so eager for a military knockout in World War II, we lost sight of the political consequences of our victory. Churchill always wanted to invade the "soft-under-belly" of Europe rather than strike across the English Channel at Normandy. His plan would have taken longer to lick the Germans and it would have been a bloodier fight. But if we had taken Churchill's advice Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia might have been saved for the free world instead of falling under the sway of Moscow. Our troops would have got there ahead of the Russians.

It is difficult to keep heads cool and nerves calm when Americans are dying on a distant battle field in a quarrel that was not of their choosing. But what men

United Nations Recruiting Big Force To Help

By Bruce W. Munn
United Press Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 21 (UP)—The United Nations is secretly recruiting a large expeditionary force from 15 to 25 nations to fight beside American G.I.s in Korea, informed sources indicated today.

This Allied force was in the making despite an almost total lack of public response by member nations to Secretary-General Trygve Lie's appeal for ground forces to join U.S. units at the front.

Eight or nine countries actively interested in sending troops to the UN's AEF already are consulting with Lie. A number of other states are consulting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's UN command through Washington, the U. S. mission to the UN, or American embassies abroad.

It was believed that movements of the UN force will be kept top secret until the Allied troops have landed on the Korean peninsula.

Neither U.S. nor UN sources could confirm officially that a UN AEF was forming. But it was known that exhaustive consultations were going on in connection with problems of transportation, supply and standardization of arms.

U.S. sources said only that the American government was "encouraged by the initial response" to Lie's appeal for more aid and that it was expected that more states would be heard from.

So far, however, only two countries—Nicaragua and Thailand—have made any definite offer of foot soldiers since Lie sent his appeal for aid to 50 non-Communist nations.

Under the projected plan, the like Acheson and Nash are doing is thinking forward to the day when the victory has been won and when the time will come to assess formally the blame for the breach of the peace in Korea. When that day comes, they want the United States to go before the bar of world opinion with clean hands and a clear conscience.

U.S. presumably would be called on to equip troops from other countries so that standard ammunition could be used. A program of standardizing the arms of the Western democracies to conform to weapons used by U.S. forces was started soon after the end of World War II. Even if other nations pledged forces now, it was pointed out, a considerable period would be required to train those troops in the use of U. S. arms.

Asked about this, U. S. sources said it would take "some weeks" before all arrangements could be made concerning material, supplies, transport, standardization of arms and other problems connected with fielding a unified AEF in Korea.

"Can you tell us if the plans are such as to at least reach the authorized strength (2,005,882 for all three services)?" asked committee chairman Carl Vinson, D., Ga. "That is an absolute certainty," Schuyler replied.

"Then the plans visualize at least 2,005,882?" "More," Schuyler said.

He added that there are tentative plans for reopening some World War II Army camps, but he did not say which ones.

Maj. Gen. Clovis Byers, testifying for the defense department, told the house committee that except for the Air Force there is no plan now to ask authority to draft World War II veterans.

Under the present draft law, only men 19 through 25 are subject to induction and veterans of the past war are exempt except in cases of men who served less than three months.

Vinson told the Army, Navy and Air Force to be ready to say Monday—probably in closed session—exactly what they now have in the way of men, ships, planes and tanks, and what they plan to get in the current military crisis.

Schuyler said the Army can equip all the men it needs for training purposes, but will have to buy "in some categories" to make them ready for battle.
