

Gaines Blasts Guard; Denies Berry Charge

By Everett Taylor
M. J. (Pop) Gaines, owner of Eastland Auto Parts and veteran of three wars, sharply denied today that he threatened to fire an employee if he did not get out of the National Guard.

That an Eastland employer had threatened to fire a 20-year-old Private First Class in the Guard from his job if he did not get out of the Guard. In a verbal blast aimed at the Guard, Gaines said, "I think the National Guard is nothing but a group of tin soldiers, and I advise anyone now in it to get out and get in something worthwhile. The Guard offers its men no substantial training and no incentive." "But if an employee of mine wishes to be in the Guard, I would not do anything to try to force him out. I try to keep out of the personal affairs of my employees," Gaines added. Gaines identified the employee referred to in the statement by Berry as Gene R. Gaeta, who is now in the United States Air Force at Lackland Air Base in San Antonio.

"Regardless of whether Gaeta had stayed in the Guard or not," Gaines continued, "he had a job with me as long as he wanted to stay, and he also has it when he comes back." "Gaeta came to me and asked me to help him get out of the Guard," Gaines reflected. "I wrote a letter to his Captain and requested his release. The Captain would not accept that letter, and sent me one which he wrote and said if I would sign it the boy would be released." "I signed the letter," Gaines stated. "I didn't keep a copy of the signed letter and do not know what I signed. I was trying to help Gaeta get out of the Guard because it had no incentive for him." "Gaeta was supporting two brothers and he did not want to go to Guard camp and lose his pay for two weeks, Gaines added. "He came to me and asked for my advice. I told him he should get in something worthwhile if he was going into the service. I recommended the Air Force." Gaines served in the Spanish American War, World War I and World War II. He is still eligible for duty under his World War II enlistment. Employees in Gaines' auto parts shop recommend him highly as an employer. One of the workers said, "I get along with him fine. He has never interfered with anything I wanted to do at any time. When I want a day off all I have to do is tell him I won't be here. It is okay with him." Another said, "He is one of the best guys I ever worked for in my life. He works with us, and fills in for anyone who must miss a day or some time. He has been nice to me and always has been nice to anybody who gives him half a chance." Gaeta's fellow workers said that he had wanted out of the Guard, and had never complained about his working conditions. The workers agreed that Gaines never interfered with their private affairs.

Six Officers Stop Gang Of Seventy-Five

ROGERSVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 23 (UP)—Six officers with blazing guns turned back an irate mob of armed men who stormed Hawkins county jail early today, demanding custody of a "bewitched" killer who shot two women to death. Sheriff Bradley Blair commanded the small force of deputies, city policemen and state troopers who successfully defended the prison with pistols and shotguns until reinforcements arrived after an hour's battle.

The officers wounded at least one member of the 75-man mob which creled the jail like a band of Indians attacking a western wagon train, firing on the sun. The mobsters appeared at midnight and demanded that 40-year-old Carl Walters, a self-confessed killer, be turned over to them. Walters, held on two first-degree murder warrants, said he shot a mother and daughter Aug. 15 because they cast spells on him, causing his child to commit suicide and his wife to be injured. Jailor Walter Brown said the prisoner was taken safely to another jail this morning.

He said when the sheriff ordered them to leave, one of them fired a shot through the jail door which ripped into a wall. The mob then took cover and began the battle.

Eastland Rotary Invited To Rotary Fellowship At Fair

The Eastland Rotary Club has been invited to participate in a gigantic Rotary Fellowship Day on Friday, Oct. 20, at the 1950 State Fair of Texas. A block of tickets to "South Pacific", the sensational music show which will play in the Auditorium during the Fair, and to "Ice Cycles of 1951", sparkling skating extravaganza, will be available to Rotarians on a first-come, first served basis on this day at the Fair.

Dallas Rotarians have mailed out about 15,000 invitations to members of some 255 clubs over the state. Members of the nine Dallas County clubs are hosts for the occasion.

A Rotary Fellowship House in the Rotary Building will be headquarters for the Rotarians. Rotarians will receive attendance credit by registering at the Friendship House or at a box luncheon to be served at the Picnic Pavilion at noon. Following the luncheon, transportation will be provided to the Auditorium where an impressive program will be presented.

The program is directed by Mrs. Marene Johnson. David McKee is the master of ceremonies.

VINSON PREDICTS HOUSE SUPPORT FOR BILL GIVING GI FAMILY ALLOWANCES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (UP)—Chairman Carl Vinson, D., Ga., of the House Armed Services committee today predicted overwhelming House approval for a bill granting family allowances to enlisted men.

House leaders scheduled a vote on the measure for tomorrow. Vinson said the legislation should sail through the House just as quickly and easily as in the Senate, which passed its bill last night after less than a half-hour's debate.

The two versions are only slightly different. The Senate bill would provide for monthly payments ranging from $85 to $155, with $40 to $80 coming from the servicemen and $45 to $75 coming from the government.

Under the House bill, families would be assured of monthly payments ranging from $85 to $125. The government would provide from $45 to $85 a month in quarters.

Billy Joe Dolberry Gets Jail Term

Billy Joe Dolberry, 24, of Gorman, was sentenced to 12 months in county jail and fined $500 in county court this week on charges of aggravated assault on Mrs. Nell Dolberry, his mother, also of Gorman.

Charges were filed by Mrs. Dolberry last week. Dolberry pled guilty to the charges and sentence was made by Judge P. L. Crossley.

Lions Hold Regular Meet On Tuesday

Members of the Lions Club met in their regular session at the First Methodist church Tuesday, with Judge Milburn Long, president, presiding.

C. A. Ranney had charge of the program, which was designed to better acquaint members with the newer members of the club.

It was announced that the meeting of September 5, would be during Lions perfect attendance week. During that week all Lions clubs strive to make perfect attendance.

It was urged that all members work to make the Eastland attendance on that day 100 per cent.

Wendell Siebert will have charge of the program for August 28, it was announced.

At the request of Oscar Avera, the club voted to meet with the Rotary Club in a joint meeting on a September date to be announced later.

On that occasion, Captain Don Lawrence of the state highway patrol will present his trick shooting exhibition. Lawrence has his own portable range which he uses on such occasions, Avera said.

W. B. Harris suggested that the committee on traffic make a report on school signs at the next meeting. The meeting was adjourned.

THE WEATHER

By United Press
Heavy thundershowers and electrical displays which have plagued North Texas for several days and brought threats of flood along with cooler temperatures appeared headed out of the state today.

David Lubben testified that he gave Victor R. Messall, Senate secretary for Truman from 1935 to 1941, a $1,000 or $1,500 fee to get a sugar quota in 1945. Messall immediately denied receiving any such fee.

Taxes—A modified proposal by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., gained some support in the Senate for an excess profits levy. Odds still seemed to be against approval of an excess profits tax before next year, however.

UMI—Supporters of Universal Military Training claimed that chances for Senate action have "brightened considerably." But they conceded that prospects in the House are dim, with virtually no hope of favorable action unless Congress meets in November and December.

Roads—Senate-House conferees faced the problem of ironing out the differences between two versions of a two-year program of federal aid for highways. The Senate trimmed $359,000,000 from the bill yesterday. President Truman had asked for a $240,000,000 cut. The Senate bill was trimmed to $1,138,000,000 before it was approved.

Schools—The House has approved a bill which would help build new schools in 600 to 700 areas which are crowded because of the "impact" of federal activity. The Senate, which has already passed a similar bill, must consider amendments approved by the House.

Labor—A Senate Labor subcommittee called four employees of the Anchor Rome Mills, Inc., for testimony about labor trouble's at the firm's Rome, Ga., plant.

FIGHT TODAY MAY SETTLE TAEGU FATE

By United Press

The U. S. 27th (Wolfhound) regiment drove off five Communist attacks last night in fierce fighting which may determine the fate of Taegu.

Artillerymen and cooks got out their rifles and "joined the infantry" to throw back the Reds swarming down from the hills, undeterred by merciless air and artillery bombardment of their positions.

A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur estimated that the Communists are massing up to 50,000 men on the 15-mile front northwest of Taegu held by the 27th regiment and South Korean troops.

Observers Credit West With UN Victory Over Russia; Austin Takes Off Kid Gloves In Bout

By Bruce W. Mann
United Press Staff Correspondent
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (UP)—Observers today credited the west with a double-barreled victory over Russia's propaganda tactics in the United Nations Security Council.

Ambassador Warren R. Austin, chief of the U. S. delegation, told the Council late yesterday that the charge by Chief Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik that the American forces in Korea are aggressors is "applesauce!"

He charged the stolid Russian, who had just acted as mouthpiece for another lengthy Kremlin attack on the U. S. and its Western partners, with using three propaganda tricks: The "false label" ruse; the device of "concealing guilt by accusation"; and Hitler's tactic of the "big lie."

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb joined the attack on Malik's efforts, declaring that Russia's peace propaganda is, in fact, part of its preparation for aggression.

Malik, whose speech had occupied two-thirds of the Council's regular afternoon session, sought to get in a reply to Austin and Jebb, but was choked off by the Briton, who moved adjournment. Malik agreed, with this parting shot:

"Of course a proposal for adjournment takes precedence, especially if one of the members is afraid to hear a clarification."

Malik then adjourned the Council until Friday at 3 p.m. EDT. That meeting is expected to be consumed with hearing interpretations into French of the three speeches delivered yesterday by Malik, Jebb and Austin. To permit the Briton and American to speak yesterday, it was agreed to postpone the French translation.

At Friday's meeting, it also was expected that the third report from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unified command might be forthcoming. The 70-year-old UN field commander was expected to answer Russia's allegations that it has given no weapons to the North Koreans since the Red army evacuated the country in 1948 and that the American Air Force has indulged in atrocity bombing.

Military spokesmen have disclosed that MacArthur's troops have captured an unexploded Russian-made 120-MM mortar shell marked "1950" and a Soviet field piece. Austin mentioned the shell in his speech.

On the southern front, 25th division forces defending the western approaches to the key supply port of Pusan won back today the ground they lost in local actions during the past three days, MacArthur's spokesman said.

AT SEA, SOUTH KOREAN

Marines took Sojak island, 25 miles southwest of the captured West Coast port of Inchon. It was the third island off Inchon occupied since Saturday in amphibious assaults apparently intended to tighten the blockade of the port.

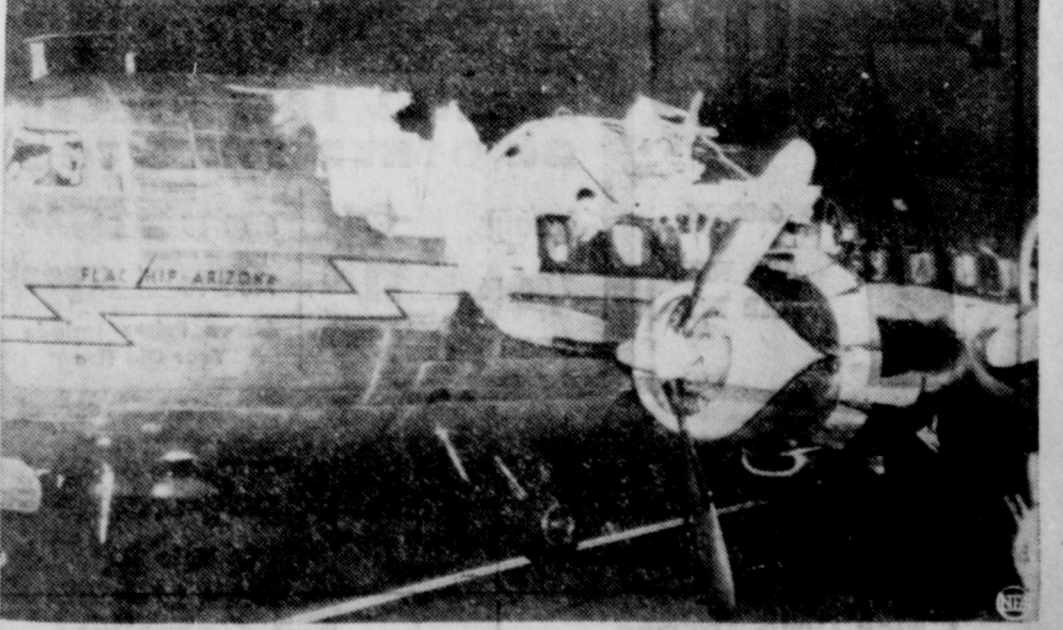

A U.S. destroyer ranged up the east coast to blast military targets in Seishin, (Chongjin), a big port 55 miles southwest of Russia and the spokesman said the Reds have ferried 6,000 troops across the Naktong river into a new bridgehead southwest of Taegu, posing a second threat to the South Korean emergency capital.

Col. John Michaelis, commander of the embattled 27th regiment, said he believed "the next two nights will determine whether we lose Taegu or break their backs completely."

Other developments: Hong Kong—Two British battalions—over 1,000 soldiers—received cholera shots as they prepared to sail for Korea. They would be the first British ground forces to join the battle against the Communists.

Manila—Philippine military officials announced that the 1,205-man 10th Battalion Combat Team—the Republic's strongest fighting contingent—is ready to leave for Korea whenever Gen. MacArthur wants it. The battalion includes infantry, 105-mm. artillery and light and medium tanks.

PROPELLER RIPS AIRLINER BUT CRASH AVERTED—An American Airlines DC-6, flying non-stop from Los Angeles to Chicago lost a propeller while flying high over the Rockies near Denver, Colorado. The prop cut through the top of the fuselage, injuring seven persons. One man died of a heart attack. The crew landed the crippled ship at Denver, where injured were taken to a hospital. "ROCKET AHEAD" With Oldsmobile Osborne Motor Company, Eastland

End of a Chapter

By Edwin Rutt

THE STORY: Alice Pine, secretary to Muriel Halleck, a writer, has suspected Brent, Muriel's husband, of being cruel to his four-year-old adopted son. There is much gossip about Brent, none good, and Alice, who says she likes him at all. But one evening Brent surprises her while she is taking a night swim. In a long talk, Brent says he is taking a job away from Grosvenor Point, where the Hallecks live, as art director of an advertising agency. He asks Alice to watch over Rick while he is away. Alice thinks this is a strange request and is surprised by Brent's solemn manner. Then, suddenly Brent takes her in his arms. Alice protests, and Brent apologizes and then leaves her. As Alice walks toward the house, Muriel steps into view. Muriel does not seem upset by what she saw but Alice is filled with a feeling of guilt as she tries to explain.

"Oh, for heaven's sake!" Muriel slapped Alice lightly on her bare forearm. "Don't be so serious, my dear. It is funny and so are you. The guy—my husband—merely puts his arm around you now you're beating yourself up. Well, stop it." "A-all right. If you're not too annoyed." "My goodness!" Muriel Halleck seemed to lose interest. "Why should I be annoyed? I'm over the sophomore stage. What's that you've got there? Cigarettes? Give me one and forget this nonsense." Alice Pine extended the package, struck a match. Muriel's head bent over her cupped hands. "Now let's go up to the house." she said. "But, for the record, my meeting broke up early. La Tremayne, who's usually indelible, had a headache. And when I found nobody home here, I took a walk. So my spying wasn't premeditated." "I never thought it was," said Alice. "And I still feel like a heel." "Alice, I told you to stop it. Come on, now! Think of something else to say." Alice made an effort. "He was telling me about this job in Providence."

been inordinate from the beginning. She had been utterly un-able—Alice twisted on the bed, pressing bare toes against the footboard—to regard Brent Halleck passively.

That was how it had been. And there was some psychological theory that dislike—hated even—and love were actually akin, needing only some slight adjustment of the delicate scale to throw the balance one way or the other. But could she, Alice Pine, hitherto normal and sensible, be falling in love with a man capable of definite cruelty?

And yet the idea of cruelty didn't square with Brent's low-voiced, sincere-sounding request for her to see to Rick.

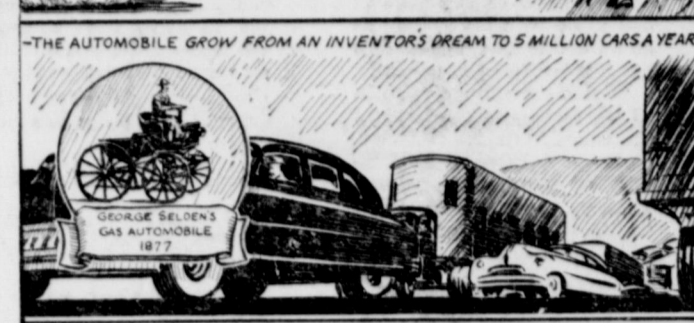

But nothing squared. And Brent was a creature of moods. Tonight he had revealed a softer one. But he could summon others. She thought again of his face, black with anger, confronting the surly Sloan during the tree episode.

At that point sleep actively mocked her. She got up, lit a cigarette, and a solution seemed to come.

She would pack tonight. Then in the morning she would have an honest showdown. And not with Brent. With Muriel. "Because I can't stay here," she encouraged her own idea. "Feeling as I—I think I do."

SAN FRANCISCO WAR'S STEPPING-OFF SPOT; UNIFORMS MAKE LOOK LIKE WORLD WAR II

By Al Ostrow
NEA Special Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA)—Postmen's bags are bulging these days in the San Francisco Bay Area, thanks to Korea and Formosa. Here's a typical letter:

"Dear Thelma: My husband is in the reserve, and has been called up for active duty. He expects to have a few days in San Francisco before going overseas. If we can't find any other accommodations, I wonder if we could use your couch for a few nights..."
The streets of San Francisco, almost devoid of any but police uniforms a few months ago, once again are dotted with Navy blues, Army khakis and Marine Corps greens reminiscent of World War II days, when the Golden Gate was the major funnel through which troops and supplies moved to the Pacific war fronts.

Proud of its global reputation for hospitality, the city has taken emergency action to assure the most accommodations possible for the thousands of servicemen and their families already here, and the additional influx expected.

Hotel men announced reactivation of their wartime Armed Forces Hotel Reservations Bureau. The bureau pledged that it will make as many as 50,000 hotel rooms a month available for military personnel and their families. To accomplish this, several downtown hotels notified permanent guests that they might have to move.

The area's rent control boards held an emergency meeting at which a unanimous vote was taken to step up precautions against gouging of servicemen.

"The situation has changed overnight," declared William A. Bledsoe, area rent director. "San Francisco is once more in the thick of a war effort. Things will get a lot worse in housing before they get better."
Sensing this situation, the National Rifle Association cancelled its annual convention, scheduled to be held in San Francisco in September.

"Due to present world conditions, it would not be wise to plan a large gathering of thousands of target shooters on the Pacific Coast at this time," explained Major General M. A. Edson, rifle association president.
City officials noted that San Francisco is much better prepared today to accommodate the expected influx of service families than it was nine years ago. The post-war building boom has provided thousands of additional housing units, including new projects in the Lake Merced section with accommodations for 20,000 families.

One immediate result of the city's resumption of its former role as the chief jumping off point for Pacific service has been a pickup in the previously lagging bar, restaurant and entertainment business.
The volume of long distance telephone calls has shown a marked increase, too.

There is a story going the rounds about the taxi driver standing by a pay telephone, feeding in coins, while a sailor talked long distance to his girl friend in Kentucky.
"The kid's going out tomorrow," the cabbie explained, "and he wanted to talk to his girl, but couldn't afford it."
When passersby offered to chip in and help foot the bill, the cabbie shook his head.
"Nope," he said, "I've carried a bunch of slugs around for a situation like this ever since the last war."

Flying Fool Major Hess Becoming Legend To GIs; Fear Stricken Korea Reds

By Jack James
United Press Staff Correspondent
WITH THE SOUTH KOREAN AIR FORCE, Korea, Aug. 23 (UP)—Maj. Dean Hess, a "flying fool" from Marietta, O., is fast becoming a legend to the GIs of the 25th division.

They consider him their private Air Force, always Johnny-On-The-Spot in getting them out of trouble.
Hess is "advisor and instructor" to the South Korean Air Force. He and Capt. Harold H. Wilson are training cadets to fly the seven F-51 Mustangs turned over to the Republic two days after the outbreak of hostilities.

But the 2,700-foot Chinhae naval base field 20 miles west of Pusan is too short for Mustangs with inexperienced pilots. So Hess and Wilson spend most of their time flying sorties in support of the 25th division and leave the ground training to the 40 officers and crewmen in their training unit.

Maj. Hess is a quiet young man with alert brown eyes and looks to be anything but a legendary figure. But he has flown more than 80 missions and infantrymen swear by him.

er unit recently, the Major was embarrassed to hear several GIs praising "that pilot who flies alone in a Korean-marked plane." The soldiers didn't realize the skinny, bronzed officer standing under the next shower was "that pilot."

Maj. Hess sometimes flies two planes a day, landing on the short strip just long enough to climb from one cockpit to another and take off for the front again while the first plane is refueled and reloaded. Hess and Wilson recently caught an enemy convoy moving forward against an American position and knocked out eight trucks and two heavy guns.

Flying alone, Hess blasted a path through the enemy to give 15 Americans a route back to their own lines.

Dozens of times Hess and Wilson have strafed within 200 yards of their own troops after getting a "panic call" for help to repel an attack or avoid encirclement.

The North Korean radio has dubbed Hess and Wilson the "Chinhae Barbarians" and imply that there must be a squadron operating from the field instead of just two pilots.

Once the Seoul radio said the "Chinhae Barbarians" will be bombed tonight." Hess made an early morning takeoff to intercept the planes that were supposed to do the bombing. But they didn't show.

Weather men offer call typhoons and hurricanes by feminine names, such as "Gracie" and "Gloria" to identify and follow these fearful storms of the west Pacific and Atlantic.

Ferguson Says Biggest Need In Korea Is Men; UN Nations Beginning Action

By Harry Ferguson
United Press Foreign News Editor
The biggest need right now in Korea is man power, and there were signs today that something was about to be done about it.

Troops in Korea are fighting under the blue and white flag of the United Nations, but so far the hard slugging along the ground has been done entirely by Americans and South Koreans. Australia has contributed planes and pilots and British warships have done valuable work along the Korean coasts, but this war is not going to be won in the air or on the water. It is going to be won when Gen. Walton Walker achieves equality or even a slight superiority in ground forces over the Communists. Then he can stop fighting a defensive war and go over to the offensive.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur spoke some fairly blunt words the other day when he made one of his reports to the United Nations as U. N. Commander-in-Chief. He said that the big need in Korea was ground troops and he recalled that many member nations of the U. N. had pledged to provide infantry. Then he made the point that the U. N. nations should get their troops onto boats and start them for the war front.

The response was prompt. Britain announced she would reduce her Hong Kong garrison to provide immediate reinforcements for the U. N. in Korea. Yesterday France said she would furnish 1,000 men, presumably from her battle-tested forces in Indo-China. Altogether there may be 30,000 fresh troops in Korea by the latter part of September. In addition to Britain and France, forces will be sent by the Philippines, Thailand, Turkey, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

The fact that Britain and France will have to strip their garrisons in Hong Kong and Indo-China illustrates the dilemma the Western Democracies are in. Nobody knows when the Chinese Communists will reach out and make a grab for Hong Kong. The French have a full fledged war of their own going against the Communists Indo-China and need all the men available. The Democracies must stand guard at a dozen points around the world against a push similar to the one the North Koreans made across the 38th parallel.

Our own forces in Japan have been seriously reduced. The occupation troops that MacArthur rushed to Korea bore the first shock of the Communist advance. Most of them were not trained or equipped for battle; they were chiefly green men who had been trained to police Japan. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek offered 30,000 Chinese Nationalist troops, but MacArthur declined on the grounds they were needed to protect Formosa against the constant threat of a Chinese Communist invasion.

Once there is a truly international force fighting under the U. N. flag in Korea, a precedent may be set that will be of great value to the non-Communist world in the years to come. If forces speaking varied languages, armed with various kinds of weapons and trained in different schools of military technique can be welded into an effective fighting force, the U. N. will have the nucleus of an international army charged with the task of combatting aggression wherever and whenever it occurs.

American Destroyer Bombards Red Port Only 55 Miles From Soviet

TOKYO, Aug. 23 (UP)—An American destroyer has bombarded a North Korean port and railway center only 55 miles from the Soviet border, it was announced today.

The destroyer hit Seishin (Chongjin), on the Korean northeast coast 145 miles from the big Russian naval base of Vladivostok, Sunday night. It was the closest to Russia that the U. S. Navy has yet struck.

A communique reported that the destroyer kindled fires visible 18 miles at sea in Seishin's railway yards, harbor installations, warehouses, Mitsubishi Iron Works and a radio station.

The communique called the bombardment highly successful. The same destroyer bombarded military targets in Songjin, 85 miles down the coast, Monday night. Towering columns of smoke were still visible over the city 12 hours after the attack.

Both ports also were hit yesterday by B-29 bombers. They lie on North Korea's main east coast railway. Through them are believed to pass Russian tanks and other arms contributed by Russia to the North Koreans.

B-29s reported they scored direct hits on port facilities, warehouses, railway targets and the Mitsubishi works at Seishin with 600 tons of bombs yesterday. Smoke columns rose 4,000 feet after the attack. Fires and explosions were reported.

Other superfortresses dropped 200 tons of explosives yesterday on the enemy capital of Pyongyang, Songjin, Wonsan, Changjon and Hungnam. Warehouses and the storage areas at Hungnam were 50 per cent destroyed, a communique said.

The Allied air forces flew a record of more than 550 sorties yesterday, mostly in support of ground forces on the northern, southern and western fronts.

They burned five warehouses, destroyed a small bridge and damaged three railway tunnels, nine trucks, seven vehicles, one tank. A locomotive and four boxcars. The air communique commented:

"The growing scarcity of ground targets noted during the past two or three days is attributed partially to the diminishing stocks of North Korean mechanized equipment and partially to the determined efforts of the Communist forces to avoid air attacks by keeping their remaining equipment out of sight during the daylight hours."

The United States mass-produced so many Liberty and Victory cargo ships during World War II that considerable ingenuity was required to find names for them. About 3,100 were built.

Forced Air Central Gas Heating makes summertime out of Winter

Winter preys on your children's health. Its dangers lurk in drafts... on chilly floors... in unheated rooms. Now, with the many new types of forced air central gas heating systems, any home can be as healthful in winter as in summer.

Through a system of ducts and registers, forced air central gas heating delivers fresh, warm air to every nook and cranny... and returns cold, stale air to the out-of-doors. There are no chilly floors or drafts which cause discomfort and may cause dangerous colds. No heat hangs at the ceiling or wastes itself when you are asleep or away. There's no overheating when "just a little heat" will do.

Forced air central gas heating gives your children the health protection at home that authorities insist they have at school.

You have only to talk to a heating contractor or a Lone Star Gas Company heating specialist to see how practical and how little it takes to put one of the new forced air central gas heating systems in your home. See him—won't you?

Why not, today?

Central gas heating can be installed in a closet, or in the attic, under the floor and in a wall. Here certainly is the heating system for modern living.

Leon Hart Amits He's Playing In Mighty Rough Football For Pay

By Jerry Le Donne
United Press Sports Writer
DETROIT, Aug. 23 (UP)—It didn't take big Leon Hart long to admit that he's mixing with mighty rough company now that he's playing his football for pay.

Nursing a severely sprained ankle, the giant 265-pound Detroit Lions end said "they sure didn't block like that in college ball."

The genial Hart, college football's most publicized player while starring for unbeaten Notre Dame last year, has no illusions about being a sensation in his freshman season as a pro.

"Your press clippings don't help you up here," he said. "If I can just learn enough to pull my share of the load, I'll be satisfied."

The Pittsburgh Steelers made a lasting impression on Hart in his first exhibition game last weekend.

"If all the pros are as tough as the Steelers, I'd better get used to a lot of bumps and bruises," he said.

Hart will tangle with the Washington Redskins in Dallas Aug. 30. After running in to the Steelers he's just about convinced that college ball was just "sissy" stuff compared to the pro variety.

Hart figures his sprained ankle has taught him a big lesson.

"I got it by being a little too cocky in trying to turn a Pittsburgh play in," he said. "I thought I had it turned in but suddenly one Steeler hit me low and another hit me high and down I went in a heap with my ankle twisted underneath."

The former Notre Dame star realizes only too well how much his six foot, five inch frame helped him batter his college rivals.

"I'm just another big man in this league, so I know the going is going to be tough," he said.

Hart isn't worried about his ability to block and tackle or whether he's got enough "cuts" for the pro game. His big concern is to gain the "smartness" that makes the difference between an average and a good pro.

He's well aware that Lions' Coach Bo McMillin is counting on him to be a mainstay on the line in his championship plans and realizes that he has only a few exhibition games in which to gain experience.

Hart also is aware that he'll be a marked man for some of the older lineemen who will be out to prove that he isn't worth the $60,000 the Lions are paying him for three years.

"I'm just a rookie and exper-

Another man called out, "I'll give $75."

A prisoner was asked by a visitor, "How did you get here?"

He replied, "Well, it was this way: I lay down on the ground and went to sleep and, when I woke up, they had build the jail around me."

Polio Attacks 113 Persons
AUSTIN, Aug. 23 (UP)—Polio attacked 113 persons in Texas last week to mark the ninth straight week in which the dreaded disease has struck more than 100 persons, the state health department reported today.

It is actually the only thing that will make me into a pro," Hart said. "But the veteran Detroit lineemen are helping me a lot by teaching me a few of the tricks of the game."

Although he's slated for strictly end duty for the first few games of the season, Hart still years to get in a few links at fullback. "Most linemen want to carry the ball, so I guess it's just natural that I do too," he said.

Americans Take Toughness Pays Army Finds Pantywaist Program Doesn't Make Killers; Discipline Suffered In Peacetime Training

TOKYO, Aug. 23 (UP)—The North Korean invaders have lost two high-ranking officers within a week, and much of their steam reports from Korea said today.

The Reds were reported to have lost the commander of their 4th division, which was beaten by the Americans in the Naktong river bulge, and a Lieutenant-Colonel who surrendered voluntarily.

A headquarters spokesman in Tokyo said the Lieutenant-Colonel commanding artillery in the North Korean 13th division, deserted—the third officer to do so.

The spokesman said this desertion, plus the "abortive effort" of the Red 12th division at Pohang, added to evidence that the higher-numbered invading divisions are not up to the efficiency of an first six.

North Korean morale is believed to be dropping, the spokesman said, with shortage of food one of the main reasons.

He said there is evidence that each Communist soldier gets two bowls of rice a day from the rear and must get the rest of his food off the countryside.

"He has not always had enough to eat," the spokesman said. However, he added, "he seems to be getting enough ammunition."

A dispatch from Korea said American patrols near Hyonpung, 20 miles southwest of Taegu, picked up prisoners today who claimed they had not eaten in four days.

Sgt. Edwin Eversole, of San Antonio, Tex., said his unit captured a Communist Lieutenant who "nearly bit my finger off cramming a piece of bread I gave him into his mouth."

To encourage the Reds to give up, artillery lobbed shells across the Naktong river filled with "surrender passes."

Another dispatch from Korea said a Red prisoner reported that the commanding general of the Red 4th division was cut off by a Yank Army-Marine attack at the Yongsan bulge late last week.

TOKYO, Aug. 23 (UP)—Show them how to belly down under machine gun fire. Teach them how to knock out a Gook mortar crew on a hillside. Tell them that when they are told to attack they're to go this way—not that way.

That's the way the GI's on the Korean battlefronts greeted the news that the Army was dropping the "pantywaist" aspects of its basic training program.

The Army never gave an official reason for its decision to train recruits to be fighting men instead of "gentlemen soldiers," but it was probable that lessons learned in the early days of the Korean fighting were responsible.

U. S. field officers refuse to say anything publicly about the problems created by the "career guidance program" of the peacetime army.

Off the record, however, they'll tell you of the lack of discipline in many instances and the death of non-coms with leadership qualities.

The GI's who have been under fire realize too that it's more important to be "toughened up" at some training camp in the states than it is on the battlefield "with them Gooks shooting real bullets."

The soldiers still think the career guidance program has its points. But generally they object to basing non-commissioned ranking on a man's ability to play the piccolo or operate a radar set. They realize that non-coms are the backbone of a fighting force and ratings from Corporal to top Sergeant should be held by men who can give orders and have them obeyed without hesitation.

Officers in particular have complained about discipline under fire and mentioned the numerous "stragglers" in the early days of the fighting.

It's Time For BROOKS BECAUSE

Only by the election of a business man can the people of Texas be assured of a direct and vigorous attack on the runaway cost, useless waste, and needless extravagance in our State government.

Only a business man who has not been a part of the system which spawned this era of waste and extravagance can give the problem that searching inquiry and impartial analysis needed now. Pierce Brooks is that man.
